"That all the words after the word 'that' in the motion be omitted and the following substituted therefor: The total expenditure for each fiscal year from 1892 to 1901, both inclusive, was as follows: 1892, $42,272,136; 1893, $40,853,728; 1894, $43,008,834; 1895, $42,872,338; 1896, $41,702,383; 1897, $42,972,756; 1898, $45,834,281; 1899, $51,542,685; 1900, $52,717,467; 1901, $57,982,868; that the Finance Minister estimates that the total expenditure for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1902, will be $65,250,000; that the annual expenditure on both consolidated revenue and capital account has increased between 1897 and 1901 by no less a sum than $15,010,110; that during the period above mentioned the revenues of the country have been unusually large, and the Government claim a total net surplus of $19,743,527.69, but no portion thereof has been applied in reduction of the public debt, which with the addition estimated by the Finance Minister for the current fiscal year will have increased from $258,479,432.70 in 1896 to $274,480,000 in 1902, an increase of more than sixteen millions of dollars; that the Minister of Finance estimates that the total revenue for the year ending 30th June, 1902, will be $36,800,000; that notwithstanding this very large revenue, the Minister of Finance estimates that the public debt will be increased during the year about $6,000,000; that this House desires to place on record the opinion that the expenditures for the year ending June 30th, 1903, are excessive and extravagant, and regrets that the Government, with the exceptionally large revenues at its command, has not only failed to reduce but has largely increased the public debt, and has incurred capital expenditure for which the country does not receive and cannot expect any adequate return."

Mr. Fielding's Reply.

Mr. Fielding, on rising to reply, declared positively that Mr. Borden's charge about the lake in Shelburne was absolutely unfounded, and his action in bringing it up in the House on the strength of an anonymous letter was most discreditable. In reference to the general expenditure, Mr. Fielding pointed to the changes that had taken place in Canada. It was a growing time, and every large business, every railway, every business man was spending more money than in 1896, but they were not, for that reason, on the verge of ruin. He pointed to the increased revenue from the Intercolonial and the postoffice as indications of the progress of the country. Mr. Borden had criticised the gross expenditure without examining it and allowing for such expenditures as those on the Yukon, which did not exist in 1896. The increased expenditure was something that the Government need not be ashamed of., because it marked the increased progress and growth of the country. The increase in the expenditure outside of that on the Intercolonial, Postoffice and Yukon had been very moderate indeed. The trade of the country was a fair indication of its progress, and he pointed out that in 1895 the expenditure was 19½ per cent. of the trade, and in 1901 it was only 15 per cent. During the five years of Liberal rule the net increase in the public debt had been $9,982,570, an average of $1,996,514, as against an average during the whole eighteen years of the previous Government of $6,563,000. The debt had not increased in a greater proportion than the population. If it should be admitted that this was an extravagant Government, where could they find an economical Government? Not among the Opposition, for they rose one after another and demanded increased expenditures on works of many kinds, and, although they would vote for this resolution, they would condemn the Government for not spending half a million dollars to send a man to look for the north pole.

After Hon. John Haggart, Dr. Sproule and Mr. Roche of Halifax had spoken, the House divided and the amendment of Mr. Borden was defeated by 84 to 41.

Stickeen-Teslin Railway.

The House, having gone into Committee of Supply, Mr. Blair explained that the vote of $328,508 was to pay the award of the Exchequer Court upon the claim of Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann in connection with the construction of the Stickeen-Teslin Railway, which was abandoned after the Senate threw out the contract.

Mr. Blair, discussing the action of the Senate, said, that although it had the power, perhaps, to reject the measure, it was a power not ordinarily exercised by the Senate to interfere with supply. This contract was entirely within the principles, and of the same nature as supply. But the Senate did interfere, and the result, not only to the Yukon, but to the whole trade of the Dominion, was well known. The leader of the Opposition of that day was impressed with the importance of the road, and expressed himself in favor of it.

Mr. Haggart said the whole proceeding was of the most unauthorized character and it seemed to him that this was a large sum for the contractors to have expended in two or three weeks.

The Premier said that there was no legal claim against the Government but the Government, after having the accounts examined as to the contractors' expenditure, referred them to Judge Burbidge, who made the award for the amount stated. It was not a legal but an equitable claim.

Mr. Blair defended the railway on the plea of urgency.

Mr. Maclean asked if a member of the Government or the Government itself had given Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann power to go ahead with the construction of the railway before Parliament sanctioned the contract.

Mr. Sifton replied that no specific or general instructions were given to the contractors were, under the very very member of the Government knew the contractors were under the very terms of the contract, to go ahead at once with the work. The Government to-day accepted the responsibility for the contract. The circumstances, he said, were exceptional.

"Sir Charles Tupper," continued Mr. Sifton, "came to my house and urged that the contract be made, and when I represented to him that the terms were under discussion and that members of the Government could not agree upon the terms, he replied that it was not a question of terms, but of the shortest time in which the railway could be built. And as to the route, he said, it should be built by the Stickeen route. The Government, therefore, had a right to expect that the honor and faith of the Conservative party, being at stake, Sir Charles would not swallow his own words. The party knew this."

W. F. Maclean: No, No.

"Well," said Mr. Sifton, "the party knowing that Sir Charles had endorsed this course, they took him by the throat in open daylight and compelled him to dishonor himself and swallow his own words. However, the Government was prepared to take the whole responsibility for the contract. The amount which had to be paid to Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann was larger than anticipated, yet it could not be said the account was not fair and reasonable."

E. B. Osler believed that nobody disputed the right of Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann to be recouped for their outlay. As to this story about Sir Charles Tupper, it was now told for the first time and it would not be made now if Sir Charles Tupper were in the House, for he would contradict it fairly. The story was never told in this House all the time Sir Charles was here, not even when he denounced the terms of the Yukon deal, as all the Conservatives did.

Mr. Sifton said it was Mr. W. F. Maclean who had compelled Sir Charles Tupper to swallow himself on the Yukon railway policy. Sir Charles Tupper, in his own interview with The Mail, which he (Mr. Sifton) quoted in 1898 in the House, admitted he had seen Mr. Sifton and urged upon him the immediate construction of an all-Canadian railway.

Mr. W. F. Maclean defended the Senate of Canada, and said that if the Senate of Canada ever justified its existence it did so in throwing out that measure.

Mr. Sproule said that the strongest condemnation of the Government's rush to get this deal through on the eve of the session of 1896 was that none of the dire results they claimed to be providing against had come out. There was no starvation and no insurrection.

Mr. Casgrain pointed out that the wording of the estimate was misleading, in that there was no "judgment" of the Exchequer Court, the Government having admitted the contractors' claim.

After a conference on the Government side, the estimate was altered to read that it was to "pay the amount reported by the judge of the Exchequer Court to be due to Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann."

In this shape the item passed.

Other Estimates Passed.

The items of $50,000 for the Canadian coronation contingent, and $315,000 for the Halifax garrison, passed without comment. Postoffice estimates were also passed after discussion, as well as some remaining estimates for the Interior Department.

On the item of $27,000 for fish hatcheries, Mr. Sutherland announced, that if the fishery conference to be held May 20 proved satisfactory, that is, if jurisdiction were retained in the Dominion, one hatchery each would be established in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and two in New Brunswick.

The House was still sitting at 2.30 a.m.

OLD AGE AND SPRING

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Invigorates and Strengthens Those Advanced in Years.

If You Feel Old, the Great Medicine Will Give You the Vigour and Health of Youth.

Every one in springtime, should give attention to the purifying of the blood, the bracing of the nerves, and the regulating of the digestive apparatus.

This is the special time when old people need a tonic and strength giver—something that will restore them to that condition of health that conduces to make old age happy, cheerful and bright.

Old people should carry home with them to-day—not by-and-by a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound. It will certainly banish the rheumatism and neuralgia that help to make life a misery; it will drive out of the system all impurities and make the life stream flow fresh and pure; it will banish weakness and all languid feelings, and impart the vigor and activity that mark youthfulness. It is the only medicine that will fully meet the needs and expectations of all in declining years.

Mr. J. Holdsworth, Claremont street, Toronto, Ont., says: "I was taken sick last summer, and was in bed for five weeks or more, and my physician was attending me all the time. My case was pronounced to be weakness of the heart and old age, for I am now seventy-eight years old. I kept getting worse until my recovery was considered hopeless. One of my relatives recommended me to use Paine's Celery Compound, which I did with good results. After the first dose I felt relieved, and in a few days I was able to leave my bed and walk around. I used four bottles, and I am now quite well. I hope other sufferers will receive as much benefit as I received."

If it is asthma, bronchitis, croup, or any such trouble, use Vapo-Cresolene. All Druggists.

CAMPAIGN COMMENTS.

Vote for Stratton, and Peterborough's interests.

Where is the man in Peterborough who carries the vote of the workingmen in his pocket?

Working men think more than some people think they think.

The great mass of them will vote according to their convictions. They will vote for the candidate of the Government that has done the most to advance their interests.

Mr. Whitney boasted that he had a policy, but would not expose it for fear the Grits would steal it, and he keeps it under cover yet.

He needn't feel alarmed; the Grits are "long" on policy—they have such a good, sound, complete policy of go-ahead, and go, that there is no room for Mr. Whitney's concealed goods.

Mr. Whitney has no policy, and one can hardly blame his followers for coming to the rescue. Every stumper in the interests of Mr. Miller and Mr. Whitney, in the county, puts a policy of his own in Mr. Whitney's mouth.

One would think that Mr. Whitney could not swallow them all; but a man who can swallow himself, as Mr. Whitney did on the railway land grants, can perform almost any act of deglutition.

The political mass meeting in Mr. Miller's interests in the opera house last night didn't mass much. Honest temperance people evidently got a glimpse of the cloven hoof of party.

Temperance is a great enough issue to stand alone without being propped up with petty party politics.

Mr. W. W. Buchanan was announced as "the father of the Manitoba Prohibition Bill."

Poor baby, the heartless father left it on Manitoba's door steps, and ran away to Ontario to kill the Ontario Prohibition Bill, leaving his "unfort'nit" offspring to be strangled by the inaction of the very people who hailed its birth as the dawn of the millennium, and canonized the political midwife—poor Hugh John—as a saint—"the man who keeps his word."

Mr. W. W. Buchanan last night called Mr. Clergue of the "Soo," an "adventurer."

"Wouldn't that jar you?"

Satan reproving sin is the height of consistency in comparison.

There was more intemperance than temperance in Mr. Buchanan's language last night—more denunciation of Rum than of rum.

The Whitney party ran one election contest with the "calf with the cough." It has now developed into a full-grown cow, which Mr. Garvin drove upon the railway track and it was killed at Bailliesboro on Monday night.

Conservative shouts of victory are not sustained sounds — they have a way of modulating into squeals on election night.

Party stumpers and party papers still cling to the lie that the Ross Government has given away the pulp lands of the Province.

Party stumpers and party papers still cling to the lie that New Ontario is being developed at the expense of the taxpayers of old Ontario.

The pulp companies don't get as much land as would bury a canary in, and grants of now worthless lands—but valuable when opened up and developed—are used to build the railways.

The policy of the Ross Government is to make Ontario resources develop themselves.

Ross stands for progress—Whitney for stagnation.

Remember Ross.

Vote for Ross and the flowing tide of prosperity.

Vote for Stratton and you poll a vote for Ross and progress—for Ross and results.

Vote for Whitney and your vote is lost, or if not lost, you invest in a "white elephant"—a leader without a policy—a leader who calls the richest part of the Province "the land of the stunted poplar."

When the Opposition demagogues shout about our wasted timber resources they are apologising for the lack of cabinet timber at Mr. Whitney's disposal in case the electors take leave of their senses on May 29th.

THE DOUBLE GAME.

The Examiner has frequently referred to the extremely partizan political aspect of the pseudo-temperance crusade in the interests of the Conservative candidate, Mr. Miller. He was endorsed and adopted by a clique as the temperance candidate, and worse than that, for Mr. H. P. Lindsay, the chairman of the meeting, where there wasn't a baker's dozen of "recognized" members of the Alliance, settled everything himself, not even putting the motion to adopt Mr. Miller, as the temperance candidate to the meeting, but declaring him such by his own ipse dixit.

To "rub in" the party aspect of the matter, and emphasize the situation, the alleged temperance meeting — really a political meeting in the opera house last night, can be very properly used.

Mr. W. W. Buchanan, a bitter opponent and enemy of Hon. G. W. Ross, was billed to address a meeting in the opera house, ostensibly in the interests of Mr. Miller, the Conservative candidate, from a temperance standpoint.

Mr. Buchanan was temperate in nothing. His address which was supposed to deal largely with prohibition was craftly leavened throughout with the politics of the Conservative party, bitter condemnation of Premier Ross and denunciation of the Liberal party in general. The New Ontario policy was decried and Mr. Clergue referred to as a bankrupt adventurer. The manner in which the Government was dealing with the prohibition question was severely critized and the action of the Manitoba Conservatives commended in purling words of praise for being brave enough to put a prohibition plank in their platform. An idea of the partizan nature of Mr. Buchanan's whole address may be gathered from the fact that he made no mention whatever of the manner in which the Manitoba Conservatives treated the prohibition party after the latter had lent them their aid to get into power. No mention whatever of the shameless manner in which they nullified their pledges—nothing but praise for them.

To show the extreme partizanship of Mr. Buchanan further, he could devote the larger part of his hour and a half speech to a denunciation of the general policy of the Ross Government, which had given the province a prohibition measure, analagous to one of the speaker's own devising, but he couldn't spare five minutes to denounce Mr. Whitney, who had declared against prohibition in the most positive manner. Mr. Buchanan said he had intended to attack Mr. Whitney for his attitude on the temperance question, but it was "too late"—in the night.

One would have thought that a man speaking honestly in favour of temperance would have begun by denouncing the leader of a party who is the declared enemy of prohibition.

But that would not do. It would never do to say a word against the leader whom the Conservative candidate in West Peterborough is pledged to support. That wouldn't be loyally helping the Conservative candidate.

The small boy's "rats" is about the size of the expression needed to convey an idea of the transparent attempt to gull the electors under the guise of pretended interest in temperance.

The temperance the meeting last night was intended to promote is spelled thus: Miller—Whitney.

It appears that the farewell tea which was given at the Club House to Miss Barlee on Friday was not a club affair, but was given to Miss Barlee by personal friends, amongst the playing members. Quite a misunderstanding has arisen in regard to the affair, which this explanation should settle.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse practice match on the Nicholls oval this evening between the Y.M.C.A. and the Athletics, should prove to be a big drawing card. It is some time since a lacrosse match of any kind was witnessed in Peterborough, and as the comparative strength of the two teams is in doubt the result will be of interest. The Y.M.C.A. team has been practising hard, and they are in the pink of condition. However, the majority of them are novices at the game compared with Galley, McCabe and Wasson, who will likely figure on the Athletics. The teams will line up as follows;

Y.M.C.A.		Athletics.
	Goal.
Long		Galley
	Point.
Trollope		Dillon
	Cover point.
Smith		Morgan
	Defence.
Pennick		T. Glover
Galley		Mein
Cameron		Dusty

Robinson		Dunaford

CONSERVATIVE MASS MEETING

In Bradburn's Opera House Last Night.

BUCHANAN CHIEF SPEAKER.

Bitter Political Attack on Ross Government—He "Hadn't Time" to Denounce Whitney.

An audience which assumed quite large proportions through the presence of a great number of ladies, though the electors were few, assembled in the opera house, last evening, for the purpose of hearing Mr. W. W. Buchanan speak in the interests of Mr. J. W. Miller from the standpoint of a temperance man.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. Y. R. Roberts, of Selwyn, who in opening spoke of the enormous quantity of liquor, which he stated farmers from his section of the country consumed when they came to town. He asked for the saloon to be abolished in order that the temptation be removed.

Mr. H. P. Lindsay was the first speaker. He denied the report that a Conservative clique was running the temperance end of the campaign for Mr. Miller and stated that the reason certain delegates had been debarred from speaking at the recent convention was that they were politicians and were trying to introduce side issues, which he would not allow. As Mr. Miller had accepted the pledge laid down by the Alliance and Hon. Mr. Stratton refused to be bound by it the Alliance, he claimed, had nothing else to do but support Mr. Miller, who had gone as far as to say that he was a temperance man first and a Conservative afterwards. Mr. Lindsay blamed Mr. Stratton for not seeing that the provisions of the Crook's Act were carried out in Peterborough. A merchant had told him that one Sunday he saw 500 men go into a certain hotel to get drinks. He did not blame the Inspector or the Police Force for this, as if they went against the wishes of the member they would be discharged. He knew of one man in Peterborough now who had lost his position through being too zealous in the discharge of his duties as Inspector. Even if the Manitoba Liquor Law was enacted it would be of no use unless the members were in favour of carrying it out.

Rev. J. H. Hannah stated that he intended to vote for Mr. Miller, as he had accepted the pledge of the temperance party, which Mr. Stratton had refused to commit himself to. He would rather be on the losing side in a good cause than on the winning side in a bad one.

Rev. W. A. Gunton, of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, was called upon, but he advised that Mr. Buchanan be heard first, as he thought the audience was growing a little impatient to hear the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Buchanan was then introduced. He stated that he had been honoured with considerable criticism and abuse since his last visit to Peterborough, but this was simply because his arguments could not be overthrown. He had always been a Liberal and was one now, but even if he saw fit to leave, he didn't go owing anybody anything. He had never held office of received boodle. He had never been a professional speaker in the temperance cause, and had never received remuneration for doing lecture work, but even if he had, there would be no harm in it. No one could say of him that he lived on the taxes ground out of the people, or that he bled the corporations, which in turn bled the people.

Mr. Miller had been sneered at only a few evenings ago on this very platform, because he was bold enough to say that he would stand by his conscience, instead of by his party, in regard to the prohibition question. Mr. Miller, if he was elected, could not be kept in line with the caucus whip, as he went to Parliament pledged to the people on the temperance question. He could cut loose from his party and vote for himself.

Forgetting, apparently, that he had just claimed to be a Liberal, Mr. Buchanan went on to say that as he was an Independent, he could say things to his audience which a party man would not dare to do. Politicians, he said, had a contempt for the temperance vote. They knew that with most men it was a case of party first, and temperance afterwards. Men disliked to "lose their vote," in voting for a man who would not be elected, but the vote was lost just the same if a man was elected who did not represent the principles of the voter. Men said that the prohibition people were narrow. This was not so. They were the broad men, as the idea behind prohibition was not simply to stop a man taking a drink, but the idea of the Golden Rule, the idea of the Sermon on the Mount — that we are our brother's keepers. That Satanic idea of "every man for himself, and the De'il take the hindmost should not obtain in politics, but should be turned down by the democracy of the brotherhood of man.

The speaker then stated that he understood that Mr. Miller was being sneered at because he was a workingman. The Legislature was not set apart for any particular class of men. He himself preferred an audience of working men. Business men wore too much of an air of superiority, but these men were really not as well equipped as a mechanic in the matter of economics and practical politics.

At present the Liberal Government, Mr. Buchanan went on to say, was going to the country with a blare of sound concerning New Ontario, as if the Government had found it. The barrenness of the party issues were such, that they had to have something to make the people believe they had a policy. The New Ontario cry did not mean that the Liberals were developing the country, but that they were giving away the great natural resources to a few capitalists, who did not even belong to Canada. Clergue was not even a capitalist until he came to Canada. He arrived in this country as a bankrup and adventurer. The average wage he paid his men was $24 a month, and six thousand of them came from the other side. These enterprises, which were too big for private means, should have been undertaken by the Government, and the profits divided among the people.

In regard to temperance the speaker claimed that though the Crook's Act had swept away 2,000 licenses, yet the Government had done nothing further that would reduce the licenses except by the paltry number of 185. It had been left to Manitoba to introduce a Prohibition Bill and all praise was due the Conservatives in that Province for putting a prohibition plank in their platform. The Privy Council had decided that the bill was one which a Provincial Legislature could enact, at which decision Premier Ross, of Ontario, was not at all delighted. In fact he was very sour about it. Mr. Buchanan then proceeded to criticise the referendum as a measure which was calculated to keep both the temperance and liquor parties in line. The Government had pledged themselves to prohibition, he stated, and they ought to have carried out that pledge. They might have offered the excuse that popular opinion had undergone a change since that pledge was given, but they did not even do this, but tried to practice a deception by means of the introduction of the referendum. It would be far better to have a Tory in the House, who was against Ross, but who would vote for Prohibition, than a supporter of the Liberal Government.

The speaker stated, in concluding, that he had intended pitching into the Conservative party in regard to its attitude on the temperance question but the hour was now too late. Mr. Whitney's statement in regard to the question had been decidedly disappointing. There was nothing much to choose between the two parties. One had promised and failed to keep the promise, the other would not promise.

THE QUARTERLY BOARD

Of George Street Church Appoints Rev. J. O. Wilson.

The Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church held its last meeting for the year last evening.

The various reports that came in showed a very prosperous year.

The following resolution was passed regarding the pastor, the members approving by unanimous vote;

"This Quarterly Board, at the close of the second year of the pastorate of Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., desire to convey to him their thanks for his faithful ministry. In every department of pastoral work Mr. Wilson has been eminently satisfactory—his pulpit efforts have been pleasing, interesting, instructive and helpful; the sick have been faithfully ministered to, the classes and Sunday school helped, and in his intercourse with the people he has won their respect and love.

"We take pleasure in conveying to Mr. Wilson this expression of our appreciation and good will, and hope that the present relationship of pastor and people may be long continued."

SEND A CANADIAN.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—It is rumoured about town today that the local military authorities are considering the advisability of having the 57th Regiment represented on the Coronation contingent by an ex-member of a British regiment, born in England and almost a life-long resident of that country. Can it be possible that the 57th, with its proud record covering nearly three-quarters of a century, has been unable to produce a Canadian-born representative capable of upholding the honour of the regiment on that glorious occasion? If this question is to be answered in the negative, then the sooner the young men of Peterborough go out of soldiering the better. Send a Canadian—bred and born—or send no one.

Yours truly,

THE CAMPAIGN.

Premier Ross Meets the Companions of His Youth—Greeted by Life-Time Friends—Magnificent Gathering.

Toronto, May 14.—The feature of to-day's campaign news is the splendid meeting held by Premier Ross yesterday at Ailsa Craig, in the interests of Mr. W. H. Taylor, the Liberal candidate for the riding of North Middlesex. The meeting place was within a few miles of the Premier's birthplace, and he was greeted with unbounded enthusiasm by an army of old school-fellows and friends of many years. The success of the meeting bodes well for the chances of Mr. Taylor at the impending election.

The Opposition leader addressed a meeting at Burlington. Meetings were held by various members of the Government in different ridings. Reports from the country continue to be satisfactory. The Liberal party is well organized, with strong candidates in the field, a splendid policy and a brilliant leader, backed by able colleagues.

THE PREMIER'S MEETING.

Middlesex Honors Her Famous Son at Ailsa Craig.

Ailsa Craig, May 14.—Middlesex yesterday paid honor to her greatest son. The boy who was born here sixty years ago, who helped his father beat back the forest on the Huron tract, who taught in the rural schools of the township, and who, entering public life thirty years ago, has reached the highest place in the gift of his Province, came home again. He was made thrice welcome, and as he, the veteran politician, accustomed to the hard knocks of the political game, looked into the admiring faces of his former schoolmates and neighbors, he could say with sincerity: "One of the great inducements for a public man to do his duty is that he might retain the esteem of his early companions." That Hon. Geo. W. Ross had done this in a remarkable degree was evident from the day's demonstration.

Mr. Ross came to Ailsa Craig to say a word in support of Mr. W. H. Taylor, the Liberal candidate in North Middlesex, but his old friends, irrespective in many instances of political leanings, rallied round and made it an occasion of public honor for a great man. The villagers made it a general holiday, and the farmers for miles around laid by their seeding and their harrowing and joined. Fifteen hundred people attended the meeting, and the cheers and cordial greetings showed the hold of Mr. Ross upon the affections of his own people. It was only nine miles from this point that the present Premier was born, in the Township of East Williams. His early years were all all spent in this vicinity, and yesterday he was surrounded by those who knew him best, and who esteem him as probably do the people of no other part of Ontario. In his speech in the afternoon Mr. Ross made feeling reference to the honor paid him, and, entering into a discussion of political matters, showed how the farmers of Ontario had benefited under the wise government of the Liberal party.

STILL THEY WONDER

Physicians and Scientists Were Never so Bewildered.

The Ottawa Miracle is Still Being Discussed at the Regular Meetings of the Doctors of the Capital City.

Ottawa, Ont., May 11. (Special)—To say that the miraculous case of George H. Kent, of 309 Gilmora street, had shaken Medical Circles to their very foundation, is putting it mildly.

The facts of the case have been so thoroughly and satisfactorily established by Mr. Kent's sworn statements as to leave no room for misunderstanding or mistake in the matter.

Mr. Kent had Bright's Disease; he had been in bed for months, gradually getting worse; physicians could do nothing for him.

His case had reached that stage when his body was terribly bloated.

He was so low that he had convulsions, which were rapidly growing more frequent.

In the interval between these convulsions he was almost entirely unconscious.

In this extremity the physicians at last told his wife one evening that he could not live until morning.

While watching by his bedside Mrs. Kent changed to pick up a paper containing an advertisement of a cure of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. It was then midnight, and all the drug stores were closed, but the devoted wife determined, that even at this extremely late hour she would make one more effort to save her husband's life.

Accordingly she despatched a messenger, woke up the nearest druggist, procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, which she commenced to administer at once.

Mr. Kent did not die that night, for from the first dose of Dodd's Kidney Pills he commenced to improve. All other treatments and medicines were discarded, and the use of this remedy carefully continued.

Gradually yet surely this wonderful remedy arrested the progress of the dread Bright's Disease.

It took Dodd's Kidney Pills about six or seven weeks to restore Mr. Kent to good health. This is seven years ago, and he has never lost a day's work through illness since.

Collapse of the Nerves.

Strange, Dizzy Feelings, Sleepless Nights, Head Felt as Though it Would Burst, Thought She Would Lose Her Mind—A Remarkable Cure by

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

If you have been discouraged in seeking a cure for nervous exhaustion or prostration, the case of Mrs. C. H. Jones of Pierceton, Que., will interest you. Here was a severe case, but is a fair example of what thousands of women are enduring, with the belief that they can never be cured.

Mrs. Jones describes her case as follows:—"For several years I had been gradually running down in health, and growing weaker and weaker. I did not know exactly what ailed me, for strange, dizzy feelings would come over me. I got a terrible fright, and it so unsettled my nerves that shaking spells would come over me, and I could not keep my feet still, and finally I had to keep the bed most all the time.

"The doctor said I had nervous prostration, and though I took his medicine from fall till spring, I did not improve in health, and could not read or sew. I would lie awake at nights and often would not get more than five or six hours' sleep in a week. My head, felt as though it would burst, and I thought I would go out of my mind.

"An uncle from New York visited me at this time, and told me of what an awful time he had gone through with his nerves. He said that he always had more faith in Dr. Chase than in any other physician, and was cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve food. I began using this preparation, and improved from the first. Altogether I used five boxes, and it has done me more good than I ever thought medicine could do. My health is better in every way than it has been for many years, and my nervous system is strengthened and invigorated.

"I might add that I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, with excellent results."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cannot fail to benefit any man, woman or child who is pale, weak or nervous. It contains in condensed form the most potent restoratives of nature. It does not stimulate or give false hope, but gradually and thoroughly builds up the system and effects permanent cures. Like Dr. Chase's Ointment and Kidney-Liver Pills, this preparation has the endorsement of physicians and people alike in all parts of this continent. It is the standard treatment for weakness of blood and nerves. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 7

BLINDING A SHARK.

How a Pearl Diver Escaped a Voracious Man Eater.

A successful diver must possess great courage and nerves of steel. Such a man connected with a large wrecking company was visiting some years ago the pearl fisheries in the gulf of California, where sharks abounded. On one of his trips in quest of the pearl oyster he had a narrow escape from a fearful death.

He had been instructed never to stir from the bottom until he had looked up and around. Fortunately he heeded the advice. Having filled his bag he glanced quickly about and caught sight of a huge shovel nosed shark watching him.

In an emergency men think fast. Near the diver was a large rock. He moved quickly to the other side of it, hoping to dodge the ferocious monster, but the maneuver did not work. The shark watched every movement, changing his position by a slight motion of his powerful tail.

Time was precious, and the diver conceived the idea of blinding the shark by stirring up the mud. Under cover of that he might escape. He worked for dear life and had the water thick with mud in less than half a minute.

Slipping around the rock again, he rose to the surface, having barely strength enough to reach the side of the boat, and was hauled on board just as the voracious man eater made a rush for him.

Bring the Ends Together.

A certain colonel somewhere in the south (no matter where) was in the habit of telling yarns and greatly exaggerating. He had a negro servant who corroborated everything his master told. One day the colonel had some gentlemen to dinner, and they were enjoying some fine venison very much. The colonel said: "Yes, I went hunting the other day and saw a fine buck. I took a good sight at him and shot him through the head, and the bullet went through his hind leg."

The gentlemen looked at each other a little mystified. The negro scratched his head and at last said, "Yes, indeed, gemmen; just as massa raised the gun to shoot de buck he raise his hind leg and scratch his ear, and the bullet went through the head and right through de hind leg." The gentlemen looked more satisfied.

After the guests had gone the negro said to his master, "Gorry mighty, massa, next time you tell one of dem yarns do get the ends closter togedder. I had hard work to make both ends meet."

Explained His Meaning.

In a case of assault and battery before Judge B. in the quarter sessions court a well known doctor who was a witness said he had treated the prosecutor for a black eye.

"What do you mean by a 'black eye?'" asked the attorney for the defense.

"I mean," said the doctor, "that the prosecutor had received a severe contusion over the lower portion of the frontal bone, producing extensive ecchymosis around the eye, together with considerable infiltration of the subjacent areolar tissue."

"Serves you right," said the judge to the prosecuting attorney. "Everybody knows what a black eye is."

He Kept Grand Medicine.

In a Scotch village, where a young doctor had lately started practice, a workman had the misfortune to get his finger bruised badly in one of the mills. A doctor was sent for, and on properly dressing the finger the man nearly fainted. He was asked if he would take a little spirits to revive him. "Mon," he exclaimed, with feeling, "that wud just be the very life o' me!" The doctor gave him a good glass, which he greedily swallowed, and on recovering his breath his first words were, "Well, doctor, I ken unco' little aboot yer skill, but, mon, ye keep grand medicine."

The Thinking Strain.

When once one no longer thinks it necessary to reflect whether one ought or ought not to do or avoid a thing, the saving of time and tissue is quite enormous, for it is not so much doing things as thinking about them which consumes the minutes and the nerves, and, once having made an unalterable rule to do a thing if it is pleasant and refrain from it if it is not, one can get into a single day a number of delightful experiences which would appear to those who do not know the recipe quite incredible.—E. B. Benson, "Scarlet and Hyssop."

A Peculiarity of Japan.

In Japan it is always the rule of politeness to pay a trifle more than the sum mentioned on your hotel bill. To settle the account net would be considered an insult or at least a mark of great dissatisfaction. People who have traveled in Japan say that the Japanese always tip the waiter on entering a hotel.

Easy Way Out.

"I'm fixed," said the young doctor. "I've got a big enough practice to keep me in easy circumstances for life."

"But suppose you should lose half your patients?"

"I'd just double my bills on the others."

A Sad Business.

"Yes," he said sadly, and there was a tear in his eye—"yes, my business has driven me to the wall."

And he went on posting bills.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time and remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase—America's Greatest Physician.

Salt and Cancer.

An eminent London physician advances the theory that excess of salt is one of the four factors which cause cancer. It is essential, but is inoperative without one or two others. Excess of salt may arise from too much meat. He considers that other factors are overnourishment, an impure condition of the body resulting, owing to the nonuse and nonoxidation of food. Some local irritant or stimulant, such as friction from the stem of a pipe or irritant from some micro organism, must always be present. Cancer is seldom seen among Jewesses, possibly from the difference of diet. Savages, so far as is known, are exempt from cancer, and they get no salt. All the domestic animals, except the pig, are subject to cancer, and salt is given to sheep, cows and horses, but never to pigs.

VEGETABLE CATERPILLAR.

Among the many strange growths, apparently freaks of nature, which are to be found in New Zealand the vegetable caterpillar readily ranks among the foremost. This caterpillar is several inches in length, is hairless and does not differ essentially in appearance from some of the caterpillars of our own land.

Its claim to distinction lies in the fact that when it gets ready to die it digs a hole for itself in the earth and completely buries itself. Later a slender green shoot springs from the spot. This bears two or more leaves near its top.

Upon investigation it is found that the green shoot springs from the head of the dead caterpillar, and further investigation develops the fact that the body of the caterpillar is filled with roots.

The form is retained without change, and the roots do not pierce through the skin or enter the ground. When dug up, this dead yet living freak presents a most odd appearance for the head and even the eyes of the caterpillar are distinctly seen, yet from the head is growing the green sprout, with its leaves.

Hard to Tell Chinaman's Age.

How old is a Chinaman? Can you give a good guess? It is harder to tell than the age of a negro. The Chinaman has no beard, and his hair is of a jet and glossy blackness, which turns gray only at an extreme age, when a Caucasian head would be either snow white or bald. Then again the Chinese have the most perfect nervous system of any people in the world and do not wrinkle up with age. They can stand any amount of opium smoking without material injury that would send a white man to his grave or an insane asylum. So you have little to go by. A Chinaman will look thirty when he is twenty and when he is fifty. If you ask him his age, he will place it at least ten years ahead, for he holds old age to be honorable, and among his people he will be respected and looked up to by all his juniors.

Heartburn.

The burning in the throat called popularly "heartburn" shows that acid fermentation is taking place. A good palliative is bicarbonate of soda. Of this one teaspoonful may be taken in a tumblerful of water. Repeat if the burning does not pass away. But blessed are they who can vomit, for this is the only scientific and natural means of cure. Indigestion always means that chemical changes have occurred by which products have been formed hurtful to the system. Vomiting may be assisted by copious drafts of warm water, and these will wash out the stomach. A remedy that merely relieves pain does not effect this.

Cards in the Curriculum.

The custom of encouraging our children to perfect themselves in card games is by no means of modern growth. There must have been a substratum of truth in the following jesting paragraph, which is clipped from The Times of Nov. 2, 1797: "At some of our first boarding schools the fair pupils are now taught to play whist and cassino. Amongst their winning ways this may not be the least agreeable to papa and mamma. It is calculated that a clever child, by its cards and its novels, may pay for its own education."—London Chronicle.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Palms never live more than 250 years. Ivy has been known to live 450, chestnut 560, oak 1,600 and yew 2,680 years.

Nothing is better for house plants than to be set out in a gentle, warm rain, but a cold rain and wind are anything but hopeful to them.

In planting trees an important point not to be forgotten is pressing the soil down upon the roots so that they will come in close contact with it.

A pot of flowers in bud should receive all the sunshine possible, but when the buds open keep them in shade, and they will last longer.

The largest apple tree in New England is in Cheshire, Conn. Its trunk measures one foot above all root enlargements, 13 feet 8 inches in circumference.

An orchard, whether young or old, should not be allowed to grow where heavy crops of grass are taken every year. It is weakening to the soil and detrimental to the trees.

In Ashanti there grows a tree resembling in appearance the English oak, which furnishes excellent butter. This vegetable butter keeps in perfect condition all the year round in spite of the heat.

Save Your 1838 Quarters.

Take them to Ormond and Walsh's drug store and he will give you a bottle of Four T's, the bbest, safest and quickest cure known for coughs and colds. More than a quarter million bottles sold in five years time, proves Four T's the best lung compound known. It is a positive cure for whooping cough.

Drinking Through the Nostrils.

The Indian sages do not practice their breathing exercises simply for the sake of repose and sleep. During the inbreathing energy is increased. These Indians are not the only people who believe that with the inbreathing of pure air there comes something still more vital than oxygen. But the Indians have developed the art of breathing more than any other people.

One of their favorite exercises is to inhale through the left nostril, to hold the breath for a time and then exhale through the right nostril.

Another of their exercises is to drink water through the nostrils, and after it has been retained for a short time it is expelled through the nostrils and the mouth. This is said to cool the head.

Diarrhoea Weakens the System.

and if not checked becomes a chronic condition. No remedy compares with Nerviline, which is prepared especially for stomach and bowel troubles. As a radical cure for cramps, colic, gas in the stomach, summer complaint, Nerviline excels everything in the medical line, as an indispensible household staple, and costs 25c. Buy a bottle to-day.

Growing Bananas.

Bananas are as a rule planted out systematically in rows, the "suckers" being placed at an average of ten feet apart. The banana plant bears only one bunch at a time, but it is a quick grower, yielding its fruit in twelve to fourteen months. When the plant is about six months old, a second "sucker" or shoot is allowed to spring from the root, a third after the ninth month, and so on, so that after the first year there is a continuous crop being reaped.

Fans in Shakespeare's Time.

Fans in Shakespeare's time seem to have been composed of ostrich and other feathers fastened to handles. Gentlemen carried fans in those days, and in one of the later figures of the german they now carry fans. According to an old manuscript in the Ashmolean museum, Sir Edward Cole rode the circuit with a prodigous fan, which had a long stick, with which he corrected his daughters.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of John Carlow, who died on March 28th, 1902.

Oh, what is youth, what is beauty,
But mere shadows of the day;
One touch of death's cold icy hand
Transfigures them to clay.

A place is vacant in our home,
That voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our midst
That never can be filled.

Yes, dear John has left us;
His toils and cares are o'er;
In heaven we hope to meet him,
But on earth, alas, no more.

Loving cousin, thou art sleeping,
In the cold and silent tomb;
Calmly sleeping, gracefully waiting,
The glorious resurrection morn.

Cut down in boyhood's happy prime,
Dear John so kind and true;
Laid low on Good Friday morn;
Oh, it was hard to bid adieu.

Jesus while our hearts are bleeding,
O'er the spoils that death has won;
We would, at this solemn parting,
Calmly say, Thy will be done.

A COUSIN.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines on the death of Miss Bertha Laurie, who died Feb. 19th, 1902.

Oh! dear Bertha, thou hast left us,
Never more to see thy face;
Father, mother, friends, relations,
All behold the vacant place.

In the Sunday school they miss you,
As they do in other ways;
But to God thou hast been faithful,
Serving Him through the long days.

'Tis true she's gone from all on earth,
Like we all shall surely go;
Over her peaceful, silent grave,
The seasons' storms shall ever blow.

Tell my friends to weep not for me,
For I'm not afraid to die;
But to live a life so faithful,
They will meet me up on high.

For she heard her Saviour calling,
And she answered, "Here am I;"
So he took her up to heaven,
There to live beyond the sky.

So let us each a warning take,
And prepare to meet our God;
For he tells that 'tis too late,
When they lay us 'neath the sod.

The way is plain, the way is clear,
God's laws obey and Jesus love;
Follow the road narrow and straight,
And all shall meet her up above.

A FRIEND.

Peterborough, May 10th, 1902.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Dr. Carmichael, of Peterborough, passed through here last week.

At the Methodist church last Sabbath morning, Rev. Mr. Mounteer chose for the subject of his discourse those words, "What is that to thee," "Follow thou Me." Rev. Mr. Kannawin's text in the evening at the Presbyterian church was "Set Thine House in Order for Thou Shalt Die and not Live." Following each other the texts chosen were very appropriate and both sermons were very impressive.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. (J) H. Best is improving.

We are glad to hear that under the special care of Dr. Keith, Mrs. J. Mordon is improving.

$5 000 has won the Money.
The $1,000 reward offered by Merrill, the Brantford Druggist, for a better cure for Habitual Constipation than Merrill's System Tonic has not yet been won. Besides its wonderful tonic action on the liver and intestines it is a pleasant and powerful blood purifier, thus curing all nervous affections such as sleeplessness, loss of vigor and twitching of the nerves. 50 pleasant-to-take doses for 50c. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

The Teeth.
If you are a dyspeptic with tender teeth, says a dentist, use a small, soft brush twice a day, and just before stepping into bed rub with your forefinger a little dry bicarbonate of soda about the root of the gums. Some folks use a solution of carbolic and soda as a mouth wash, which is very nearly as good, and I always advise, instead of the employment of dental silk, a narrow rubber band, such as you buy for desk use. The rubber run between the teeth will catch any deposit and won't cut the gums as thread often does.

Siberian Camels.
The native camels of Siberia are a source of constant wonder to travelers. On the Mongolian plateau, for instance, the thermometer often registers a temperature of 40 degrees below zero, but the camels do not mind it at all, walking about as blithely as if the weather were as balmy as spring. On the other hand, the temperature on the Gold desert in summer is sometimes 140 degrees above zero, and the beasts mind that heat just as little as they do the extreme cold.

Mohammed and the Hill.
Mohammed made the people believe that he would call a hill to him and from the top of it offer up his prayers for the observers of his law. The people assembled, Mohammed called the hill to come to him again and again, and when the hill stood still he was never a whit abashed, but said, "If the hill will not come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the HILL."

The Conditions.
"Will this car take me to the plaza?" asked the excited old lady of the placid motorman.
"Well, under certain conditions—yes," replied the man guardedly.
"What are the conditions?" asked the old lady, still further perturbed.
"That you get on and pay your fare."

It Strikes the Heart.
Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

SMITH.

At the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, on Friday evening, May 9th, a square social was given by the two young men's classes, the teachers of which are Miss R. McGregor and Miss E. Darling. The basement of the church was beautifully decorated with bunting and flags, and the manner in which these were arranged showed that country people have a very large degree of the artistic nature about them.

At eight o'clock a gathering of about 80 having assembled, the following programme was commenced, Rev. W. A. Gunton acting as chairman in his usual able and genial manner;

Vocal solo..... ....Mr. W. Paul
Reading..... ....Mr. C. Moore
...tation... ... ...Mr. E. Scott
...ress, "The word Square, and its ...ses"... ... ...Mr. E. Brumwell
...al solo... ... ...Miss Courtney
...tation... ... ...Miss M. Darling
...ding... ... ...Mr. W. Graham
...strumental solo... ... ...Mr. W. Paul
...ding... ... ...Miss E. Darling
...citation... ... ...Miss McEwan
Reading... ... ...Mr. G. W. Mann
Chairman's address,..... ....

When the programme was brought to a close, Mr. Jas. Mann was called to the front and given an address and a book, "Reveries of a Bachelor." Mr. E. Brumwell read the address and Mr. W. Paul made the presentation. Although Mr. Mann was completely taken by surprise yet he replied in a few well chosen words. He is a member of Miss McGregor's class and is soon to depart for Manitoba. He has done faithful work in the prayer meeting, Christian Endeavour and Sunday school, and for the last few years has acted as librarian.

Then followed what the hungry would say was the most important item, viz., the supper. The menu consisted of bread and butter, soda biscuits, canned tomatoes, kippered herrings, salmon, layer cake, ginger snaps, oranges and lemonade. The list may seem somewhat limited, but it must be remembered that young men are not very expert along the baking line.

To carry out the square idea four tables were arranged in the form of a square with the guests sitting on the outside only. In the centre were Thos. Mann and Gordon Mann, who served the oranges and lemonade. This duty was performed most acceptably by these two popular young men. Covering the tables was some fine paper in the patterns of which squares were prominent. The waiters did their part with natural ease and grace and each one carried a square wooden tray. On the blackboard at the front of the room was a design which had sixty-two squares involved. The layer cakes were square, and were cut in square pieces. Also the slips of paper for the selection of partners were square.

When all had done ample justice to the "dainties," the gathering was dismissed, after the singing of the National Anthem. The social was highly successful, and its success was to a very great degree due to the efforts of the two efficient teachers.

VILLIERS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Dr. Harrison of Keene is attending Miss Maggie Shear, who is ill with scarlet fever; he reports the case as doing nicely.

A little stranger appeared in our village last week, which means a busy summer for Geordie.

Our village blacksmith received a visit last week from his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hastie, Allandale.

The scholars of Villiers Sunday school are greatly pleased with their new library purchased from A. H. Stratton & Co. Motto, Go to Stratton's for an up-to-date library.

Jack Frost worked hard on Friday night, leaving three quarters of an inch of ice on rain barrels and water troughs.

On Friday night one of our young men wheeling home at a late hour tried to run over a sheep, but only got far enough to put his arm around its neck.

Miss Mary Nelson is sewing with Miss A. Gilleapie.

Now would be a good time, when so many freight trains are running, causing the express to take the siding to petition the G.T.R. for the removal of Blezard's station to Fortune's switch.

Mr. Jas. Whitton inspected Villier's cheese on Tuesday.

STOCK MARKETS.

An Expert on Penns.

New Yor. May 13th. — Cuthbert Mills, speaks as follows relative to Pennsylvania shares. "Do you know what I consider one of the cheapest stocks? Pennsylvania. Its treasury assets are in book value one hundred millions after charging off everything. It earns between 10 and 12 per cent. It is a good property, properly managed. I believe the stock will sell between 175 and 200 this year; every year the dividend stock remaining after all charges paid has never been much more than half disbursed. Consider well the figures for the past three years, wherein the Co. has largely increased its stock, the money so obtained being used for the purchase of the B & O and W C & O, Long Is and other roads. In 1899 the dividend fund was $10,500,000, equal to 8 per cent on $130,000,000 of stock. Dividend paid 5 per cent calling for $6,500,000. Year 1900 div fund was $17,300,000, equal to 12 per cent on $146,000,000; stock dividend paid 5 per cent, and 1 per cent, extra, calling for $8,800,000. Surplus remaining $1 1-2 millions. Year 1901, div fund was $22,000,000, div paid 5 per ct and 1 per cent extra, calling for $16,800,000; surplus $11,300,000. The company has now made its dividend 6 per cent regular, so that extras will come on top of that. Penn has purchased control of the roads above mentioned. The securities so purchased are deposited in the company's treasury and thus permanently withdrawn from the market. Only the minority stocks of these issues are now dealt in these several properties now worked as part of the Penn system. Yearly increase in value correspondingly increase in Penn assets.

This tale of expansion, in power, wealth and magnitude of scope seems almost like a dream; the greatest result therefrom is the increase of return from the capital invested, which in the case of this company has more than increased proportionately; in other words each share of Penn stock through the company's policy of expansion has to-day earned far it more than at any previous time in the company's history. This is a result calculated to please shareholders. It is probably the model railway of this country, if not the world, and its shares are immensely cheap. A sluggish but strong speculation existed through the list after a weakness at the opening. London continued a buyer, notably in UP; quite a strong inclination to buy these shares has developed among our cousins over the sea. RP was sough after while TCI was in better demand.

THE DEAD ARE 1,600

Official Report of Sir Robert Llewelyn on St. Vincent.

A GOVERNOR'S AWFUL BLUNDER

The Ghastly Details of the Devastation at St. Vincent Are Too Harrowing For Description—Conditions Much Worse Than Expected—Canada's Parliament Unanimously Votes $50,000 to Assist Survivors.

London, May 15.—The Governor of the Windward Islands, Sir Robert Llewelyn, telegraphs, to the Colonial Office from the Island of St. Vincent under date of Tuesday, May 13, as follows: "I arrived here yesterday and found the state of affairs much worse than has been stated. The Administrators' reports show that the country on the east coast between Robin Rock and Georgetown was apparently struck and devastated in manner similar to that which destroyed St. Pierre, and I fear that practically all living things in that radius were killed. Probably 1,600 persons lost their lives. The exact number will never be known. Managers and owners of the estates, with their families, and several of the better class of people have been killed. A thousand bodies have been found and buried. One hundred and sixty persons are in the hospital at Georgetown. Probably only six of this number will recover.

"The details of the disaster are too harrowing for description. I got, at St. Lucia, a coasting steamer, which is running up and down the Leeward coast with water and provisions. Twenty-two hundred persons have received relief. The eruption continues, but is apparently moderating. Anxiety is still felt. All the officers and residents are co-operating with me. The ladies are making clothing.

No Wounded—All Dead.

Sir Frederick M. Hodgson, the Governor of Barbados (British West Indies) forwarded to the Colonial Office yesterday the report of the Colonial Secretary, who has just returned from a visit to St. Pierre, Martinique. It confirms the worst accounts of the disaster. The Secretary compares the ignited matter, which destroyed everything within an area of ten miles long by six wide, to burning sealing wax. He adds significantly that the services of doctors are not required, as there are no wounded persons.

FORT DE FRANCE IN DANGER.

Report From St. Lucia Signal Station of Conflagration There.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, May 14.—The St. Lucia signal station here reports having seen a conflagration last night in the direction of Fort de France, Martinique.

The St. Pierre Survivors.

New York, May 15.—All the survivors of the St. Pierre disaster continue to be greatly broken up by the terrible experience through which they passed, says a despatch to The Herald from St. Kitts, B.W.I. First Officer Scott, Assistant Purser Thomas and Cooper Taylor are still in a pitiable condition. Scott, who lost a son about to enter college, cannot take his mind from the scenes of last Thursday. All three men speak in the highest terms of Capt. Pierre Lebris of the French cruiser Suchet, whose kindness to the survivors endeared them to him.

GOVERNOR'S BLUNDER.

Doctor Who Survived the St. Pierre Disaster Tells of It.

London, May 15.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Barbadoes, who visited St. Pierre on board the Royal Mail steamer Solent, has learned from a Doctor Artier, who miraculously escaped the disaster, that when the Governor of Martinique, M. L. Mouttet, and the insular officials had declared all danger from an eruption of Mont Pelee to be passed, a cordon of armed soldiers and policemen was placed around the town to prevent the people from leaving. Dr. Artier, however, went to the suburb of Morne Rouge. He was riding back to St. Pierre when the explosion occurred. He turned and fled precipitately across the mountains to Fort de France. With the exception of the prisoner, who was confined in a dungeon at the time of the explosion, Dr. Artier is really the sole survivor of St. Pierre.

$50,000 FROM THE DOMINION.

Both Sides of the House Coincide in Grant to Martinique and St. Vincent Survivors—Other Notes.

In the House of Commons at Ottawa Wednesday afternoon $50,000 was voted for the relief of the survivors in Martinique and St. Vincent. One-half will be given to each. Mr. Fielding presented the vote. Mr. Borden heartily concurred in it.

Winnipeg will send a trainload of flour from the West for the sufferers.

The Pope has given $4,000 for the Martinique sufferers. Ex-President Kruger has contributed $160. Berlin Town Council has sent 40,000 marks. The Legislature of Kingston, Ja., has voted $5,000. The Paris Chamber of Commerce raised 12,000 francs in a few minutes.

Dixie's Big Relief Cargo.

The U.S. cruiser Dixie sailed from New York Wednesday night for Port de France with 200,000 pounds of bread, 85,000 pounds of flour, 900,000 pounds of rice, 200,000 pounds of codfish, 200 cases of chicken and beef soups, 100 cases of evaporated cream, 100 cases condensed milk, 5,000 pairs of trousers, 6,000 pairs of shoes, 20,000 pairs of socks, 5,000 pairs of khaki trousers, 4,000 pairs of barrack shoes, 2,000 blouses, 1,000 tents, 2,000 pairs of Balbriggan drawers, 1,000 Balbriggan shirts, 500 summer coats. The cruiser had also $5,000 worth of medical supplies and three army surgeons on board.

Two weeks ago La Soufriere, on the Island of St. Vincent, began its rumblings. The mount emptied on May 6. Several earthquakes occurred. At noon on May 6 six streams ran down the mountain side. Then devastation ensued. Sixteen hundred and twenty deaths occurred. There are 167 cases in the Georgetown Hospital.

Burying the Dead.

The deaths were caused by suffocation by sulphurous gas, lightning and burning lava. Kingston is safe. The dead are being burned in trenches, 30 in each. La Soufrière is still active. Two million tons of dust from St. Vincent fell on the Island of Barbados.

An American scientific expedition has sailed for St. Pierre to study the recent phenomena. They will search for the cause of the seismic convulsions preceding the eruption and attempt to discover means of forewarning districts of similar disasters.

Vesuvius Stirred Up.

Paris, May 15.—A despatch from Naples to The Journal says Mount Vesuvius shows signs of activity. Lava is flowing from the crater on the Pompeii side, while hot cinders are thrown up from time to time.

4,000 Killed.

San Francisco, May 15. — The steamer Guatemala brings additional details of the earthquake in Central America last month. The Guatemala left the port of that name April 29. Up to that time 1,100 bodies had been taken out of the ruins of Quezaltenango. Captain Harris of the Guatemala said: "It is estimated that 2,000 people were killed."

TO DOWN THE COMBINE

Morgan's Challenge Likely to Be Met by the Dominion.

IN CONJUNCTION WITH C.P.R.

A Fast Atlantic Steamship and Freight Line, Controlled by Trustees of the Dominion Government, and Working in Union With the C.P.R. May Be Established—Cabinet Alive to Danger.

Toronto, May 15.—The Globe's correspondent sends the following:

Ottawa, May 15.—The establishment of a fast Atlantic steamship and freight line, controlled by trustees of the Canadian Government, and working in union with the Dominion's great trans-continental line. This may be Canada's answer to the formation of the great Morgan octopus, which threatens to enfold in its tentacles the trade of this young and growing country and make the Dominion dependent upon American channels of communication. No mistake is entertained as to the meaning of Mr. Morgan's latest efforts at consolidation. He has not only managed to incorporate the principal Atlantic steamship lines in his "merger," but he has with him all the leading United States railways which centre at New York, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Newport News. The object of this joint railway and steamship car line is to secure a monopoly for the United States of the passenger and freight traffic crossing the Atlantic. The effect of the Morgan combine remaining unopposed would be to make Canadians hewers of wood and drawers of water for the United States. The control of communication by sea and land would render the Americans master of the situation. Our western grain would be taken to the seaboard by American barges and railways and transferred from New York to American steamships. The control of immigration to Canada would pass out of our hands, and the steamships, the Morgan combine could restrict the number coming to this country, to exactly what proportion they pleased.

How to meet this dangerous and threatening situation is the question which has been occupying the attention of the Government. Representatives of the different Canadian steamship and railway companies have been sounded as to their views of the situation, and the Government is said to have been convinced that the best way to fight the Morgan combine is through a company able to operate a trans-Atlantic fleet and a transcontinental railway of its own. It is now reported that negotiations have been opened with the C.P.R. looking to the establishment of a fast Atlantic steamship and freight service. The plea is that there should be a weekly passenger service between Canada and Great Britain equal to the best that sails from New York. In order to maintain a good freight service a dozen freight steamers would be required, and the total cost of the undertaking would be $20,000,000. The Government already has the power to subsidize a line to the extent of $750,000 a year, but a passenger and freight service, it is said, would involve a million yearly.

The C.P.R. is reported to be willing if the project goes through to allow the fast steamship line to be controlled by trustees nominated by the Government. National control would be a guarantee that fair rates would be extended to all Canadian companies and that there would be no discrimination for or against any particular railway.

According to report, the matter is now engaging the consideration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues, and further developments are expected when they proceed to London in June. It is thought that the project will then be discussed with the C.P.R. directors and representatives of the British Government. The impression is that the latter would be disposed to grant a handsome subsidy to a purely British undertaking.

To Fight Morgan.

London, May 15.—The Daily Mail, in its issue of this morning, says that ten members of the House of Commons have promised to form a pool of £1,000,000 as the nucleus of a fund to start a line of ocean greyhounds in opposition to the Morgan combine. The promoters of this enterprise hope to secure mail and cruiser subsidies from the Government.

Italy Watching Morgan.

Rome, May 15.—The Under Secretary of State said yesterday that the Government of Italy was closely watching the Morgan Shipping Company, and, if necessary, it would not fail to use all the means at its disposal to protect national interests.

Disproved.

Chimer—I'm surprised that you should speak so unkindly of Miss Gusch. She speaks well of you. She was telling me that you loaned her a book of your verses, and she thought them lovely.

Rimer—Yes; so she told me, but when she returned the book the pages were still uncut.

IT IS NOT TIME FOR A CHANGE.

The people are asked to reject the Ross Government at the polls because it has been thirty years in office. "It is time for a change," say the Conservative newspapers—"the Government has been in power too long." The more this "argument," if such it may be considered, is analysed, the more intelligent men will be disposed to wonder at the unreflecting stupidity of those who pretend to solemnly advance it as a reason for putting Mr. Whitney in power. That a Government which must periodically submit its claims to the people, and undergo the most minute and rigid scrutiny as to all its doings, should be returned again and again by the people is surely an argument in its favour, rather than otherwise. It indicates popular satisfaction and content. It shows that there are no grievances or abuses, no sins of omission or commission, sufficient to counterbalance the value of its services. Or, if it does not show this, the only other inference that can be drawn therefrom, is that the electors are so apathetic, so stupid, so careless of their own rights, and the public interests, that they tolerate neglect and misconduct in their rulers.

The contention that because the Government have been in office for a generation they should therefore be defeated, is a reflection upon the intelligence and public spirit of the electorate. We do not believe that the people of Ontario are supine and apathetic in politics; that they are the sort that can be ridden over rough shod, and bullied into permitting a set of rulers, whom they do not want, to maintain themselves in power against their will. The fiercely contested campaigns of the past, when everything that could possibly be was thoroughly threshed out in public, shows that the people are keen and alert in looking after their own interests. That the Government should have survived this ordeal repeatedly, and been returned time after time, with the endorsement of the electorate, is a credit to them. Only an Administration with a clean record, and able to give proof of capacity and statesmanship, could have stood such a test. A Government of weak men, of negligent and incompetent men, of corruptionists, would long ago have succumbed to the pressure. They could not have held their ground. They would have been cast aside to make room for others.

To contend that the 30 years tenure of office is a reason for displacing the Ross Administration is an aspersion upon the intelligence and public spirit of the electors and their competence to judge of men and measures upon their merits. That a Government has retained power so long is about as good a proof as could be offered of its general acceptability and of its having won the confidence of the people. Men who have the good of the Province at heart will not be swayed by a mere restless craving for change and novelty. They will not dispense with those who have served them well simply because they have served them long.

Hon. G. W. Ross, the foremost statesman of the province, has been in power a little less than three years and in that time he has presented and entered upon the application of a policy of development that is already showing great results and has put new life and hope into the people of the Province. It is not time for a change when he is just entering upon this great work. Hon. Mr. Ross deals playfully with Mr. Whitney's demand that "it is time for a change." Speaking at Stratford he said: "That demand was based upon a fallacy. It is based upon the fact that we, that is, the Reform party, have been in power for thirty years. He forgets that I have been Premier only two or three years, and it would be a very rude shock for me to be removed. Had I been the Premier for thirty years and grown feeble there would be some cause for a change, but I am in full vigour of my Premiership yet. I am just entering upon my career, and is it fair to a young man, just when he has got his foot in the stirrup, for someone to come and take away the horse he is going to ride, and not give him a chance?"

Remember Ross.

AN IMPORTANT REFORM.

If the first sod of the first railway owned by the province of Ontario had been turned twenty or thirty years ago, instead of a few days ago, it would have been a good thing for the people of Ontario.

Too many railways have been built with the people's money and owned and operated in the interests of stockholders.

It remained for Hon. G. W. Ross to introduce the better method in connection with the Temiscaming Railway. As the country is to build the road, the country is to own it.

The railway policy of Mr. Ross is to make investments, not gifts, and it is a policy of revolution and deliverance from the errors concurred in by both political parties for two generations.

If the imminence of the elections did not distort proportions, the full significance of the turning of the first sod of the first State-owned railway in Ontario by Hon. Frank Latchford the other day, would not be lost on the public.

It means a great deal. It means that when another railroad is needed anywhere in the province, no Government, in the face of the policy introduced by Mr. Ross, can deal with a company of capitalists without first way. As the province is to build the road, the province is to own it.

More than that, it means that there can be no further subdising of railway on the old basis. Where a railway is needed the country can build one, as it is building the Temiscaming road, or, if not, capitalists can build it as a straight business undertaking. But if the Province of Ontario contributes, it will be as an investor, not as a dispenser of bounty. This is a great reform.—Toronto Star.

MR. WHITNEY'S SEE-SAW.

Mr. Whitney is the high priest of inconsistency. He adopts a thing one day and opposes it the next, or vice-versa. A few days ago on a public platform he declared, in his usually strong language, that if he got the power he would repeal the act taxing rich corporations because the large sums paid by the wealthy corporations was practically a direct tax upon the people. At another time he proposed to reapeal this tax because it constitutes, he asserted, a revenue that should go to the municipalities, and in his last published speech—at Uxbridge—he showed that he had quit advocating the repeal on any ground. He saw that his proposal was regarded by the public, as it is in fact, a declaration of friendship to the corporations and a plea for their help and support. And he "turns Turk" on himself, swallows himself again, as he has done on so many other occasions.

Fifty Tablets for 25 Cents

This shifting, changeful, twisting, undecided way of dealing with one of the most important questions now before the people of this province, is peculiar to the Opposition leader. Next session of the Legislature the whole question of assessment will come up under the report of the Assessment Commission. The subject is one that vitally interests the whole province. Mr. Whitney's cavalier way of playing pitch and toss with the subject shows that he has no proper appreciation of the importance of the subject he takes up with so little consideration. He is not a safe man to follow, for two reasons, in this connection. He either made his declaration, to repeal the corporation tax, to gain a temporary popularity, or he did so without consideration. He either dropped the subject, because he saw his position was unpopular, or because he does not appreciate the importance of the issues it involves. In either event, is an unsafe man to follow. He let the bill to tax corporations, pass through the house, and never raised his voice against it. When he thought he could gain the demagogue's reward, unreflecting popular applause, he declared — on the eve of an election—that he will repeal the act to tax corporations, which he allowed to pass without a word of objection, only three short years ago. When he finds that his proposition, being hostile to the public interests, was unpopular with the electors, he drops it "like a hot potato."

Mr. Whitney is an opportunist of the first rank. He trims his sails to every passing breeze, and his craft yaws and tacks and twists and drifts so erratically that it will never, never reach the port of office.

A MAN OF FURIOUS MOODS.

An eminent writer on Parliamentary Government says: "While Parliamentary opposition affords a valuable security against the misconduct of a Government, it is, nevertheless, liable to abuse, and may easily be perverted to factious and unpatriotic issues. It may be made the vehicle for personal acrimony and false accusation."

Mr. J. P. Whitney has used his position for purposes of factious opposition and personal acrimony. The "Engledue deal" was was described as an "Engledue steal," although everybody knows that it turned out to be a bargain in which the company lost money.

The Algoma Central Railway bargain was described by Mr. Whitney (see Globe and Mail of April 27, 1900) as "the most phenomenal steal, the greatest attempt at public robbery, the most heinous crime ever attempted by any man in the Province of Ontario, and the speaker did not think he would be exaggerating if he said, the Dominion of Canada."

For a complete backdown, read what Mr. Whitney said—as reported in the Mail and Empire, March 20th, 1901, scarcely a year after the above sweeping denunciation—in a speech delivered by him at a dinner to the visiting members of the Advisory Council of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario, at Webb's: "Regarding the concession to Mr. Clergue, he stated that he still believed the grant was too large, but he was glad if it had to be given, that it was given to a man of the stamp of Mr. Clergue. There was not a man on the Government side, Mr. Whitney said, who would go as far as the members of the Opposition in backing up all Mr. Clergue's legitimate undertakings, and he believed they were all legitimate."

He thus entirely withdrew the extravagant language he had used. But he still spoke of the grant as too large. Yet about a month after this second speech the grant to Mr. Clergue's Manitoulin and North Shore Railway went through the Legislature, not only unchallenged, but actually approved, by him, although the latter grant was larger than the former, both per mile and in the aggregate.

Mr. Whitney has no plan, no policy, no guiding principles. He does not lead a party; he only inconveniences the Government as best he can. Is it surprising that all over Ontario murmurings are heard that it is "time for a change" in the leadership of the Opposition? Mr. Whitney deals in too much denunciation, exaggeration, and personal acrimony.—Star.

"I am just entering upon my career," said Hon. G. W. Ross. That's the point. He is the ablest man in Provincial politics, one of the ablest in Canadian public life, and after a long, hard training he has reached the premiership, with the result that he has infused great energy into all branches of the Government. Ontario cannot afford to do without his services. It wouldn't be good business.

THE SAWLOG POLICY.

Hon. E. J. Davis Punctures Mr. Whitney's Claim That Mr. Miscampbell Was the Father of It.

Coldwater, May 15.—Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands, delivered an able address in Mr. Tudhope's (East Simcoe) behalf here last night. He was cordially received and frequently applauded as he reviewed the policy of the Government, what had already been accomplished and what it was proposed to do. In discussing Mr. Whitney's statements as to dissatisfaction among new Ontario settlers, Mr Davis pointed out that the record of the colonization branch of the department did not bear out the assertion, and the continued and even increasing throng of settlers would indicate exactly the opposite condition. (Applause). Mr. Whitney has also tried to make it appear that the mining laws of the Province were having an extremely injurious effect on that industry, but again the records of the department were against him, and Mr. Davis quoted figures in proof of the fact that the Provincial mining output for the first three months of the present year was 52 per cent. greater than that of the first three months of last year. (Applause.)

Mr. Davis discussed the policy of the Government on the pulp question, its railway policy and the building of the Government road to the Temiskaming, and the policy of aid to agriculture. This section of the Province being largely interested in the saw-milling industry, Mr. Davis went into the sawlog policy at some length, disproving, as he has frequently done in the House, Mr. Miscampbell's claim to the paternity of the manufacturing clause, and showing that Hon. Mr. Hardy, the then Commissioner, had anticipated Mr. Miscampbell by several years.

PROOF IS EASY TO FIND.

One thing of great importance discovered by the manufacturers of Malt Breakfast Food, is a practical way of combining the vegetable digestive agent, Malt Diastase with the choicest quality of Wheat.

The action of the Malt on the starch of the grain supplies the action in which the weakened stomach is defective, and the result is restored digestion, new health and greater strength.

While thousands of dyspeptics and strong people have given the most convincing testimony as to the superiority of Malt Breakfast Food over all other breakfast foods, the following letter from the celebrated Webster Edgerly, President of the Ralston Health Club, is worthy of the special notice of all who would eat to live happily:

"Your Malt Breakfast Food was duly received and tested. We think you have the best breakfast food for imparting strength that has yet been made. We wish all you can send us to give away for trial. We will soon displace all oatmeal and other foods in the market within our reach."

END OF THE SESSION

Arrangements Made at Ottawa for the Prorogation.

GRANT FOR THE WEST INDIES

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Refers to Aid For Railways—Some Bills Dropped to Be Carried Over Till Next Session—The Treadgold Concession Discussed—Articles Placed on the Free List.

Ottawa, May 15.—Rapid progress was made yesterday, and when the House adjourned at 10.25 last evening the only business left on the order paper was the supply bill, a Government bill respecting joint stock companies, and the consideration of the amendments by the Senate to another Government bill. Prorogation is fixed for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Several Bills Dropped.

At the opening of the House yesterday morning Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved that the order for several Government bills be discharged. The discharged orders are Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill respecting telegraph and telephone companies, Mr. Sifton's bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act, Sir Richard Cartwright's bill to amend the Manitoba Grain Act, Mr. Blair's bill amending and consolidating the law, respecting railways and Mr. Mulock's bill providing for the settlement of railway labor disputes. The latter bill and Mr. Fitzpatrick's telephone bill will be taken up next session.

Aid For Railways.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier informed the House that he desired to take advantage of the opportunity of giving an answer to the numerous applications which have been made for assistance to railway construction. The Government, he said, had determined not to ask Parliament this session for an appropriation for that object. At the same time they were not unmindful that railway development is more than ever a pressing necessity and especially in the Northwest Territories and in the valley of the Saskatchewan River, towards which settlers are rapidly flocking. It was due to these people that they should be assured that their wants in that respect are engrossing the attention of the Government, and he hoped that next session assistance would be given to the construction of a railway to be built as rapidly as it is possible from some point on the western boundary in Manitoba through the Saskatchewan valley towards Edmonton.

On the Free List.

In Committee on Ways and Means Hon. Mr. Fielding's resolution extending the period of the time for the free admission of machinery used in the manufacture of beet root sugar for one year until 1st of April, 1903, was adopted.

The tools and machinery and parts for the manufacture of rifles for the Government of Canada were also placed on the free list in accordance with the terms of the contract with the Sir Charles Rose Rifle Company.

Mr. John Haggart contended that the whole rifle should be manufactured in Canada.

Hon. James Sutherland replied that practically the whole of the rifle was to be manufactured in Canada, but one or two small parts which could not be manufactured profitably in Canada would have to be imported.

Some Oppositionists expressed a fear that these rifle parts so exempted might also be used for private enterprise.

Mr. Fielding said that the matter of Customs arrangement and proper safeguards could be established.

The Senate amendments to the bills amending the general inspection act, respecting the representation of the Yukon in the House of Commons and amending the Manitoba grain act, 1890, were concurred in.

Treadgold Concession.

Mr. R. L. Borden, on the motion to go into supply, briefly discussed the Treadgold concession, which, as originally granted, he contended, exceeded the powers of the Governor in Council and also that it should have first received the consent of Parliament. He expressed doubts as to the extent to which the irritation caused in the Yukon by the terms of the original concession had been allayed by the amended order modifying its terms. Mr. Borden, in order to get it on Hansard, read the memorial of the miners against the original concession. He asked that the Minister of the Interior state whether the indictment made against the original concession had been met by the amending order in Council. Mr. Borden, at the same time, intimated that as the memorial was now he would not blame the Minister of the Interior if he could not give a detailed reply at once.

Hon. Clifford Sifton replied that the real purpose of the document read by Mr. Borden, which purported to have been written for the purpose of calling his attention to the matter, had not yet been received by him or by his department. Therefore he could not say anything as to the authenticity of the signatures of the young lawyer who wrote it, or the persons whose names it bore. Replying, however, to Mr. Borden's question, Mr. Sifton stated that apparently all the objections in the memorial, so far as he could ascertain from a cursory examination of the memorial, had been met by the amending order in Council. With respect to the claim that the river works should not go on until the creek claims had been worked out, it was manifest that this could not be conceded. Every reasonable objection raised by the delegates who came to Ottawa on behalf of the miners had been removed, and the delegates who knew what the interests of the people in the Yukon demanded were satisfied with the changes. Mr. Sifton reminded the House of the difficulties in administrating the affairs of the Yukon owing to the nature of the conditions, and invited the fullest discussion of the Government's policy, which had been designed to protect and promote the permanent interests of the country as contrusted with that of the floating and temporary residents of the territory.

Mr. Alcorn, of Prince Edward county, criticized the Government for proceeding by Order-in-Council instead of submitting the contract to the House. He read from Todd to sustain this contention. The matter then dropped.

M. Borden Misinformed.

Hon. Mr. Fielding called attention to an erroneous statement by Mr. R. L. Borden, who on March 11 stated that the Government had spent $2,000 in cutting a channel through the beach in Shelburne County, N.S., to give admission to a pond near the shore, which, being higher than the sea, was drained into the sea by the channel. Mr. Fielding produced the reports of the Engineer, who it was stated by Mr. Borden reported against the work, which upon perusal was found to recommend its construction, and also the report of the Engineer who built the channel, stating that the work was most useful, and gave the fishermen a harbor of refuge.

Mr. Borden replied that he had acted from information received, and insisted that his contention was in part correct.

Afternoon Session.

In the afternoon, urged by Mr. Kaulbach, Mr. Sutherland promised to call the attention of the Imperial authorities to the discrimination against Canadian vessels trading between Puerto Rico and American ports.

Mr. C. Marcil, M.P., urged that Paspebiac be the port for the proposed Cis-Atlantic fast line.

Relief For the Earthquake Victims.

Hon. W. S. Fielding handed to the Speaker a message from the Governor-General, transmitting a further supplementary estimate, and the House went into Committee of Supply. In committee Mr. Fielding explained that the supplementary estimate was for $50,000 for the relief of the sufferers by the volcanic disasters in the West Indies. It had been understood, he said, that we would have no more estimates this session, but when I state the purpose for which this estimate is asked, I am sure it will have the unanimous assent of the House.

Mr. R. L. Borden: I fully concur with and support the action of the Government in asking Parliament to make this appropriation.

The item passed.

Evening Session.

The evening session was spent in estimate concurrence, the House rising at 10.15 o'clock p.m.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Only Medicine That can Point With Pride to True and Marvellous Cures.

ITS PRAISES SOUNDED BY ALL CLASSES OF OUR PEOPLE.

A Spring Medicine That Quickly Purifies the Blood and Banishes Disease.

Paine's Celery Compound can with pride point to a long and wonderful list of cures effected in this and other lands. In fully ninety cases out of every hundred it has been successful in overcoming and banishing treacherous and long-standing diseases and ailments.

The great work of disease banishing and life saving so happily accomplished by Paine's Celery Compound has not been confined to any particular class of people. All ranks and conditions of our people—among which are found city toilers, hard-working farmers, business men, capitalists, clergymen, lawyers, physicians and legislators, owe their lives and present good health to the curing virtues of Paine's Celery Compound.

No other medicine in the world today, has been so much talked of, so highly recommended by medical men, so generally endorsed by our best people, as Paine's Celery Compound. It truly deserves all the good words spoken in its favour.

May is the great month for recuperating and building up the system. At this time we press upon the ailing, the nervous, the rheumatic, the neuralgic, the dyspeptic, old and young, the necessity of using Paine's Celery Compound. To those who are suffering and despondent, owing to the rapid progress of blood troubles, kidney diseases and liver complaint, we say "use the great healthgiver at once, if you would be speedily restored to health." The virtues peculiar to Paine's Celery Compound are as potent and true for you to-day as they proved powerful and effective for your friends and neighbours weeks and months ago.

The total loss is estimated at $8,000, with $4,000 insurance.

A SAWMILL BLOWN UP.

Two Men Instantly Killed at Perry Station.

Perry Station, May 15.—About 9 o'clock yesterday morning a sawmill belonging to Walter Stayzer, one mile east of Perry Station, blew up, killing two men and badly injuring another. The dead are G. Deave and Mr. Everett, ages about 48 and 55, respectively. Injured, W. Gillain, age 36. Everett's head was blown off. The boiler was totally wrecked, part of it hanging in the treetops. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Not Entirely.

A little investigation shows that the strong taste of pure cod liver oil cannot be entirely removed without entirely removing the oil. You can taste the oil in Scott's Emulsion, but it is not unpleasant.

The Successful One.

The man who sees in life the opportunity to express himself in the largest terms, who after ascertaining what faculties he has determines to develop them to the highest possible efficiency, who is capable of seeing the sweetness and joy that lie all about him, who, being proud, does not allow his body or mind to be defiled, he is the one who obtains the big rewards, the big successes.—Oppenheim, "Mental Growth and Control."

Queer Adornment.

Arab maidens before they enter the harem and take the veil are indeed curiously adorned. Their faces and bodies are stained a bright yellow with turmeric. On this groundwork they paint black lines over their eyes with antimony. The fashionable hue for noses is red, and spots of green adorn the cheeks. The general effect of this makeup is comical in the extreme.

A Rolfe's Idea.

"I think this nomadic life is a healthy life. I think if some of you professors, students, etc., would live more of a nomadic life and feel the enjoyment of the fresh air more and take more good wholesome outdoor exercise and live more of a rough and tumble life you would enjoy better health and live longer."

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumata constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

THE LATE MRS. HARPER.

The Mother of Mrs. Andrew Dobbin has Passed to Her Rest.

In the death of Mrs. Robert Harper, which took place Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Dobbin, North Monaghan, there has passed away one of the very old and estimable residents of this vicinity. She was the daughter of the late Robert Milburn, was born in Yorkshire, England, 89 years ago on the 28th of July next, and when only three years of age came to Canada with her parents, who settled in what is now known as Smithtown. The country at that time was in a most primitive state, and Mrs. Harper could relate very interesting incidents in connection with the journey overland to Rice Lake, and by river to her prospective home. She was, it has often been said, the first white child to come north of Port Hope. The Indian, at that time, enjoyed almost his aboriginal freedom throughout this section of the country. Mrs. Harper came to these parts by way of the Otonabee River, and was the first white girl to come up the river.

The death of the late Robert Harper, her husband, occurred in 1892. Surviving are three sons and three daughters. These are, John of North Monaghan; William, of Lakefield; Thomas, of town; Mrs. Wm. Brayshaw, Mrs. Jos. Grey, and Mrs. Andrew Dobbin of North Monaghan. A loving and beloved mother, and a woman who during her long residence in this vicinity was esteemed for her many Christian qualities, has passed to her rest.

The late Mrs. Harper had always enjoyed excellent health, but some time ago she contracted a slight cold which settled upon her lungs, and vitality gradually declined.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Andrew Dobbin, North Monaghan to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE LATE MRS. DREDGE.

Her Death Occurred at Nicholls Hospital Yesterday Afternoon.

The death occurred at Nicholls Hospital yesterday afternoon about four o'clock of Mrs. Dredge, beloved wife of Mr. Charles Dredge. The deceased had been suffering from appendecitis, as well as other troubles, and when it was found that an operation was necessary, she was removed to the hospital on Thursday last. The operation was successfully performed on Monday, but complications set in, and she gradually sank until death came to her relief. Mrs. Dredge was a much beloved woman, and many will mourn her demise. She was 59 years of age. The family will have the deep sympathy of the community in their irreparable loss. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 13 Victoria avenue, north, to-morrow, (Friday) afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

YOUNG MEN APPRECIATE MR. STRATTON.

The Registration Results Demonstrate This

BY A LARGE MAJORITY.

Registration Adds 396 Voters to the List—Seventy-Five Per Cent. Added in Mr. Stratton's Interests.

The registration of voters under the Manhood Suffrage Act, was completed last night at four o'clock and the result, too self-evident to need much analysis, shows that the young men of the town, who compose the bulk of the registrations, appreciate Mr. Stratton, the Liberal candidate—appreciate his superior fitness as a representative and will use their newly acquired franchise — enjoyed by many for the first time—in placing him at the head of the poll on May 29th.

Out of 896 votes rgistered, it is a moderate way to put the facts to say that more than 75 per cent. or nearly 700 were registered in Mr. Stratton's interests.

It is only natural that this should be so, for Mr. Stratton is a member of the Government that has given the legislation which has given the franchise to these young men through registration, and his opponent, Mr. Miller, is the candidate of a party that bitterly opposed the passage of the Act, so bitterly that it was only after an all-night sitting that the Liberals in the Legislature were able to place it on the statute books, and thereby give practical recognition to manhood's right to the franchise.

He is also a member of the commission to inquire into the Chinese immigration question. THE SYNOD MEETING.

Quite a Number Present From the Peterborough Presbytery.

The Synod of Toronto and Kingston Presbyterian church of Canada met in Knox church, Toronto, Monday night at 8 o'clock. The Rev. J. M. Aull, of Palmerston, was elected moderator for the ensuing year.

At the morning session, Tuesday morning, it was decided to meet in Toronto in Knox church on the second Tuesday of May 1903.

It was decided to hold a memorial service at the afternoon session at the time of the funeral in Kingston, of Principal Grant.

At 3 o'clock a large assemblage convened. Rev. A. Goldy read scripture and Rev. Dr. Parsons led the Synod in prayer.

The Rev. Dr. Gray, of Orillia, gave glowing tribute of respect to the memory of Principal Grant.

1. He was a predestined leader.
2. He was an active and energetic worker.
3. He was a many-sided man — most versatile and genial.
4. He had a marvellous degree of tenacity of purpose.
5. The broad mindedness of others, his great intolerance.
6. His deep, sincere religion.
7. He was possessed of a fearless spirit.

The Rev. James Murray, of Erskine church, Toronto, said that he felt that in the death of the Principal a great national loss had been sustained. This has been evidenced by the universal expression of sorrow in speech and pen. But he had no need to tell a public, well aware of the Principal's work in church or state, it was for him to emphasize what was true in the experience of many to-day that in Principal Grant's death a very personal friend had gone. He referred to his intense practical piety, his loving sympathy and his great interest in the welfare of his students, and while the message comes to us that he died poor, yet who could wish a richer death in the legacy he had left to the country in the stately buildings in Kingston, and in the strong lives of the men who came under his influence.

The Rev. Dr. Somerville, of Owen Sound, led in prayer and the solemn service was brought to a close by the Synod joining in singing "Forever with the Lord."

The business of the Synod being resumed, the Rev. S. Childerhose, B.A., of Parry Sound, gave a very vigorous address on Home Missions in New Ontario.

There are present from Peterborough Presbytery, Rev. Messrs. Campbell, Hamilton, Bennett, Oswald, McIntosh, Sinclair and J. G. Potter, and elders A. Armstrong, Lakefield and James Drummond, Keene.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

Some of the Excursions Which are Already Booked for Down the River.

That Jubilee Point is increasing in popularity, is evidenced by the fact of the following excursions having already been booked:—May 24th, Victoria Day, 57th Regimental Band, City of Peterborough and Water Lily; June 12th, Farmers' Excursionn, City of Peterborough and Water Lily; June 20th, Coronation Day, Canadian Order Foresters, three courts, City of Peterborough and Water Lily; July 1st, S.O.E., City of Peterborough; July 8th, All Saint's S. S. annual excurtion; August 21st, Civic Holiday, Catholic Order Foresters, City of Peterborough.

Arrangements are being made for a number of excursions in anticipation of the street railway being extended to the new wharf below the locks. In the past, the great drawback in securing many excursions over the G.T.R. has been the want of proper transportation facilities, from the railway station to the steamboats, the completion of this missing link would undoubtedly be the means of bringing hundreds to the town, en route to the Rice Lake favourite summer resorts.

Big shipment of refrigerators and oil stoves just arrived at the Boot Stove Co. Call and see them.

A DAMAGE TO THE CAUSE.

Perhaps no one man in this country has done more to discredit and to set back the cause of temperance and dampen temperance enthusiasm than the gentleman whose oily eloquence was heard in the opera house on Tuesday night, under the guise of temperance and prohibition. On that occasion Mr. W. W. Buchanan took the very course that tended to that end. He made as violent a partisan speech as any Whitney campaign stumper could make.

Mr. Whitney is opposed to prohibition. He has said so in the House and on the platform, yet a few "Tories" who have no standing in the Conservative party, who feel the present is an occasion when they can do some work for their party, congenial to their instincts and suited to their ability, invite a gentleman to speak in Mr. Miller's behalf, who ran away from his duty in Manitoba and left the temperance interests he had undertaken in the interests of the Conservative party of that province to shift for themselves and came down to this province to meddle with and mar the temperance cause in Ontario in the interests of Mr. Whitney. He is now running in the name of temperance a political sheet—a campaign sheet—which will expire on election day, and he is trying his best to defeat the Premier whom he hates, and to put into power the leader of a party who and which are opposed to prohibition or any form of temperance reform whatever.

Mr. Buchanan came here as a "temperance" advocate; yet what company does he keep? For the most part those associated with him are well known partisans of Mr. Miller, the Review-Lindsay Whitney-temperance candidate. What interest have Mr. Miller's other stumpers in common with a "temperance" advocate? What sympathy with temperance? What interest have the Review, Mr. Burnham, Mr. Bradburn, Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Poussette in temperance? They are all declared enemies to temperance and have opposed every temperance movement ever made in the county.

No man can do more harm to the cause of temperance than the man who drags it through the slime and mud of party politics. Mr. Ross tried to elevate the prohibition question above party politics — to entirely separate the popular vote upon the subject from every political or party influence.

Yet we find Mr. Buchanan coming to Peterborough, disguised as a temperance advocate; we find him throwing off the mask and coming out in his true colours, mixing up "temperance" and politics.

No more rabid political speech, no more bitter partisan attack has been made upon Premier Ross and the Ross Government than that delivered in the opera house by Mr. W. W. Buchanan on Tuesday night, and no campaign stumper, not even Mr. Whitney himself, could more severely leave alone the Opposition party, so far as adverse criticism was concerned, than Mr. Buchanan left Mr. Whitney and his party alone on Tuesday night.

Perhaps no man in this country has done more to discredit temperance, by making it a political stool-pigeon and decoy duck in partisan interests, than Mr. W. W. Buchanan, and his work on Tuesday night was the crowning work of his career in that line up to the present time.

Miller and Whitney, Buchanan and Burnham, Garvin and Poussette, Lindsay and the Review, hand in hand for the sacred cause of temperance, as represented by Mr. Whitney and his candidate!

He that runs may read; the wayfaring elector, though a fool, will not have the wool pulled over his eyes by such a combination of Buchanan and anti-Bacchus buncombe and bosh as the great politico-temperance campaign in West Peterborough.

IT WAS EVERYTHING BUT TEMPERANCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner;

Dear Sir,—I think it is now in order for the temperance Alliance to explain as to whether the meeting on Tuesday night was a theatrical play taken out of the Toronto Liberator, with Mr. Buchanan as "heavy villian," a political meeting, or a temperance meeting? Mr. Buchanan told us that it was a temperance meeting, but two-thirds of his speech belied the assertion. Take one instance out of many, he said that the Reform Government had boasted of New Ontario as if they had found it, or dug it out of the ground, but he forgot to tell us that the Tory party in Ontario had tried to bury it that deep that it would never be found, so far as old Ontario is concerned. At the same time he made a bid for the working men's vote, he told them that he had figured it out, that workmen in New Ontario got only twenty-four dollars a month, and hinted if they voted for Mr. Miller that would be changed. Mr. Buchanan in his remarks on the referendum, appeared like a man that had been sent to smash prohibition.

ONE OF THE AUDIENCE.

P. S.—Mr. Whitney had a narrow escape on Tuesday night, as Mr. Buchanan intended to have knifed him, but he had not time to sharp his knife.

There was a very good attendance at the Nicholls Oval last night to see the lacrosse match which took place between the Y.M.C.A. and Athletics. The event which proved very interesting, resulted in favour of the Athletics, the score being 4 to 3. Mr. R. J. Dillon of the Athletics proved to be a stone wall on the defence, and had able support in McCabe, Glover and Dusty. A Siege

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass., U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Its value in coughs and colds was so great they always kept it ready for use. You know how it's used, don't you? 'Tis heated by a vaporizer and you inhale it. Write us for a book that tells all about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE CO., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

HOPETOUN WILL RESIGN.

Announced in the Australian Senate Wednesday Night as a Fact.

Melbourne, Australia, May 15.—It was announced in the Senate last night that the Earl of Hopetoun had decided to resign the Governor-Generalship of the Australian Commonwealth.

The Federal Government recently refused to grant the Earl of Hopetoun an additional annual allowance of £8,000. The Governor-General then sent a cablegram to Joseph Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary, in which he asked to be relieved of his duties after the coronation of the King, saying the position was a heavy drain upon his private resources, and that the salary attached to the Governor-Generalship was wholly insufficient to maintain the dignity of the office.

Mr. Chamberlain replied to the Earl of Houetoun, accepting his resignation, although it meant, he said, a serious loss to Australia and the Empire.

It is understood that the Governor of South Australia, Lord Tennyson, will administer the Governor-Generalship of the Commonwealth in the interregnum.

The Earl of Hopetoun's salary was £10,000 a year.

THE CONFERENCE.

Boer Delegates Are Making Their Way to Vereeniging.

London, May 15.—Lord Kitchener has notified the War Office that representatives of all the bodies of Boers throughout the two colonies (Transvaal and Orange River) are gathering at Vereeniging (south of Pretoria and close to the Orange River Colony border) for the conference, which commences to-day, and that he has arranged that the delegates shall not be impeded in reaching the rendezvous. Consequently, the assemblage is expected to be large. The decision reached regarding the peace terms will later be submitted to the British. A delegation, consisting probably of the same Boer leaders who went to Pretoria recently, will be deputized to convey the decision to Lord Kitchener.

BE PATIENT.

Allowance Should Always be Made for Physical Weakness.

We do not Always Consider as we Should the Bodily Infirmities of Those With Whom we Come in Contact.

Many a strong and heart looking man or woman is a constant sufferer from some physical pain or weakness.

Often they do not care to complain or explain, and no one but themselves or perhaps their families know the amount of pain they endure every day.

They are often irritable and cranky, and no wonder.

It is hard to be affable and genial and good humoured, when you have a nasty grumbling toothache.

Toothache is not to be compared to the distressing pain of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, or Sour Stomach.

Thousands of men and women are to-day going about their daily duties carrying a burden of these stomach troubles, which give them absolutely no rest.

The worst "thorn in the flesh" is Dyspepsia.

We should make allowance for a Dyspeptic. Don't judge him or her harshly or too quickly.

But no one should be troubled with Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble when there is a certain remedy within the reach of all.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Dyspepsia or Stomach Trouble.

This is not an empty boast but a positive statement of fact, which has been proven by happy results in the thousands of the most severe cases—it is not now disputed.

Physicians have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets their heartiest approval and many prescribe them in their practice as a treatment for Stomach Ailments.

There is no longer any excuse for anyone being cranky or irritable because of Dyspepsia, for they may be cured if they want to—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

Want More Money.

Winnipeg, May 15.—The C.P.R. mechanics on the Pacific Division are asking for 32½ cents an hour; those on the Revelstoke, 33 cents, and on the Western Division, 30 cents, an advance of 3 cents.

Tricks of the Trade.

If you find maple twigs and fragments of leaves in your "maple" syrup, you may feel pretty sure that it is an imitation or has been adulterated. People who make the pure article send it to market clean. The best butter does not have hair in it to prove that it was made from cows' milk. Strained honey with bits of comb in it is subject to the same suspicion. Tomato figs with a fig leaf on top of the box is another instance.

Suggestive.

"No," said the Widow Rakeleigh, "I didn't altogether like the minister's sermon over poor John."

"Why, I thought it quite sympathetic," said her friend.

"Well, I didn't like his pronunciation when he said John had gone 'to that undiscovered country from whose "burn" no traveler returns.'"

Advertising Versus Merit.

The enormous sale of most medicines has depended entirely on large advertising. The enormous sale of Merrill's System Tonic has arisen solely from the merit of this wonderful compound. We say it is the best medicine to purify the blood, build up the system, strengthen the nerves and regulate the bowels made. Invest 50c. in one bottle and you will know we speak only the truth. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

The Parting of the Way.

He (who parts his hair in the middle)—I will never marry a woman who parts her hair on the side.

She (who parts her hair on the side)—And I can assure you that I will never marry a man who parts his hair in the middle. (Silence.)

He—We may as well part forever then.

His Chance.

Wickers—I don't know what is the matter with me. My memory is getting so treacherous that I cannot trust it from one week to the next.

Vickers—Is that so? I say, can you lend me $10 for about thirty days?

Poor Choice.

Tenderfoot (nervously)—I don't like the looks of the hotel. Is that the only place I can put up?

Proprietor (significantly)—Y-a-a-s, unless you prefer the graveyard over the hill.

Few people ever really want a thing until they see others chasing after it.

BRONCHITIS
A SERIOUS DISEASE.

Becomes Chronic and Returns Year by Year or Develops Into Bronchial Pneumonia, Croupous Bronchitis, Asthma or Consumption.

The real dangers of bronchitis are sometimes overlooked. It is too serious a disease to trifle with, and for that reason everybody should be familiar with the symptoms.

Children are most liable to contract bronchitis, and if neglected it becomes chronic, and returns year after year, until it wears the patient out or develops into some deadly lung disease.

The approach of bronchitis is marked by chills and fever, nasal or throat catarrh, quick pulse, loss of appetite and feelings of fatigue and langor.

Bronchitis is also known by pain in the upper part of the chest, which is aggravated by deep breathing or coughing until it seems to tear the delicate linings of the bronchial tubes.

The cough is dry and harsh and is accompanied by expectoration of a frothy nature, which gradually increases; is very stringy and tenacious and is frequently streaked with blood.

There is pain, not unlike rheumatism, in limbs, joints and body, constipation and extreme depression and weakness. In some people the exhaustion amounts almost to nervous collapse, delirium follows, and in young children convulsions may follow.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is, we believe, the most effective treatment for bronchitis that money will buy. This fact has been proven time and again in many thousands of cases.

It is the most effective remedy for bronchitis, because it is far reaching in its effects on the whole system, not merely relieving the cough, but actually and thoroughly curing the disease. It loosens the cough, frees the chest of tightness and pain, aids expectoration and permanently cures.

There are other preparations of turpentine and linseed put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. To be sure you are getting the genuine see the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the box you buy. 25c. a bottle; family size, three times as much. 60c. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

Turns Bad Blood into Rich Red Blood.

This spring you will need something to take away that tired, listless feeling brought on by the system being clogged with impurities which have accumulated during the winter.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy you require.

It has no equal as a spring medicine. It has been used by thousands for a quarter of a century with unequalled success.

HERE IS PROOF.

Mrs. J. T. Skine of Shigawake, Que., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring medicine for the past four years and don't think there is its equal. When I feel drowsy, tired and have no desire to eat I get a bottle of B.B.B. It purifies the blood and builds up the constitution better than any other remedy."

PLOWING AN ORCHARD.

It Makes Trees Vigorous and Thrifty Beyond Comparison.

The writer had a valuable object lesson this last summer. He saw part of an orchard plowed and cultivated at intervals of a month or so, while the rest was left in sod. The difference between the two sections was an eye-opener. The trees in the plowed part were vigorous and thrifty beyond comparison with the others in the sod. Try the experiment at least on one row of your own trees. Plow toward the trees, as shown in the cut. A second year's plowing may turn the earth back again. Harrow once a month during the season, and you will have a valuable object lesson, too.—N. Y. Tribune.

Treat Your Horses Right.

Never strike, kick or pound a balky horse. It does no good. I have seen men use violence for half a day without starting the horse. The best way is to let him stand till they are ready to go. I have never had to wait an hour yet. They soon tire of this and stop their balking. Never corner a horse in the field to catch it. I had a mare that no one could halter in the pasture except myself. I would talk to her and follow her up. Once I followed her through the bars into another lot. I approached her, talking to her all the time, until she thought she could get back to the bars first, and she started. But I beat her. She stopped and I went up, talking to her, and put the halter on without any further trouble. Others had to drive her into the barn.—A. Wasson in Ohio Farmer.

The King and the Seidlitz Powder.

On the first consignment of seidlitz powders to the capital of Delhi the monarch was deeply interested in the accounts of the refreshing box. A box was brought to the king in full court, and the interpreter explained to his majesty how it should be used. Into a goblet he put the twelve blue papers, and, having added water, the king drank it off. This was the alkali, and the royal countenance expressed no sign of satisfaction. It was then explained that in the combination of the two powders lay the luxury, and the twelve white powders were quickly dissolved in water, and as eagerly swallowed by his majesty.

With a shriek that will be remembered while Delhi lasts the monarch rose, stared, exploded and in his full agonies screamed, "Hold me down," then rushing from the throne fell prostrate on the floor. There he lay during the long continued effervescence of the compound, spurting like 10,000 pennyworths of imperial pop and believing himself in the agonies of death, a melancholy and humiliating proof that kings are mortal.

Historical Fiction.

In lecturing Dr. Gardiner was very fond of retailing the hackneyed old historical anecdotes that garnish the schoolbooks, and he would commonly append the comment: "Now, that story is not true. I have reason to know, indeed, that it is pure fiction, but for our purpose it is better than the truth because the truth cannot be rounded off and polished so nicely to suit one's conception of character or of circumstance." For similar reasons he was instant in praise of historical novels. "A genius like Scott or George Eliot, especially in 'Romola,'" he would say, "has many advantages over the plodding historian and can often arrive, by the intuition of genius, at truths which the most laborious research could never reveal, and, on the whole," he would add, "historical fiction is much more trustworthy and incomparably more respectable than fictitious history."

Uses His Ring in His Business.

An east side character well known about the supreme court wears a particularly brilliant solitaire diamond ring, with the stone turned in toward the palm of his hand. He was asked if he wore his ring this way for fear it would be stolen.

"No," he said, scorning the idea. "The thief what is wideawake enough to rob your uncle, he ain't been born yet. It's for business reasons that I wear my diamond so. When some fellow comes to touch me, I hold up my hands so (with the back toward him) and say, 'I'm broke, my friend,' and he don't see my diamond, and he goes away. But when I want to do business with a man who has money I turn my hands so (with the palms out) and say, 'What can I do for you, my friend?' and he sees the big diamond and thinks I'm a good man to deal with."

A Soldier's Reply.

A soldier of Marshal Saxe's army, being discovered in a theft, was condemned to be hanged. What he had stolen might be worth 5 shillings. The marshal, meeting him as he was being led to execution, said to him, "What a miserable fool you were to risk your life for 5 shillings!"

"General," replied the soldier, "I have risked it every day for my pay, fivepence." This repartee saved his life.

No Latitude.

A national school inspector in Ireland was once examining a class in geography and, having reason to correct an answer to a question regarding longitude, proceeded to ask for a definition of latitude. There was a slight pause, and a young lad answered: "Please, sir, we have no latitude in Ireland. The government won't allow us any."

SMOTHER A COUGH.

You can smother a cough with your hand but you can't cure it that way. Some medicines only smother coughs.

Scott's Emulsion cures them. Old coughs and deep-rooted coughs can't be cured until the inflammation which causes them has been replaced by healthy tissue.

That is exactly the kind of thorough work Scott's Emulsion does. It changes the entire nature of the throat and lungs so that there is nothing to cough about.

SMOTHERED IN ROSES.

The Sybarites slept on beds stuffed with rose leaves; the tyrant Dionysius had his couch filled with them; Verus would travel with a garland on his head and around his neck, and over his litter he had a thin net, with rose leaves intertwined; Antiochus luxuriated upon a bed of blooms even in winter days and nights, and when Cleopatra entertained Antony she had roses covering the floor to the depth, it is said, of an ell.

We are told that Heliogabalus supplied so many at one of his banquets that several of his guests were suffocated in the endeavor to extricate themselves from the abundance—victims of a surfeit of sweet odors.

Swift Wings.

It is difficult to account for the enormous velocity of some birds' flight when migrating. The northern blue throat goes at the rate of 540 miles an hour, flying 4,800 miles from Egypt to Helgoland in a spring night of barely nine hours. Virginian plover fly from Labrador to north Brazil, 9,600 miles, without stopping, going at the rate of 636 miles an hour and probably more. How can this speed be attained? The birds resort to great heights, where the resistance of the air is slight.

Living in a Crater.

There is no more interesting or curious sight on this earth than the interior of the extinct crater, Aso San, about thirty miles from the city of Kumamoto, in Japan. This peculiar locality is inhabited by 20,000 people, who live and prosper within its vertical wall 900 feet high. The inhabitants rarely make a journey into the outer world, but form, as it were, a little nation by themselves.

How Greeley Learned to Read.

By a singular adaptation to the changes of motion on his mother's part while spinning Horace Greeley when a youngster acquired the unwonted quality of reading with the book in almost any position, sidewise or upside down, as readily as in the usual fashion without at that time thinking it anything unusual.

Aching Voids.

"Brooks," said Rivers, "that's the second time I've heard you use the phrase 'aching void.' I wish you would tell me how a void can ache."

"Well," said Brooks, reflecting a moment, "not to speak of a hollow tooth, don't you sometimes have the headache?"

Of More Importance.

"Get my name right," said the proud owner of the 1,175 pound hog. "It's Judson K. Bimm. My father was Colonel Hiram Hotchkiss Bimm of Lexington, Ky. He came to Illinois in the year"—

"Never mind that," interrupted the secretary of the fat stock show. "Give us the pedigree of the hog."

The Number "Three" in the Bible.

When the world was created, we find it and its surroundings composed of three elements—air, water and land—the whole lighted by the sun, moon and stars. Adam had three sons mentioned by name, and so did Noah, the patriarch. Daniel was thrown into a den with three lions for the crime of praying three times. Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego were rescued from the fiery furnace. Job had three special friends. There were three patriarchs—Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Samuel was called three times; Elijah prostrated himself three times on the dead body of the child; Samson deceived Delilah three times before she discovered the secret of his great power, and the Ten Commandments were delivered on the third day.

Jonah was three days and nights in the whale's belly. "Simon, lovest thou me?" was repeated three times. Paul makes mention of the three graces—faith, hope and charity. The famous allegorical dreams of the baker and butler were to come to pass in three days. Then we have the holy trinity—Father, Son and Holy Ghost; the sacred letters on the cross were three in number, they being I. H. S.; so also the famous Roman motto was composed of three words.

Making Drinking Water Safe.

Uncomfortable consequences may follow the use of the best of water by persons who are not accustomed to it, as we all know from experience in changing our usual daily beverage. A simple and efficient way of preventing trouble from a change of water is to carry a small vial of the crystals of permanganate of potash with you and to put one of the pieces in each glass of water that you drink. It will turn the water a slight pinkish tinge and, according to an authority, make it a safe beverage for strange stomachs.

Over a Million Victims.

A careful estimate shows that one fifth of Canada's population suffer every winter with hack ng lung weakening coughs. Four T's, Druggist Merrill's great discovery, cures a cough in twenty-four hours, and the worst cold in two days, making it unnecessary to wear out the system in this way. MAY A CHRISTIAN DANCE?

Messrs. Crossley and Hunter Think not, and Give Their Reasons.

Crossley and Hunter, the Evangelists, are in Belleville just now, conducting a series of services, and addressed a very large meeting the other evening on the subject of "Dancing."

Coming to the subject of the evening, the evangelists took strong grounds against dancing. Rev. Mr. Hunter said there were several things beginning with D which people should avoid. The first was debt, the second was devil, and the third dancing. He gave a lady's ten reasons why she did not dance.

1st.—Dancing will lead me into crowded rooms and late hours, which are injurious to health and life.

2nd.—It will lead me into very close contact with pernicious company, and evil companions corrupt good manners.

3rd.—Dancing will allow me to use and permit freedoms with the other sex of which I would be ashamed under other circumstances, and which I believe to be wrong.

4th.—My parents and friends would be anxious if I were out late in company with they know not whom.

5th.—Ministers and good people in general disapprove of dancing, and I don't think it is wise to set myself against them.

6th.—Dancing has a bad name, and I want to study things that are pure and of good report.

7th.—Dancing is generally accompanied by drinking, which causes a great deal of evil.

8th.—It is a great temptation to young men, and I do not wish to have anything to do with leading them astray.

9th.—Dancing unfits the mind for serious reflection and prayer, and I mean to do nothing that will estrange me from my God and Saviour.

10th.—There are plenty of graceful exercises and cheerful amusements which have none of the objections that there are against dancing.

Rev. Mr. Hunter spoke at some length on the subject, and said, in part;

Did you ever see one of these dancing masters? If there is anyone I despise more than another it is one of those men who go around teaching your children to dance. God have mercy on the mother that has no more sense than to send her girl to be taught to dance. She may yet shed tears of blood over a fallen daughter. The next passage I call to your attention is Matt. iv, 6, 12, which refers to a daughter dancing before Herod, who promised to give her what she asked for, and her mother told her to ask for the head of John the Baptist. This dance cost the head of one of the best people that ever lived, but while many lose their heads more have lost their souls. Another passage, Luke xv, 25, refers to return of the prodigal. Some people say,—"Does not the Bible encourage dancing?" The Bible says we are to abstain from all appearances of evil. It says further, that in eating or drinking, and what ever we do, we are to do to the glory of God. Let us suppose your boy had been wayward and he is converted. You are so rejoiced over it that you say, now, there is no meeting to-morrow night, and we will get up a modern dance for our boy and invite his old associates to it. What is the result? He would be led back into the ways of sin most likely. Whatever we do, we are to do it to the glory of God.

Rev. Mr. Crossley's remarks may be summarized as follows:

"Is it any harm to dance, Christians or non-Christians?

As Christians, ask this. Paul had been sincere, but in error, before this. You want not only to be sincere, but right. Can you go to a dance, and say, like the apostles on the mount, "Lord, it is good for us to be here!" As unsaved ones ask this question, and remember the Lord has your highest good and greatest happiness at heart; and anything He requires you to give up will bring to you in this world "one hundredfold" more pleasure by abandoning it than by participating in it and in the world come yours will be "life everlasting." I appeal to you as Christians to turn from it for your own good, for the help of others, and for the honour of your Saviour. I appeal to you that are unconverted, not to allow the dance or anything else to stand between you and Christ. A lady dancing fainted in her partner's arms. She was carried to a window, when, opening her eyes, she exclaimed, "I have danced my body into the grave and my soul into hell," and fell back and expired. You may dance your soul into hell, but "What will you give in exchange for your soul?" I appeal to you as parents, do not encourage the dance lest you be like the lady on my brother's circuit, who dissuaded her daughter her daughter from seeking Christ in his meetings and joining the church, on the ground that she would have to give up dancing and other things. A few weeks past, when the daughter was taken sick, and from the beginning of her sickness until she died, she was in delirium, and never once recognized my brother as he visited her, or once asked the question "What must I do to be saved?" The mother, by her daughter's dead body, as she wrung her hands, said to my brother, "Mr. Crossley, is there any hope for Nina? If she is lost it is my fault, for I hindered her seeking the Lord." Years have passed, and yet she refuses to be comforted, and still with anguish asks, "Is there any hope for Nina? If she is lost I am to blame." Let us live so as to be free from the blood of loved ones and of all men, and especially of Him who shed His blood for us. I appeal to you as fathers and mothers, as persons responsible for your homes and what is done there. I appeal to one and all, as we will meet God at the Judgement, let us do nothing that will impede others, but let us seek to do everything by which others may be won to the Saviour.

Derocher vs. Cox. — D. O'Connell, Peterborough, for plaintiffs; moved to set aside verdict and judgment for defendant, in an action for negligence tried before Lount, J., and a jury at Peterborough, and for a new trial. The action was brought by the parents of John Derocher, a boy of eight, to recover damages for his death, which was caused by his being crushed by a large log which was carried on a sleigh belonging to defendant, upon which the boy was allowed by defendant to sit. jury found that there was no negligence on the part of the defendant and no damage accruing to plaintiffs. Counsel for plaintiffs contended that the verdict was contrary to the evidence, and the judge's charge and was perverse. D. W. Dumble, Peterborough, for defendant, contra. Motion dismissed, the case having gone to the jury upon a charge favourable to the plaintiffs, and there being evidence to warrant the verdict. No costs.

STOCK MARKETS.

A Growing Short Interest.

New York, May 14th, 1902.—The market's heaviness the past few days, due to likelihood of strike being ordered, has caused a growth of the short interest, slowly but surely. Bruin has had a pretty hard time in Wall street for a long time, and the repeated thrashings that have been meted out to him in the past two years make him prone to be cautious. The main point of the present market in its drooping state is the curtailing of dealings. Had the public been heavy holders of stocks upon the decline, dealings would have been more severe. The restriction of business upon concessions and the paucity of offering after a decline indicate well for the future. Speculative sentiment among many of the regular traders have become bearish. As this sentiment grows, the risk of being short will increase correspondingly. What few stocks which were bought in the recent upward whirl now returning to the strong boxes of the cliques, the probabilities are that operations on the upper track with the view to redistributing these shares will comence again shortly. The extreme narrowness of the market make it essentially advisable to pick up shares of all kinds when weak and under the hammer, and equally so to dispose of at least some of one's holdings when the market is strong. This is to some folks apparently a hard thing to do, as it makes one a purchaser when the market like like receding further, and a seller when stocks most appear to be about to record a good advance.

It is in our opinion simply a halting point in the market for the time being, and the advice is simply calculated to be acted upon during the waiting period. Those who hang on to their holdings of standard shares will have an ultimate opportunity to secure much higher figures for their holdings. No human mind can accurately discern or foresee exact given points for placing of close stop loss orders with the view to obviating speculative losses. This is entirely a matter of guess work, one man's opinion being as good as another's. Again, one's opinion might change next day, so refrain naming points for advising stops, leaving that entirely to the judgement of the operator.—Haight & Freese Co.

PREDICT MORE W. I. VOLCANOES

The Funeral of the St. Pierre Victims—Great Britain Moving to Assist the Survivors—Mr. Balfour's Statement in the Commons—Canada's Contribution Has Been Received in Paris.

Fort de France, May 16.—The vessels which were lost in the roadstead of St. Pierre are the steamships Roraima and Grappler, the latter a British cable ship; the sailing ships North America, Terba, Lovico, Sacre Soeur and the schooner Gabriele. Twelve or thirteen sailors were rescued by the Suchet, most of them seriously injured.

The Board of Health has decided that in order to avoid a dangerous congestion of population at Fort de France the towns of the northern part of the island which are threatened by the volcano must be emptied of their inhabitants, who are to be distributed among the districts in the south. In Lorrain, Trinite and Gros Morne there are about eight thousand people, who have been ordered to leave their homes.

The decomposition of the corpses of St. Pierre constitutes a grave danger. Precautions are being taken to prevent Precheur from being overwhelmed by a tidal wave, which, it is feared, may result from a sudden sinking of the coast line.

The funeral service in memory of the victims of the catastrophe was held yesterday morning. The cathedral was crowded. The officers of the French cruiser Suchet and the German and Danish war vessels Falke and Valkyrien were present at the ceremony.

ANOTHER ERUPTION PREDICTED.

Disaster at St. Vincent Greater Than, at First Estimated.

Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, B.W.I., May 15.—Scientists who have come here from the British island of Trinidad, predict another volcanic eruption on St. Vincent within a short time.

The damage done to St. Vincent by the volcanic eruptions is now known to be considerably greater than was at first estimated. The present uneasiness of the inhabitants of the island is increased by the continuous agitation of the volcanic craters.

Owing to the destruction of several estates, the sugar and arrowroot industries of St. Vincent are seriously injured. Destitution prevails among the laboring classes, who are without homes, without clothes and hungry. Nearly 2,000 deaths on this island have been reported. Bodies have been discovered in houses in life-like attitudes. These present a gruesome spectacle. There are decomposed bodies in many houses, and, in order to guard against disease it will probably be necessary for the authorities to burn these dwellings down.

There is to-day an abnormal demand for bread-stuffs and a consequent scarcity of food supplies. The prices on food are advancing. The destruction of live stock of the island has also caused a rise in the price of meat.

The disaster at St. Vincent means the practical extinction of the Carib Indians that were found by Columbus four centuries ago. An old Indian prophecy that the Caribs would be sacrificed to the fire god which they worshiped has been fulfilled. Of the Caribs only a few individuals remain on the Islands of St. Lucia and Dominica. The Caribs made that portion of the island lying at the base of Soufriere their country. If there is a survivor he is not yet known.

BRITAIN TO HELP.

Martinique Sufferers Will Be Assisted by Mother Country and Colonies.

London, May 16.—In a statement in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the measures proposed by the Government for the relief of the sufferers from the volcanic outbreaks in the West Indies, the Government leader, A. J. Balfour, after a reference to the steps taken, added:

"We have not taken account of the most sympathetic manner in which the United States Government have, to use their own language, expressed their desire to share in the work of aid and rescue.' As to the manner in which this generous offer can best be accepted the Governments of the Windward Islands have already been consulted."

Mr. Balfour referred to the opening of the relief fund at the Mansion House by the Lord Mayor, Sir Joseph Dimsdale, in behalf of the sufferers of the Island of St. Vincent, and said that Canada, Jamaica, and the other West Indian Island, and the Island of Mauritius (in the Indian Ocean) had promised to help with money and goods.

"I have no doubt," he added, "that the other colonies will be equally generous. In addition, the Governor of the Windward Islands has been authorized to spend whatever sums are necessary, and the Imperial Government is prepared to supplement the contributions from other sources to whatever extent may be necessary.

Aid For the French.

"As regards the Island of Martinique, Lord Lansdowne (the Foreign Minister), May 12, had instructed his Majesty's Ambassador at Paris (Sir Edmund Monson), to say that it would give the Government great pleasure to offer assistance, in any manner most convenient to the sufferers from the calamity, and to say that if this country could help by the loan of doctors or the gift of medical comforts and provisions, that we were prepared to act forthwith. The French Government replied, accepting with gratitude the offer of his Majesty's Government. From the nature of the case there must be a distinction between our own colonies and those of another power, in the expenditure of money. But the Government, as stated, is prepared to give comforts and provisions to sufferers at Martinique."

Capitalists are somewhat slow in subscribing to the Mansion House fund. Up to 4 p.m. only £5,000 had been received, of which amount the Bank of England contributed £1,000; and the Corporation of London £500.

St. Paul's Cathedral and other churches are arranging for special collections Sunday next in aid of the fund.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain has contributed $250 to the Mansion House West Indian relief fund.

The various sums raised in Paris for the relief fund amount to $60,000.

Canada's Contribution.

The Canadian Commissioner in Paris has conveyed the sympathy of Canada to M. Decrois, Minister of Customs. M. Decrois will dispose for Canada $25,000 for Martinique sufferers.

Annihilated in Ten Minutes.

The correspondent of The London Times says that St. Pierre was annihilated in ten minutes. Describing the city after its destruction, he says: "A portion of the upper town was razed by a cloud of fire, which increased as it advanced, and crumbled everything in its course. In the lower town, near the harbor, a few walls wearing traces of fire, remained standing. To the stupefaction of those familiar with the spot, the town clock remained intact as if to show the precise moment of the disaster, marking 7.50, and this sinister indication deeply affected all who saw it. On the other hand, the telegraph office and its contents...were burned. Some fragments of the apparatus were thrown a hundred yards. Bodies, whose attitudes were perceptible were lying prostrate, with the bowels protruding, as though forced out by the tension of the heat, and with the backs partially carbonized. It is a melancholy and almost humiliating thing that the site of St. Pierre has to be guarded by the military, for numerous pirates from the neighboring islands were preparing to come and lay hands on anything of value."

THE CAMPAIGN.

Thursday a Busy Day For Ontario Ministers—Premier Ross at Midland—Liberal Outlook Promising.

Toronto, May 16.—The Premier at Midland; the Opposition leader at Owen Sound, Hon. Mr. Davis at Stouffville, Hon. Mr. Stratton at Brighton—these are the features of the day's campaign news. The Premier was in excellent form, and delivered a splendid defence of his administration, which was cheered to the echo. The campaign grows warmer as the day of polling draws nearer. Party enthusiasm is being worked up, and organization perfected on both sides. In no election for many years have Liberal workers found the outlook so promising at this stage of the campaign. This is, however, no reason for leaving a stone unturned that will add a single voter to the Liberal ranks.

Premier Ross at Midland.

Midland, May 16.—This illustrating station of the results of the forward Ross policy was the scene last night of a magnificent demonstration in honor of the Premier of Ontario. A meeting called in support of Mr. J. B. Tudhope, the Liberal candidate in East Simcoe, was attended by thirteen hundred people, who, bursting, as many of them had, by the Government's program, displayed the heartiest enthusiasm at the record of the past and the prophecies for the future, eloquently given by Mr. Ross. Midland forcefully proves the wisdom of the building-up policy in her four busy mills, sawing logs that under the old law would go to Michigan, and in her blast furnace smelting Ontario ores through the encouragement of the Ontario and Dominion Governments. The result has been a general expansion, and last year she erected 150 houses. The Premier was in excellent form, and his address, particularly those portions detailing the forward policy, was cheered at many points during delivery. Mr. Ross also took occasion to reply to some of Mr. Whitney's recent statements, and was notably effective in depicting the latter's vacillation. Mr. Tudhope is a man of first-class platform ability, of a wide range of acquaintance, and though his opponent, Mr. Jupp, is also an Orillia business man, there is every reason to hope that East Simcoe will be redeemed.

OUR OWN ONTARIO RAILWAY.

The construction of the Temiscaming railway as a Government enterprise needs no defence. It is a move in the right direction. Within reason state ownership of public utilities is in accord with the advanced thought and energy of the times. But the building of this line is most amply justified. There is in the Temiscaming district a million of acres of as good land as the sun shines on and to promote its settlement, transportation facilities are needed such as will be furnished by this line of railway, the first any Government in this Dominion, if not on this continent has built and will own. So great is the rush of settlers to the Temiscaming region that it is causing some embarrassment to to the Provincial Colonization Department. During the month of April Mr. Southworth, director of the department, issued no less than 300 special rate certificates to bona fide settlers anxious to make homes in the region. As a matter of fact so many settlers are going in that it is almost impossible to look after them properly, and entirely out of the question to build colonization roads quickly enough to meet their requirements. Last year $7,000 was voted for roads in the region, but the settlers were so busy that the inspectors experienced the greatest difficulty in getting men to work on the roads, and the whole of the appropriation was not expended. This year $20,000 has been placed to the credit of the department for roads, and an inspector went up a week ago to hire as many men as possible for road work, in the hope of accomplishing a good deal of work before the busy summer season.

In view of these facts the Temiscaming railway is an emergency railway. Its immediate construction is demanded—the sooner the better. Recognizing this and looking ahead, as wisdom always counsels, the Ross Government provided for the construction of this railway. Surveys were ordered and only last Saturday Hon. Mr. Latchford, Commissioner of Public Works, turned the first sod, and before the world is three years older 106 miles of Government railway will be in operation, settlers will be put in touch with civilization and merchants in old Ontario will be getting orders for goods to be shipped by a railway owned by the Province of Ontario, built with the wild lands of Ontario without a cent of cost to the people of the settled portions of the Province.

If Mr. Whitney and his party in the House had had their way, the Temiscaming Railway project, instead of being actually under course of construction, would be still on paper. The entire Opposition, on March 11th, voted for a want of confidence motion which, if carried, would have delayed the construction of the line at least a year, or, forever, if Mr. Whitney should, unfortunately for the country, be put into power.

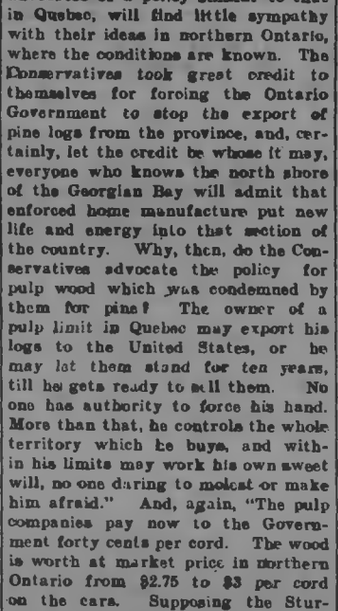
The Ross Government saw the importance, and the necessity, in the interests of the province, of immediate construction of the line. There was a large number of settlers in the district to be reached by the railway; they were shut off from access to the outer world. They furnished no trade to the merchants of older Ontario, because there was no adequate means of transportation. These settlers needed the comforts of civilization made as easily accessible as possible, for the pioneer settler's life at the beginning is hard enough at the best. The Government wanted to take advantage of the tide of prosperity prevailing; they wanted to place in New Ontario as large a proportion as possible of the settlers pouring into the country. The aim of the Government is to keep Ontario to the front. To do this, we must take the earliest steps to people our new territory, or Manitoba, with its great inrush of population, would get ahead of the province, and outvote it at Ottawa. Everything pointed to the necessity of the immediate construction of the line. It was a plain business proposition — and the Government being a business Government, took a business view of the matter, and went at the construction of the road in a business way. Now the first sod has been turned, the business of construction has begun, and before Mr. Whitney and the Opposition wake up the line will be finished, trains running, doing business, and building up trade with old Ontario, and this province will have the first state-owned railway on the continent.

The Opposition wanted to wait. Wanted to wait until the Dominion Government gave a subsidy; wanted to wait until the opportunity passed. The way to do a thing is to do it—not to sit down and wait for some one to come and help. The old proverb says, "If you want your business done, do it; if not, send." The Government saw that Ontario needed this railway, and they are building it, and in the process carrying out another item of their grand policy,

BUILD UP ONTARIO.

ONE OF MANY MISTAKES.

The Brockville Recorder, quotes from an article written by Mr. A. G. Davis, formerly of the Brockville Times, (Conservative,) in which he says: "The greatest mistake made by the Conservatives during the present campaign, in their criticism of othe Government's pulp wood policy. The advocates of a policy similar to that in Quebec, will find little sympathy with their ideas in northern Ontario, where the conditions are known. The Conservatives took great credit to themselves for forcing the Ontario Government to stop the export of pine logs from the province, and, certainly, let the credit be whose it may, everyone who knows the north shore of the Georgian Bay will admit that enforced home manufacture put new life and energy into that section of the country. Why, then, do the Conservatives advocate the policy for pulp wood which was condemned by them for pine? The owner of a pulp limit in Quebec may export his logs to the United States, or he may let them stand for ten years, till he gets ready to sell them. No one has authority to force his hand. More than that, he controls the whole territory which he buys, and within his limits may work his own sweet will, no one daring to molest or make him afraid." And, again, "The pulp companies pay now to the Government forty cents per cord. The wood is worth at market price in northern Ontario from $2.75 to $3 per cord on the cars. Supposing the Sturgeon Falls Pulp Company had the privilege to ship the wood, and could get $3 per cord. After paying the Government dues they would have $2.60 for taking it out, driving it to Sturgeon Falls, cutting it in four foot wood, and loading it on the cars. The profit would be small, indeed. Well, then, if the companies pay the full market price for their wood, surely they are entitled to the profits of the manufacturing business built up up by their enterprise and capital; or does Mr. Whitney want them to pay blackmail for the privilege of risking immense sums of money in industrial enterprises which give employment to thousands of men? The people of Sturgeon Falls are quite contented to see hundreds of men earning their regular wages day after day, without caring whether the pulp company are paying forty or forty-two cents per cord for their wood. A two-cent policy is a pretty small one anyway."



PUT TWO AND TWO TOGETHER.

The Liberal Government of Ontario is the only administration in Canada that has invoked the law and secured the punishment of election bribers, Conservative and Liberals alike. And incidentally, it may be mentioned that the most blatant of all these convicted "corrupters" was a Conservative M. P., Mr. William Smith. Count one for the Ross Government.

When Mr. Whitney talks about election corruption, the people are not impressed. They know the talk is nonsense and so much buncombe. A man who is silent in the face of the misdeeds of his political friends, and noisily abusive over those of his opponents, always fails to impress. Mr. Whitney has failed to convict Mr. Ross or any colleague or any prominent Liberal in Ontario with the charges he makes.

INCONSISTENCY.

The wing of the Opposition party, which is trying to make capital out of the temperance question, denounce Hon. Mr. Ross as having broken his promise to give a measure of prohibition, because he gave the people an opportunity to accept or reject prohibition. Mr. Hoyle, late M.P.P., of North Ontario, a prominent supporter of Mr. Whitney, is one of these. He was elected as a prohibitionist, and voted against prohibition, and the referendum. He excuses breaking his promise by saying that the referendum was unjust, and he said that he had kept his promise to the temperance people, but he "had kept it in his own way." Yet he won't allow Mr. Ross to plead that he kept his promise to the temperance people, even if he kept it in his own way. What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander. Why can't these Opposition fault finders be consistent once in a while?

AN EDUCATIONAL NEOPHYTE.

There has been a deluge of loose talk about the school system of Ontario from politicians and writers, who by no stretch of charity could be called educational experts. Mr. Whitney, for instance, professes to be an authority on the needs of the public schools and seeks to give the impression that he carries in his head some scheme which would broaden their scope and increase their efficiency. Mr. Whitney, as an educationist, may be fairly measured by one of his utterances in the Legislature, during the session of 1901. The Minister of Education introduced a bill in aid of Toronto University, and justified it by the statement that it would strengthen the public and high schools of the province. Mr. Whitney agreed to the proposal to assist the university, but added that he "couldn't see in what way the strengthening of the university would affect the public and high schools of the province." One can fancy the amusement such a remark from a public man would cause in an assembly of teachers, or any educated body. The Minister of Education was obliged to tell Mr. Whitney what any school boy knows, that the public schools draw upon the high schools for their supply of teachers, and that teachers of the province are trained in the provincial university, which was, therefore, to a large extent, the foundation head of the whole school system. This single incident proves Mr. Whitney to be the veriest tyro in educational methods.

MR. W. B. SCARTH DEAD.

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Passes Away After Illness of Two Years.

Ottawa, May 16.—Mr. W. B. Scarth, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, died yesterday morning after a lingering illness. He had been incapacitated for work for two years, but retained the office. He was 65 years of age. He was formerly member for Winnipeg in the House of Commons, sitting from 1887 to 1891, when he was appointed to the office he held at the time of his death.

Sketch of His Life.

Mr. Scarth was a former resident of Toronto, having been manager of the North British Canadian Investment Company and the Scottish Ontario & Manitoba Land Co. During his residence here he sat for a time as a representative of St. James' Ward in the City Council, and was also a member of the High School Board. He was 65 years of age, a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, and after coming to Canada was engaged in business in London and Hamilton. His wife was a daughter of the late Dr. J. N. Hamilton, R.N. Mr. James L. Scarth, general manager of the North British Canadian Investment Company, this city, is a brother of the deceased.

TWO OTTAWA SUICIDES.

Napoleon St. Denis Drowns Himself and Dr. Bouchard Shoots Himself.

Ottawa, May 16.—Dr. J. A. Bouchard of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, was found dead yesterday morning in the Jacques Cartier Hotel with a bullet wound in his head and a revolver in his hand. The deceased had been drinking heavily, and he is believed to have shot himself while in a condition bordering on delirium tremens.

Chose Death in Water.

Ottawa, May 16.—Napolean St. Denis, aged 25, formerly a resident of Hull, committed suicide at an early hour yesterday morning by jumping over the Suspension bridge into the surging waters of the Ottawa River at the foot of the Chaudiere Falls. A carter named Charron made an ineffectual effort to prevent him St. Denis is said to have acted strangely of late.

An Essential for Health Building.

Malt Breakfast Food is now recognized as a prime essential for health building. The ablest physicians as well as the most noted food experts after repeated tests and experiments have found to their satisfaction that Malt Breakfast Food contains a much larger proportion of the elements necessary for the building of flesh, bone and muscle, than any other food now on the market.

This expert testimony in favour of Malt Breakfast Food will strengthen the faith of present users of the popular cereal food, and will exercise a telling influence on those who now use oatmeal and other starchy food preparations at the morning meal.

While Malt Breakfast Food is the chosen and popular breakfast dish of the strong and well, it is the physician's favourite diet for the weak and frail, for the invalid and convalescent. A few weeks of dieting on Malt Breakfast Food will banish the ailments of the dyspeptic, and establish permanent health. All Grocers.

It Wasn't Lighted.

A mother was calling the attention of her little boy to the moon, which was to be seen clearly but pallidly in the early afternoon.

"Why, you can't see the moon in the daytime," replied the youngster.

"Oh, yes, you can. There it is over the trees."

The little fellow looked hard and had to admit the fact that he saw it, but he added, "'Tain't lighted, anyhow."

Not Entirely.

A little investigation shows that the strong taste of pure cod liver oil cannot be entirely removed without entirely removing the oil. You can taste the oil in Scott's Emulsion, but it is not unpleasant.

THE 9TH PARLIAMENT

Prorogation Ceremonies of the Second Session at Ottawa.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Signs of Prosperity Mentioned by His Excellency the Governor-General—Other Matters of Interest—The Premier Honored—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Presented With Address and His Portrait.

Ottawa, May 16.—Parliament was prorogued yesterday afternoon by the Governor-General. The Senate floor was occupied by handsomely gowned ladies, and the galleries were filled with spectators. His Excellency was escorted to the Senate by the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and received at the House of Commons by a guard of honor from the Foot Guards. At Nepean Point the guns of the field battery thundered out a royal salute.

Speech From the Throne.

Lord Minto's speech proroguing Parliament runs as follows:

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In relieving you from further attendance in Parliament I desire to thank you for the care and attention given to your important duties.

The unusual number of acts that have been passed incorporating industrial and railway companies may be taken as an evidence of the rapid progress that Canada is making in wealth and prosperity. Further proof of that satisfactory condition is afforded by the increase in the trade and revenue of the country.

It has been gratifying to note the unprecedented flow of immigrants from Europe and from the United States that are now seeking homes in Manitoba and in the Northwest Territories. The rapidly increasing population in that fertile section of the Dominion must yearly add to the trade of the country.

The agreement entered into with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company when authorizing an increase of its capital to expend over nine million dollars in providing additional rolling stock will, it is hoped, materially diminish in the future the serious losses that have arisen from the insufficient supply of cars to carry the products from the west to eastern ports.

The amendments to the Manitoba grain act authorizing the farmers in Manitoba and in the Northwest Territories to erect flat warehouses for storing their grain at railway stations will, it is believed, be found to serve a useful purpose and defeat any attempt to depress prices by combination.

The growing population in the Yukon Territory and the rapid development in the trade of that section of Canada amply justify the act granting to its residents a representative in Parliament who will be authorized to speak for his constituency in all matters affecting the more important interests of that remote part of the Dominion.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I thank you in his Majesty's name for the liberal supplies you have granted for the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In bidding you farewell, I desire to express the hope that when we meet next year we shall be able to again rejoice in the continued prosperity which now prevails over this wide Dominion.

FINAL SITTING OF HOUSE.

Mr. Fielding Expects a Larger Surplus Than He Had Calculated.

A return was brought down in the House of Commons yesterday morning containing copies of resolutions passed in favor of preferential trade by the Boards of Trade of Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, Kingston, Hamilton, St. John, Windsor, British Columbia and Rossland, B.C.; the Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, and the British Empire League of Canada.

In committee Hon. Clifford Sifton explained the provisions of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's bill respecting the incorporation of joint stock companies by letters patent, which is designed to modernize the existing law. The bill was given its final stages.

Mr. Kaulbach urged upon the Government the necessity of giving railway communication from Halifax to the south shore of Nova Scotia. Hon. W. S. Fielding replied there was every probability that the needs of this portion of Nova Scotia would be supplied very shortly. The Local Government had given the company carrying on the work a loan of $13,000 per mile for the whole road.

Mr. R. L. Borden enquired in reference to the position in which the action respecting the taxation of C.P.R. lands now stands, and Mr. Walter Scott and Mr. Frank Oliver asked that the Attorney-Generals of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories respectively be associated with the Department of Justice in preparation of the case against the C.P.R., as Manitoba and the Territories have the greatest interest in the suit.

Mr. W. R. Brock cautioned the Government to take this matter into their very careful consideration before creating a precedent which might cause a great deal of difficulty in the future.

Mr. N. Boyd suggested to Mr. Brock that the Government needed no warning in the matter, as they had moved with sufficient deliberation.

Mr Sifton reminded Mr. Boyd that no time had been lost, as it was not until 1901 that the Government became in a position to raise the question. He added that the Department of Justice was expediting the action as much as possible.

In submitting the supply bill Hon. W. S. Fielding said that the House would be glad to learn that since his budget speech was delivered two months ago the condition of the revenue has been very favorable, and the collections will be much larger than he then ventured to predict. There would probably be a larger surplus and a smaller addition to the public debt than he calculated in his budget speech.

In reply to Mr. Frank Oliver, a report from the inspector of Inland Revenue was read by Hon. M. E. Bernier, from which it appeared that the first intimation he had respecting coal oil being bad was from Hon. Mr. Sifton, who, through his department, collected samples of oil from 21 points in Manitoba and the Northwest in January for chemical analysis. The oil was found to be within the requirements of the law, and any attempt to reduce the range of gravities as low as established by the act 775 to 805 would add to the cost of production and give the oil refiners a reasonable excuse for increasing the cost to the consumer. So far as it was possible to ascertain, the trouble arose in connection with a lot of 10,000 barrels of oil placed in storage tank No. 2 at Fort William in July, 1901, by the Standard Oil Company, Chicago. Inspector Barrett reported that 9,000 barrels were drawn out of the tank, and gave perfect satisfaction, but the remaining oil taken from the bottom of the tank did not give satisfactory results. The Imperial Oil Company, to whom the oil was consigned, on complaints being made, recalled the oil and paid freight both ways. There was probably not more than one consignment of inferior oil last October, and that it was on the market from the middle of October to some time in December.

Mr. N. Boyd charged the customs officials with neglect in allowing the inferior oil to enter the country.

Hon. Wm. Paterson replied that the oil was inspected and passed the tests prescribed by law, therefore, the customs officer could not be blamed. Whether it was advisable to alter the standard was another question; if this were done it would result in an increase in cost.

Mr. E. Cochrane contended that it was the duty of the Government to alter the law, so that the people would get good oil, and Mr. Oliver assured the House the people of the west were prepared to pay a little more if they could by doing so get good oil.

THE PREMIER HONORED.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Presented With His Portrait, by Forbes, in the Commons Chamber.

Ottawa, May 16.—A ceremony unique in parliamentary experience occurred yesterday afternoon, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier was presented with his portrait by Forbes in the Commons Chamber. The scene itself was out of the ordinary. In the Premier's seat sat Lady Laurier and beside her in the chair of the Minister of the Interior sat Mrs. Sifton. Mrs. Fielding occupied the chair of the Minister of Finance and Mrs. Mulock sat at the Postmaster-General's desk. The wives of several of the members followed out the simile. Among them Mrs. Charles Marcil viewed the proceedings from the seat of the member of Bonaventure.

The Address.

Liberal Whip Calvert, on behalf of the donors, presented Sir Wilfrid with an address, which he read. It said, among other things, that "We, your friends and admirers of the Liberal party, beg to present you with an oil painting of yourself as a token of the high esteem and regard in which we hold you. Others have performed a like pleasant duty, but we desire that this souvenir shall specially be our contribution as expressing our loyalty to you as a man and our devotion to the cause you so conspicuously lead. We are attached to you personally, as well as proud of you as our leader. Your life's work has been given up to fostering concord and harmony among all classes of the people, regardless of creed or origin, and your success in that great and noble task will live to your honor and glory, a grand example for Canadian statesmen for all time."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was received with loud cheers, said: Mr. Calvert, ladies and gentlemen,—It is with a very sincere heart indeed that both in my own name and in the name of my wife I accept from the friends, unknown, in the sense that their names are not known to me at this moment, this memento, which is the work of a great Canadian artist. It is a gift which would be most acceptable to me under any circumstances. Under existing circumstances it is doubly precious. It is precious in this, that it is the work of a great Canadian artist. The name of Mr. Forbes is well known throughout Canada and throughout the motherland, and is somewhat famous also in the land to our south. It is perhaps with a sense of regret we must acknowledge that although Mr. Forbes is a Canadian by birth, and that his heart is still Canadian, he has taken his abode in another land. He has done so, I am sure, not from any choice of his own. Had the choice rested with him he would have remained in Canada and brought up his family in the land of his birth. Unfortunately Canada, which is still a young country, has not afforded to artists all the help it might have given in the past. I trust that in the future Canadian artists and Canadian talent will receive more encouragement from the Canadian people than has been extended to them up to the present.

Sir Wilfrid referred to many other matters, and concluded by saying: "Once more accept my sincere thanks and my sorrow that I cannot find expression adequate to convey to you as I wish the fullness of my heart." (Loud cheers.)

Chorea OR St. Vitus' Dance Has its Origin in Weak and Debilitated Nerves.

Children of Nervous Temperament are Usually the Sufferers.

Paine's Celery Compound AN INFALLIBLE CURE FOR THE TERRIBLE DISEASE.

While Chorea is common with children of nervous temperament, it also affects older people. It has its origin in debilitated nerves.

Parents can easily note the leading symptoms: unusual movements and jerkings of the limbs, and twitchings of the muscles of the face. Frequently the limbs are so seriously affected, that the gait becomes awkward and unsteady. The hands and arms fail to obey the will, and the victim is unable to raise a glass of water to the mouth. The tongue at times is involved, and speech is stammering.

Dear parents, when any of the symptoms just mentiedon are manifest, it is your imperative duty to exercise all necessary care, and have your dear ones use Paine's Celery Compound, the great nerve feeder and nerve bracer.

Paine's Celery Compound has already achieved a marvellous record in the cure of St. Vitus' Dance. It has made strong boys and girls out of puny and almost helpless children, and the hearts of thousands of fathers and mothers have been gladdened.

Bear in mind dear parents that it is folly on your part to delay the use of Paine's Celery Compound when you note the symptoms of nervous troubles in your children. The great medicine will free them from disease and enable them to grow up strong, happy and contented. Do not make it possible for your children to look back upon their childhood years and find in them a lack of care on your part which allowed bodily disablement and disease to make them weak and wretched.

Dangers of Procrastination.

Landlady—I s'pose you noticed that long whiskered old gentleman who sat opposite you at dinner today? That is Professor Driebones, and you can have his room, as he is going west on a scientific exploration—strangest thing you ever heard.

New Boarder—What is?

Landlady—The object of his tour. He has been told that a prehistoric cave has been discovered out west, and in it sat ten skeletons around a petrified table.

New Boarder—Well, well! Why didn't the fools change their boarding house sooner?

Out of Quarantine.

Mr. Harry Andrews, who has been nursing the Otonabee small pox patient, Mr. Woods, arrived in town on Wednesday after being in quarantine for the past two months. It was Mr. Andrews who also nursed Mr. Joyce, the Jackson Park patient, so that he has been upwards of four months in quarantine, since about the middle of January. Mr. Andrews has proved himself to be a most capable attendant on his patients and has been successful in nursing both of them through their illness.

Handsome Window Dressing.

New fancy and black parasols to match are also well shown. A number of well dressed figures and models in stylishly tailored suits and other fashionable garments make effective features. It is a meritorious exhibit, possessing a number of novel ideas in supporting pillars and frame work, decorated and trimmed. The drapes are graceful and well made. The window trimmer is to be congratulated upon the excellent utilization of his space.

A VERY SAD DEATH.

Miss Annie Hamilton, Youngest Daughter of the Late Wm. Hamilton, Esq., Suddenly Called Away.

Entered into rest on Friday morning, May 16th, Miss Annie D. Hamilton, youngest daughter of the late William Hamilton, Esq.

The very sudden and unexpected death of Miss Annie Hamilton, this morning, is the cause of an inexpressible sadness throughout the town. Loving, gentle in disposition and possessed of an earnest Christian character, her absence from the family circle will leave a gap which can never be filled. Only yesterday she was down town chatting with friends and no thought of ill health disturbed her. Shortly after returning home, however, she complained of chills and the presence of a physician was necessary all through the night. At about four o'clock in the morning she began to sink and shortly afterwards the announcement was made that owing to heart failure, it would be hardly possible for her to rally. She passed away at about half past nine o'clock surrounded by the members of the family who were within call. Mrs. Hamilton is, unfortunately, at present visiting in Chicago and will not be able to arrive home until to-morrow. The deceased was about to leave in the course of a day or two to pay an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. Ludgate, in Pennsylvania.

Rev. Dr. Torrance will conduct the funeral services, Miss Hamilton having been a member of St. Paul's, and one who always took the greatest interest in the work of the church.

TEMPERANCE HALL ROUSING MEETING.

A Stumper Smashed to Smith-ereens.

VILLIFIED THE ABSENT.

Called Severely to Account—A Splendid Stratton Meeting—Large Attendance —Fourth Line Solid for Stratton.

One of the most rousing and successful campaign meetings ever held in Smith Township was held in Mr. Stratton's interests at the Temperance Hall, on Wednesday night. The hall was well filled and the meeting was overwhelmingly in favour of Mr. Stratton, if not at the beginning, at the close of the meeting, at midnight.

Mr. William Graham, the veteran stalwart, occupied the chair, and the speakers were Mr. F. D. Kerr, Mr. Garvin (for Mr. Miller), Mr. J. H. McClellan, and Hon. S. C. Biggs.

After Mr. Kerr had spoken briefly, but effectively, Mr. Garvin was given the usual time. A feature of the latter's remarks was his violent, if not course, abuse of Mr. Stratton. Among other gems of oratory, Mr. Garvin stated in effect that Mr. Stratton had been guilty of introducing corruption into the riding—one Conservative had been given $500 for corrupt purposes — he had put $300 of it in his pockets and had spent $200 in buying 200 Conservative votes at $1 apiece.

Mr. McClellan followed in a brief speech, and trimmed Mr. Garvin to the King's taste. He pointed out how cowardly it was for Mr. Garvin to attack Mr. Stratton behind his back, when he had a chance at Bellleboro to say to his face what he had said in Smith, but dared not say at Bellleboro.

Hon. Mr. Biggs also denounced the abusive and childish charges of Mr. Garvin. If he believed what he said, if he believed himself when he slandered Conservatives by saying that they could be bought for one dollar apiece—if the charges he made were true, then Mr. Garvin was guilty of condoning corruption in not bringing the matter before the courts, and if the charges were not true they should not have been made. Hon. Mr. Biggs in the course of an hour and a half, made a rousing speech on the general policy of the Government, and the enthusiasm excited by his well put arguments and the scathing skinning he gave the representative of Mr. Miller stirred up the audience to unwonted enthusiasm. It is not often that Liberals at a country campaign meeting go beyond temperate and moderate demonstrations of approval, but when they rise from their seats and wave hats, and give rousing cheers, as they did last night, they must be strongly moved.

The meeting lasted till midnight, and the audience, which included many ladies, remained in deep interest till the close. The thoroughly roused audience, not content with cheering for the King, sang God Save the King, and ended with cheers for Stratton, and the speakers of the evening, even including Mr. Garvin, who furnished abundant amusement, which had been mingled with solid political instruction.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Hon. S. C. Biggs at Bensfort Last Night The Fight in the East.

A very successful meeting in the interests of Hon. Mr. Stratton was held at Bensfort last night, the speakers being Mr. E. B. Stone, F. D. Kerr, and Hon. S. C. Biggs. The attendance was quite large and the chair was occupied by Mr. Robert Riddell.

Hon. Mr. Biggs spoke at some length on the successful administration of the Provincial Secretary's department, and the administration of the Attorney General's department, reciting the many cases that had been won for Provincial rights and the many hundreds of thousands of dollars that had been saved to the Province by the success of the Province in the courts.

On Wednesday night Mr. R. F. McWilliams attended Dr. Ford's meeting at Sedgwick's school house in Dummer, and also a meeting of Dr. Ford's at Robb's school house, at the head of Stony Lake.

A joint political meeting was held in the East Riding last night, at Hall's Glen. The speakers were, Messrs. Wm. Anderson, R. F. McWilliams and Thos. Blezard, and Dr. Ford and Mr. Geo. J. Sherry, barrister, Norwood. The feature of the evening was Dr. Ford's statement, when cornered by Mr. McWilliams, that had he been in the House he would have bolted from his leader and supported the Government when they introduced the Referendum.

FOOL TALK.

At the Conservative mass meeting in the Opera House, on Tuesday night, Mr. W. W. Buchanan, speaking in behalf of the Conservative candidate, declared, in reference to American capital coming into the country at the "Soo," that we didn't want American capital.

What does Mr. Miller think of that? What does the town of Peterborough think of that? What do the farmers in the vicinity of Peterborough think of that?? Would the Cereal Works have been here without American capital? Would the town have had the benefits? Would a host of working men have had employment all winter at good wages? Would the brick yards have been cleared out of stock time after time? Would the farmers have had a magnificent market for their grain, without American capital? Would we have the street railway running this summer, without American capital?

Mr. Miller poses as the friend of the working man, yet the stumper brought here in his interests, would take the job out of the working man's hands by excluding capital that gets business booming.

Of course we want American capital; the more the better. What we need is capital to develop our resources. American capital is helping to build up our pulp wood industries, and Ontario gets the benefit. Capital, whether American or otherwise, is created by labour, and the only way, it seems, for labour to get its own is through the employment of capital to carry on labour-employing enterprises.

It gives one a feeling of fatigue to hear such demagogue talk. Not want American capital! We want American capital more than we want Whitney. For American capital has more sense than the Opposition leader. American capital has faith in the resources of New Ontario, while Mr. Whitney regards it as "the land of the stunted poplar."

Build up Ontario.

CAMPAIGN COMMENTS.

Remember Ross.

Keep Ontario to the front.

Vote for Ross and the flowing tide.

Vote for Whitney and — dam the flowing tide.

Build up Ontario.

Mr. Miller as a military man and a temperance man, has some rather incompatible stumping lieutenants.

One of them ranks both as a pro-Boer and pro-beer sympathiser.

One of Mr. Miller's stumpers considers New Ontario a "down-right humbug." Another speaks of Mr. Clergue as a bankrupt and an adventurer. Another says the Algoma Central Railway is a second-hand affair, and Mr. Whitney calls New Ontario the "land of the stunted poplar."

Nice patriots these.

The Ross Government considers New Ontario the land of promise, and are making and will continue to make it the land of performance.

Build up Ontario.

Mr. Whitney is now fighting for the premiership of Ontario; after May 29th he will be fighting for the leadership of the Opposition.

Mr. Whitney's school reform consists in shutting out "95 per cent." of the population from going any higher than the public schools. He reserves higher education for the rich, who can afford to pay for it.

The Mail and Empire has repeatedly said that the Examiner referred to Mr. Miller as "a mere shoemaker." This is, of course a mistake, because the Mail asserts it and also because the Examiner never said anything of the kind.

What form of prevarication will the Mail and Empire practice to keep its hand in when the elections are over.

Mr. Whitney voted against a Minister of Education, yet he wants a new Minister created—one for New Ontario.

The Minister of the "stunted poplar."

If Mr. Stratton has any sense of gratitude, he will give Mr. Garvin a handsome present in recognition of the excellent service Mr. Garvin is doing him on the stump.

Mr. H. P. Lindsay, one of the stumpers at the Conservative meeting on Tuesday night, said a merchant told him that one Sunday he had seen 500 men go into a certain hotel to get drinks.

Wasn't Mr. Lindsay's informer seeing a little double too?

Think of the size of the barn. 500 men means almost one a minute for hours.

For goodness sake draw it mild; unless you want to give Ananias a handicap.

Mr. Garvin said at the Temperance Hall, Smith, that last election the votes of 200 Conservatives were bought for $200.

A dollar a piece—the price of "deacon" calves. Shame Mr. Garvin, shame.

Do you think any Conservative would sell his vote — for a dollar?

Perhaps you are right, Mr. Garvin. When they thought of the Conservative candidate they were expected to vote for in 1898, perhaps they considered a dollar was big money.

According to the Globe's report, the beautiful decorations of the streets and hall at Midland in honour of Premier Ross' visit to Midland on Thursday, was the work of J. J. Turner & Sons, Peterborough.

Thus we find a good Conservative firm helping spread the gospel of good Government. Of course it was only done in the way of business, but that is not the only business the Ross Government will give Conservatives and Liberals alike if they are returned, as they will be, to carry out their policy of building up Ontario.

Vote for Stratton, Ross, and a business Government, and Ontario will continue doing business at the old stand with a big branch in New Ontario.

THE GLOBE'S THEORY.

On Monday last, under the heading "New Ontario Heard From," the following appeared in the editorial columns of The Mail:—"Mr. W. J. Kearns of Kearns Brothers, Sault Ste. Marie, speaking at Peterborough Saturday last, said:—'I have always been a supporter of the Ontario Government. I have never polled a Conservative vote in my life, but I will this time, for I have come to the conclusion that we want a change. I have only been on a public platform once in my life, and that was in 1886, but I'll face Mr. Ross or Mr. Stratton. He has had my support, and I have helped to put him where he is, but I'm going to help to put him away from there." The firm of Kearns Bros. is composed of W. J. Kearns and Patrick Kearns, who in 1898 carried on business as merchants at Canoe Lake, Algonquin Park. In October of that year Patrick Kearns was fined $10 and costs for selling goods on Sunday, after having been warned not to do so. Patrick subsequently made a personal application to the Crown Lands Department for permission to sell goods on Sunday, but, of course, his request could not be granted. After removing from the Park to Sault Ste. Marie the Kearns Bros. applied for a hotel and tavern license for 1901-2, but the application was refused by the commissioners, as the license inspector at the "Soo" wired yesterday, "mainly because the allied companies objected to having a bar so near the works on account of their men." These facts may account for the present attack on the Government." — Toronto Globe.

TIE-UP AT STOCKHOLM

The Strike in Support of the Suffrage Bill Has Begun.

THE COAL STRIKE WILL GO ON

The Strikers' Majority in the Convention Was 111—The Vote Stood 461 1-4 to 349 3-4—The Question of Calling Out Other Workers to Be Immediately Considered by the Delegates.

Stockholm, Sweden, May 16.—The general strike decreed by the social democratic party in support of the suffrage bill, the debate on which began in Parliament yesterday, was carried out as arranged, and the tie-up of business has been practically complete since yesterday morning. Traffic generally is suspended. The street cars, cabs, vans, carts and steamers are not running, and no work is going on in any of the factories or shops. The printers also have joined the strike, which will last throughout the Parliament debate.

THE STRIKE TO GO ON.

Anthracite Miners So Decide by a Majority of 111 in Convention.

Hazelton, Pa., May 16.—The anthracite mine workers, in convention yesterday afternoon, decided to continue the strike of 145,000 men against the mine owners, and to fight it out to the bitter end. The matter of calling out the engineers, firemen and pump runners will be decided by the delegates to-day. The vote to continue the suspension was as follows: Total vote cast, 811; for strike, 461½; against strike, 349½; majority for strike, 111½. President Mitchell, however, in compliance with the rules of the United Mine Workers, announced to the public that the action of the convention was unanimous.

BE PATIENT.

Allowance Should Always be Made for Physical Weakness.

We do not Always Consider as we Should the Bodily Infirmities of Those With Whom we Come in Contact.

Many a strong and heart looking man or woman is a constant sufferer from some physical pain or weakness.

Often they do not care to complain or explain, and no one but themselves or perhaps their families know the amount of pain they endure every day.

They are often irritable and cranky, and no wonder.

It is hard to be affable and genial and good humoured, when you have a nasty grumbling toothache.

Toothache is not to be compared to the distressing pain of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, or Sour Stomach.

Thousands of men and women are to-day going about their daily duties carrying a burden of these stomach troubles, which give them absolutely no rest.

The worst "thorn in the flesh" is Dyspepsia.

We should make allowance for a Dyspeptic. Don't judge him or her harshly or too quickly.

But no one should be troubled with Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble when there is a certain remedy within the reach of all.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Dyspepsia or Stomach Trouble.

This is not an empty boast but a positive statement of fact, which has been proven by happy results in the thousands of the most severe cases—it is not now disputed.

Physicians have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets their heartiest approval and many prescribe them in their practice as a treatment for Stomach Ailments.

There is no longer any excuse for anyone being cranky or irritable because of Dyspepsia, for they may be cured if they want to—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

His Obligation.

The Duc de Roquelaure was far, very far, from being handsome. One day he met in the street an ugly Auvergnat who had some petition or memorial to present at Versailles. He immediately introduced him to Louis XIV., remarking that he was under a special obligation to the gentleman. The king granted the favor asked and then inquired of the duke what was this pressing obligation. "But for him, your majesty, I should be the ugliest man in your dominions."

It Strikes the Heart.

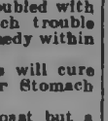
Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

The Politician's Friends.

"I never went back on a friend," said one politician.

"I never found it necessary to do so," said the other. "As soon as I was not in a position to favor him my friend always went back on me."

The Hour.



Tubbs—What hour is it?
Dubbs—None at all.
Tubbs—What do you mean?
Dubbs—Not yet 1 o'clock.

Some Russian railways employ only members of the Orthodox church.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., May 15.—There are 625 boxes of cheese boarded here to-day. McRae got 177, Gibson 111 white and 52 colored, Welsh 88 and Bennett 78. The following buyers were present: McRae, Bennett, Gibson, Williamson, Fraser, Welsh, W. Nivin. All sold at 11⅛c, except 26 boxes colored, at 11⅛c.

Kingston, May 15.—There was a good attendance at the Frontenac Cheese Board meeting this afternoon. Some 810 cheese were boarded, of which number 275 were white and 535 colored. The highest and only bid was 11 cents, at which 280 changed hands. Most of the buyers refused to sell at 11. The same price was refused on the board a week ago, but every cheese was afterwards sold at that price.

Cunard Line Out of It.

London, May 16.—In the House of Commons yesterday, the president of the Board of Trade, Gerald Balfour, informed Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford (Conservative) that he had reason to believe that no contract existed giving the American Shipping Combine the right to take over the shares of the fleet of the Cunard Line.

Advertising Versus Merit.

The enormous sale of most medicines has depended entirely on large advertising. The enormous sale of Merrill's System Tonic has arisen solely from the merit of this wonderful compound. We say it is the best medicine to purify the blood, build up the system, strengthen the nerves and regulate the bowels made. Invest 50c. in one bottle and you will know we speak only the truth. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

AFTER SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE.

Chamberlain Sends Experts to Report on Requirements of Market.

London, May 16.—In consequence of receipt of information regarding the activity of American firms, chiefly engineering, electrical and mining concerns, who are preparing to despatch heavy shipments to South Africa immediately after peace is declared, the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, has authorized the despatch of a commission of experts in engineering, textiles, etc., to traverse the entire country and report immediately on the requirements of South Africa under the new conditions and the openings for British trade. The commission sails on May 31.

Over a Million Victims.

A careful estimate shows that one fifth of Canada's population suffer every winter with hacking lung weakening coughs. Four T's, Druggist Merrill's great discovery, cures a cough in twenty-four hours, and the worst cold in two days, making it unnecessary to wear out the system in this way. Large bottles, 25 cts., 2t Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

Hid His Whip.

The late Lord Queensberry's famous protest at the performance of Tennyson's "Promise of May" had a quaint sequel. A society journal, now deceased, made some scathing comments on the incident.

Lord Queensberry armed himself with a heavy whip and called at the office, asking to see the editor. He was conducted to the presence of an elderly woman, who regarded him severely through her spectacles.

Remembering the "Queensberry rules," he hid the horsewhip and merely remarked that he had called to talk the matter over.

BRONCHITIS

A SERIOUS DISEASE.

Becomes Chronic and Returns Year by Year or Develops Into Bronchial Pneumonia, Croupous Bronchitis, Asthma or Consumption.

The real dangers of bronchitis are sometimes overlooked. It is too serious a disease to trifle with, and for that reason everybody should be familiar with the symptoms.

Children are most liable to contract bronchitis, and if neglected it becomes chronic, and returns year after year, until it wears the patient out or develops into some deadly lung disease.

The approach of bronchitis is marked by chills and fever, nasal or throat catarrh, quick pulse, loss of appetite and feelings of fatigue and langor.

Bronchitis is also known by pain in the upper part of the chest, which is aggravated by deep breathing or coughing until it seems to tear the delicate linings of the bronchial tubes.

The cough is dry and harsh and is accompanied by expectoration of a frothy nature, which gradually increases; is very stringy and tenacious and is frequently streaked with blood.

There is pain, not unlike rheumatism, in limbs, joints and body, constipation and extreme depression and weakness. In some people the exhaustion amounts almost to nervous collapse, delirium follows, and in young children convulsions may follow.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is, we believe, the most effective treatment for bronchitis that money will buy. This fact has been proven time and again in many thousands of cases.

It is the most effective remedy for bronchitis, because it is far reaching in its effects on the whole system, not merely relieving the cough, but actually and thoroughly curing the disease. It loosens the cough, frees the chest of tightness and pain, aids expectoration and permanently cures.

There are other preparations of turpentine and linseed put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. To be sure you are getting the genuine see the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the box you buy. 25c. a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60c. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 8

A Siege

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass., U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Its value in coughs and colds was so great they always kept it ready for use. You know how it's used, don't you? 'Tis heated by a vaporizer and you inhale it. Write us for a book that tells all about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

MAN AND MARRIAGE.

Sage Advice About Methods Before and After the Ceremony.

In "Her Royal Highness Woman" Max O'Rell gives some very sage advice to men as to what they should and should not do both before and after marriage. The following extracts will be of interest to readers:

Never marry a woman richer than you, one taller than you or one older than you. Be always gently superior to your wife in fortune, in size and in age, so that in every possible way she may appeal to you for help or protection, either through your purse, your strength or your experience in life. Marry her at an age that will always enable you to play with her all the different characteristic parts of a husband—a chum, a lover, an adviser, a protector and just a tiny suspicion of a father.

However ill you may speak or think of women, you will always find a woman able to do it better than you.

Never let your ladylove see you without a collar—no, not even the very wife of your bosom. A man's head without a collar is like a bouquet without a holder.

Never let her see you asleep. Maybe you sleep with your mouth open. If you are married, let your wife sleep first. When you are quite sure she is off, let yourself go, and be careful to wake up first in the morning.

Bismarck on Champagne.

Years ago, when Baron Hengelmuller was assistant secretary of the Austrian embassy at Berlin, Bismarck gave a dinner to which the baron was invited. All the guests except Von Hengervar drank champagne, and Bismarck, noting the young man's abstinence, asked the reason therefor.

"I have not yet earned the right so to indulge," was the reply.

"Ah, that will not do," remarked Bismarck; "it is allotted to every abstemious man in this world to consume in his lifetime 10,000 bottles of champagne. So you should begin now lest you fail to secure your just portion."

"If 10,000 bottles be the allotment for the ordinary man," responded the young diplomatist, bowing to the Iron Chancellor, "your excellency, being an extraordinary man, should have double allowance, and I therefore take great pleasure in awarding my share to you."

"I thank you," Bismarck replied, "but permit me to inform you that without waiting for your grand renunciation I have already passed the 20,000 mark."

She'll Sing Hereafter.

A charming young lady of Kensington who glories in the possession of a wealth of bright auburn colored hair is the teacher of a Sunday school class. On a recent Sabbath the rector made the announcement of a hymn to be sung and, rising, waved his hands, and the organ pealed forth.

"Now," said he, "ready—sing."

A small and precocious youth in the young woman's class said:

"Why don't you sing, Miss Frisbee?"

"Me? Oh, I never sing," replied the teacher, smiling her prettiest.

"But," exclaimed the boy, "the minister says you must. Didn't he just say 'Now, Reddy, sing?'"

Smelling salts and numerous other restoratives had to be used to bring the teacher out of her faint.

Choleric Versus Quiet Natures.

Clarendon, says The Schoolmaster, made careful observation when he wrote: "Angry and choleric men are as ungrateful and unsociable as thunder and lightning, being in themselves all storm and tempests; but quiet and easy natures are like air weather, welcome to all and acceptable to all men; they gather together what the others disperse and reconcile all whom the others incense; as they have the good will and the good wishes of all other men, so they have the full possession of themselves, have all their own thoughts at peace and enjoy quiet and ease in their own fortune, how strait soever it may be."

Honest Praise.

An honest compliment was that paid to M. de Vendome, who, while commanding the French army in Italy, dispatched a young nobleman to announce to his master the victory which he had gained at Sussara. The latter, while attempting to describe the battle, became several times much confused in his narrative, when, although the king preserved his gravity, the Duchess of Burgundy, who was present, laughed so heartily that at last the young gentleman said, "Sire, it is easier for M. de Vendome to win a battle than for me to describe it."

Our Fears.

It is not what a thing is, but what we think it is, that frightens us. A man walks within an inch of death without knowing it and therefore without trembling, and then his hair stands on end at some empty noise as harmless as the buzzing of a fly.

Wanted It Plain.

Mrs. Youngwife—I want to get some salad.

Dealer—Yes'm. How many heads?

Mrs. Youngwife—Oh, goodness! I thought you took the heads off. I just want plain chicken salad.

Herbs in the Farm Garden.

Every garden should have herbs, and of all varieties. Herbs for winter use should be gathered when the plants are in flower. Just as the flowers begin to fade is about the best time. To dry them tie them in small bundles and hang the bundles in an airy shed. Formerly it was the custom on every farm to grow herbs, but the practice seems to have grown out of use. Herbs can be grown so easily, however, and require so little room, that they should be given a place for the purpose of always having a supply at all seasons.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time and remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase—America's Greatest Physician.

THE PALATE LOCK.

A woman who had solved the servant girl question by importing a buxom young colored girl from Virginia went out to give her orders for dinner one day and was astounded to see the negro sitting on the floor with her hair, or wool, standing out around her head in a black and shiny nimbus. Not hearing the approach of the mistress, the servant went on with her occupation, which was pulling first one curly lock and then another in a way that suggested that she had either lost a fortune or "got religion." The madam stared a moment and then exclaimed:

"For goodness' sake, Betty, what are you doing?"

The maid hurriedly scrambled to her feet and answered:

"Oh, nothin', ma'am. I'se got a sore throat and was just tryin' to find the lock what would pull mah palate up and cure the tickle."

Saxony's Forests.

Saxony possesses one of the best regulated systems of forestry in the world. The forests of Saxony serve not only the purpose of giving the state a substantial annual revenue, but they add a thousandfold to the scenery of the country, thus attracting many tourists into those parts every summer. The most important feature of the forests, however, is the fact that they keep forever alive the fountains of water which spring from the highlands of the Erzgebirge and Saxon Switzerland. The forests furnish the material and the water the motive power to hundreds of pulp, paper and saw mills, which, in turn, give employment to thousands of men, women and children.

Might Have Been Worse.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "that horse you bet on"—

"There's no need of bringing the matter up. I know that my judgment was very bad and all that."

"Oh, I wouldn't take it to heart! The horse might have been beaten worse. You must give him credit for getting around ahead of the horses that were entered for the following race."

Pay Your Debts.

"No, sir," declared Gaxsen as he warmed up to his subject, "you'll never be happy so long as you are in debt. Pay your debts, Swayback, pay your debts."

"But I have no money," said Swayback.

"Then borrow it."

Truth's Chances.

William—The idea of his calling his book a historical novel! It doesn't agree with history even in the slightest particular.

Frederick—And so may be quite true.

MISTAKE SOMEWHERE.

Why the Colonel Stopped His Score of Chinamen at Five.

"I had read," said the colonel as he was relating some of his experiences in China, "that if a person fell into the water no one could pull him out, holding that his falling in was a decree of Providence that must not be interfered with.

"One day on one of the canals I stumbled and went overboard, and, although there were twelve boatmen, not one of them would extend me a hand. After a close shave, as I cannot swim, I got aboard again, and as soon as I recovered my breath I yelled at the boss boatman:

"'You infernal scoundrel, but why didn't you help me out?'

"'It was your fate to fall in,' he calmly replied.

"'And it's your fate to take a good licking!' I said as I went for him.

"When I had finished him off, I took another, and I was just polishing off my fifth victim when the sixth man halted me to say:

"'There seems to be a mistake here. We are taught that if a person falls into the water he must save himself or drown, but we are not taught that if he does save himself he is at liberty to lick half of China in revenge.'

"I thought his point well taken," laughed the colonel, "and I stopped my score at five and went down to change into dry clothes."

Apple Trees For Beauty and Fruit.

Apple trees are so beautiful, even when bare of bloom and fruit, that they should be grown in pleasure gardens, like lilacs and laburnums. Tennyson speaks of orchard lawns, and there is no reason except bad taste why they should not have a real existence. The gloom of the fir tree, magnificent no doubt in its own northern forest, is mere incongruous dreariness when it is dotted about a suburban lawn. Nothing will thrive under it, and often it will not thrive itself, but the apple, with all the associated beauty of the countryside, gives us fruit and blossom and grateful shade. In the grass under it will grow daffodils, columbines, irises and many other plants, or it may be trained as a hedge to divide one part of the garden from another and with all these uses may still produce great crops of fruit. It would be a pleasant task for the suburban gardener with his half acre of ground to grow three or four choice apple trees with the care that others give to roses.

DOWN THE OTONABEE.

The "City of Peterborough" Made her First Trip of the Season Yesterday.

The steamer City of Peterborough made her initial trip of the season to Jubilee Point yesterday. The affair took the form of an excursion, those present having accepted of the kind invitation of Mr. Harry Neil to visit the Point. There were about 50 on board, and the day was an ideal one for a trip down the river. The "City" was in excellent condition, and made the trip to Jubilee in about two hours and a half. She had at her wheel, Captain Maurice Lane, who four years ago navigated the Otonabee waters on the same boat. The captain is a most obliging and capable officer. As he has with him Mrs. Lane, who will discharge the duties of steward, the patrons of the "City" may rely upon being carefully looked after. Mr. Clare Calcutt, who has lived on the Rice Lake waters all his life, is filling the duties of first mate, whilst Mr. Fred Holland has been appointed purser.

The engineer of the "City" is Mr. J. Myers, who is a "salt water man," a term which is used in navigation circles to describe one who has been engaged in ocean navigation. He knows his business, if ever a man did, and he has the engines of the "City" running very smoothly. The second engineer is Mr. Jas. Logan, who manipulated the throttle of the "Rainbow" engine last year, and who possesses excellent qualifications.

The trip to Jubilee Point was thoroughly enjoyed. The banks of the Otonabee never appeared to look greener and at various points the trees of the thickly wooded shores stood several feet in high water. The current was quite swift but a stiff head breeze from the south almost counteracted any advantage in that regard. The City pulled into Jubilee Point just a short distance behind the Water Lily, which had started down about a half an hour ahead of the big boat with a scow of lumber. The Lily's cargo was left at the Point and the Lily started away down the lake to Hastings to tow up the Government dredge to the locks in Peterborough.

Jubilee presented its old time appearance, and Manager Foley, of the resort, was taken by surprise at the arrival of the party. He had not been made aware of the coming of the City and its passengers, but notwithstanding this fact a sumptuous supper was served up to the party. Dan is getting things into fine shape and anticipates a big season's business.

The trip home was quite enjoyable, and the party arrived at the Wolfe street wharf at about 10 o'clock well satisfied with the afternoon's outing, and all feeling under a deep obligation to Mr. Neil and Capt. Lane for their hospitality.

The City has quite a number of excursions booked, the first of which will be the Regimental Band excursion on May 24th.

The Water Lily has a first class set of officers. They are, Captain, John Breen; mate, Jim Tobin; engineer, Andy Young. The Lily will make her market day trip of next week on Friday instead of Saturday, consequent upon the celebration of May 24th.

STOCK MARKETS.

About That Crop Report.

New York, May 15.—The crop report proved to be not so much of a bugaboo as was advertised by the bears. Large orders to buy standard stocks had been held back by the invented crop disaster bulletins with which Wall street has recently been deluged. Actual investment orders have been in the market the past two days. Efforts have been made to create uneasiness over the decreased wheat acreage reported and the uninformed might be led to believe that land unplanted with wheat is left wholly unplanted. The western farmer is not yet quite bereft of money making reason, and if he has put less acreage of wheat in, this season, you may be certain he is devoting his extra acres to something he believes will pay better. To talk about corn is as yet futile. Corn has just commenced to be planted and the weather and the conditions of the earth for its reception is at present unusually good. It is likely that the corn acreage will be greatly increased owing to the low ebb in present corn supply and the consequent high prices ruling for the cereal. High prices for any cereal always stimulates its production by the farmer. As to money the best consensus of opinion is that it will ease gradually from now on and after two weeks has past will be comparatively easy. They will soon commence to discount the going into effect of the Government War Tax Repeal Bill on July 1st. Time loans will be the first to ease materially. Money has been close, because in demand for business usage. The easiest money markets are not always the healthiest. The underlying strength of most stock issues during the past trying two weeks speaks in no uncertain tones as to the bullish future of the share market. The market is rapidly shaping itself for quite a rise in many issues. This summer should witness an active and buoyant speculation. The big reaction in cotton makes it look especially attractive at current prices. We heartily advise buying cotton.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The American Cereal Co. Must Have Sewer Connections—Other Matters.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held in the Town Clerk's office yesterday afternoon. There were present, Dr. Mahar, chairman, Dr. Burnham, Messrs. Wm. Eyres, Geo. Schneider and J. P. Metheral.

The minutes of the meeting of May 8th were read and confirmed.

The following motion was carried; That this board disapproves of any sewerage being discharged into the river within the town, and while recognizing and regretting the difficulty in which the American Cereal Company is placed, this board cannot consent to the company discharging sewerage from its work by a pipe into the river.

Another motion that was adopted, read as follows;

That the chairman, Mr. Eyres, the mover, and the Medical Health Officer, be a committee to wait on the American Cereal Company, and confer with them in regard to the disposal of sewerage from their works, with power to act in the matter.

Mr. N. T. LePlante addressed the board, and complained that refuse from the porkpacking house was being washed into the river, and that the making of a fertilizer at the same place was injurious.

It was moved and seconded that the Sanitary Inspector inspect the packing house, and the matter complained of.

THE CONVENTION OF THE W. M. S.

Of the Peterborough District Held in Lakefield.

MOST INTERESTING EXERCISES

Three Sessions Were Held During the Day—Helpful Addresses Delivered—Large Number of Delegates.

The Annual Convention of the W. M. S. for Peterborough district was held in the Methodist church, Lakefield, on May 15th. The morning session opened at 11.15 with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) McCamus, of Lakefield. Mrs. Stewart Payne, Warsaw, led in prayer, and Mrs. (Rev.) Nichol, Bridgenorth, read the Scripture lesson, and was followed by Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Leonard in prayer.

Roll call followed and the several Auxiliaries were represented as follows:

Bridgenorth, — Mesdames Mann, Udy, Nichol, Percy Udy, Kelly, and Miss Udy.

Lakefield,—Mesdames W. A. Evans, and Mrs. Sherwin. Mission Band — Master Fred Brown.

Warsaw.—Mesdames Blight, J. H. Brown, White, Cooper, Matthews, Stewart, Payne, (Rev.) McQuaid, Meecham, Bert Payne, Jos. Edwards, Wm. Payne, Arthur Edwards, Uriah Payne and Watts. Misses Wasson, Payne and Lukey.

Peterborough, Charlotte street—Mesdames (Rev.)Crossley, Lightfoot, Jory, Lyle, Kidd, Morrison, (Rev.) Kilgour, Elliott, Hall, Richardson, Kennedy, and Miss Crossley.

Peterborough, Mark street.—Mesdames Wand, and Agnew, Misses Spier and Hamilton.

Peterborough, George street. — Mesdames Kendry, Mann, Shortly, Cameron, Morrow, (Rev.) Wilson, Fife, Moore, Payne, Craig, Carlisle, Lindsay, Stubbs, Bradburn, Turner and Misses Might, Rutherford, Clegg, Whiten and Booth.

The Mission Band of George street was represented by Miss Faint.

All these Auxiliaries reported a year of progress, both financially and spiritually.

The delegates and visitors were then assigned their billets and the Convention adjourned.

The afternoon session opened at two o'clock, with devotional exercises conducted by Miss Wand, of Mark street church. Hymn, "Take the Name of Jesus With You," was sung, and Psalms 103 read, after which Miss Hamilton, also of Mark street, led in prayer. "Take My Life and Let it Be," was then sung, and all repeated the Lord's prayer.

Mrs. Kendry, District Organizer, then took charge of the Convention.

The Watch Tower was first on the programme, those taking part being Mrs. Morrison, of Charlotte street, who ably presented much useful information to us in regard to West China, and some phases of our work in that country. Mrs. Carlisle was next, and gave us some very interesting items about Japan, and Miss Udy, of Bridgenorth, gave us much information respecting the French work. A review of the general Missionary work of the world was given in a very able paper by Miss Sherrin, of Lakefield.

After the Watch Tower the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," was sung.

Miss Munro, of Peterborough, then gave a short address on the Galicians, among whom in a short time she expects to labour for the good of the Master. They themselves have offered to build a school if the W. M. S. will send out teachers. We next had the pleasure of listening to a very able debate, "Resolved that Systematic and Proportionate Giving is the Only Sound Method." The affirmative was supported by Mrs. Jory and Mrs. (Rev.) McCamus, and the negative by Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Carlisle. Mesdames (Dr.) Fife, (Dr.) Meecham, (Rev.) Crossley and (Rev.) Nichol were selected to act as judges, and decided in favour of the affirmative.

A worker's conference was then held in charge of Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour, and a free discussion of ways and means for successfully carrying on different branches of the work was the result, and was certainly found very helpful.

A chorus by several small members of the Lakefield Mission Band was very sweetly rendered, and Mrs. Mann, the leader of Peterborough George street Mission Band, gave an excellent paper on Mission Band Work. This paper was full of timely hints and valuable information.

A testimony meeting conducted by Mrs. (Dr.) Fife, of Peterborough, followed, and testimony followed testimony in quick succession, all telling of God's great goodness, and one could not help but feel that God Himself was with the gathering all through. The pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. McCamus, closed this part of the programme with prayer. The Organizer, Mrs. Kendry, in a few words then tendered her resignation. All were sorry to hear this, but bowed to the inevitable, and Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour was nominated by Miss Carlisle and seconded by Mrs. Lightfoot as her successor, and was unanimously elected.

Question drawer followed, and the questions, though few, were to the point, after which the Convention again adjourned.

The evening session opened at eight o'clock, Mrs. Kendry presiding. The choir rendered a very appropriate selection, and Rev. Mr. McCamus led in prayer, after which Mr. James Dawson of Peterborough, sang a solo—"Wandering Boy Come Home," and Rev. Mr. McQuaid, of Warsaw, read the Scripture lesson, Psalms 24, and Mrs. Daly, of Peterborough, very sweetly sang "The Palms."

The annual report of the district was then presented by Mrs. Turner, Secretary, and in brief was as follows:—

Total amount of money raised during the year, ...	$362.88
Annual Members	161
Life Members	13
Total	174

Showing an increase over last year of 26.

Besides this, boxes and bales of clothing to the value of $194.00 had been prepared by the different Auxiliaries, and sent to various stations.

The audience was then delighted by a solo, "The Holy City," by little Herbie Mowatt, of Peterborough, after which Mrs. Moore, of George street church, Peterborough, gave a recitation entitled the "Man Who Died For Me," also another entitled "How the Question Came Home." Mr. Dawson again sang "Guard While I Sleep," after which Rev. Mr. McCamus addressed the meeting in a few well chosen remarks, and the choir gave another selection. Mrs. Kendry then introduced Rev. Mr. Wilson, of George street Methodist church, Peterborough, as the speaker of the evening, and right well did he fulfil all expectations as he told of what had been accomplished along missionary lines in the century past, of the very small beginnings to the force that was now at work for the evangelization of the world, of the part women had had in this work, and also of the work still for her to do. This address could not fail to inspire us all with fresh zeal.

At the close of his address Mrs. Daly again sang "Your Friend," and while the collection was being taken up a young ladies' orchestra discoursed sweet music. Mrs. Fife then moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the ladies of Lakefield for their kind hospitality, also to the choir for their assistance, and to all others who had helped to make this one of the most enjoyable and profitable Conventions ever held in this district. This was seconded by Mrs. Wand, and unanimously passed, and Rev. Mr. McQuaid said a few words in closing and dismissed us with the benediction.

DR. CARMAN NOT TO RETIRE.

Will Remain in his Present Position but may be Given an Assistant.

A rumor has been current in Montreal Methodist circles that Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent, might retire at the coming General Conference at Winnipeg, as he did not feel that his health warranted his accepting re-election for another term of eight years. The story, which found a place in the columns of a Montreal paper, also said that Rev. Dr. Potts was the most likely successor to Dr. Carman, and that Rev. E. B. Ryckman, D.D., of Cornwall, father of R. B. Ryckman, barrister, of Toronto, would become general secretary of education.

Toronto Methodist ministers, when told of the report, either ridiculed it or would not talk about the matter at all. One pastor said it was all "bosh," and that Dr. Carman would be general superintendent for another term beyond a doubt. Dr. Carman is not yet seventy years of age, and is still very active in mind and body. His strength, of course, has been taxed in recent years, as he has had to cover the entire territory of a growing church, where until the death of Rev. Dr. J. A. Williams there were two general superintendents.

"The General Conference might appoint an assistant this year, but I do not think even a proposition of that nature has been considered," declared a well-known Toronto Methodist this morning. "As for the other church officers, such as book stewards, secretary of Sunday schools, and Epworth Leagues, missionary secretaries, educational secretary and superannuation fund treasurer, I think they will all be reappointed. There may be opposition to the re-election of Rev. Dr. Courtice as editor of the Christian Guardian.—Toronto Telegram.

MILITARY MATTERS.

Those who Will Likely go to the Coronation.

It is understood that the two names from the 57th Regiment that have been forwarded to Ottawa for consideration for the appointment to a place on the Coronation Contingent are Sgt.-Major Brittain and Band Sgt. Wand. It is understood that only eight names have been sent in by the commanding officer of the Dragoons for consideration, and as this is just this number that is required, the men whose names have gone in will likely be on the Contingent. Sgt. Cleghorn, Sgt. Duffis, Sgt.-Major Goldie and Regimental Trumpeter Goldie, all of town, and Pte. Burnham and Sgt. Paul, of Millbrook, are amongst the number.

Lieut. W. D. Leach, of the 46th Regiment, Millbrook, will represent that corps on the Coronation Contingent as aforesaid. Lieut. Leach served in the ranks of the 2nd C. M. R.

DOWIE'S DAUGHTER DEAD.

Prayers Alone Couldn't Cure her Terrible Burns.

Chicago, Ill., May 15th. — Esther Dowie, daughter of Alexander Dowie, proprietor of Zion, (a gentleman who will be remembered as having propagated for a time his peculiar doctrines in Peterborough,) died last last night of burns, having suffered for hours while her father prayed over her.

Miss Dowie was 23 years of age and a student at the University of Chicago. Yesterday morning her hair caught fire from a gas jet and her head and face were horribly burnt. Beyond the application of a simple salve she had no medical assistance.

News of her death did not become known until to-day, when the coroner was notified. At the inquest to-day Dowie said that at no time had his daughter asked for medical attendance. The jury returned a verdict that death was due to burns, accidentally received.

CONMEE CONVICTS WHITNEY

Brings the Opposition Leader to Book for False Statements.

"UNTRUE AND SLANDEROUS"

Mr. Conmee's Open Letter to Mr. Whitney—His Reckless Statements in New Ontario Challenged.

Copies of the following letter have been mailed to Mr. J. P. Whitney at Morrisburg and Albany Club, Toronto:

J. P. Whitney, Esq., Morrisburg, Ont.

Dear Sir, — You are reported in several newspapers published on the 12th inst., as criticising the Administration during your partial tour of New Ontario, and as using the following language:

"He (Mr. Whitney) asked if there was not something wrong with the system which allowed Mr. Conmee and company to cut down and export pulpwood to the United States, and prevented settlers and everybody else from doing so. The consequence was that the settlers got only $1.70 per cord for the pulp wood, instead of $3.70. Was it proper, because Mr. Conmee was a member of the Legislature that his company should roll up large sums of money at the expense of men and women who had developed the country?"

The foregoing statements are untrue and slanderous in every respect. I have never by myself, or through any company or individual, exported pulp wood or sold a single cord in Canada. I have never directly or indirectly engaged in the pulp wood business, nor have I had any stock or interest in any company or other organization, either directly or indirectly, that was engaged in that business. It is equally untrue that any act of mine has at any time affected the price settlers have secured for pulpwood. The statement that settlers are deprived of exporting pulp wood from their own lands is entirely without foundation. They do sell for export. It is an absolutely false statement when asserted that I have made large profits or had any connection with any company or individuals that have made profits out of pulp wood.

If these or similar statements were made by you, you are guilty of a gross slander and must have relied on some vicious person who led you into the error, or you must have been labouring under some strange excitement. However that may be, I may ask you to withdraw these slanders alleged to have been made by you.

You are also reported as stating, at a later date, in referring to the pulpwood question, that special favours were obtained for Mr. Conmee and son-in-law's company. In this you are also in error. The gentleman referred to, Mr. Jas. Whalen, has no company. He has but a nominal interest in the North Shore Timber Company, in the same sense that you had in the St. Anthony Lumber Co., your explanation of which was that you were acting as solicitor, and held some shares in trust only as a mere matter of accommodation. He is acting local manager, he has no investment or monetary interest in the company, any more than you had in the company referred to. The privilege given to the North Shore Timber Company was given because of an existing permit held by them under which they were privileged to cut 60,000 cords at 25 cents per cord. They had built extensive river improvements and invested a large sum (in preparing to take off the timber,), both in buildings, improvements, roads, plants, etc. The sudden confiscation of such an investment would have been an act of the greatest injustice. This was recognized. Mr. G. H. Macdonald, ex-Conservative M. P., then Mayor of Port Arthur, with other prominent Conservatives, including Mr. Frank A. Keefer, J. J. O'Connor and many others, wrote, urging that a reasonable time should be given the company to operate, so that its investment might not be a total loss. Two years' extension only was granted, and the company was compelled to pay an additional 15 cents per cord, so that they now pay forty cents, instead of twenty-five cents as per their first arrangement.

All this was explained when the measure went through the House, and you assented to it. If you are correctly reported (and if not you should explain) your attempt at misrepresentation and suppression of the facts which were known to you, unless your mind has become deficient, will place you in the unenviable position of a man who, though making loud professions of superior qualities, does not hesitate to descend to misrepresentation and slander. Yours truly,

(Signed) JAMES CONMEE.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most truly remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure thorough and permanent.

For twenty-four years Vapo-Cresolene has been extensively used for all forms of throat and bronchial troubles. All Druggists.

SECRETARY GLEASON

Of The Woman's Catholic Order of Forresters, Chicago,

St. Francis Xavier Court No. 174, Endorses Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Some women are tireless in their home work, others in their work in the church or their favorite society or club; they laugh and sing and are happy.

But think of the poor one who is left at home, utterly unable to make any effort whatever, broken hearted and despondent.

The horror of female complaints is upon her; she is oppressed by that distressing bearing-down feeling, backache, her nerves are all gone, don't care to move and wants only to be left alone.

O, dear sister, don't you know by this time that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will surely reach the cause of all this trouble and make you well and strong! It certainly will cure you as certainly as the sun shines. Read what Mrs. Gleason says:

MRS. M. GLEASON, Chicago, Ill.

"I want every woman to know that Lydia E. Pinkam's Vegetable Compound has been of untold value to a large number of women of our order. I know positively that it has cured many of the most distressing diseases of the pelvic organs, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles, and painful menstruation. There is no question in the world but that it is superior to any medicine for women. I have used it myself and know whereof I speak. — Yours truly, MRS. M. GLEASON, 554 West Taylor St., Chicago."

Two More Sufferers Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I was sick with female weakness. I took all kinds of medicines, you might say, and was operated on by doctors, but they did me no good. After taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I found relief and am now enjoying good health. Since taking your medicine I have become the mother of a little boy. I will praise your medicine as long as I live."—MRS. SARAH E. REEDER, Amsden, Ohio. (Dec. 27, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I suffered daily from backache and stomach ache. Menstruation was suppressed for six months, and then appeared again, but very painful and irregular. Instead of consulting a doctor I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I now feel as well and strong as ever I did, and since taking it I have given birth to a little boy, and we do bless your medicine. I will advise all sick women to use it." —MRS. IDA PETTERSON, Box 93, Amasa, Mich. (March 1, 1901.)

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony as we are constantly publishing; only the unquestionable merit of Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine can accomplish so much. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. if you are ill. The efficiency of her advice is proven by thousands of letters from women who have been cured of female troubles by her guidance and medicine.

$5000 REWARD. — We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

The public may not know how much the policy of the Government has made the wheels of progress go merrily around, and may not realize the activity that prevails in railway construction in the province, largely as a result of the policy of the Government in aiding and encouraging the opening up of the newer parts of the country in this way. The following table of lines recently completed, under construction, or projected, will be of interest in this connection;

We want railways to open up New Ontario, before we can hope for its fullest development — before it can reach anything like the position now occupied by Old Ontario. What position would Old Ontario be in to-day if it were not for her railways, gridironing the country from end to end. Take away our railways and the development due to them, and Ontario would be thrown back half a century. Cover New Ontario with the necessary railways, and we shall advance that region half a century. The new railways will furnish additional traffic to the railways in Old Ontario, and infuse new vigour into the commercial and industrial activities of the older parts of the province.

Since 1871, we have spent between nine and ten millions to help build railways in Old Ontario, and we should not begrudge liberal aid to open up the newer province, since fully half of the milenge of the railways mentioned above is to be constructed without calling upon the provincial treasury for one dollar of assistance in money — to be constructed by grants of the now wild worthless lands of the province, but to be raised to high value by the provision of railway facilities. Thus the Ross Government is energetically providing one of the most effective means to

A Superior Blood Remedy An Invaluable Tonic 50 Tablets 25c

A MODEL CABINET MINISTER.

(From the Register.)

The contest now in progress between the Ontario political parties is one in which men rather than issues are concerned. This is not only the case in point of fact, it is the definite and settled understanding of the situation by the electorate. It is the case not less emphatically, even though we see the Prohibitionists on one hand and the Licensed trade on the other, formulating pledges and importuning the candidates of both parties to swallow them.

That the popular valuation of the campaign has been complacently accepted by the leaders themselves is sufficiently evident from the Government battle-sign "Remember Ross," and the counter solicitation of the Opposition, "Don't forget Whitney."

When the appeals on the hustings are thus addressed to personal considerations, it is right that papers like The Register, having no leaning in party issues, should be heard. Already we have pinned our faith to the cause of younger men in the Legislative Assembly. They are the men of modern ideas. They are the advocates of development and the friends of progress. Anyone who has watched the Legislature closely during the past decade cannot fail to appreciate the reason why the electors are evincing a steadily diminishing interest in provincial issues, so-called, and centering their attention more earnestly upon the men who compose the Assembly. The reason simply is that the administration of provincial affairs demands men of business capacity, training and experience. The discussion of old, threadbare, partisan disputes is passing—if it has not already passed — beyond the limits of public patience.

Let us take for example the office of the Provincial Secretary and the personality of the man who fills it. Hon. Mr. Stratton has been especially prominent before the Legislature and the electors during the term of the late Parliament. The reason why is that he is an active business man whose energies have been so engrossed by the requirements of the public institutions of the province that the work of his department has been in evidence from one end of Ontario to the other. New buildings have been undertaken and completed; old buildings have been enlarged and modernized by him; he has given his personal attention to the many staffs coming under his department, and his new appointments have been made with a single eye to securing efficient service. We do not believe it will be disputed either by his colleagues or his opponents that he is the ablest secretary who has served Ontario during its history as a province. But he has made his record wholly by the application of business principles to the affairs of the public and by his practical convincing speeches in the House and on the platform. He works harder than the manager of a bank or the general manager of a railroad. He is liberal-minded in the best sense of the word, because no one has ever heard a complaint on the score of narrowness or prejudice against him. Even the extreme partizans, who are seldom without a grievance, seem to be satisfied with him. There is no doubt that the department which he presides over has required, and will require, just such an energetic administrator. The very instinct of the Ontario Legislature is against even the necessary expenditure of money. It is a significant fact that Mr. Stratton was able to increase the accommodation for lunatics and idiots only by dividing the House upon the necessary money vote, and more significant still that the division was on party lines. But we have no intention of touching here upon party issues.

The Register believes that if there is one member of the Government more than another who deserves the approval of an increased majority at the hands of his constituents, that Minister is Hon. J. R. Stratton. Such a verdict by his constituents would in turn have the approval of the entire public. Nor have we the slightest hesitation in placing our views before our readers in West Peterborough, who we are confident will not fail to give him their votes and influence.

AN UNFOUNDED CLAIM.

Mr. Whitney claims to be the father of the Liberal Government policy of compelling the manufacture of saw logs in Ontario, a condition that has given new life to the saw-milling industry, causing an expenditure of over a million in new and revived saw mills, and a corresponding increase of labour.

Previous to 1890, the Dominion Government by its power to impose an export duty on saw logs, controlled the export. In 1890, the Ontario Government, in the timber sale of that year imposed the home manufacturing condition, but the adoption of the Dingley Bill made necessary action that had not been called for before.

After the Dingley Bill, adopted at Washington, made restrictions on the export of saw logs necessary, the matter was widely discussed throughout the province.

Mr. Whitney held a series of 36 meetings from June 7th to October 11th, 1897, and never once alluded to a sawlog policy.

While he was silent on the subject a sale of timber was advertised, and the terms stipulated manufacture in the province.

It was not till after the late Premier Hardy had promised a deputation of lumbermen that the House would be called to deal with the export of logs that Mr. Whitney found courage to speak on the subject.

When the Government's policy was unfolded in the debate on the address, Mr. Miscampbell moved to extend it to timber being cut under then existing contracts.

Such a violation of agreements would have involved the Government in disastrous litigation, and the proposal was therefore very properly rejected.

Now Mr. Whitney claims that he is the father of the Liberal policy prohibiting export of logs, which has proved of great advantage to Northern Ontario.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Whitney has no more claim to pose as the father of the Ontario sawlog policy than he has to claim the fatherhood of Adam.

HON. FRANK R. LATCHFORD.

(Canadian Freeman, Kingston.)

Among the many prominent public men in public life, belonging to our race and creed in the Province of Ontario and one of the leading spirits in the present campaign, we find in the person of Hon. Frank R. Latchford, Minister of Public Works, an able and progressive statesman, and a man to whom the Irish Catholics of Ontario look up to with pride and gratitude. He has indeed proved a worthy successor to the late lamented Hon. C. F. Fraser, and our own fellow-citizen, Hon. Wm. Harty, M. P., in the Legislative Halls of Ontario. It rarely happens that a comparatively young man like Mr. Latchford, begins public life at the top of the ladder. When he was asked to enter the Ross Government, less than three years ago, he was known as a clever lawyer and a popular and representative Irish Canadian. Hon. G. W. Ross, shrewd man, as he is, and who at all times, is a good judge of men, made no error in this case. Mr. Latchford showed from the first an aptitude for public affairs. He rapidly familiarized himself with the work of his department, so that when the Legislature met, a few months after his appointment, he was able to pilot his estimates through the shoals of Opposition criticism, with the skill of an old perliamentary hand. Two of his chief qualities are an unremitting industry, and a conscientious attention to all details. He is progressive in his ideas, and has interested himself in industrial questions, being the responsible head of the Provincial Bureau of Labour, which he himself organized for the benefit of the working classes. The duties which come under his departare the construction of new buildings for public service; repairs and alterations to buildings already erected; buildings and repairs of all locks, dams, bridges, slides, glance piers, etc., in connection with inland waters; railway inspection, drainage works, etc., construction of colonization and mining roads, highways, etc., and the inspection and management of fisheries. Since Confederation his department has expended $24,925,697.16. Surely with all this useful work to do, Mr. Latchford's position as the representative of our people in the Ontario Cabinet, is a very important one. His last great achievement, the building of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, the first sod of which was turned on Saturday, a full report of which will appear in our next issue, is indeed another evidence of the usefulness of having such a capable statesman as Hon. Mr. Latchford in the Cabinet Councils of our Province. The electors of South Renfrew know well his worth and will return him on May 29th by one of the largest majorities ever recorded for any public man in that riding since the days of our late and ever to be lamented friend —James O'Reilly, Q.C., whose name and good deeds as an Irishman still keep green in the minds of those whom he had the honour to represent while he sat in Parliament. Just watch South Renfrew on the evening of the 29th and see if our prophecy is not correct to the very letter.

ONTARIO'S DREAM DEBT.

According to the Opposition organs and orators, Ontario is in a desperate financial condition. The fact is we don't know exactly in how bad a hole we are financially. Figures won't lie, but Opposition orators will—persist in adapting figures to their needs for campaign purposes. They tell us that this Province is not only staggering and reeling, but lying prostrate under a tremendous burden of debt. They put the figures of this debt all the way from 5 millions to 10 millions—according to the length of time the speaker has been a reader of the Mail and Empire newspaper.

Isn't it positively funny? Ontario has this huge debt and doesn't know anything about it. Most persons and Governments who are in debt are reminded of the fact once or twice a year by some inconsiderate person suggesting a slight payment in the form of something called interest. But Ontario's creditors, the people to whom we owe 5—7—or 10 millions are so considerate that they let us have the use of this immense sum without charging interest. The idea of such unbusinesslike goings-on should make Shylock turn in his grave.

As a matter of fact there being no no debt there can be no interest to be paid. Mr. George Johnson, who by the way is a good Conservative, retained in office by the Liberal Government at Ottawa, in his Statistical Year Book gives the debts of all the other Provinces, but Ontario having no debt, he puts debt opposite our name.

Take up the Provincial Treasurer's annual statement for, say 1902 and in the items of expenditure you can't find the word interest associated with any payment, for the very good reason we have no debt and therefore no interest is paid.

Then turn to the table of receipts and you will find "interest received on investments, etc.," by the Province in 1901, to the amount of $285,000, an amount which at 4 per cent. represents a capital of seven millions, and our railway obligations spread over 40 years and payable out of current revenue, represent three millions odd; let us deduct these from our assets and we have a surplus of about 2 1-2 millions.

The only debt Ontario has exists in the minds of these political stumpers, and the only "interest" involved is their "interest" to make the people believe their cock-and-bull stories, in order to wheedle the people into giving them a chance at the Provincial money bags. The Provincial "debt" of these men is "such stuff as dreams are made of."

No Money is Wanted.

I Ask Only the Name of Some Sick One; Let Me Send My Books.

I ask from you this, as an act of humanity:
Simply write me a postal. Give me the name of a sick one. Tell me which book he needs.
I will do this in return:
I will furnish that sick one a treatment which I spent a lifetime in learning. I will give all the advice he needs. And I promise that if my method fails, he shall not have a penny to pay.

I will even do this:
With the book I will send an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I will authorize him to let you take it for a month. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself. I will leave the decision with you.

That seems an impossible offer, and with any other treatment it would be. It would bankrupt the physician who made it. But I have made a prescription that strengthens the inside nerves. I have learned how to bring back the nerve power which alone operates the vital organs. When an organ is weak, I give it the power to act.
Usually that is all that is needed. And in most chronic diseases there is no other way to get well.
My book will prove that I am right.

Sometimes even the method fails, but not often. There are cases like cancer, which no man can cure; but those conditions are rare.
My success is so general that in every case, no matter how difficult, I take the entire risk.
In five years I have done this in over half a million cases; and my records show that 39 in each 40 paid for the medicine taken. That means that only one in each 40 has been disappointed.
It means that there are 39 chances in each 40 that I can cure you.
No sick person can afford to neglect an offer like this.
If the treatment succeeds, you are well. If it fails, it is free.
You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by it.
Won't you write a postal to learn about a remedy like that?

Simply state which book you want, and address to Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

THE QUEBEC ARRESTS.

If Writ of Habeas Corpus Has Precedence Over Extradition Warrant, That Will Be Returned to Ancient Capital

Montreal, Que., May 17.— There was great excitement here yesterday morning when it was learned that the Attorney-General's Department had sent a tug to Sorel to await Detective Carpenter and his prisoners and a good deal of quiet satisfaction was expressed when it was known that Montreal had triumphed over Quebec.

Col. John F. Gaynor and Capt. E D. Green are New York men who had a contract to execute certain work at Savannah, Ga., and the United States Government allege that they obtained a large sum of money over and above what was their legitimate right The two prisoners say they are willing to stand their trial in New York State, where they are known; but that it would be impossible to obtain fair play in the south.

"I was greatly surprised when I arrived here this morning to find that there was such a commotion about the arrest of Messrs. Gaynor and Green at Quebec," said Chief Carpenter yesterday. The case is a very ordinary one, and the arrests were made in the regular way, and we believe legitimately. The warrants were issued by Mr. Lafontaine, extradition commissioner, and placed in my hands for execution. I went to Quebec on Wednesday with three men. We found the accused, showed them our authority, placed them under arrest and brought them to Montreal as required. This morning they appeared before Mr. Lafontaine and were remanded to next Monday for a hearing.

"A writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Rews of Quebec Thursday was served on me this morning at about 9.30 a.m. and I am now awaiting the decision of legal authorities as to which document I am to act upon. If the commissioner's warrant has preference the accused will remain here till Monday, but if the writ of habeas corpus is regular and valid they will have to be returned to Quebec."

The race up the river between the two tugs, the one bringing the prisoners to Montreal and the other with Quebec officials trying to catch them is said to have been a very interesting one.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

$25,000 Fire in Hamilton.

Hamilton, May 17.—There was a big fire at Webber Bros.' hardware store, 59 West King street, late yesterday afternoon. About $25,000 damage was done. The fire started, it is thought, by the explosion of a barrel of gasoline. While the fire was in progress Thomas Broadbent, foreman of the Victoria avenue hose company, was seriously hurt. He put his arm through a window and the glass cut a main artery and the cords. He bled profusely. Herbert Simpson, a clerk, was overcome with smoke, and was removed from the building in an unconscious state.

No one has won the Money.

The $1,000 reward offered by Merrill, the Brantford Druggist, for a better cure for Habitual Constipation than Merrill's System Tonic has not yet been won. Besides its wonderful tonic action on the liver and intestines it is a pleasant and powerful blood purifier, thus curing all nervous affections such as sleeplessness, loss of vigor and twitching of the nerves. 50 pleasant-to-take doses for 50c. Sold by Ormond & Welsh.

A TOBACCO COMBINE.

Judge MacTavish Appointed to Enquire Into It.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Government has appointed his Honor Duncan Byron MacTavish, Judge of the County Court of Carleton, to inquire into the existence of the alleged tobacco combine. A couple of months ago complaint was made to the Government that the United States Tobacco Trust had secured a footing in Canada by the purchase of the Empire factory, and was operating against domestic manufacturers by unfair methods. The allegation was that the trust had served notice on the Canadian retailers that they must purchase all their native tobaccoes from the Tobacco Trust's Canadian factory, otherwise they would be refused certain American brands which are very popular in Canada. This high-handed proceeding brought about united action on the part of the Canadian manufacturers, who sent down an influential deputation to appeal to the Government for redress.

THE KIND OF WORK DONE BY PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Mrs. S. W. Sullivan, of Orillia, Ont., had Rheumatism so bad She Could not Raise her Hands to her Head, and Could not Walk Owing to Pains and Stiffness of Joints.

After the use of Two Bottles of Paine's Celery Compound Her Agonies and Pains are Banished, and she Finds Herself as Strong as Ever Before.

True merit, prompt and effective results and astonishing cures, have given Paine's Celery Compound a position on the highest round of the ladder of fame.

Paine's Celery Compound is today the only spring medicine asked for and bought by thoughtful and discerning people. For the treatment of serious diseases such as rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous disorders and blood troubles, Paine's Celery Compound has no equal.

The credit of Paine's Celery Compound has advanced to such a high eminence amongst the millions who use it, we find the names of millionaires, bankers, professional men, wealthy merchants and women of note. All who have made it their chosen remedy for the cure of chronic diseases and for the banishment of the little ailments that often make life miserable.

Paine's Celery Compound, in the opinion of the leading druggists and physicians, has displaced nearly all the common advertised medicines of the day. This great work has been accomplished only by merit and genuine cures. Rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous disorders take flight in springtime, when Paine's Celery Compound is used for a time. Why delay the work of health building when such a life giver is within your reach? Test its efficacy this very day. Mrs. Sullivan writes as follows;

"I was so badly afflicted with rheumatism that I could not raise my hands to my head, and often could not walk, owing to pains and stiffness of joints. At night I rarely slept, owing to nervousness and feelings of exhaustion. I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and soon found myself greatly relieved, and after use of the first bottle, my pains and nervous feelings were banished. In order to make the cure complete I used the second bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as strong as ever before. I sleep well, appetite is always good, and my digestive vigour all that I could wish for."

THE PEACE QUESTION

Mr. Chamberlain Hopeful but Not Sanguine of Result.

DAILY MAIL IS MORE POSITIVE

The London Paper Says Public Is Assured From the Vereeniging Boer Conference, Though Details Are Not Yet to Hand—Col. Evans' Account of the Hart's River Engagement.

London, May 17.—Mr. Chamberlain met with a great reception on rising to address the annual meeting of the Liberal-Unionist Association at Birmingham last night. His speech had been anticipated with the liveliest interest in political circles, as it was hoped that he would make some statement with regard to the conference of the Boer leaders at Vereeniging. The Colonial Secretary did not disappoint this expectation. He said he was hopeful of the result, but not sanguine, thus officially confirming the statement made in this column yesterday that the Government had never insisted on unconditional surrender, perhaps forgetting for the moment that when Lord Roberts was in command in South Africa that was the only basis on which he said he was prepared to discuss peace.

Peace Absolutely Assured.

New York, May 17.—The Herald's London correspondent says: No details are yet to hand regarding the Boer deliberations at Vereeniging, but The Daily Mail understands that sufficient indications transpired to justify the assertion that peace is absolutely assured.

The source from which The Daily Mail obtains this information is the same as that which enabled the paper to announce on April 18, that peace was assured. That was before anything had been said about meetings between Lord Kitchener and the Boer leaders.

The London Daily Mail, on April 18, announced that the bases of peace had been practically agreed upon at Pretoria, and gave details of the negotiations and their result. The Mail's news was subsequently verified. While the British were inflexible as to the surrender of the independence of the Transvaal, it is understood that substantial concessions were made as to the Cape Colony rebels and the proposed banishment of Boer leaders, and that liberal grants to restore Boer farms have been promised.

BATTLE OF HART'S RIVER.

Col. Evans Tells of Invincible Courage and Devotion to Duty.

Ottawa, May 17.—The following extract from the staff diary of Lieut.-Col. T. D. B. Evans, C.B., commanding the 2nd Regiment C.M.R., and referring to the part taken by his command in the action at Kleinhardt River, was published yesterday in the General Militia Orders:

"The 1st and 2nd columns marched at 3 a.m., carrying two days' rations and one blanket for the men. The right wing marched with the main body, and the left, under Major Cameron, acted as escort to the baggage convoy. The object of the march was a reconnaissance in force to the junction of Brakspruit and Hart's River. The remainder of the division was to follow a few hours later, and to go into camp within reasonable distance of the above point.

Outnumbered by 500.

"On arrival at Boschbult Farm, our force went into camp, had the wagons laagered and wired together and we commenced entrenching. The enemy outnumbered us by at least 500. A post of mounted infantry, about 200, with a Colt gun, Maxim and pom-pom, were left at the farm, about 600 yards in the rear. Lieut. Carruthers, with the 3rd and 4th troops "C" squadron, who formed the rearguard of the convoy, instead of following the convoy into camp, remained near the post referred to as an observation post, and sent into camp for orders. The enemy, now realizing our inferior strength, prepared to attack, and their two guns and pom-poms opened on the camp. From 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. the camp was subjected to a tremendous rifle and shell fire, concentrated from three sides, but every attempt to approach was driven back by the steady and well-directed fire of our rifles and guns. At about 5 p.m. the enemy withdrew. Their artillery, though well-directed, inflicted comparatively slight damage, as few of their shells exploded. Their guns were those taken from Methuen's column. The concentration of the rifle fire was very severe, and to this the casualties were chiefly due.

Where Carruthers Was.

"While the camp was being attacked, Lieut. Carruthers' party (about 21 men of the 3rd and 4th troops "E" squadron) had moved off to the right of the farm. Sergt. Hodgins, with another part of the 3rd and 4th troops, "E" squadron, was to the right of Lieut. Carruthers. Still further to the right was a detached post of about 75 mounted infantry. Several hundred Boers swept down on this post on the right, stampeding the mounted infantry, who galloped through the line occupied by our men. Lieut. Carruthers, assisted by Sergt. Perry, Corporal Wilkinson, Lance-Corporal Bond and Private McCall, kept his men in hand, dismounted them, and formed in a half-moon shape to face the Boers. Sergt. Hodgins, whose men were being swept off in the stampede, rallied about 10 of them, and dismounted to meet the attack. The splendid stand made by Lieut. Carruthers' party, without cover of any kind and against overwhelming odds, was well worthy of the best traditions of Canada and the whole Empire. Before their ammunition was exhausted, 17 out of the 21 were either killed or wounded. Sergt. Perry, although badly wounded, fought until he was killed. Corporal Wilkinson, shot twice through the arm and body, continued fighting until he was shot through the eye. He then threw the bolt of his rifle into the long grass to render it useless to the enemy. Private Evans, although mortally wounded through the bowels, exhausted his own ammunition, secured another bandolier, used it up, and as the Boers were making their final rush he broke his rifle, rendering it useless. Private Evans died shortly after being brought into camp. Private Minchin, although wounded in six places, fired his last shot when the Boers were only 25 yards off, and threw his rifle bolt into the grass.

"I have mentioned a few individual incidents, showing the spirit displayed by this party, but an equally invincible courage and devotion to duty was displayed by Lieut. Carruthers and every man of the party with him.

Nine Per Cent. Casualties.

"The coolness and steadiness of the whole regiment in its first action was very remarkable, and the effect of the leavening of tried men—about 25 per cent.—was plainly visible. Our total casualties were about 9 per cent. of our strength.

"The total number of losses in the regiment for the day during the engagement were:

"Killed—8 N.C.O. and men.
"Wounded—3 officers, 39 N. C. O. and men
"Missing—7 N.C.O. and men.
"Horses killed, destroyed and lost—121.
"Mules killed or destroyed—22.

More Canadians Ill.

Ottawa, May 17.—The following list of casualties was received yesterday by Lord Minto from the Casualty Department: Dangerously ill, enteric fever, May 14, Vryburg, 2nd C.M.R., Emerson Tiffin; Farrier-Surgeon J. P. Margeson. Tiffin enlisted at Kingston and Margeson at Halifax, N.S. Another cable to the Governor-General states that Edwin Samuel Woods, S.A.C., was dangerously ill of enteric fever May 14, at Potchefstroom. His father, Samuel Woods, lives at New Westminster, B. C.

Causing a Stir.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Evans-Merritt episode has occasioned no end of comment in military circles, but it is not a question on which the Militia Department at Ottawa can take any action. Both are Imperial officers, and it is the commander-in-chief who will have to deal with the case.

REWARD OF A BRAVE MAN.

Distinguished Service Order Medal Presented to Major Mason by Major-General O'Grady Haly at Toronto.

Toronto, May 17.—In the presence of the assembled garrison of the city and hundreds of spectators, at the Armouries last night, Major James Mason of the Royal Grenadiers had conferred upon him, with full martial honors, the decoration of the Distinguished Service Order, an honor which comes only to those who have done extraordinary service on the field of battle.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Major-General O'Grady-Haly, C.B., D.S.O., arrived, and a royal salute was given, after which the general and his staff, including Col. Otter, Col. Lessard, Major Heward, Col. Buchan, Lieut.-Col. Mason and Capt. Lang, inspected the brigade.

Without more ado, Major Mason was called to the front, and Gen. O'Grady-Haly, addressing him, said: "Captain and Brevet-Major Mason, 10th Royal Grenadiers,—I feel it a great honor on this occasion to confer in the name of His Majesty the King the insignia of a companion in the Distinguished Service Order, than which there is no more valued decoration in the British army. I wish you, on the part of myself and your comrades, a long life and a happy, prosperous career as a Canadian soldier."

The coveted distinction was then pinned to his breast, and the warrant for its presentation, which has the King's signature attached thereto, handed to him amid loud applause.

Dr. Pitcher Permanently Cures a C. P. R. Brakesman.

Two Years Ago Mr. Wm. Reynolds, Havelock, Ont., a Well-known C. P. R. Brakesman, Suffered so From Lumbago That he Could Hardly Move.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Made Such a Complete and Permanent Cure That he hasn't had a Twinge of Pain Since.

Mr. A. C. Denike, the Havelock Druggist, Vouches for the Accuracy of the Statements Made.

MR. WM. REYNOLDS.

There are very few people in Havelock or vicinity who do not know Mr. Wm. Reynolds, the popular C. P. R. brakesman, whose picture appears here.

About two years ago he was laid up with a severe attack of lumbago, which caused him excruciating pain, so that to stoop over or turn in bed was agony.

He heard of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets being a splendid remedy for such complaints as his. He took the Tablets and they cured him. Since then Mr. Reynold's has had no return of his old trouble, and has recommended Dr. Pitcher's Tablets to many men on the road, such as firemen, engineers, conductors and fellow-brakesmen, all of whom from the nature of their occupation are liable to bad backs and kidney trouble, and in every instance the Tablets have done good.

Mr. Reynold's Statement May 31st, 1900.

This is what Mr. Wm. Reynolds had to say about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets on May 31st, 1900, just after he was cured:

"I had lumbago so bad when I got Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from A. C. Denike, the druggist, that I could hardly move. It was most painful to turn in bed. There was a dull, nagging pain in the small of my back continually, and to stoop or assume an upright position after sitting was extremely painful. This was not the only time that I suffered that way; my case was becoming chronic, and the remedies that formerly gave me relief did not help me now in the least. I found, though, that as soon as I started taking Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, they helped me at once. They have removed the whole trouble. I have neither pain nor lameness now. I cannot say too much for them, and I heartily recommend them.

(Signed,) "WM. REYNOLDS."

Mr. Reynolds' Statement March 29th, 1902.

When our representative called on Mr. Reynolds recently he did not hesitate to speak in the highest terms of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and the permanent cure they had made in his case. Said he, "I have never had any return of that lumbago and kidney trouble which attacked me so severely in the spring of 1900. Dr. Pitcher's Kidney Tablets made a complete and thorough cure then, and I have never been bothered since."

Endorsation of A. C. Denike, Druggist.

Although anyone who knows Mr. Reynolds, would not doubt his statements for a moment, still for the benefit of outsiders and strangers we give the confirmatory statement of Mr. A. C. Denike, Phm. B., the well-known druggist and optician of Havelock, who sold Mr. Reynolds, the Tablets.

"I am acquainted with Mr. Wm. Reynolds, brakesman on the C.P.R., and know that about two years ago he suffered greatly from lumbago and kidney trouble. He purchased Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from me, and claims that they were the means of curing him, and I believe this to be the case. I understand from him that since Dr. Pitcher's Tablets cured him, he has had no return of the trouble.

(Signed) "A. C. DENIKE."

We would ask you to bear in mind that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are not a patent medicine or "quack" remedy, but the formula of the eminent Kidney Specialist, Dr Zina Pitcher, who for years occupied the position of Materia Medica and Geito Urinary Diseases in Michigan College of Medicine, Detroit, Mich.

They give prompt relief and permanently cure backache, lame or weak back, bloating, swelling of the feet and legs, Bright's Disease and Diabetes, (except in the last stages) gravel, brick dust deposits in the urine, scalding or irritation, frequent calls during the day or night, catarrh of the bladder, high coloured and foul smelling urine, dribbling, cloudy urine, rheumatism, heavy feeling or pain in the head, mist or specks before the eyes, unnatural drowsiness, sense of weight or pressure in the region of the bladder, kidney weakness of old people and children, kidney troubles of women, and all forms of kidney disease or derangement.

The Tablets are small, sugar-coated and easy to take. One Tablet a dose. Fifty Tablets in a bottle. Price 50c., or three bottles for $1.25, at all druggists, or sent by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

LIEUT. PERCY PRICE WRITES

And Tells of the Engagement at Hart's River.

A Very Interesting Epistle From Peterborough's Young Soldier at the Front—Were in Close Quarters.

Perhaps Peterborough sent no more popular young soldier to South Africa than Lieut. Percy Roberts Price. Lieut. Price would sooner soldier than eat, and, as is well known, he is serving in South Africa now for the second time, having resigned his commission to serve in the ranks of the second Canadian Mounted Rifles. Soon after his enlistment he became a coporal and was in the Hart's River engagement, in which Capt. Milligan was killed. Lieut. Price is not a soldier who is any too anxious for the publication of his letters, so that the following epistle from him describing the Hart's River engagement will be read with more than ordinary interest. It is to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Price, Otonabee, and is as appended;—

April 3rd, 1902.

I suppose by this time you have heard all about the big fight on the 31st of March. It was the hottest fight I ever saw, and our regiment certainly did themselves credit. We left camp at 3 a.m. on Easter Monday morning, and marched straight through till about 12, when we ran into the enemy. They put up a small fight, but soon retired. We followed them up about three miles, and then went into camp in a hollow, close to a creek, with a gradual slope of a mile on every side, and were just tying our horses when a shell came whizzing over us. I knew what was up, and was, I admit, pretty well scared when the shells came fast, as they had two pom-poms and two fifteen pounders. Soon the bullets began to come, and we all started to get into the best position of defence possible, digging trenches and piling up oat sacks and everything that would make a barricade. By this time we were completely surrounded, and the men and horses were falling fast. The poor horses did get it. We lost 230, and our casualties were 63. We buried eight Canadians in one grave, and I believe two more have died since coming into camp. There are thirteen wounded and seven missing. Five of the dead are out of our squadron, and it got the worst of any, as two troops that were acting rear guard were completely cut off and very much cut up. We only lost one out of our troop. Captain Milligan. He was a particularly fine man. Knisely is among the missing, and I hope he is with some other column, but I feel very anxious about him. Sergt. Murphy was hit on the head, and it was a very close shave. The Boer force was about 3,500, and ours 2,500, and as we were completely surrounded, you can imagine how we had to fight. The closest they got to our lines was 400 yards. We killed and wounded 250 of them. We are under General Kitchener, and he was very much pleased with the way we conducted ourselves. It was a pretty hot baptism of fire for our men, as it was the first time we have been under fire. It was the most terrible sight I ever saw. About our camp hospital all the wounded and dead were carried as soon as possible after they were hit; some with their limbs off; some dead and some dying. One man was hit in the right eye and had his arm off above the elbow, had three bullets in his body and is alive and doing well. We are having a great deal harder time now than we had before, as nearly all our marches are made during the night, and we go so fast that it is impossible for our transports to keep up with us so very often we do not have our blankets. After the fight nearly all our blankets were taken for the dead and wounded, and we have not got others yet. The night after the fight everyone expected a night attack, and all hands were in the trenches and keenly alert, when about twelve o'clock some one thought they saw the enemy and fired, and then everyone fired. The Colonel came out of his tent, and you could hear his voice above everything, "Steady boys, steady." This thing occurred on and off all night, so you may be sure we were glad when morning came.

BABY'S BIRTHRIGHT

Is Health and Happiness. How Mothers can Keep Their Little Ones Well.

Health is the birthright of all little ones. It is a mother's duty to see that her baby enjoys it. Mother's greatest aid in guarding children's health is Baby's Own Tablets—a medicine which can be given with perfect safety to the youngest baby. Among the many mothers who have proved the value of this medicine is Mrs. J. W. Booth, Bar River, Ont. She says, "My baby suffered greatly from sore mouth and bad stomach. Several doctors prescribed for her, but nothing seemed to benefit her in the least till I began giving her Baby's Own Tablets, and then in a short time my little one was restored to health. I would not be without the Tablets in the House and would advise all mothers to use them when their children are ailing."

Baby's Own Tablets are used in thousands of homes in Canada and always with beneficial results. They contain absolutely no opiate or other harmful drug, are mild, but sure in their action and pleasant to take. The very best medicine for all troubles of the stomach and bowels, curing colic, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea and simple fevers. They give relief in teething troubles, expel worms, promote healthful sleep and cure all the minor ailments of children. Price 25c a box at all druggists, or sent by mail post paid by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

For whooping cough and croup, Vapo-Cresoline is a simple and perfect remedy.

CAMPAIGN COMMENTS.

Stratton, Anderson, Ross — a good trio for Peterborough and the Provinces.

The "pulp-tower plot," with the object of Yankeeising Ontario's timber policy, is the pulp wood policy that found favour with Mr. Whitney and his party.

The $1,000-bill, so prominent a feature in that little game, was as popular in its day as the $1,200-Bill-y Smith is to-day.

Important dates — Anderson's election, May 29th; Stratton's election, May 29th; return of the Ross Government to power, May 29th; Whitney roused from his dreams, May 29th.

Ross — "Roll the Ontario chariot along."

Whitney — "And we'll all hang on behind."

Mr. Whitney said at Port Hope that he had "nothing to offer the people but good intentions."

When the people consider the temperature usually associated with "good intentions," they will be merciful, and leave Mr. Whitney, politically, of course, in a cool place — the "cold shades of opposition."

The Ross Government's motto — "Build up Ontario."

The Review complains about the fight put up against Mr. Foy in South Toronto, and wants to know the reason.

Chiefly because he is a supporter of Mr. Whitney.

Mr. Foy is the best man behind Mr. Whitney and, at the same time, in front of him in many respects.

He is Mr. Whitney's right bower, and if the South Toronto Liberals can down the right bower, Mr. Whitney, the left bower, will be left.

They say that Mr. Whitney's voice is giving out. If his voice goes, Whitney goes, for he is chiefly voice—vox et preterea nihil.

That's Latin, but Mr. Whitney's misty and vague political language is Greek to the progressive Ontario elector.

A Conservative said to the Examiner a few months ago, what he wished to be true, that there was "practically no difference in the matter of policy between the two parties now before the country."

Hardly any at all—only this slight difference: The Ross Government proposes to go ahead, the Whitney party to stand still—stay where they are.

And the electors believe in the Whitney party policy and will vote to [illegible] stay where they are.

Awfully hard that, on the poor man. No wonder the working man who has big investments in gilt-edge stocks is down on the corporation tax which reduces his rate of interest from 12 to 11 per cent.

Vote for Ross and railways; vote for Whitney and walk.

Build up Ontario.

A FEW FINANCIAL FACTS.

Out of a total appropriation proposed in the Ontario Legislature in eighteen years of $61,631,333, the Opposition objected to only $488,996.50—or only three-quarters of a cent on the dollar.

Ontario is without a dollar of debt presently payable.

Ontario had $1,970.05 of cash in the banks on March 15th, 1902.

Ontario's annual receipts in interest would retire its total liabilities.

Ontario, for twenty years past, has shown a surplus of assets, after deducting liabilities presently payable.

Ontario's surplus of assets (based on Finance Commission,) end of 1901, was $2,571,292.

The interest paid annually on the Provincial Trust Funds (which are valued at $6,212,497,) amounts to more than sufficient to meet the entire annual payments of the province on account of its liabilities for railway certificates and annuities.

The Supplementary Revenue Act, providing for the taxation of certain classes of corporations and brewers and distillers, has produced $871,576 in three years.

Ontario's position is a proud one. That its affairs have been so managed as not only to create no debt, but to leave a surplus of interest-bearing assets that yield an annual income that could be capitalized at nine millions.

The Mail of February 13, 1900, said:—"The Ontario Government's management of the finances has been THRIFTY, JUDICIOUS AND CLEAN." Montreal Witness:—"Ontario's splendid financial position has been preserved by careful, businesslike, honest administration since Confederation." Toronto Telegram:—"The financial and administrative record of the Liberal party is, on the whole, creditable. The resources of the province have been wisely handled."

POLICE COURT.

Charge not Proven Against Mr. James Bogue—A Tramp's Sentence.

At the Police Court this morning judgement in the case of Foster vs. Bogue was given. The informant was W. H. Foster, and the defendant was James Bogue, contractor, town. Magistrate Dumble gave out a written judgement as follows:

In this information the defendant is charged with using towards informant "grossly abusive and insulting language," contrary to By-law No. 295 of the Town of Peterborough.

It is not charged that the offence was committed in a publ'c street or place, nor does said By-law specify that the offence must be committed in a public place. In this I think the By-law is deficient. The Toronto By-law found on the same section of the municipal does so provide.

The offence in this case is admitted, but it took place on the private grounds of the Cereal Company, and in my opinion the offence is not one that comes within the meaning of the law.

The law does enable municipalities to pass by-laws for preventing "drunkenness, profane swearing, obscene, blasphemous or grossly insulting language and other immorality and indecency." This provision is under the head of public morals, and the intention is not to regulate people's habits, save insofar as they may become an offence to the public.

M. Regina vs. Bell, 26 Ont. Rep. p. 273, the defendant was charged with using grossly insulting language towards the informant in a public place to wit, the Toronto Custom house. The language was used in a private office of the Custom House, if there could be such a thing. In that case Mr. Justice Rose says:

"The object of the By-law was to preserve public morals. To be within its provisions an offence must have been committed in a public place, such as a street, square, park or other open place or where the public may have the right to be, this, (the Custom House) was not such a place," and the conviction was quashed with costs.

I have always hitherto fore held that the offence must be committed in a public place, so that people in a public place were offended. However desirable it may be that people's conduct in all places should be inoffensive, the power to compel this has no doubt wisely never been given to Municipal councils. Only such power has been given as will regulate public, not private morals.

The charge is dismissed.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Police Magistrate.

May 17th, 1902.

Four residents of North Monaghan were up in the Police Court this morning for allowing their cows to run at large within the corporation limits of Peterborough. One of the accused pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty and fined $2.00 and costs, amounting to $3.60. The other three pleaded guilty and were fined $2.00 and costs, amounting to $3.85 in all.

Wm. Trullt was given six months in the Central Prison for vagrancy. He is a young, able bodied man, who has been begging on the streets.

LACROSSE.

A full practice of the Athletics is called for Monday night on the Nicholls oval.

Belleville is getting into line again after being out of lacrosse for a good many years. The old Okas, of Belleville had a great name once all through Ontario, and it is to be hoped that the new team will emulate the many successes of their illustrious predecessors. The team is very anxious for an out of town game on May 26th, and would like to come out to Peterborough, but as the holiday is to be celebrated here on the 24th it is hardly probable that arrangements to that end could be made. Mr. H. S. Burrell is the manager of the Bellevilles this year and any communications addressed to him in regard to dates will receive prompt attention.

STOCK MARKETS.

The Copper Situation.

New York, May 16th, 1902.—For some time past we have been calling your attention to the fact that some one is quietly absorbing the copper shares. It is far better to get in on a stock at the conception of a movement than to come in after it is well under way, hence we early call your attention to the shares. If you will remember when the dividend was first out, the stock declined to 60 1-2, while on each successive cut it failed in every instance to record so low a price. Bear in mind also that every one connected with the Copper Company has for the past six months talked in a discouraging way about the outlook. These same folks were most optimistic about the outlook when the stock was about par, and lost no opportunity to rush into print with their view. They were selling the stock then and probably are purchasing it now. Until the last dividend period the amalgamated preceded the anaconda in dividend. Announcements the last time the anaconda was declared first so everyone was given ample opportunity to get off of the anxious seat by disposing of their holdings. The public are quite well out of copper, so it is a fair conclusion to draw that the old insiders have taken their stock. Otherwise it would be quoted at much lower figures at present than it is. The fact that Heinz has capitalised his properties and commenced to give them a public market would lead to the belief that a settlement among the copper producers is very near. Once they come to an agreement a rapid and extended rise would be the inevitable result. We expect to see American copper sell above par again this year, and advise its purchase. The President of the Atchison Road said Wednesday that he expected the road would earn 10 per cent. upon its common stock this year. It is immensely cheap. U. P. looks as if it were preparing for a stiff summer rise. Its dividend period comes in August, and if the rate is raised 5 per cent. it would easily sell pretty close to 120. M. O. P. is another stock that will bear watching. It will sell much higher. The present present seesaw market will probably be with us a while longer. Buy when depressed, taking profits of from 1 1-2 to 3 points for the time being.—Haight & Freese Co.

SERIES OF TRIUMPHS

Premier Ross' Week's Meetings Culminated at Owen Sound.

A VERY STRIKING CONTRAST

Greatest Meeting Ever Held in Owen Sound Was the Premier's on Friday Night, Going Even the Big Conservative Demonstration a Good "One Better"—Conservative Weakness Indicated.

Toronto, May 17.—With but ten days before the final event on May 29th, the progress of the campaign during the present week may be taken to indicate the sentiment throughout the Province. The Premier's meetings, including his warm reception at home in Ailsa Craig, have been a series of triumphs, culminating in the enthusiastic meeting at Owen Sound last night. Following the Opposition leader's meeting on the previous night, the contrast is striking. Mr. Whitney concluded his tour of western Ontario with meetings in Liberal strongholds, at Tara and Walkerton. He goes directly to his own constituency, where he will remain until after nomination. This action, coupled with the abandonment by Mr. Foy of his plan to tour the west with his leader, indicate their lack of confidence in their own return, the excuse given for Mr. Foy's absence being that his presence is continually required in his own constituency. In addition to yesterday's speeches, an open letter from Mr. Jas. Conmee, ex-M.P.P., is published, addressed to the Opposition leader. The letter denies statements made by Mr. Whitney in new Ontario, calls an him for an explanation and repeats Mr. Davis' explanation of the North Shore Timber Company's agreement, into which prominent Conservatives urged the Government to enter, and which passed the House with Mr. Whitney's approval, although the Opposition leader attempted to make capital out of it during his tour in the north.

The Premier at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, May 17.—The many inspiring receptions tendered to Premier Ross in his present campaign tour were all surpassed when Owen Sound had had her turn yesterday. A people which could add 20 per cent. to its population in a little over a year, and which is daily capturing an increasing trade in new Ontario, knew how to honor the statesman who is committed to a definite and straightforward policy of development. These circumstances scarcely prepared the guest and speaker of the day for the demonstration which followed. Mr. Ross' arrival was greeted by thousands of people at the wharf, his progress through the streets was that of a conquering hero, though in the form of a peaceful nation-builder, and his speech last night, political though it was, was listened to by an audience of 5,000. More could not be desired by any public man, and there is every prospect of an agreeable sequel in the election of Mr. A. G. McKay, the popular and aggressive Liberal candidate in North Grey. The political currents are running high in Owen Sound just now. The riding is close, and both sides have settled to work with unusual determination. Mr. McKay is young, is an excellent speaker, and he has fired his followers with remarkable enthusiasm. Last night's meeting is voted on all hands to have been the greatest ever held in Owen Sound, and successful in point of numbers as was that of Mr. Whitney, even Conservatives will say that that of Mr. Ross "went it one better."

Visit at Penetanguishene.

Premier Ross left Midland at 9.30 yesterday morning, driving across the peninsula to Penetanguishene, where he met a large number of local Liberals. After a reception Mayor Beck took the chair, and informal speeches were delivered by Mr. Ross, Mr. Tudhope and Mr. Davidson. The latter is the Liberal candidate in Centre Simcoe, and from reports given at the meeting, strong hopes are entertained of redeeming this riding, as well as East Simcoe. The Premier then paid a visit to Mr. Beck's large lumber mill, after which he boarded the Traveler, Mr. James Playfair's splendid tug, which was kindly placed at his disposal for the trip of 70 miles across the Georgian Bay to Owen Sound.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Up to Friday night 9,789 names were registered under the manhood suffrage act in Toronto.

The pledges of N. Y. McLean, the Liberal candidate in South Huron, have satisfied the prohibitionists.

Both the North Grey candidates have refused to accept the pledge presented by prohibitionists, each referring the promoters of the pledge to the policy of his respective leader.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

The ratification of the Danish islands sale is put off till after the elections in September.

The three-year-old son of H. Pratt of Edmonton was burned to death while playing with matches Thursday afternoon.

Canada's aggregate trade for the ten months ending April 30, amounted to $333,522,149, an increase of $27,446,220 over the same period of last year.

AN INVESTIGATION.

The Globe Sends a Representative With a Wholesale Druggist and a Physician to Look Into the Published Statements of a Well-known Concern.

Some Remarkable Cases Visited.

(Toronto Globe, Friday, May 2, 1902.)

Years ago a far-seeing and advanced scientist stated that one of Nature's elements was the most powerful curative agency known. He prophesied that it would not be long before his contention would be fittingly recognized, and so it is. Schonbein is that scientist—Oxygen is that element of Nature. Ozone is oxygen in concentrated form.

For a long time after its great value was discovered, medical men need the oxygen or Ozone in gaseous form. To-day that system is in use with great success. It is considered the one thing that will sustain the vital spark when life's oil ebbs low and many distinguished personages have had its application. Her late Majesty, Queen Victoria, Cecil Rhodes and President McKinley were given its inhalations in vain. Alas! It will not produce life. When Rudyard Kipling lay dangerously ill in New York some three years ago, the oxygen gas administrations undoubtedly saved his life.

It is about the newer form in which science has produced this condensed oxygen—a form which possesses extraordinary power to build up life and make health, ie. e., the Liquified Ozone, that we have to do with.

So much has been talked about Liquified Ozone, so many cures have been given publicity, and investigation has been so frankly requested by its proprietors, that a committee of three, consisting of Dr. H. N. Austin, 72 Howard street, Toronto, a representative of the Globe, and the manager of a large wholesale drug establishment, resolved to make a tour of inspection and find out the exact truth of the published claims. A list of the names of those who bore witness to the power of Powley's Liquified Ozone to do good, was courteously given the committee by the manager of the Ozone Company, and every means placed at their disposal to make a most searching investigation.

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE.

A strange coincidence occurred at the outset. The vice-president of the Ozone Company was telling the party about a case of tropical dysentery, when one of the party interrupted him by saying that he knew the man, William Francis, of 20 Hamilton street, and also that he had given up all hope of recovery about three years ago. The particulars of this case were then given and they corresponded exactly with the party's knowledge of it, only that the party did not know that a cure had been effected by Ozone. All he knew was that Mr. Francis had been, in his opinion, about to die, and that he had been for some time unable to do any work, and finally obliged to stay in bed. The party had gone but a few blocks farther when one of the party saw a wagon bearing the name "W. Francis," standing at the curbstone. The carriage was stopped, and inquiry elicited the fact that the wagon belonged to the man under discussion, and in a few minutes he came out and verified all that had been said of him. He had suffered from tropical dysentery every summer for 18 consecutive years until at last he took to his bed, apparently for the last time. He had gone through several hospitals, and had consulted numerous physicians. The last one had actually asked him for his body as soon as death should render it otherwise useless. A number of students had actually called at his house to arrange to get the body, believing that he would be dead by that time. But Mr. Francis meantime had been taking Ozone, and when the students rapped upon the door he opened it himself. He continued taking the Ozone, and soon started to work again. That was two years ag , and Mr. Francis told the party that he had enjoyed excellent helath ever since, without finding it necessary to take any more medicine. He had recommended Ozone to a number of acquaintances, and had yet to hear of one failure.

GIVEN UP BY HER DOCTOR.

The next case was that of Mrs. Frederick Tutt, of 36 Amelia street. Mrs. Tutt had suffered for years with what her doctor had diagnosed as Bright's disease. He had said that she would have to go to a hospital and undergo h very dangerous and painful operation. She had refused to go, and the doctor had abandoned the case as incurable. Mrs. Tutt had suffered extreme pain, had been scarcely able to speak, and had been reduced almost to a skeleton. Her friends had expected her death every day. But she had begun taking Ozone on January 6th, and soon afterwards a number of large gallstones had been dissolved and removed. Mrs. Tutt was still very weak and emaciated, but had improved so remarkably under the Ozone Treatment that she had no doubt of her ultimate recovery. That she was alive at all she credited to Ozone.

The case of Miss Louise Dickson, of 926 Yonge street, had been diagnosed as consumption by different physicians. She had every symptom of it—night sweats, the hectic flush, bad cough and general debility. She had quit work last July, and had gone to Muskoka. Upon her return to Toronto she had become worse, and had been declared incurable. But she had begun taking Ozone last January, and improvement had taken place almost immediately. The night sweats had disappeared, the cough had almost gone, the general condition had greatly improved, and when the party called to see Miss Dickson she was out taking the air.

Mr. J. B. Banks, 787 Queen street west, had been for twenty years a sufferer from an extreme case of eczema contracted while serving in the late American Civil War. His wife had been cured of what had been diagnosed as consumption, so it had been decided to apply Ozone to the eczema. Benefit had followed immediately, and finally a complete and lasting cure. That was some years ago, and the disease had never returned. Mr. Banks had been troubled also with rheumatism in his left arm, and very sore eyes. Both of these ailments had disappeared while he was treating the eczema with Ozone. Mr. Banks believes that the remedy will cure almost every disease.

The result of the investigation was eminently satisfactory to everybody concerned. Dr. H. N. Austin informed The Globe representative that it was not his first experience with Ozone. He had treated himself most successfully for biliousness and malaria and had in addition conducted researches with Ozone in the treatment of malaria in Dumas, Arkansas. He believes that Powley's Liquified Ozone or Liquozone, as it is known in the United States, is the discovery of the age, and, like many other physicians, he was using it himself, and prescribing it extensively in his practice.

WORDS OF HOPE

To all who Suffer From a run Down System.

Mrs. Harriet A. Farr, Fenwick, Ont., Tells how she Obtained a Cure After Suffering for Two Years.

Thousands throughout this country suffer seriously from general debility—the result of improverished blood and shattered nerves. To all such the story of Mrs. Harriet Farr, widow of the late Rev. Richard Farr, Fenwick, Ont., a lady well known throughout the Niagara district, will point the means of renewed health. Mrs. Farr says: "For a couple of years prior to 1899 I was a great sufferer from a run down system. My digestion was bad; I had little or no appetite and was in a very poor state; I suffered from heart palpitation and a feeling of continual exhaustion Doctors' treatment failed to benefit me and I gradually grew worse until I was finally unable to do the least work. I then began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and from the very first I noted an improvement in my condition. The severity of my trouble gradually lessened and by the time I had taken eight boxes I was again enjoying the best of health despite my sixty years. I believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life and would strongly urge all sufferers to give them a trial, believing they will be of great benefit."

When your blood is poor and watery, when your nerves are unstrung, when you suffer from headaches and dizziness, when you are pale, languid and completely run down, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will promptly restore your health by renewing and enriching the blood. They are a prompt and certain cure for all troubles having their origin in a poor or watery condition of the blood. But only the genuine cure and these bear the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Advertising Versus Merit.

The enormous sale of most medicines has depended entirely on large advertising. The enormous sale of Merrill's System Tonic has arisen solely from the merit of this wonderful compound. We say it is the best medicine to purify the blood, build up the system, strengthen the nerves and regulate the bowels made. Invest 50c. in one bottle and you will know we speak only the truth. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

That Haytien Trouble.

Port au Prince, Hayti, May 17.—There was further disturbances here last night. At about 10 p.m. a mob attacked the palace, but the rioters were fired on by the Presidential guard and eventually dispersed. Some of the attacking party were killed or wounded. The revolutionists in the north have rejected the overtures made to them with the object of averting civil war. They took this action after raising a loan of $50,000 guaranteed by the customs receipts of Cape Haytien and Gonaives, the two ports in their hands. The northern army, consequently, will soon begin its march on Port au Prince.

Save Your 1838 Quarters.

Take them to Ormond and Walsh's drug store and he will give you a bottle of Four T's, the bbest, safest and quickest cure known for coughs and colds. More than a quarter million bottles sold in five years time, proves Four T's the best lung compound known. It is a positive cure for whooping cough.

BRONCHITIS

A SERIOUS DISEASE.

Becomes Chronic and Returns Year by Year or Develops Into Bronchial Pneumonia, Croupous Bronchitis, Asthma or Consumption.

The real dangers of bronchitis are sometimes overlooked. It is too serious a disease to trifle with, and for that reason everybody should be familiar with the symptoms.

Children are most liable to contrast bronchitis, and if neglected it becomes chronic, and returns year after year, until it wears the patient out or develops into some deadly lung disease.

The approach of bronchitis is marked by chills and fever, nasal or throat catarrh, quick pulse, loss of appetite and feelings of fatique and langor.

Bronchitis is also known by pain in the upper part of the chest, which is aggravated by deep breathing or coughing until it seems to tear the delicate linings of the bronchial tubes.

The cough is dry and harsh and is accompanied by expectoration of a frothy nature, which gradually increases; is very stringy and tenacious and is frequently streaked with blood.

There is pain, not unlike rheumatism, in limbs, joints and body, constipation and extreme depression and weakness. In some people the exhaustion amounts almost to nervous collapse, delirium follows, and in young children convulsions may follow.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is, we believe, the most effective treatment for bronchitis that money will buy. This fact has been proven time and again in many thousands of cases.

It is the most effective remedy for bronchitis, because it is far reaching in its effects on the whole system, not merely relieving the cough, but actually and thoroughly curing the disease. It loosens the cough, frees the chest of tightness and pain, aids expectoration and permanently cures.

There are other preparations of turpentine and linseed put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. To be sure you are getting the genuine see the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the box you buy. 25c. a bottle; family size, three times as much. 60c. FORT DE FRANCE THREATENED

The Ruin of St. Vincent—Greater Destitution on That Island Than on Martinique — Official Report of Sir Robert Llewellyn—The Island Inspected—"All Danger Is Not Yet Over."

Mount Pelee Still Active.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 17.—Great flashes of very bright light were emitted from Pelee between 10 and 11 o'clock Thursday night. They were visible from here. Thick, glowing red clouds, interspersed with flashes of light, were issuing from the volcano yesterday morning. Showers of cinders, lasting for twenty minutes, accompanied the activity. The people in the districts of Lorraine, Mariog, Saint Marie and La Trinite are panic-stricken.

Sir Robert Llewellyn's Report.

London, May 17.—A despatch from the Governor of the Windward Islands, Sir Robert Llewellyn, dated from St. Vincent, received at the Colonial Office yesterday morning, says:

"The total number of bodies buried to date is 1,200; in hospital, 150. All immediate wants now supplied. Generous aid received from neighboring colonies.

"Nine of the best sugar estates damaged seriously. An estate at Wallibu is completely buried in ashes. All vegetation is destroyed. It will probably revive after rain.

"Three thousand persons on the relief list. At an approximate cost of £50 daily, the relief must continue for some time.

"The eruption seems to be decreasing, but lava is flowing. All danger is not yet over."

Andrew Carnegie has sent £1,000 to the Mansion House West Indian relief fund, which now amounts to £10,000. With the exception of Lord Rothschild's donation of £1,000, the other donations are not large.

SCENES AT ST. VINCENT.

Five Thousand Destitute—Injured Persons Will All Die.

Kingston, May 17.—The ash covered area of St. Vincent exceeds that of Martinique. The death rate is placed at nearly 1,700. About 1,300 bodies have been interred. The streets of Georgetown are covered with a snow-drift heap of ashes and ashes rest so heavily on the roofs that many have given way. Five thousand people are destitute. There is greater destruction here than at Martinique. The injured persons were horribly burned by the hot grit, which was driven along with tremendous velocity. Twenty-six persons who sought refuge in a room 10x12 were all killed. One person was brained by a huge stone nine miles from the crater.

The work of burial goes on. At first the negroes refused to dig trenches, and in many cases left their relatives unburied.

The sea has encroached from 10 feet to two miles along the coast near Georgetown.

The arrival here of the first detachment of the ambulance corps, which brought sufferers from Georgetown, caused quite a sensation. This batch consisted of a hundred persons, whose charred bodies exhaled fetid odors, and whose loathsome faces made even the hospital attendants shudder. All these burned persons were suffering fearfully from thirst and uttering, when strong enough to do so, agonizing cries for water. It is doubtful whether one of the whole party will recover.

Advices received here from Fort de France say that looting and robbery are on the increase at St. Pierre and elsewhere, and that the authorities cannot cope with the conditions, especially as local political quarrels at St. Pierre are interfering with practical harmonious action. There are six thousand refugees at Fort de France, and rioting is feared there. Fifty pirates at St. Pierre have been given five years' imprisonment.

BE PATIENT.

Allowance Should Always be Made for Physical Weakness.

We do not Always Consider as we Should the Bodily Infirmities of Those With Whom we Come in Contact.

Many a strong and heart looking man or woman is a constant sufferer from some physical pain or weakness.

Often they do not care to complain or explain, and no one but themselves or perhaps their families know the amount of pain they endure every day.

They are often irritable and cranky, and no wonder.

It is hard to be affable and genial and good humoured, when you have a nasty grumbling toothache.

Toothache is not to be compared to the distressing pain of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, or Sour Stomach.

Thousands of men and women are to-day going about their daily duties carrying a burden of these stomach troubles, which give them absolutely no rest.

The worst "thorn in the flesh" is Dyspepsia.

We should make allowance for a Dyspeptic. Don't judge him or her harshly or too quickly.

But no one should be troubled with Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble when there is a certain remedy within the reach of all.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Dyspepsia or Stomach Trouble.

This is not an empty boast but a positive statement of fact, which has been proven by happy results in the thousands of the most severe cases—it is not now disputed.

Physicians have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets their heartiest approval and many prescribe them in their practice as a treatment for Stomach Ailments.

There is no longer any excuse for anyone being cranky or irritable because of Dyspepsia, for they may be cured if they want to—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

Yes, and He Meant It.

London, May 17.—When asked yesterday whether there was any truth in the published statement that he had offered to pay $20,000,000 for the Philippine Islands, provided he was authorized to announce to the Filipinos that their independence would be acknowledge ultimately by the United States, Andrew Carnegie laconically replied: "Yes, and I meant it."

COAL STRIKE MAY SPREAD.

The Miners Aim to Have 449,000 Handlers of Coal to Go Out—They Were Unanimous on Plan.

Hazelton, Pa., May 17.—The anthracite mine workers, in convention yesterday, in order to win their strike unanimously decided upon a plan that if carried into successful operation, would practically tie up the industry of the country, paralyze business and inconvenience the people throughout the United States. It is their desire that a special national convention of the United Mine Workers of America be called as soon as practicable for the purpose of endeavoring to have all the bituminous mine workers both organized and unorganized involved in the anthracite miners struggle. If a special national convention is called and the miners succeed in their object, it would directly affect 449,000 men, who are employed in and about the coal mines of the country. Coal would soon become scarce and this would ultimately result in the tieing up of railroads and all sorts of industries that use large quantities of the fuel.

C.N.E. Has a Strike.

Winnipeg, May 17.—Fifty-five men walked out of the Canadian Northern shops yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Amongst the number were machinists, boilermakers, tinsmiths, helpers and apprentices, only two or three men staying at work. This is the result of the management ignoring the men's demand for an increase amounting to about three cents per hour and recognition of the union, with a ten-hour day and a bonus hour on Saturday.

C.P.R. Machinists Accept.

Winnipeg, May 17.—C.P.R. machinists, after a long conference with Superintendent Leonard yesterday, accepted the terms of the company. The company will revise the schedule, paying an increase of one and one-half to two cents, making the minimum wage 20 cents per hour. The bonus has been done away with.

DIAMOND DYES

Are the Best for Home Work.

It is the easiest matter in the world to dye with the Diamond Dyes, as thousands of women know from practical experience. By this work, any intelligent woman can make old clothing look like new, and save a great many dollars in the course of the year. One ten cent package of Diamond Dyes often saves the cost of a new gown, for it makes the old one look like new.

Mrs. Alex. McGillis, Winnipeg, Man., says: "Your Diamond Dyes are home treasures. I have used them with great success for many years. The colours are fast and beautiful, and washing cannot change them. I would send miles for Diamond Dyes, rather than bother with worthless imitations if sent to me free of cost."

FRICTION IN THE 2ND C.M.R.

The Trouble Between Major Merritt and Colonel Evans.

Ottawa, May 16.—Inquiries here confirm the report that there has been friction between Major Merritt and Colonel Evans, Commandant of the 2nd Mounted Rifles. It arose through some action taken by Major Merritt prior to Col. Evans' arrival in the country and which the latter regarded as a usurpation of authority. Colonel Cameron is now second in command of the regiment, but this is not owing to the friction between Colonel Evans and Major Merritt, but to the fact that the latter was temporarily incapacitated from duty by being thrown from his horse.

Mr. McBrady made an application for bail, and the Crown Attorney agreed to accept two sureties of $1,500 each.

Tea in the Time of Buddha.

At the time of Buddha China was enjoying a large foreign commerce in tea. It was carried by her junks to Japan, Korea, Tonquin, Anam, Cochin, Burma, Siam, India, Ceylon, Persia and Arabia. According to one record, it was sent to a great black river country west of Arabia, from which it was separated by a long and very torrid sea, which must have been Egypt. It was carried by caravans to Manchuria, Mongolia, Kuldja, Tartary, Tibet, Persia and northern India.

The Long Flight of Birds.

A well known provincial ornithologist, in speaking of the migration of birds, says that the longest flight made, perhaps, is by some of the shore-and-water birds that nest in the islands of the Behring Sea and spend the winter at Hawaii and Fanning Islands. As some of these birds live altogether on shore, and are probably unable to rest on the surface of water, they must accomplish this entire distance in a single flight, a distance of about 2,200 miles. In spite of the absence of landmarks, they go straight to their destination.

"In spite of all this, the average visitor will probably be more startled by the display of quite another aspect of the resources of Canada—its minerals. A glance at the cases will suggest the immense future towards which the mining and manufacturing interests of the Dominion are drawing. A valuable exhibit shows a section, twenty feet deep from the moss downwards, of a working 'claim' upon the Yukon gold fields. The bars of the pure metal and bags of nuggets will gratify the multitude. There are masses of coal. There are innumerable specimens of ores, including the raw materials which in all probability will some day make Cape Breton one of the chief, if not also by far the cheapest, of the steel-making centres of the world. The United States claims to produce every known mineral but tin. So does Canada, and with better right. She has several things in which even the universal provider across her frontier is lacking. The republic is set down in the book as the chief exporter of nickel. She buys that metal from Canada, ships it from her own ports, and takes the credit. Much of the asbestos consumed and exported by the United States is Canadian. The case is similar and more notable still with mica. Glittering sheets of it hang upon the walls of the Royal Exchange. These are suggestive instances of the fact that in some respects at least the prestige of America as a marvellously mineralized continent belongs, not to the United States, but to the Dominion. There can be no excuse for the Briton desiring to settle across the other side of the Atlantic who mistakes his direction. Canada wants people, people, people, and if they were wise she would get them."

Many columns might be filled with extracts from journals descriptive of the Canadian exhibits, and referring to the practical results which the exhibition is likely to have in various directions, including "spreading the light" regarding the Dominion resources, promoting trade, and encouraging the investment of British capital in the country. In the official catalogue of the exhibition Mr. Scott, the Canadian Commissioner, arranged to secure the greater number of its pages for an admirable statement, which furnishes most authentic information regarding the history, geography, climate, resources and other features of the Dominion. Thousands of these catalogues have been purchased by visitors, and no doubt the "story of Canada" as told there will have a large percentage of intelligent readers. "Everything tells," and therefore it is likely that the extensive circulation of this official catalogue will produce desirable results. In addition to the official catalogue, each of the exhibiting colonies circulates, gratuitously, a pamphlet of its own. The High Commissioner's office has contributed to the literature of the Exhibition by sending thousands of pamphlets published by the Department of the Interior, which has charge of the Dominion's immigration work—a department, by the way, which has of late been manifesting special activity. These pamphlets are eagerly sought after by visitors, and are taken home for consultation and reference. Then, again, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is well to the front at the Exhibition. Mr. Archer Baker, General Traffic Manager, displays several large paintings, in oil of scenery along the line in the Northwest Territories, in the Rockies and the Selkirks, and in British Columbia. The scenery represented is much admired, and many are the exclamations of delight heard from the lips of visitors, such as "How magnificent!" "How I should like to make the trip through such scenery!" "Canada must be a wonderful country!" "Switzerland could not beat that," etc. Among the most attractive features of the Canadian Pacific Railway display are "moving pictures," including the progress of the Imperial Express train across the continent, and the departure of the company's Empress steamer for China and Japan. All day long the crowd in front of these "moving pictures" is enormous, and the general verdict is, "It is really wonderful." It is a well known fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company distributes many tons of illuminated literature annually, at an enormous cost. While this is done in the company's own interest, it at the same time advertises Canada, and affords a great amount of most valuable information. The first day the Exhibition was open the hundreds of pamphlets sent from the King William street office had been distributed, and every day since difficulty has been experienced in meeting the demand.

PLEIADES IN HISTORY.

Interesting Paper by J. C. Hamilton at Canadian Institute, Toronto.

"The Pleiades in Legends, Greek Drama and Orientation" was the subject treated by Mr. J. C. Hamilton, LL. B., at the Canadian Institute meeting on a recent Saturday night in Toronto. He showed that the seven stars by their gentle rays impressed their image on the scroll of humanity in all ages. They were the clock stars of old astronomers, the guides of the mariner in his voyaging and the husbandman in his seasons. The cluster was a familiar object in early British days. "Ye Old Seven Stars" is an inn in Manchester, whose license dates back to the reign of Edward III. in 1356, and the time of Chaucer. Guy Fawkes was here a visitor. Clubs of literary and social character took their names from the pleiades. Reference was made to the custom in India in reference to the measure of time and observing of feasts in honor of these stars. So also in China, where they are the Seven Sisters of Industry.

American legends as to them was discussed at length. In Mexico temples were built in their honor. In Peru they were the gods of rain and the year was counted not by the sun, but by them. The legends were very marked among the Blackfeet, Hydahs, Crees, Ojibways and Cherokees, of which interesting examples were given. Mr. Hamilton then spoke of the beautiful references to these stars in the Agamemnon of Aeschylus and the Iphigeneia and other dreams of Euripedes.

Lastly the writer told of the late work of Sir N. Lockyer and Dr. Penrose in orienting Stonehenge on Salisbury Plain. They show that there was here a great temple after the Grecian model, whose deity was Apollo, oriented to the sun, and declare that it was erected about 1680 B.C., or 500 years before the fall of Troy, by people who were not ignorant of astronomy and whose priests knew more of the arts than they are generally credited with.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

It is a well-recognized fact that catarrhal disease of the middle ear is the cause of the majority of the cases of deafness. This is indeed unfortunate, because the ailment creeps on so slowly that defective hearing and an obstinate ailment is firmly established before the patient realizes that the disease is serious. After such a form of deafness has persisted for some time, aurists usually give a most unfavourable opinion, and say the best that can be done is to prevent the defect in hearing from becoming worse. From this view, however, the Editor of the "Journal for the Deaf" dissents most emphatically, basing his opinion on the large number of cases cured by the Drouet treatment. In fact, the records of these cured cases are now being issued monthly in the form of a "Supplement" to this publication. To read the detailed reports of twenty-six cases during January, and twenty-nine cases during February, is certainly matter to interest and encourage even those who regard their cases as hopeless. Those who desire to pursue the subject further, and who wish to desire full information about the Drouet Treatment can obtain a free copy of the "Journal for the Deaf," with the "Supplement," on application to the Editor, 72, Regent's Park-road, N. W., London, England.

Each "Journal" is accompanied by a Patient's Report Form, which enables applicants suffering from deafness, or any disease of the ears, nose or throat, to receive full information of the treatment necessary to effect a cure. Any advice by correspondence is absolutely free, as are also consultations by means of the Report Form.

Wild Life in Ontario.

There were plenty of little incidents in my duck shooting jaunts of years ago, which stand out clearly yet before my mental vision. In those days I used to rise before dawn, and, accompanied by an English setter, make tracks for the boathouse and the marsh. A duck-boat is no place for a dog, but I got a good deal of pleasure out of his society, and he certainly seemed to get a good deal out of mine, and that was the reason why I took him along. He sat in the bow while I paddled the ship. Sometimes he retrieved the game, and sometimes I retrieved it myself, but he was always interested in the proceedings. My usual course was to paddle out to the outer edge of the marsh and loaf about till dawn. Sometimes I would find ducks and sometimes I wouldn't, and if there were none in sight, and no apparent likelihood of any appearing, I would land and take a tramp through the upper marsh after snipe and plover. I remember one morning I had had some fair sport with the ducks. I noticed that the north gale which was blowing was bringing down lots of plover and snipe. I had no shells loaded with fine shot, and only a few loaded with coarse but I landed, and for about an hour I had some fine sport. Jacksnipe, greater and lesser yellowlegs, golden plover, curlews, and similar birds, came whirling by in flocks. I never saw such a flight. I blazed away till all my shells were gone. Then what did I do? What could I do? I went home for more shells. When I got back, inside of an hour, the water had risen so high in the marsh that I couldn't wade it, and the flight of shore birds had stopped.—Ravenspur, in Toronto Star.

The Value of a Hobby.

Sir William Van Horne, during his recent visit to Toronto, spent a day at an art exhibit, and bought nearly all the sketches he could carry away. Everyone knows Sir William is an art connoisseur, and rumor even says he handles the brush himself with more than the average amateur's skill.

Sir William has the right philosophy of life. A railway magnate and a financier, steeped in commercialism, still he believes in providing a retreat for his mind, to use a phrase of old Dr. Johnson's. Other men of affairs have had their hobbies, too. Gladstone was a great student of Greek; Salisbury finds time for chemical experiments; A. J. Balfour is a metaphysician.

The man who has spent all his active years chasing the dollars, with no thought for anything out of his own lines, is about the most miserable being on earth when he is obliged to retire and has no pleasures of the mind to fall back upon and prevent life from becoming a wretched bore. He is completely on the shelf.

"THE LADY OF THE ORCHARDS."

LONDON PRESS ON THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION AT ROYAL EXCHANGE.

How the Light Is Spreading Regarding Canada's Resources—The Pleasing Repartee to Kipling's "Lady of the Snows"—Our Spruce and Mineral Wealth as Seen Through Old Country Eyes.

The Colonial Exhibition at the Royal Exchange, London, has since its opening enjoyed a fair share of newspaper prominence, and the general opinion is reflected that it cannot fail to prove important and far-reaching in its results. The Daily Telegraph, one of London's great morning newspapers, placed over the account of its representative's experiences at the private inspection the headlines "Empire in Epitome," "The Colonies on 'Change" and "A Study in Waking Up," referring to the Prince of Wales' remark at the Guildhall luncheon after his return from the unique Imperial tour which attracted world-wide attention. In the course of its description The Daily Telegraph says:—"Now Canada has a particularly deep meaning in this exhibit. It is doubtful whether Mr. Kipling's well-known reflections upon the intellectual attainments of those who are addicted to manly sports have aroused such aggrieved and enduring resentment as did his poetisation of Canada as 'Lady of the Snows.' It is the last name by which the Dominion desires to be known, and suggests that poets ought to be compelled to take out their licenses. Fruits are the favorites of the sun, and the Lady of the Orchards makes a very pleasing repartee at the Royal Exchange. At another point there is a pavilion which seems to be comfortably constructed of rich brown slabs of breakfast bacon. There is no end to the capacity of Canada for nourishing the inner man of the million. Here is timber of many kinds and qualities, including some cross-sections of giant trunks with the bark still upon them. One fact alone is significant of the forest wealth of Canada. The manufacture of spruce pulp is a comparatively new industry. Now the Dominion has mills which turn out a thousand tons a day, exports the products to all parts of the globe, and reckons that her reserves of material would provide paper enough to supply the press of the world for 5,000 years.

FALSE STATEMENTS COMPLETELY EXPOSED

At Mr. Stratton's Committee Rooms on Saturday Night.

CROOKED OPPOSITION TACTICS.

Misrepresentation and Invented Facts their Chief Argument.

THE ONLY POLICY PRESENTED THE ELECTORS

Mr. Stratton Pricks the Bubbles of Buncombe—Public Issues Referred to—Brief Speeches by Others—The Local Campaign Splendidly Urged.

The usual large and enthusiastic rally of the working supporters of Mr. Stratton, assembled at the committee rooms on Saturday evening to report splendid progress in the local campaign, and to listen to an address by Mr. Stratton, and a few other addresses from some of those working in his interest. The reports presented gave a most encouraging aspect to the outlook, indicating that a splendid majority would be rolled up in the town in Mr. Stratton's favour. Reports from other parts of the riding told the same encouraging story, and there remains no doubt that the polling on May 29th will result in a decided victory for the Ross Government and the Liberal candidate.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. J. Hartley, who stated that he was delighted to see so many present. He was glad to see the business men so fully represented on so busy a night as Saturday, and also to see so strong a gathering of working men in attendance. He was perfectly confident as to the result of the campaign, for he met few mechanics and working men who were not in sympathy with Mr. Stratton's candidature. They were not assembled to abuse anybody, and he was surprised at the reckless, unthinking and false misrepresentation of the speakers supporting Mr. Miller and the Opposition. But the people of West Peterborough were too intelligent to be carried away by such improbable statements as these people were in the habit of making. Twaddle, bosh, and petty appeals to prejudice would not have much effect in advancing Mr. Miller's candidature. The electors of West Peterborough liked to see a fair fight — to see fair arguments advanced, and not misrepresentation, and the result on the 29th of May would show how ill-judged had been the policy pursued by the speaking supporters of Mr. Miller. He then called upon Mr. Stretton to address the meeting.

in coming to the platform, was greeted with most enthusiastic applause. He congratulated his supporters very warmly upon the excellent work they had been doing during the week, in the general work of the campaign, but especially in regard to registration. The results of the latter — 600 or 700 registered in his favour as against 200 or 300 in favour of his opponent — showed where the sympathy of the young men lay, and how citizens who viewed the welfare of the town and province felt towards the Government candidate. He said that he had had a pretty busy week — he had addressed meetings at Bailliebore, Orono, Napanee, Brighton and Warsaw, and he was with them that night. Everywhere signs of victory for the Liberal candidates were plainly in evidence. (Applause.) He wished this evening to deal with several matters that were of a more or less local and personal character, but which, he thought, in justice to himself and his supporters, should receive some attention. He was not very much troubled with what unworthy things the Review newspaper or the Millerite stumpers were saying, as the electors who had the slightest knowledge of public affairs, knew they were false but there were some of the statements made which dealt with matters upon which there were not the same opportunities for information as on other questions, and these might be given some consideration. He had said that in Mr. Miller's committee rooms some very strange statements had been and were being made, and he would deal with some of them for a few moments. Mr. Miller was trying to put in a big claim to the working man's vote because he was a member of the Labour Union. He would, however, like to ask in the whole career of his life in this town, to advance the interests of any working man. It was true he was a member of the Labour Union, but he joined it purely and solely for the purposes of political capital, and he could not point to anything he had done as a member of the Union to help the cause of Labour. Mr. Miller's utterances in his committee rooms and on the platform, had shown conclusively that he did not grasp the situation in relation to the requirements of the town, West Peterborough and the Province, and that he has not even the most commonplace knowledge of the public issues that should be intelligibly and fairly presented to the electors at the time when they were called upon to decide the momentous question of the Government of the Province for the next four years. Mr. Stratton said he did not desire to enter into any personal or local matters to which he might have personal relations, except in the strictest self-defence, but in justice to himself and to his workers and supporters who had given him their confidence and such splendid support he should refer to one or two matters, arising out of statements made at the Conservative Saturday night meetings.

WHAT HAD MR. MILLER DONE

WHY THEY CHANGED.

One or two gentlemen had spoken there who claimed that they had formerly supported himself and the Government, but were opposing them now. Mr. W. J. Kearns was one of these. He had no fault to find with any man changing his political views if he had reason to believe that either he (Mr. Stretton) or the Government had taken a course that forfeited his confidence. But when he gave reasons that were not the real reasons he felt that it was his duty to himself and the Government to show that they had not given ground for the complaints made. In Mr. Kearns' case the reason he was now opposing Mr. Stratton and the Government was because he had been refused a liquor license at Parry Sound and at the "Soo," for reasons which Mr. Kearns himself very well knew, and which the commissioners at these places thought were valid and legitimate. But a personal disappointment did not make the policy of the Government any less worthy of support. The following letter received by him to-day, Mr. Stratton said, would throw some light on the subject:

May 15th, 1902.

Hon. J. R. Stratton,
Provincial Secretary,
Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the report of a speech delivered last Saturday night in Peterborough, by W. J. Kearns, of Kearns Bros., of Sault Ste. Marie, in which he says he intends to cast his first Conservative vote, it might not be uninteresting to know that Wm. J. and Patrick Kearns are convicted whiskey peddlars, and have a record on the north shore of Georgian Bay and also on the C. P. R. construction. William John and Patrick Kearns, the persons in question, were fined $50.00 each and costs at Parry Sound on January 16th, 1899, and were imprisoned in Parry Sound jail for three months at that time. After his liberation, W.J. Kearns tried to bribe the License Inspector of Parry Sound by telling him that he (Kearns) would give him (the Inspector) $100.00 to procure for him a license to sell liquor at French River, in addition to the license fees, and on getting an indignant refusal, made application for a license, which was refused by the Commissioners on the Inspector informing them at the meeting that Kearns had tried to bribe him. Patrick Kearns was convicted again at French River by Justices Webb and Berren, for selling liquor, and I think skipped out. This conviction was made in July, 1900. Both turned up in the Township of Christie on the line of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway in 1904, and were summoned for selling whiskey to the railway navies, but escaped on evidence that was of a very doubtful character. Later they kept a store at Canoe Lake, on the same railway, and W. J was fined for selling goods on Sunday, and they then applied to the Ontario Government for permission to sell goods on Sunday, which was, of course, refused.

Yours Truly,
W. IRELAND,

License Inspector, Parry Sound.

P.S.—I understand they were subsequently refused a license at Sault Ste. Marie.

Then Mr. Ball was another, whose disappointment might be said to account for his being found in opposition. He claimed to be a friend of labour, which was very proper, for friendship could not be shown to anything more deserving, but it was open to question whether zeal for the welfare of labour justified any man in turning his back upon the Government which had passed so much good legislation in the interests of labour, and accepting the championship of the candidate of a party which in its whole history had been neglectful of the welfare of the working classes. The working man of Peterborough could be trusted to know the source to look to that would be in their best interests. This was a free country, Mr. Stratton said, and it rested with every elector to decide how his vote should be cast. While he liked to get as many votes as possible, he could blame no man for exercising his franchise as he chose, but when he publicly gave as reasons for a change of political allegiance, reasons which did not exist, and which reflected upon his (Mr. Stratton's) discharge of his representative duties, that was another matter. As far as his representative actions were concerned he had given Mr. Ball no legitimate cause to take the course he himself announced, and as long as he (Mr. Stratton) had, as a representative not laid himself open to blame, he would find no fault in a former supporter taking what course seemed best to him to express his sense of disappointment.

FALSE STATEMENTS CONDEMNED.

Mr. Stratton said that the ingenuity of the Opposition in making misstatements was as remarkable as it was shameless. He went on to explain some glaring charges — as glaring as untruthful — in respect to the remuneration received by Mr. Clegg, made by the Review, which charged that Mr. S. Clegg received a salary of $1,600 for doing $1,200 worth of work. Both statements

NEWS ON WEDNESDAY

Definite Announcement Re. Peace Expected by That Time.

BOERS' DEMEANOR IS WARLIKE

Prolonged Sessions of Vereeniging Conference—Times' Correspondent Thinks They Will Fight on, But He Adds That Whatever the Result of the Conference the End of the War Is Not Distant.

London, May 19.—All sorts of rumors are rife about the Boer conference, but no definite news is expected before Wednesday. Mr. Edgar Wallace, The Daily Mail's correspondent, regards it as inadvisable to consider the complete success of negotiations as certain.

The Boer Conference.

Pretoria, May 19.—Nothing has come out with reference to the conference of the Boer leaders of the commandoes in the field at Vereeniging or the northern and eastern conference. Hindon, the train wrecker, has surrendered, and is now in Pretoria.

The Boer delegates, who are assembled at Vereeniging, Transvaal, held prolonged conferences on Thursday and Friday of last week.

End of War at Hand.

London, May 19.—A despatch to The Times from Pretoria says that about 160 Boer leaders are assembled at Vereeniging, and their demeanor leads one to suppose they will vote in favor of a continuation of hostilities, but the fact that the voting is by ballot might turn the balance to the side of peace. Whatever the direct result of the conference may be, says the correspondent, th end of the war is not distant, because the conference will probably be followed by numerous surrenders in various directions, while large bodies of British troops will be poured into the resisting districts.

Boer Decision in Doubt.

London, May 19.—Very divergent are the views taken both in London and Pretoria of the prospects of the conclusion of peace within the next few days. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's extremely cautious words in his speech Friday have not discouraged the sanguine hopes of the masses, but those who know the Boers best fully expect them to make a further attempt in the negotiations if not in the field, to gain better terms than are contained in the British offer.

Lord Kitchener's paramount effort at his first interview with the Boer leaders was to impress upon them that neither now nor in the future would Great Britain consider terms which would involve either independence of the two republics or mere suzerainty. Acting President Schalkburger of the Transvaal and his companions have probably been convinced of the irrevocable nature of this declaration, but whether they have succeeded in conveying this impression to the rank and file of the commandoes in the field has not yet transpired.

The peace conference which is now in session is not such in the ordinary sense. The Boers undoubtedly want to "negotiate." They know the British terms, and they wish to submit counter proposals in the ordinary way and then work toward a compromise.

Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner will not permit this. They declare virtually that the British proposition is the irreducible minimum demand of a successful belligerent, and the only question is as to the acceptance or rejection of the proposition in its entirety. The only contingency which can prolong the negotiations is for the Boers after conceding the essential demands to seek to secure minor concessions in connection with the plan for the future government of the country. The British representatives will hardly take the responsibility of prolonging the war by an arbitrary refusal to consider such points as these.

WINNIFREDIAN SAILS.

At Two O'clock Saturday a Transport Left Halifax With Canadians.

Halifax, N.S., May 19.—Sixth Regiment and Squadrons C and D of the 4th C.M.R. embarked on the Winnifrodian Saturday morning for South Africa. Lieut.-Col. Irving, who has been D.O.C. here for seven years, was given a great send off by his brother militia officers, who accompanied the regiment from the camp to the boat. Bands of 66th, 63rd and R.C.R. played the men through the streets, which were lined with spectators.

Adjutant Captain Thompson of the 63rd made a speech on arrival at the pier, in which he conveyed to Colonel Irving the high appreciation in which he is held by the militia of Halifax. The ship left about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The weather was beautiful, and the steamer will have a fine run off the coast.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Whitney Goes to His Own Constituency—Mr. Smyth, His Liberal Opponent Has Developed Strength.

Toronto, May 19.—Premier Ross and Mr. Whitney each rested on Saturday from their arduous campaign labors.

Mr. Ross, who is standing the strenuous work of the campaign exceedingly well, starts out again this morning and speaks this evening at Chatham.

The Opposition leader is also in good enough health, but in poor voice. He goes to his own constituency and will remain there until nomination, on Thursday. Mr. Whitney has been away from his constituency a good deal, and the strength which Mr. Smyth, the Liberal candidate, is developing is naturally calculated to give him serious alarm.

The Dominion Parliament being over, many of the members of the House of Commons may be expected to figure actively in the campaign during the next ten days. One of the most eloquent and popular Liberal speakers at Ottawa is Hon. D. C. Fraser, who has arranged a series of meetings through the Province. He spoke at Toronto Junction on Saturday evening in behalf of Mr. W. J. Hill.

BE PATIENT.

Allowance Should Always be Made for Physical Weakness.

We do not Always Consider as we Should the Bodily Infirmities of Those With Whom we Come in Contact.

Many a strong and heart looking man or woman is a constant sufferer from some physical pain or weakness. Often they do not care to complain or explain, and no one but themselves or perhaps their families know the amount of pain they endure every day.

They are often irritable and cranky, and no wonder.

It is hard to be affable and genial and good humoured, when you have a nasty grumbling toothache.

Toothache is not to be compared to the distressing pain of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, or Sour Stomach.

Thousands of men and women are to-day going about their daily duties carrying a burden of these stomach troubles, which give them absolutely no rest.

The worst "thorn in the flesh" is Dyspepsia.

We should make allowance for a Dyspeptic. Don't judge him or her harshly or too quickly.

But no one should be troubled with Dyspepsia or other stomach trouble when there is a certain remedy within the reach of all.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any case of Dyspepsia or Stomach Trouble.

This is not an empty boast but a positive statement of fact, which has been proven by happy results in the thousands of the most severe cases—it is not now disputed.

Physicians have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets their heartiest approval and many prescribe them in their practice as a treatment for Stomach Ailments.

There is no longer any excuse for anyone being cranky or irritable because of Dyspepsia, for they may be cured if they want to—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

GAYNOR CASE IN QUEBEC.

Judge Orders That Prisoners Be There on Tuesday.

Quebec, May 19.—Donald Macmaster, King's Counsel, came here from Montreal yesterday, representing Detective Carpenter, who arrested Col. Gaynor and Capt. Greene, who are wanted in the United States for conspiracy to defraud the Government. He asked Judge Andrews to quash the writ of habeas corpus addressed to Carpenter, ordering him to bring Greene and Gaynor back to Quebec. This the judge refused to do.

Mr. Taschereau, representing the prisoners, applied to the court to issue an order against Carpenter for contempt of court in not having obeyed the writ. Mr. Macmaster resisted the application, and asked that Carpenter have till Wednesday to reply to the writ.

The judge asked if the defence would agree to this, providing the prosecution gave assurance that advantage would not be taken of the delay to rush through the extradition proceedings. Mr. Taschereau objected, and the judge finally ordered that the writ must be obeyed by Carpenter by 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning. If Gaynor and Greene are not then produced here Carpenter will go to jail.

Gaynor and Greene are now held in Montreal for a hearing before the Extradition Commissioner on Monday.

Winter in England Still.

London, May 19.—So far as it has progressed in London, rain, snow and hail have been England's harbingers of summer. Never has there been such an inclement spring. Those who have come for the coronation sit around in doleful groups, waiting for the sunshine that never comes. The women go to the opera and clubs in furs, and the men have long since reverted to their winter clothes so prematurely discarded in sunny April.

PLANS OF OPERATORS

Will Not Attempt to Operate Anthracite Mines for a Month.

SAVE $3,000,000 A MONTH

A Coal Famine in Sight—Soft Coal Men Hardly Expected to Join in a Sympathetic Strike Although President Mitchell Is Working to That End—Miners Say They Can Hold Out Three Months.

Hazelton, Pa., May 19.—The anthracite coal miners' strike will continue until the operators are brought to terms on the question of wages, or the mines resume work under a guard of State militia.

The plan of campaign on the part of the operators is not to make any attempt whatever to operate the mines for a month or more. In the meantime, while saving almost $3,000,000 a month in wages, they propose to raise the price of coal and make the public pay the expense of the strike. No matter how the strike ends, it is not probable that they will make any price reduction in the future. A raise of only 50 cents a ton would have given the miners the wages asked for. It would have also left a handsome profit of $10,000,000 a year for the operators. The local output of the anthracite region is between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 tons per year. At an increase of $1 a ton the profits of the coal barons may be easily figured.

It is not at all certain that the soft coal miners will obey the order to strike, if one is issued. If convinced that they will not come out, President Mitchell will probably make no call upon them. He is bending his energies now toward moulding the sentiment of the soft coal men in favor of a sympathetic strike.

The great army of idle miners are wandering about the streets, clad in holiday attire, and lounging about their homes and pondering upon the questions of economy and income.

They say they can hold out for three months without outside assistance. Those who have hoarded their money on the advice of President Mitchell, in anticipation of this strike, have saved an average of $100 each. As the average wages is only $22 a month, their frugality is little short of marvelous.

Week by week and month by month for more than a year, they have taken their little savings, sometimes not more than a dollar or two, to the bank in anticipation of the present troublesome times.

In addition to this they have religiously paid their dues to the union and at present many of the local branches have a good supply of money on hand.

Of course, there are many improvident men, usually unmarried, who will have to be helped by the union. But the great majority of the strikers have enough money to tide them over two months in idleness at least.

Millions Already Lost.

New York, May 19.—It was agreed by both wholesale and retail coal dealers Saturday that New York is within less than a fortnight of burning soft coal. Some dealers put the time within two or three days and notified customers Saturday that they must be prepared to use soft coal at any time.

Dealers said that the estimate given on Friday of a visible supply of 300,000 tons was far above the quantity on hand. They said that 30,000 tons would be nearer the mark. Some of the steam plants have two weeks' supply; others, it is said, have only enough for a week.

The strike has been on for six days and the amount of money lost in the entire region where it operates is $1,130,526. This represents wages that would have been earned had the strike not taken place.

The coal strike is costing New Yorkers much. The price has advanced above normal $2 a ton. This means that so far the strike has cost New York $1,614,000.

Miners Get Increase.

Halifax, N.S., May 19.—The threatened strike of the miners in Cape Breton has been declared off. The companies have granted the ten per cent. demanded by the men.

MORE THAN 50 KILLED.

Part of the Town of Goliah in Texas Swept Away.

Houston, Tex., May 19.—Reports received here by telegraph and telephone indicate that the northern or western portion of the town of Goliah had been swept away by a tornado, and that from 50 to 100 people have been killed. The long distance operator at Houston was in connection with Goliah at 7 o'clock, but, beyond the fact that part of the town had been blown away, and that many persons had been killed and injured, no other particulars were obtainable. Considerable damage has been done at Beeville by high winds. Both towns are close to the Gulf Coast, and all telegraph wires by two routes are down.

A telegram from Supt. Forbes of the New York, Texas and Mexican to General Manager Van Vleck, in this city, says that eight blocks of business houses were blown down at Goliah. Thirty negroes and 27 white people were killed, and 75 or 80 others injured.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

Mrs. Joseph Larose Avoided the Surgeon's Knife by Taking the New Ozone Method of Curing Disease.

I consider it my duty, says Mrs. Joseph Larose, No. 292 St. Timothee street Montreal, to allow my very happy experience with Powley's Liquified Ozone, to come before the public.

MRS. JOSEPH LAROSE, MONTREAL.

I had long been subject to severe headaches, and about a year ago a tumorous growth appeared in my chest, and was very sore and painful It was about the size of an egg, and caused myself and friends no small amount of alarm.

I had hospital treatment for three months, and consequently a painful plaster application which only increased my sufferings without doing any good.

I began taking Ozone six months ago, applying it outwardly and taking it also internally. I have used in all eight bottles and the growth has entirely disappeared without the aid of the dreaded knife.

I feel very thankful for my recovery and am always glad to tell others about Ozone.

The method surprises many people because it cures so many and what appears to be such different forms of disease. You will readily understand why this is when you think of the blood and remember what a fundamental function it is. In health it is health; bearing nourishment and vitality to every tissue, nerve, tendril, muscle and organ of the body. In disease it is disease, spreading foulness and poisonous germs throughout the system. Now Powley's Liquified Ozone acts on the blood. It increases its oxygen-carrying power, adds to its food-giving properties, purifies it and disinfects all the tissues through which it passes. If there are any humors or growths in the body that are not normal, the Ozone will gradually dissolve them and restore natural healthy conditions. You can purchase Powley's Liquified Ozone at your druggists. There are two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

Officers Stole Half a Million.

London, May 19.—A despatch from Vienna to a news agency says it is reported from Gracow, Galicia, that a million roubles (about $490,000), has been stolen from the headquarters of the general staff here. Two generals and several staff officers, says the despatch, have been arrested in connection with the robbery.

Advertising Versus Merit.

The enormous sale of most medicines has depended entirely on large advertising. The enormous sale of Merrill's System Tonic has arisen solely from the merit of this wonderful compound. We say it is the best medicine to purify the blood, build up the system, strengthen the nerves and regulate the bowels made. Invest 50c. in one bottle and you will know we speak only the truth. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

BUSINESS OF RELIEF

Fort de France Correspondent Says It Is Overdone.

SINKING OF THE OCEAN BED

Looters at Work—When They Were Caught and Were Being Taken to Jail the People Tried to Lynch Prisoners—They Wish Sentences of Looters to Be Increased Beyond Maximum of Five Years.

New York, May 19.—The New York World's correspondent at Fort de France, Martinique, says that the relief business has been greatly overdone. He declares that relief plans everywhere should be curbed at once. In his opinion $50,000 worth of supplies would relieve all distress.

If the relief movement is not stopped at once the Island of Martinique will be pauperized. Alarm has quieted down and the people are returning to the homes from which they had fled.

Ocean Bed Sinking.

London, May 19.—A despatch dated Friday has been received by The Daily Mail from Kingston stating that the Royal Mail steamship Atrato, when off St. Pierre on Tuesday, spoke the cable ship Pouyer Quertier, from which it was stated that the bed of the ocean had been much disturbed. She found nine hundred fathoms where only three hundred was charted. Recharting of these waters will be necessary.

The Mansion House St. Vincent fund last evening reached a total of £2,000 ($10,000). The Prince and Princess of Wales contributed £250 ($1,250), and Lord Mount Stephen has given £500 ($2,500.)

Tried to Lynch Looters.

Fort de France, Martinique, May 19.—Acting Governor L'Huerre is taking precautions to prevent wholesale looting at St. Pierre during the relief work. The French troops and the revenue officers have been ordered to watch out for this business. A small boat with officers was sent to St. Pierre. The officers arrested on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday eighty-one looters. Eleven of these were women.

The officers shot many of the looters whom they found robbing the dead. The shooting of these people has been hushed up, as the French law does not justify any such action.

On Thursday Presiding Judge Desfontaines sentenced 44 men and four women to various terms of imprisonment, and on Friday twenty-seven men and seven women were also convicted of looting. The men were sent to prison for five years and the women for three. Attorney-General De Trevoux de Breffeilac does not think these sentences are severe enough, and will appeal the cases to the Paris Assizes. The Martinique courts have jurisdiction over penitentiary offences of which the maximum penalty is five years. Looting is a crime which belongs to the Assize Court. Notwithstanding this, it is stated that the acting judge at Morne Rouge, the summer resort outside of St. Pierre, sentenced one looter to twenty years' imprisonment.

The people attacked and tried to lynch the looters while they were being taken to the jail. The gendarmes drew their revolvers and the people fled, cursing the looters as they went. There were no casualties.

The people generally are highly excited over the looting and are anxious that the criminals shall be tried by the higher courts and more severe sentences imposed.

A chemist who was aboard the Suchet, which visited St. Pierre Saturday, analyzed the sand or ashes that Mont Pelee emitted and found them to be a combination of sulphur and saltpetre. The party returned to Fort de France last night.

Body Found in Grand River.

Galt, May 19.—A badly decomposed body was found in the Grand River Saturday afternoon. In a pocket of a coat was found the name, "J. W. Cunningham."

An inquest will be held. There is no doubts that the body found is the remains of Joshua W. Cunningham of Trenton, Ontario, who had been an inmate of the Homewood Retreat at Guelph, and who has been missing from that institution for several weeks.

Shoe Shape.

Ever have a pair of shoes that twisted out of shape before they were half worn out?

That was because of poor lasting—the stretch had been left in them.

"Slater Shoes" are lasted on machines which automatically stretch the leather to the exact point where there is no stretch left.

Only good leather can stand this process, but it takes all the stretch forever out of the shoes.

No breaking in, no bursting out, no twisting, no unsightly warping—"Slater Shoes" keep their shape till worn out. Goodyear welted.

Branded with makers' name and price, in a slate frame, $3.50 and $5.00.

Obituary.

The demise occurred in St. Joseph's hospital on Friday last of Aileen, the bright little ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Theobald, of Albert street. The little one had been ailing for a short time only and her untimely death will cause a gap in the family circle that can never be filled. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss they have sustained in the death of so promising a child. Interment took place on Saturday.

LATE MISS ANNIE HAMILTON.

Her Remains Were Interred in Little Lake Cemetery Yesterday.

The funeral of the late Miss Annie Hamilton, youngest daughter of the late Wm. Hamilton, Esq., took place at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the family residence, Reid street, to Little Lake Cemetery. The services at the house and the grave were conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a faithful member. The employees of the Wm. Hamilton Co., attended the funeral in a body and a very large number of Peterborough's prominent citizens turned out to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

At St. Paul's church yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Torrance spoke in feeling terms of the death of Miss Hamilton, and the loss the church had sustained by her untimely and sudden demise.

CRICKET.

The members of the Colts Cricket Club are urged to turn out to practice every night this week, in anticipation of their match with the Campbellford 11 in that town on May 24.

When in Port Hope in February Mr. Burnham was invited to bring down a team to play Trinity School at cricket. The eleven he got together were G. H. Hilliard, F. M. Dela Fosse, J. A. Plummer, (all of Lakefield;) R. M. Hamilton, Hal. Burnham, W. D. Parker, C. K. Bourchier, Arthur Bouchar, Ross Cameron and J. H. Burnham. They were met at the station by members of the staff and proceeded to the school for luncheon, which they enjoyed in the large dining hall with the boys. The school is picking up rapidly since Rev. D. Symonds' assuming of the headmastership, no less than fifteen entering at Easter.

When play began a large number of ladies and the full strength of the school were in attendance. The day was perfect. T.C.S. won the toss, and went in. Kidd, 26, and Hammond 11, were the chief scores. The innings ended for 96, and the batsmen showed fine form and careful training. Mr. Burnham's team, many of whom had touched neither bat nor ball for several seasons, did not come up to expectations, with the exception of Mr. Dela Fosse, who played brilliantly for his 34, and Arthur Boucher, who contributed a useful 14, not out. The innings closed for 72. The locals drove home in the moonlight, after having enjoyed a delightful outing. Trinity College School possesses all the charm of an English public school and it is safe to say that the boys will continue under the present head to exhibit the qualities of manliness and culture so characteristic of their predecessors. The training obtained at such a school is invaluable. The return match will be played here on Tuesday, May 27th.

BASEBALL.

St. John's choir boys won from the Y.M.C.A team on Saturday by 12 runs to 9, and an innings to spare. St. John's team will play in Millbrook on the 24th.

The Y.M.C.A lacrosse team will practice this evening.

FALSE STATEMENTS COMPLETELY EXPOSED.

were untrue. Mr. Clegg's salary was only $800. The Conservative Government at Ottawa had appointed Mr. R. B. Rogers at a salary of $3000; of this he received $2,200 as Superintending Engineer of the Trent Canal and $800 as Superintendent of Public Works. Upon the recommendation of Mr. J. H. McClellan, the Dominion Government appointed Mr. S. Clegg Superintendent of Public Works, relieving Mr. Rogers of that part of his double duties, and permitting him to devote his attention exclusively to his duties as Engineer of the canal. The salary of $800 attached to the Superintendency of Public Works, by Mr. Rogers, was of course transferred to Mr. Clegg, and that is all he receives. As a matter of fact there is no increase of expense, only a division of the salary formerly paid to Mr. Rogers, and at the same time a division of the duties previously performed by him. The duties performed by Mr. Clegg are not small. He is charged with the superintendence and the seeing that they are kept in proper repair, of the following: Slide and booms at Healey's Falls; the slide and boom at Hastings; the piers at the mouth of Rice Lake; the booms and piers in Little Lake, Peterborough; four miles of booms and piers at Katchewanook Lake, from Lakefield to Young's Point; the booms and piers in Clear Lake; the slide and booms at Burleigh; the piers and booms at Lovesick Lake; the piers and booms in Deer Bay; the slide and boom at Buckhorn; the slide and boom at Fenelon Falls; and some wharves at Julian's Landing, Keene and other places; so that it will be seen that Mr. Clegg's duties are of a responsible nature, affecting our important lumber interests and the navigation of our inland waters, which would be impeded to the serious detriment of the public interests if these works were not kept in proper repair. Mr. Clegg's duties had no direct relation to the expenditure made on these works. Oversight that for repairs was more in the public interests than the expenditure of $1,300, or even $13,000. There is no complaint that the works are not properly looked after—the point the people cared about. The Review charged the Government with extravagance, when there was no extravagance, but never condemned the paying of so much to Mr. Rogers. Where was the extravagance in withdrawing $800 from Mr. Rogers and giving it to Mr. Clegg, who performed the duties Mr. Rogers was supposed to do for that sum. The fact was that the Review objected because Mr. Clegg was a Liberal and with Conservative newspapers it was a crime for a Liberal to hold an office or draw a salary. Mr. Tarte, relying upon information supplied, no doubt, by the clerks of the department, was evidently under a wrong impression. The Review took advantage of a self-evident error to make party capital; for everybody concerned, including the Review knew that Mr. Clegg's salary was only $800. The Review was not so watchful when the fat cheques from the Dominion Government were coming its way—it had become embittered, and for lack of substantial ground of criticism, had taken to misrepresentation of the course of himself and other political opponents. The Review and Mr. Miller would find out that a fair, decent campaign would have been more profitable than the campaign they had entered upon of lying from start to finish. When Mr. Rogers received $3,000 for performing the double duties under the Conservative Government it was all right, but when the same amount under Liberal rule at Ottawa, is divided, it is all wrong. Such tactics are despicable. Mr. Clegg performs his work satisfactorily without drawing any comparisons. A dollar a day is $300 per year, which few of even the humblest workmen would be satisfied with. Mr. Clegg gets $800. These people pretended to be the champions of labour, yet they grudge a man enough salary to live on and keep his family in respectability. But misstatements did not end here. At the Fourth Line, Smith, Mr. Garvin had stated that at the last election Mr. Stratton introduced corruption into this riding, something heard in regard to a successful candidates at every election everheld in this county. He charged that Mr. Stratton had given $500 to a certain Conservative, who had put $300 in his pocket — just what he would do—and had taken $200 and bought 200 Conservative votes at a dollar a piece. (Laughter.) Mr. Garvin must have a high opinion of his Conservative friends in the West Riding. "Now," said Mr. Stratton, "I will give Mr. Garvin $500 if he will name that man." (Applause.)

A SPECIMEN BRICK.

"Mr. Garvin made that charge in Smith when I was not there—made it behind my back. Why didn't he make it to my face in Bailliebore where we were both present? He dared not utter such a falsehood where the denial would be so prompt." Thus we had a policy of saying different things in different places. Mr. Burnham was also another double dealer, and had perhaps the most superficial knowledge of public affairs of any Conservative speaker who takes the stump. At Bailliebore he declared his opposition to prohibition in any shape; at the Fourth Line of Smith, where there was a strong temperance sentiment, he was, I am informed, a champion of Mr. Miller's prohibition views. He also charged that lunatics and imbeciles were neglected by Mr. Stratton, instancing Toronto which wanted to unload its paupers upon the public institutions—a city which received more from the Province in support of its charitable institutions than it paid in charity itself. (Applause.) If Toronto could build a city hall costing three and a half millions, it could certainly afford to build a House of Refuge for its poor instead of crowding out deserving patients from our public institutions. The necessities of the Opposition bring them strange helpers. At one Saturday night meeting a Mr. George T. Clift was a speaker. We didn't know who he was. He might be a man of influence and reliability or a discharged employee of the Clergue Works at the "Soo," possibly the latter, for he made statements in regard to the works that were utterly at variance with the facts, but quite in line with the Opposition policy of belittling New Ontario and the wonderful results there of the Government's development policy. This person said the Algoma Central Railway was "a second-hand affair from locomotive to spikes." Mr. Stratton said this was utterly false. He had been over the portion of the road constructed and had examined it carefully, and it appeared to him to be a first-class railway and the extreme solidity of construction was a matter of remark among railway men. It was laid with 80 lb. steel rails and every other feature corresponded. It was without doubt, the equipped with first-class locomotives and rolling stock. In addition to this glaring untruth, the speaker asserted that the Clergue steamers were "cast-off" vessels. This was not so. The fact was that the Clergue Company needed steamers at once, and had to purchase them already built. This was the case with a few vessels but the most of the fleet of 18 were magnificent vessels built to order in England, and were built with true British solidity. Of the same untruthful character was this man's other statement in regard to the condition of affairs at the "Soo," the machinery "was obsolete." We did not have to go outside the William Hamilton Company and the Canadian General Electric Works to find the falsity of such statements. These concerns had supplied tens of thousands of dollars worth of machinery to Clergue, and it was a bold man who would dare to say that these establishments built obsolete machinery. (Applause.) And Mr. Clift wouldn't have dared say so outside a gathering of sympathisers with the leader who calls New Ontario the "land of the stunted poplar,"—a gathering who applauded and yelled for an irresponsible stranger who came to town and slandered the quality of the work of its mechanics. (Applause.)

Then there was another political meeting held in the opera house, and addressed by Mr. Buchanan, a political adventurer, who expressed his feeling of hostility to Hon. Mr. Ross, who had often thwarted Mr. Buchanan's political schemes. He was not a true friend of the temperance cause he pretended to serve, for he deserted the cause of prohibition in Manitoba, and came to Ontario to work for the party whose leader is a downright and

DECLARED ENEMY TO PROHIBITION.

If Mr. Buchanan was sincere, how was it that he was on a Conservative platform in North Wentworth, not in support of prohibition, but in support of a Whitney candidate? In the opera house two thirds of his speech was devoted to abuse of the Ross Government. He might delude a few people into believing his speeches, but in fact he was doing much — as he had done much — more perhaps than any other man, in bringing disrepute and injury to the cause of temperance. But we must not be too severe on Mr. Buchanan, for he made his living by speaking for temperance, which, however, he made a little branch of his main business of political work in the interests of Mr. Whitney. We find Mr. Lindsay was at the same meeting, and made a speech. He said he was "told"—these people are always "told" something—by a merchant that the latter had seen 500 men on one Sunday go into an hotel for drinks. That would be one every minute for nine hours. Do you believe that? (Laughter.) The instances he gave, Mr. Stratton said, were samples of the wild stories being told by the stumpers of the Opposition, in the vain hope to gull an intelligent electorate, but the people were too well informed to be deceived. What claim had Mr. Lindsay to the confidence of the temperance people? What had he done to advance the interests of temperance, beyond the spasmodic interest he took at the time of an election when, in the name of temperance, he was doing his best to advance the success of a political party whose leader was a most pronounced enemy to temperance and prohibition? Mr. Stratton said, and it could not be considered boasting, that he had done more, and without any blowing of trumpets, through his own efforts and through his newspaper, to help on real temperance reform, than Mr. Lindsay, or a dozen men of his stamp, who used temperance as a cloak for political and party activity. What had the supporters of Mr. Miller and Mr. Whitney to offer the people beyond the wild platform statement that were perversions of truths? What had they to offer to the mechanic, the labourer, the merchant, the business man, and the manufacturer? In the interests of all these there was needed a definite, aggressive and go-ahead policy of development of our resources that would and create conditions favourable to business. Instead of a policy like this, Mr. Whitney said at the opening of this campaign that he "had nothing to offer to the people but good intentions." Good intentions would not build up a province; that needed business capacity, business experience and business methods, applied in a business way. The Ross Government represented all this, (applause,) and the people saw this. They were taking no stock in the campaign of petty carping and misrepresentation pursued by the Opposition. Mr. Stratton said that he had been a great deal throughout the province, and he found the people enthusiastic in favour of the Government policy, and the Liberals confident of success. He predicted that in the coming contest the Ross Government would be sustained by a larger majority than they had in the last House. (Applause.)

Mr. Stratton said he had been attacked personally and as a representative, but he felt that his course as a citizen and a public man were well known and that that would furnish its own defence. He was quite willing to leave the matter to the calm judgment and good sense of the electors of West Peterborough, and he hadn't the slightest reason to fear the result when the returns were read out on the evening of May 29th. (Loud applause.)

Mr. R. R. Hall inquired why these people Mr. Stratton mentioned made such reckless statements which in their hearts they knew to be untrue? They simply hoped that it would have some effect in quarters where a contradiction might not reach. This course was taken to withdraw attention from the issues of the day, and to line up the people on prejudices instead of providing them with facts upon which to base a judgment. They knew that if they attacked Mr. Stratton fairly and on his record that there work would be wasted, and the same applied to the record and policy of the Government. (Applause.) When we head any of the wild statements referred to we must take them with a grain of salt and take pains to set any elector whom we knew to be deceived. The speaker said he had met men from all parts of the riding and they gave reports that forecast a large majority for our energetic representative and success for the energetic and go-ahead Government of which he was a member. (Applause.)

Mr. A. C. McCallum also strongly condemned the campaign of false statements that were being used in the interests of the Opposition. In regad to the slanders in reference to Mr. Clergue, of the "Soo," Mr. McCallum said that he had visited the "Soo" in the interests of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company and the impression he then had formed of M. Clergue's energy and capacity, was that he was going to do a great work and his impressions had been verified. There were a great many persons speaking for Mr. Miller but many of them had no weight, what they said was not accepted even by their own friends. There were some things in connection with the Government that did not always meet with the speaker's approval. These were however, minor matters, and he supported the Government on the strength of its splendid record, on account of its broad policy, and on account of its business member in West Peterborough, who had all the qualities of ability, energy and business capacity to make a representative who would do the most to advance the interests of the town and county of Peterborough. (Applause.) In regard to prohibition, the speaker said that Mr. Ross had done more for the cause of temperance than all his detractors put together, and if only temperance people accepted the legislation that had been provided, the best the province could do in the way of prohibition would be done.

Mr. William Yelland said he was glad to be present to hear Mr. Stratton's explanations in reference to the false statements that had been used against him and the Government, and his supporters present were now provided with the means of fighting these slanders. He had had a sheet called the Liberator thrown into his house, and it had tried to boost Mr. Miller by calling him a Methodist. Mr. Miller, the speaker said, was not a member of the Methodist church, and if he were, that fact alone did not qualify him to be a member of Parliament. He (Mr. Yelland) was a Methodist, and a temperance man, and a better temperance man than Mr. Miller, because he did not support a party leader who was a strong enemy of prohibition; yet he did not claim that he should be elected to Parliament because he was a Methodist and a temperance man. He supported the Ross Government on the temperance question because that Government had given the province all the prohibition the Government had power to give; and Mr. Miller would not get his vote, because he was against a prohibition Government, and the supporter of an opponent of prohibition. He had no fault to find with the referendum. If the temperance people were not men enough to come out and vote for it, so that the Government could see where public sentiment stood, they were not very much in earnest. We did not want a change in representation. We did not want to throw over the best representative this riding ever had, and he would do all in his power to elect him again. (Applause.)

The meeting closed with the usual cheers.

"A REPRESENTATIVE TO BE PROUD OF."

In conclusion of an article upon the subject of "The Real Issue," that should be brought before the electors, the Peterborough Times has the following reference to the Government candidate in West Peterborough:

"As the right hand man of Hon. G. W. Ross in pushing forward the constructive movement on which such great results depend, Mr. Stratton should have the hearty support of the electors of West Peterborough. The constituency ought to be proud of having a representative who has taken such an active part in the noble though arduous task devolving upon the Government of Ontario. His prudence shown in the management of his private concerns, have well fitted him for his share in the additional duties and responsibilities undertaken by the cabinet. It would be a public calamity should the electors, allowing themselves to be influenced by altogether minor and secondary considerations, reject one of his proved energy, experience and capacity in favour of a man who can never hope to equal his usefulness. Even were Mr. Miller personally as acceptable a candidate as the Provincial Secretary, it would be a great mistake on the part of the electors to run the risk of defeating a Government which has done so much to promote the best interests of the Province, by depriving the cabinet of his services.

"The all-important question before the people is whether the good work of industrial expansion and the building up of Peterborough and New Ontario shall go on under the auspices of those who have been so far successful in promoting it, or whether for the mere sake of change they will commit it to new and untried hands and run the danger of failure and mismanagement. They should bear in mind the old adage that, "It is a bad time to swap horses when crossing streams."

ANARCHISTS AFTER ALFONSO.

The Young King of Spain Sworn in as Constitutional Ruler—Several Anarchists Arrested in Madrid.

Madrid, May 19.—Just at the moment the young King Alfonso left the Royal Palace Saturday for the Palace of the Cortes, to take the coronation oath, a man dressed like a workman advanced from the front of the crowd and calmly opened the door of the royal carriage, which was badly guarded. He threw a big paper packet at the feet of the young King, who promptly kicked it out of the carriage, and remained seated, without showing the slightest trace of emotion. The guard handled the man roughly.

It has since been ascertained that the man's name is Grues. He is from Murcia, and has been employed as a waiter in a restaurant in Madrid. The paper which he threw at the feet of the King contained a request for the hand in marriage of the Infanta Maria Teresa. The man will be tried by court-martial.

Four Men Armed With Dynamite.

This incident caused increased vigilance on the part of the police, and, later on, four men were arrested among the crowd near the Cortes.

These four were acting suspiciously, and it is now stated that each of them was armed with dynamite cartridges, to which detonators were attached. Eleven cartridges fixed up in this way were found upon the quartette.

But the King safely reached the Palace of the Cortes, took the oath in a firm tone, and is now constitutionally Spain's King.

The King's Oath.

Senor Armijo drew near to the King and held out a Bible, at the same time keeping open a book containing the formula of the oath. His Majesty placed his right hand on the Bible, then uttered the following words:

"I swear by God, upon the Holy Bible, to maintain the constitution and laws. If so I do may God reward me. If I do not may He call me to account."

The Queen Regent, the royal party and all others present listened to the foregoing, standing. King Alfonso then seated himself on the throne.

The President of the Chamber, addressing the King, said:

"The Cortes have received the oath Your Majesty has taken to maintain the consitution and laws."

At the same moment the booming of twenty-one guns was again heard, announcing to the city that the King had taken the oath.

Anarchist Plot Discovered.

An Anarchist plot against King Alfonso has been discovered and six arrests in the matter, including that of Gabriel Lopez, have been made. Dynamite cartridges were found on the premises where Lopez was arrested. Lopez says he received a package of cartridges from another Anarchist with instructions to throw them at the moment of the passage of the royal carriage in Saturday's procession.

The discovery of the plot against the King is confirmed by the newspapers here. It is now said that nine dynamite cartridges were seized. Further arrests have been made and the prisoners include six medical students, a printer, a carpenter and a mason.

The captured cartridges are being analyzed by the military authorities.

Bullfights on Sunday.

The unusual event of two bullfights in one day was witnessed yesterday. One was held in the morning and the other in the afternoon, and the Plaza de Toros was filled each time.

Blood Vessels of the Eye.

Purkinje discovered a very simple and highly entertaining experiment by means of which the retina, with all its veins and blood vessels standing out in relief against it, can be thrown into the air before one's eyes. It is called the aborescent figure, to its likeness to a many branched tree, and is produced in the following manner: In a dark room at night move a candle backward and forward before the eyes. After a few seconds the air will assume a reddish appearance, and running over it in all directions may be seen the veins and blood vessels in bold relief, while toward the center of the figure there rises up a dark trunk, from which the veins branch out on all sides.

The trunk is visible where the optic nerve enters the eye, and this experiment is chiefly interesting to the student as proving that the parts of the retina which actually receive and produce the sensation of light must lie behind the blood vessels, since these cast their shadow on to it and can be seen as clearly as any other object externally.

They Didn't Interfere.

Governor Bob Taylor of Tennessee had a heart as tender as a woman, and the way he pardoned out convicts was something awful. He was waited upon by a committee of the legislature, who very flatly and in no uncertain way told him that this "wholesale pardoning must stop."

"Gov'ner Bob" looked at the committee, tapped a bell, asked for his pardon clerk and when he came said:

"Make out pardons for every man in the penitentiary."

The clerk bowed and withdrew. Then the governor looked at the committee, who were staring as if they thought he was going mad.

"Gentlemen," he said finally, "I am governor of Tennessee, and if this committee or any other ever again seeks to interfere with my constitutional right to pardon I'll sign every one of those pardons which the clerk is making out. Good morning."

Sleight of Hand Poisoning.

A very curious item in toxicological lore I chanced to light upon, wrote George Augustus Sala in one of his letters, may be called the feat of poisoning by sleight of hand. You were jealous of a lady, and you wished to kill her. Well, you asked her to lunch, and you caused a very nice peach to be served at dessert. You cut the fruit with a golden knife, one side of the blade of which was endued with a deadly poison. You presented the poisoned half of the peach to the lady, who ate it with much relish and then dropped down dead.

The wholesome half you ate yourself and laughed in your sleeve and went on slicing more peaches for the ladies of whom you were jealous till you were found out and broken on the wheel. Aye, there's the rub! What high old times we might have, to be sure, but for that plaguy contingency of being found out!

Austrian Bulls.

Here are a few "bulls" that have been perpetrated from time to time in the Austro-Hungarian parliament:

"One most important point of the agricultural question is the maintenance of the breed of horses to which I have the honor to belong."

"We are here for the weal and woe of our constituents."

"Gentlemen, consider this question in the light of a dark future."

"The eye of the law weighs heavily on ourgreas legislation."

"There, gentlemen, is the ever changing point of which the opposition has made a hobbyhorse."

"This taunt is the same old sea serpent which for years and years has been groaning in this assembly."

Abernethy declared that the best time to eat was, for a rich man, when he could get appetite, and, for a poor man, when he could get food.

GAVE LIFE FOR HER BROTHER.

Eight-Year-Old Girl Dies in Agony From Rattlesnake's Bite.

La Crosse, Wis., May 19.—Grace Dickson, 8 years old, gave her life for her 3 year-old brother at Dresbach, Minn. A rattlesnake six feet long had crept into the house and was discovered by the girl as it was about to attack her little brother. Seizing a broom, she attacked the reptile, when it fastened its fangs in her body. She died in great agony on Saturday afternoon.

Monstrous Force of Tornadoes.

Much has been said about electricity as a factor for destructiveness in the various gyrating stormclouds known as cyclones, dreadnoughts and tornadoes. In all of this voluminous mass of so called scientific opinions and deductions one fact seems to have been entirely overlooked—viz, the almost resistless force of wind when moving with high velocity. When the velocity is but fifty miles an hour, the pressure of air in motion is equal to twelve pounds to the square foot, and when this velocity rises to a hundred miles per hour its force rises to the equivalent of 49.2 pounds to the square foot, the augmentation of force being always proportional to the square of the velocity.

It needs no further elaboration or amplification of this statement to convey to the intelligent reader an idea of the monstrous mechanical force which such a rapid traveling mass of air must have, a power great enough to tear down any structure that has yet been built by man or to uproot whole forests of the largest trees now growing on the surface of the earth.

Incidents in American History.

A traveler who has just returned from a visit to Matanzas says that he visited El Cumbre, a short distance from the city, and there was reminded of an incident in American history with which he was entirely unfamiliar and which he is willing to bet not one American in a hundred knows anything about. He refers to the fact that a vice president of the United States took the oath of office there, being authorized to do so by special act of congress. El Cumbre means "the summit," and it was here that William Rufus King, vice president with Franklin Pierce, dying of consumption, was sworn into office March 24, 1853.

Loafing and Working.

Ever notice at the end of a day when you have fooled along with your work and slouched through everything in a slipshod manner that you are tired as if you had worked steadily and done your work well? And how much better satisfied you feel with yourself when you have done your work as you should. Your employer also notices these things. Don't belong to the slipshod class. Do your work well. You will feel better and stand higher in the estimation of the man you work for.—Atchison Globe.

A Sluggish Inactive Liver

Brings Biliousness, Indigestion and Most Painful Bodily Derangements—The Wonderful Curative Influence of

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Not only is the liver the largest and one of the most important organs in the human body, but when deranged it becomes the source of endless suffering. When the liver is clogged by the inactivity of the kidneys and bowels it, becomes torpid and fails to filter the bile from the blood, thus producing biliousness, and a general impairment of the digestive system. The tongue is coated, the head aches, digestion is imperfect; there is aching of the limbs, and back, feelings of fullness, weight and soreness over the stomach and liver; the eye becomes yellow and jaundiced, and the complexion muddy; the urine is scanty and highly coloured, and the bowels irregular, constipation and looseness alternating. There is little use of treating the liver separately, as it can never be set right until the kidneys and bowels are made active in removing the waste matter from the body. It is for this very reason that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have always proved so wonderfully successful in curing the most chronic cases of liver complaint, biliousness and complicated ailments of the kidney, liver and bowels.

Mr. James Clark, Cosseson, Prince Edward Co., Ont., states:—"Eleven years ago I was taken with pains in my back, settling in my hips and extending up my spine. The pain was very severe, and at times almost unendurable, and many days I was not able to do an hour's work. My weight was reduced from 190 to 160 pounds, and though I had consulted many first-class physicians and tried several advertised medicines, I could get no relief.

"At this time my father-in-law told me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and said he knew they would cure me. I secured a box, and great was my surprise when I began to feel better after using only the one box. I continued their use until I had taken four boxes, which made me a sound man, and I also regained my usual weight, 190 pounds. I cannot say too much in favour of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have done so much for me. I have recommended them to a number of my friends and have never met with one case where they did not meet with good success. My daughter, Mrs. Chas. Philips, has also been cured of a severe stomach trouble by the use of these pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 9

A NIGHT OF TERROR

A BOY'S LONELY VIGIL IN A CELLAR WITH A LYNX.

A Tale of the Early Days of Settlement in Upper Canada, Now Ontario—How Relief Came After Many Long, Lonely Hours of Pandemonium Let Loose—A Father's Good Shot.

The ferocious and stealthy Canadian lynx, once so dreaded by the pioneers of Upper Canada, has now almost entirely disappeared from the Province of Ontario. At the time when the adventure here related took place they were numerous and more dreaded than bears.

One summer evening a boy of ten left a neighboring farmer's house, where he had been employed, to return to his own home a couple of miles away. The boy, a man for many years, recently told the story thus:

"Part of my way led through a thick piece' of woods, which came close to the road on both sides. Just as I neared the end of the forest bounded road a cracking in the branches overhead and slightly in advance of me caused my heart to stand still with fear and my legs to go faster. Ere I had gone a dozen paces I heard something drop into the dusty road. Without hesitating a moment or turning my head I ran straight to the rail fence which bordered the road. I was now at the edge of the clearing. It was the 'back field' of our own farm and was newly plowed. A short distance from the road stood a log barn, with a cellar underneath, which had been built for the storage of roots and vegetables, while the upper part was filled with hay.

"I cleared the fence with no remembrance of ever touching it. As I struck across the field I glanced over my shoulder just in time to see an immense lynx poise itself on the top rail, its ugly head and short ears and curved tail showing in fearsome relief against the strip of sky behind. Just a second the brute paused, and then it leaped from the fence and struck after me.

"I managed to reach the barn ahead of the beast, but had no time to swing the great door shut. I made for the trapdoor and by a mighty effort raised it. I had just time to slide underneath and pull it down when I heard the claws of the lynx on the barn floor. The wily creature seemed to be aware that I could not be far away and in less time than it takes to tell it had scented me underneath the trapdoor.

"With a savage whine of joy it began to tear and scratch with its powerful claws at the edge of the trapdoor. A chain hung down from the underside, and to this I clung with all my strength, fearing every moment that the strong claws would succeed in wrenching away all that stood between me and a frightful death.

"Then after a time all was still. I kept quiet and listened a long time. It seemed as though the night must be half gone. I must have been there for hours. Could it be possible that the lynx had grown weary of his vigilance and abandoned his prey? The more I pondered over this idea the more convinced I became that I was correct. I listened intently for awhile longer, but could hear not a sound. I decided to make a venture, but the tales I had heard related of the cunning of these animals made me cautious. So carefully, slowly, a fraction of an inch at a time, I raised the trapdoor.

"Quick as a flash I pulled the trap door down again, and a howl of rage wakened the echoes of the barn. I had the front leg of the lynx jammed between the trapdoor and the floor. Its claws were firmly imbedded in the strong, unyielding fabric of my homespun coat, and—there we were. I couldn't get away from the lynx, and it couldn't get away from me. Whenever it jerked around too much, its claws hurt my shoulder, and I would pull down tighter on the trapdoor to make it keep still. Then it would cry and snarl and whine savagely, ferociously, pleadingly and imploringly.

"The cat had settled down, with seeming acceptance of the inevitable, and I was trying not to fall asleep, when suddenly across the still summer air floated the tune of 'Annie Laurier.' It was my father's whistle. I guessed he was on his way to the neighbor's to see why I had not come home, so I determined to attract his attention. I immediately produced a series of whoops and yells that would have done credit to at least a dozen Apaches on the war-path. Incidentally I bore down on the leg of the lynx, and that animal at once joined in the chorus and howled like a dozen catfights on the roof at the dead of night. Between the two of us the racket must have been like pandemonium let loose. If my father had been anything but the sober, canny Scotchman he was, he would undoubtedly have taken to his heels; but, after ejaculating fervently, 'Lord preserve us a' !' he climbed over the fence and started toward the barn. He had a lantern and his old musket, loaded with buckshot. I kept on calling, 'I'm here, in the cellar!' mentioning my name.

"'Where are you, Bobby?' he called.

"I explained my exact whereabouts without requiring much pressing, and he at once divined the situation.

"Setting his lantern on the floor, he stretched himself flat on his breast on the floor, with the musket level in front of him, so that the shot would not pass through the flooring. Taking careful aim, he fired, and—and the claws convulsively clutched my shoulder as the great cat had its proverbial nine lives all blown to smithereens at once. The lynx measured a trifle over six feet from nose to tail."

What's In a Name?

"I became very much interested in a chance companion on a railway train," said a New York clergyman. "He was plainly of Italian birth or extraction, and so I remarked to him:

"'Where were you born?'

"'In Genoa,' replied the young man.

"'And what is your name?'

"'Patrick Murphy.'

"'How in the world did you get that name?' I asked instinctively.

"'I took it,' replied the young man.

"'Why did you choose such a name?'

"'Because I wanted people to think I was an American,' was his reply."

An Interruption.

The prayer meeting was held at good Brother W.'s house on the hill. The meeting had progressed, and prayer and remarks and hymns had occupied the time. The hour of closing had almost arrived. The dominie in a low voice said: "Now there is just a moment left. Isn't there some one who would like to fill in that moment before we close?" There was dead silence when in the twinkling of an eye the door on the clock flew open, and out popped the head of a little bird, which said, "Cuckoo!"

Prunes.

Dr. Hanson, writing on the subject of prunes, says: "A pound of prunes is equivalent as food to a gallon of milk and costs but a quarter as much. It is about equivalent to a pound of bread, but is far more healthful. Considered from an economic standpoint, no fresh meat, fish, milk or eggs can be provided for the same moderate cost, and none of them contains, even approximately, the same aggregate of nutritive elements."

Douglas Jerrold In School.

Douglas Jerrold wrote "Black Eyed Susan" when he was twenty-one and contributed to Punch the immensely popular "Candle Lectures" not long afterward. But at nine years of age young Jerrold had been scarcely able to read, and it was not until he was apprenticed to a printer, after serving for some time as a midshipman at sea, that he showed either desire or capacity for intellectual improvement.

TWO NAMES AND TWO RESULTS

A large steamer was once wrecked because one of the sailors was named West. The vessel was outward bound from Rotterdam, and the sailor was on deck polishing some brasswork. Suddenly the captain called him and told him to go below. The second officer on the bridge heard the captain call out the man's name and thought it was an order to change the course of the vessel to west. He did so, and the result was that the ship ran on to a dangerous shoal. That name cost the owners of the vessel the sum of $500,000.

During the Afghan war of 1879 a small British detachment gained a victory over a large body of the enemy by a mistaken order. A private named Vance, who had distinguished himself by several acts of bravery, was a great favorite with one of the officers, and during a skirmish the officer wanted him to carry a dispatch to the colonel in command of another detachment. The man was only a few yards away, and he called out, "Vance!" at the top of his voice. The men thought he had given the order "Advance!" and immediately rushed forward with such dash and spirit that the enemy broke and fled.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time and remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase—America's Greatest Physician.

The House Was Shaky.

When John Quincy Adams was eighty years of age, he met in the streets of Boston an old friend, who shook his trembling hand and said, "Good morning, and how is John Quincy Adams today?"

"Thank you," was the ex-president's answer. "John Quincy Adams himself is well, sir; quite well, I thank you. But the house in which he lives at present is becoming dilapidated. It is tottering upon its foundation. Time and the seasons have nearly destroyed it. Its roof is pretty well worn out. Its walls are much shattered, and it trembles with every wind. The old tenement is becoming almost uninhabitable, and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it soon. But he himself is quite well, sir; quite well."

With that the venerable sixth president of the United States moved on with the aid of his staff.

Over a Million Victims.

A careful estimate shows that one fifth of Canada's population suffer every winter with hacking lung weakening coughs. Four T's, Druggist Merrill's great discovery, cures a cough in twenty-four hours, and the worst cold in two days, making it unnecessary to wear out the system in this way. Large bottles, 25 cts., 2t Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

Two Mindedness.

High mindedness and right mindedness may profitably be supplemented by "two mindedness," which has been defined as the habit of taking into account what is urged on both sides and trying to combine the essential parts of the two opposing arguments into one higher truth. Magnanimity, honesty, breadth—a trio of qualities worth possessing and the last by no means the least.

Placing the Sympathy.

Grimes—Doesn't it disgust you to see a youngster trying to make a man of himself by imitating the wiles of his elders?

Harris—Not at all. I cannot help sympathizing with the boy, he evidently so thoroughly enjoys making a fool of himself.

Not Entirely.

A little investigation shows that the strong taste of pure cod liver oil cannot be entirely removed without entirely removing the oil. You can taste the oil in Scott's Emulsion, but it is not unpleasant.

A Puzzle.

Mother (reprovingly to little girl just ready to go for a walk)—Dolly, that hole was not in your glove this morning.

Dolly (promptly)—Where was it, then, mamma?

Of 100,000,000 passengers by sea all the world over fifty lose their lives. Of the same number by rail forty-seven are killed.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Held in Connection With the Late Mr. Henry Denne in St. Luke's Church Yesterday.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt held a memorial service yesterday morning in St. Luke's church in connection with the death of the late Mr. Henry Denne, Esq. After speaking to some length on the term "Comforter," which Christ uses most frequently in referring to the Holy Spirit, he spoke of the great things and high duties which were expected of man in this connection. The speaker then went on to say: "But this beautiful office of the Holy Ghost impresses itself very much upon my mind at this season, when a beloved family of our church has passed through the furnace of affliction through the recent death of a beloved father and husband. What a privilege it is at such times, for a minister of the gospel to have the promise of the Father to proclaim that He will send the Divine Comforter to show us even things to come.

"As you all know our venerable friend, Mr. Henry Denne, fell asleep in Jesus, on Tuesday, May 6th. The end came suddenly, though his poor state of health after the first attack of sixteen months ago, did not give much hope that he would live much longer.

"Sincerely lamented by his bereaved wife and sorrowing family, universally regretted and mourned for by all noble-minded people, we, as a congregation, feel his loss very much. Though on account of his infirmity he had to withdraw his activity from the work and councils of the church for the last few years, we remember gratefully to-day that he was one of the promoters of this church and one who took great interest in the creation of this parish in 1878. His liberality helped substantially year after year to make this church grow and prosper, and his good advice and wise counsel were very much valued in the affairs of our church. As a business man and official he was looked up to by all classes of the community, and he enjoyed the unlimited confidence of all. To his family he has left to cherish an honourable name and an example worthy to imitate. As a strictly honest and honourable man his name stood among the foremost. He was esteemed by all for his noble qualities of mind and heart. The widespread interest and general sorrow which his death has excited, and the high place he held in the people's heart, the very large attendance at his funeral proved.

"I shall not attempt to describe what he was as a husband and a father. In these relations, one with such fervent faith, ceaseless cheerfulness, self-sacrificing ways and high ideas of duty, must needs fulfil them nobly.

"To say that is enough, and yet it seems but barren praise for one so thoughtful, so kind and good. But it does not seem right to lift the veil higher, or to expose to the public gaze the true Christian as he shows himself in the quiet circle of his own home and among loved and lasting friends.

"For my part I have not ceased to thank God that He permitted me, though late, to meet my dear departed friend, to whom God had given such child-like faith in his Saviour and such many tokens of the Divine grace dwelling within him. To have had the pleasure and privilege of witnessing his entire dependence upon his God, and his earnest striving to imitate the perfect example of his Saviour, Jesus Christ, has been in itself a God-given help towards folowing the Lord Jesus more earnestly in my own life.

"Since that sad day for his dear ones, (to him, however, the beginning of blessedness), our prayers have gone up and will, I hope, continue to do so, that God may comfort and strengthen and console his sorrowing widow and his many bereaved relations.

"I have but a few words to add, my brethren, and I am done. The Holy Ghost, at such seasons of sorrow, opens to us the joys and the brightness, the rest and the services, the loves and the re-unions of the world to come. And, as the veil lifts awhile under His hand and we see more clearly than before the joys and the meetings in that sweet land of promise, the present sinks into insignificance, distance is lost, the interval grows short, we almost grasp the heaven He discloses. He shows us the great things to come, and we are comforted.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. JOHN'S.

At the close of the regular service at St. John's church last night, a pleasing musical recital was given through the kindness of two gifted visitors to town, assisted by Master Reg. Deacon, boy soprano, and Miss Cochrane, organist of St. John's church. Mrs. Chas. Wilmot, of Forks-on-Credit, sang in good voice "With Verdure Clad," from Handel's Oratorio, and also Kipling's "Recessional," the latter being a particularly appreciated effort. Miss Polly Howden, of Port Hope, was heard to good advantage in "Rest, Rest for the Weary." Mrs. Wilmot also sang at the morning service.

Student Volunteer Movement.

The Rev. J. H. Bruce, representing the Student Volunteer Movement, passed through to Lakefield to-day, where he holds a special meeting to-night. To-morrow night Mr. Bruce will address a large union meeting in St. Andrew's S. S. Hall at eight o'clock. All the members of the church are invited, and especially members of the W. F. M. S., Christian Endeavour and Sabbath School.

Mrs. Milligan, wife of the late Capt. W. P. K. Milligan, who lost his life in the Little Hart's River fight in the Transvaal on March 31st, while serving with the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, has received letters from Lieut. Marshall and from Corp. Brown, relating the circumstances of Pte. Milligan's death. Lieut. Marshall writes from the camp of the Canadian Rifles, 40 miles fom Klerksdorp, April 4th. His letter says:—

"Just a few lines to express to you our heartfelt sympathy regarding the death of your husband. It will be of some consolation to you to know that he more than did his duty while out with us. He was very faithful in all his work, very quiet and most willing, a general favourite, not only in our troop, but in the squadron. Your husband had given a hand to one of our wounded men, and on rejoining his troop, was struck by a rifle bullet. It was instant death to him; no suffering whatever. Capt. Elmsley asks me to tell you how much we regret his loss. Again wishing you much sympathy. We are looking after his effects, and hope to send them home to you."

Corporal W. W. Brown, formerly Major in the 3rd Dragoons, whose headquarters are at Peterborough, writes; "Your husband and I were comrades, and I deeply sympathize with you in your irreparable loss. He was a good man, and well thought of by officers and men. I secured his watch and his chain, money belt, containing £3, and field glass, and handed them over to Mr. Marshall to be sent home. Also his Maple Leaf badges. I hope to come back, and will visit you upon arrival, as we had an understanding if anything happened we would write to each other's wives. It was a fierce engagement, and our loss was heavy. I may say his end was painless and quiet. He had helped another man on a stretcher, and took up his position again, and was shortly hit. We did all for the dead we could, and fixed up the grave in which lay eight Canadians. I send you the deep and heartfelt sympathy of myself and the whole troop, and trust I may be spared to visit you and your dear family when we come back."

DIED SUDDENLY.

Rev. Mr. Adam, Methodist minister at Hastings, died very suddenly in that town this afternoon. Deceased was a brother-in-law of Mr. George E. Elliott of town.

This is the second daughter which Mr. Devlin has lost in the last two months. The sympathy of the community will be extended to the afflicted family.

Prose and Poetry.

Despite the noble work done by men so various as Ruskin and Stevenson, Pater and Newman, one feels that the full glory of prose, as a medium for beauty, was not realized by them—is not yet realized save by a few. Prose is not yet written as frankly for its own sake as poetry. It ought to be. Of course I do not mean that it ought not to be continued as a vehicle for every kind of didactic purpose. But it ought also to be used by those who could well use it so for the expression of merely lyrical feeling.

In modern English prose there are, it is true, many lyrical passages, but they are always sandwiched apologetically in the midst of expository writing. The only separate prose lyrics that I can recall written in English are translations from another language, such as Mr. Andrew Lang's translation from Theocritus. I recommend that dear little book as an incentive to young writers of prose. It will embolden them to be merely lyrical, thus hastening the day when writers of prose shall be as specific and distinct a class as poets are now.—London Academy.

Coffee Cigarettes.

The latest novelty in Paris is the coffee cigarette, made not from the ground bean, but from the leaf of the tree. It affords a fragrant and, it is claimed, harmless smoke, completely weaning the palate from tobacco and thereby conferring a benefit on the race.... The cigarettes are made in different degrees of strength.

WOOD FAMINE AT AN END.

The wood famine which has prevailed in town recently, came to an end on the receipt of two scows of hardwood, both green and dry, by J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

STOCK MARKETS.

Appertaining to the Strike.

New York, May 17th, 1902.—The strike has commenced. A comparatively close vote at Hazelton indicated that a great body of the men were not in favour of striking. As a mutual consequence, the strike will be half hearted, and a period will be likely to speedily come when many of the men will be likely to break away, seeking re-employment. The men are better paid to-day than ever before. It looks as if it were a struggle among some of the leaders for control of the Miners' organization. The action of Mitchell in bringing the matter before the men for their vote upon the subject was a most adroit one. When they are beaten they cannot lay the results at his door. The fact that the organization have but comparatively little money, and the merchants are not in sympathy with the strike will have a tendency to bring on a crisis quickly. Merchants in coal fields will not extend credit to strikers. All their purchases must consequently be paid for in cash. This will have a tendency to hasten the end. The more men the Union induce to go out, the more quickly will matters be brought to a head, as there will be more people dependent upon the treasury of the organization. As to the coal companies, they will suffer but comparatively little harm. The dull season in the coal trade is ahead, and they will be in the wages of the strikers, and in addition get additional prices for the coal they have on hand. It looks certainly now as if the coal companies would speedily be masters of the situation, while the strikers will be the losers. We doubt very much if the coal shares will decline much. If they sell off a trifle it will certainly pay to purchase them. No shares have more potent factors for selling higher than the coalers. Those who sell when the stocks are weak we believe will lose money. These shares are already down owing to strike prospects, and have pretty well discounted the matter. No better time could have been appointed for a final settlement between the men and their employers than the present. We believe the present strike will settle matters for a long time to come, and that the settlement will not be disadvantageous to the companies. A bearish attack was engineered to-day against W. U. stock, which opened down a point and was carried down a point more. It recovered before the close. It has been a noticeable fact for a long time past, that the last stock to move up in a rising market was the last to fall in a declining one. R. C. sold within a fraction of 66, and other stocks sympathized. Under the influence of a good bank stimulant stocks recovered in the closing hour. We advise buying the market when it is depressed.

WHY THE ROSS GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE SUSTAINED.

No Administration in the history of Canada ever went to the people with a better or more creditable record, with a stronger support from the best elements of the community, or with a more assured hope of a signal and emphatic endorsement of their course than the Liberal Government of Ontario. If any evidence of the strength of their position were needed, it could be found in tne speeches of the Conservative leaders, in the petty and carping criticism and frothy declamation to which they resort, in lieu of argument. Every address made by the Opposition is a confession of inability to find real serious ground of attack against the Government on broad questions of policy or mismanagement of the public resources.

The record of the Province of Ontario for good, economical and progressive government, stands unrivalled on this continent. Where is there any other community which has steadily maintained a place in the front rank with regard to advanced legislation and administrative methods and the liberal expenditure of money in the people's interests without imposing a cent of direct taxation or incurring any public debt?

While maintaining every department of the public service at a high standard of efficiency, and giving judicious aid to the development of the resources of the province, besides assisting in numerous ways to lighten the burdens of municipal taxation, the careful and judicious economy exercised has resulted in the accumulation of a surplus of over two and a half million dollars.

The Government has administered the important department of Crown Lands with so careful a regard for the public interests that since 1872 they have collected a revenue of $31,791,278 from this source, or over one million a year, by steadily pursuing the policy of securing the highest price obtainable for the timber disposed of. While in many cases elsewhere the people's property has been dissipated for the enrichment of political favourites, the record of the Liberal Government has been absolutely free from stain or suspicion on this ground.

The money secured by economical and thrifty administration has been given back to the people. There is no province or state where so large a share of the public revenue is spent in the encouragement of agriculture and education, the construction of roads and railways, and the care of the afflicted.

For these and similar objects, the expenses of which would otherwise fall on the local taxpayer, the Liberal administration has since 1871 expended $85,418,205 out of a total revenue of $103,960,277.

Where is there another government on this continent that can point to such a record? Where is there a people anywhere whose resources are so prudently and honestly husbanded and so liberally expended for the good of the entire community?

The assailants of the administration cannot point to a single dollar that has been wrongfully expended. They cannot indicate a single important item of expenditure which could be dispensed with or curtailed to the advantage of the public.

The people of Ontario during the last generation have grown so accustomed to good government that they have learned to regard it as a matter of course, and hardly realize how favoured they have been, as compared with other sections.

The Ross Government has not been satisfied with simply conducting the ordinary business of the Province in an honest and economical manner—they have been thorough and progressive.

They have realized that the times demand a policy of active encouragement of the various great interests and enterprises which go to build up a country and contribute to its greatness and prosperity.

They have encouraged railway construction by grants of land and money, sanctioned by the Legislature, and have advanced settlement by the building of colonization roads.

They have promoted the settlement and opening up of New Ontario by wise and statesmanlike measures, tending to secure the establishment of various industries which give the farmer a market at his door for all he can produce, and stimulate the trade and manufacture of Old Ontario by increasing the number of consumers.

A STRONG POINT.

One of the strongest points in favour of

is that it can be easily washed and does not shrink. When you buy it it fits, and after constant washing it will still fit as well as the day it was first put on. Compare this with the woollen garment which gaows thicker and harder and smaller with each washing. And this is only one of the many good points in favour of

The Dr. Deimel Underwear

A little booklet, mailed free, tells of many more.

TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1902.

THE CONSERVATIVE-PROHIBITIONIST CANDIDATE.

Conservatives are asked to support Mr. Miller as a follower of Mr. Whitney. He appeals on party grounds to the opponents of the Liberal Government. It is as a Conservative, standing on the Conservative platform, and prepared to vote Mr. Whitney into the Premiership, that he will receive the greater proportion of such votes as may be cast for him.

Temperance men are exhorted to vote for Mr. Miller because he is a Prohibitionist. They are asked to put aside all other considerations, and make that the main issue. They are asked to resent the action of the Ross Government in submitting the question to a referendum, by electing Mr. Miller as a Prohibitionist.

A more impudent, brazen-faced attempt to befool the electors by occupying two utterly inconsistent positions, could hardly be imagined. A comprehensive record of the two parties in the matter of temperance reform, will show that only the influence of extreme and unreasoning partizanship, could range any genuine Prohibitionist among the opponents of the Ross Government.

The Premier has been a sincere, consistent, active temperance reformer. He has carried his principles into effect just as fully as is possible in a free country, where public opinion is the court of last resort. He has restricted the liquor traffic, so far as his power goes. The settled policy of the Liberal party has been the reduction of the number of liquor licenses and increased restrictions upon the sale of intoxicants. Recognizing—as every intelligent temperance reformer recognizes — that prohibition is only workable where a strong public sentiment in its favour exists — a referendum was granted, under which the Prohibitionists can gain their cause so soon as it commends itself to a majority of the electors.

Now, what is the attitude of Mr. Whitney and the Conservative party upon the question? When the matter came up in the House, Mr. Whitney defined his position as being distinctly opposed to Prohibition, and the Referendum. He pledged himself to further decreases in the number of licenses and the maintenance of re-restrictions in the traffic — which is just the policy the Government has steadily pursued. Furthermore, he promised to "remove the commissioners and inspectors from political and party influence." This is a very vague and indefinite proposition, and no subsequent utterances of the Opposition leader has thrown any further light upon it. In view of the previous utterances and votes of the Opposition — in view of Mr. Whitney's own vote in 1890, when the question of a change in the mode of appointing commissioners came before the House the only interpretation that can fairly be placed upon it is that Mr. Whitney would transfer these appointments from the hands of the Government to those of the municipalities—a matter which no temperance man desires. On that occasion he supported a resolution to have the Commissioners in cities and towns elected by the municipal electors.

To revert to the old, discredited system of municipal control of liquor licenses would be bad enough, but to make the manner in which the law should be enforced an issue in every municipal contest would be attended with infinitely worse evils. The Commissioners would be dependent for their positions upon the votes of a large class of men who favour a lax enforcement. They would be sorely tempted to wink at infractions, to tolerate abuses and illicit selling for fear they might offend some of their constituents. Men also who would be inflexible in their determination to preserve good order and sustain public morality, would be made to feel that zeal and fidelity in carrying out their duties might be rewarded with defeat at the polls.

No sincere temperance reformer can endorse such a demoralizing proposition. No man who is old enough to remember the abuses of the former system of municipal control of licenses, and who has noted the vast improvement in civic morality and public order since the Government assumed control of the traffic, could wish the business placed on the old footing, even without the additional peril of elected Commissioners.

But yet some prohibitionists and temperance reformers, who are dissatisfied with the referendum because it does not give them immediately all they want, are advocating the claims of men—Mr. Miller in the West and Dr. Ford in the East—pledged to follow a leader, who is not only opposed to Prohibition but would undo the good work in the direction of temperance reform accomplished by the Liberals.

Mr. Whitney's views on the temperance reform question are not merely unprogressive, but re-actionary. Mr. Miller and Dr. Ford have a right, if they regard it as the supreme issue, to appeal to the public as prohibitionists. It is an important question and many worthy and conscientious men are disposed to consider it of more consequence than the issues which divide parties. But no man can honestly and consistently take this ground and at the same time pose as a supporter of Mr. Whitney who has emphatically declared himself as opposed to prohibition in any shape, and is disposed to restore in an intensified form the worst evils of the old time municipal licensing system.

Such a double-faced course cannot command the respect or adherence of the intelligent voters of West Peterborough or East Peterborough either. It is insincere and hypocritical in the extreme. Mr. Miller and Dr. Ford may call themselves prohibitionists to gain the suffrages of a handful of wrong-headed and disatisfied extremists, but their return would be a triumph for Mr. Whitney and the Conservative cause, the ascendancy of which would be a evil day for temperance reform and put back the clock of progress for many years. The electors of both East and West Peterborough should study this question in all its bearings and see where the inconsistency lies in partizan candidates, pledged to follow a political leader opposed to prohibition, demanding support on the plea of their being temperance men, and on that plea alone.

AT CROSS PURPOSES.

Mr. Whitney has several heretics in his ranks. Mr. Miscampbell, who is slated for a seat in Mr. Whitney's cabinet—when he forms it — is the arch heretic. He tumbles over without remorse the fetish the Opposition has worshiped for a score of years—no surplus. He now declares that there is an Ontario surplus of over $2,000,000. Mr. Carscallen, another of Mr. Whitney's coming — at a millennial pace—cabinet colleagues, is at daggers drawn with his leader, on the policy of dealing with our nickel. Mr. Carscallen wants an export duty put on nickel and Mr. Whitney says no, decidedly. Mr. Whitney weeps hot tears over the oppression the people grovel under in the shape of high priced school books. Dr. Beatty Nesbitt, another prospective member of Mr. Whitney's prospective cabinet, shows, in an elaborate argument, that Ontario has very cheap school books. Mr. Matheson, the strenuous apostle of the no-surplus cry, claims that we have a debt of from five to any number of millions you like to imagine. Mr. Whitney wants Crown water power—at election times—made "free as air." One of his prospective cabinet ministers wants the Government to waste millions in developing electric energy from Crown water powers to be supplied to municipalities at cost. All this constitutes rather a hash of policy with which to cement a cabinet together. The diversion of the Kilkenny Cats or a Conservative caucus, disciplining Mr. Marter, would be a harmony club compared to a council meeting of a Whitney cross-purposes cabinet. But what else could be expected when the leader of the party gives his followers no policy upon which they can agree or even try to agree. Mr. Whitney's policy is only "good intentions," and that is subject to such an elastic interpretation that it is no wonder that each follower is taking his own sweet will, in striking a go-as-you-please political pace and brings up suddenly at the end of a blind lane. The one thing, however, they all agree upon, like "birds in their little nests," is the burning desire to form a cabinet of some kind—to get office.

OPERATIVE OPTIMISM.

Hon. G. W. Ross has the fullest faith in the resources of Ontario, and in its future, and while he holds to a magnificent optimism in both respects, he adds to his faith works, and to his optimism operative energy. While intensely practical, Mr. Ross is given to relieve the solider periods of his addresses with touches of academic sentiments—hope and stirring confidence-breathing eloquence—at the same time as ornamental as the arabesques on a Damascus blade but, withal, as pointed. Mr. Ross concluded his splendid address at Owen Sound, which had shown what a great provincial policy the Government had originated—and in great part, applied—in the following words;

"What evidence have the Opposition ever given that they possessed similar powers of initiation as the Government have done in regard to those matters, of which I have only given the briefest outline? Have the electors any pride in sustaining a Government that has admittedly attained the rank of leadership throughout the Dominion in wise and progressive legislation?

"We offer you not simply good intentions," said Mr. Ross in conclusion, "but concrete positive propositions. You can see them if you walk the streets of Owen Sound. You can find them in the busy industries of this town, and of all the towns and cities of the province. You can see them in the large barns being erected on the farms, through the increased intelligence of the agricultural classes. You can hear them in the whistle of the locomotive, as it penetrates the forest, carrying to the remotest part of the country the products of old Ontario; you can see it in the comfort of Canadian homes, and, I tell you, ladies and gentlemen, that prosperity that does not enter the home, legislation that does not go to the fire side, is legislation that does not make for the good of the whole people. There is a spirit of patriotism and of confidence in the air. We are not retrograding but progressing. The pessimist has taken to the woods, the doubting Thomases have been expelled from discipleship.

"Night's candles are burned out,
"And jocund day stands tiptoe on the misty mountain tops."

"Every person feels the impulse of hope, feels the force of that prosperity. I say drive the pessimist from the field, drive him into the remotest part of the land, where he cannot mark his ballot against good government — where he will enjoy the seclusion from civilization, to which he is not entitled, and to which he does not propose to contribute. Remember that Ontario must hold its first place in the Dominion, or it must recede.

"Look to your work and be strong,
Certain of sword and pen,
Who are neither children nor gods,
But men in a world of men."

"When you go to vote ask yourself if you are voting for the good of Ontario or for the elevation of a party into power? Ask yourself, does that vote represent progress, fair play, justice, toleration, prosperity, or does it express a merely cynical party thirst for power, without the qualification for exercising its usefulness, anxious for promotion without showing any fitness for such promotion? Ask yourself these questions, not in the spirit of a partizan, but in the spirit of an intelligent Canadian, and if you ask them I am satisfied that upon the 29th of May there will be thousands of ballots marked for our candidates—and I am satisfied, too, that the people of Ontario will support progressive Government, that they will say it is not time for a change, that they will vote for economy and progress, and that they will remember Ross."

PHYSICIAN HEAL THYSELF.

Mr. Whitney poses as the apostle of political purity. He talks as if he were leader of a party that had never committed a colourable, let alone, corrupt, political act. Mr. Whitney's party has the doubtful honour of having reduced political corruption to a fine art, and put it in practice to an extent never reached, within cannon-shot, by any other party. Yet Mr. Whitney has been never known to denounce a single one of the long list of corrupt acts committed by the party of which he is leader. The most he ever did was once, during his New Ontario tour, to reluctantly admit that the Conservative party had not been altogether free from blame in the matter — only that and nothing more. Mr. Whitney, in North Ontario, was a few days ago, sitting on the same platform with Mr. Charles Calder, who was unseated, after being elected for South Ontario, by the "most glaring corruption," Judge Ferguson "ever heard of." This is the scene of the exploits of "Billy" Smith, who admitted having spent $1,200 to elect Mr. Calder. Mr. Whitney took Mr. Calder to his bosom, and forgot all about "Billy" Smith. Mr. Whitney was in the same riding where the Conservative candidate, J. A. McGillivray, in 1896, was elected, or, rather, declared elected, by bogus votes resulting from tampering with the ballots after they had been marked—taking out of the envelopes 21 ballots marked by the electors for the Liberal candidate, and replacing them with 21 ballots marked by the Conservative ballot switchers for the Conservative candidate.

Yet in the midst of these reeking reminiscences of Conservative corruption, under all this inspiration to virtuous indignation and righteous denunciation, Mr. Whitney kept silent, and thereby condonned the political corruption practised for his profit. Humbug could go no further than Mr. Whitney carries it, in declaring that his mission is to purify electoral methods. The only qualification for this mission Mr. Whitney can claim, judging by the record of his friends, consists in the spirit of the proverb, "set a thief to catch a thief."

Mr. Whitney is not above practising a little corruption on his own account. Speaking during a Welland bye-election in 1900, at Niagara Falls, Mr. Whitney declared, as a bribe to the electors of Niagara Falls, that he would do all in his power to give to the town free power, thus sacrificing the rental of $25,000 to be paid by the Power Company to the Government for all time to come; rather a high price to pay for one constituency, even for a political puritan like Mr. Whitney.

Mr. Whitney was present at a meeting in Aurora, North York, on April 9th, in the interests of his candidate, Mr. T. Herbert Lennox. Mr. Lennox roundly scored Hon. Mr. Davis for not bringing the Penetanguishene Reformatory to North York, and said, "If Mr. Whitney is returned to power and becomes Premier of this province,, I will see that he sends the Reformatory to North York — Newmarket or Aurora." Not a bad or unbrazen bribery bid. Yet Mr. Whitney, who spoke a few minutes after, and asserted that there would be no corruption in Ontario, such as he charged the Liberals with, had he been in power, spoke no word of condemnation of the corrupt bid for votes made by his candidate, in his hearing, only a few minutes previously. And this is the leader who asks the help of the people to put down corruption! Could hypocrisy go further?

Paine's Celery Compound
Is the Great Restorer of Health for the Ruler and his Humblest Subject.

Sickness, disease and suffering respect neither ruler nor subject. The noted and high-born have their trials and physical sufferings like those in humbler stations. Social standing and wealth cannot bar the progress of disease when the common rules of health are violated.

Impure blood and weak nerves are responsible for many of the common diseases of life. The experienced physician will tell you that men and women with pure, clear, coursing blood and well braced nerves, can never become victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, liver troubles, debility headaches or sleeplessness.

It follows, therefore, that sufferers from any of the ailments referred to, should at once take prompt measures to cleanse the blood and feed the weak, nervous system with proper nourishment.

For the happy accomplishment of this important work, Paine's Celery Compound is the only safe agent; the one great specific; the only security against deadly disease and death. During these spring days, Paine's Celery Compound guarantees a perfect regularity of the bowels, healthy appetite, sound sleep, good digestion, pure blood, strong nerves and clear brain, all of which mean full and robust health.

Mr. B. Hutchins, one of the most prominent real estate men in Montreal, says; "About five years ago I wrote you a letter acknowledging the wonderful effect your Paine's Celery Compound had upon me after I had given it a fair trial; that it cured me entirely of neuralgia in the head, from which I had suffered most severely for over fifty years, and also that it cured me of rheumatism in my limbs. In fact it cured every pain in my body, and made me feel 25 years younger. I have not had a return of my old complaint, and therefore have to confirm all the statements I have ever made respecting your Compound."

THE COAL STRIKE.

President Mitchell Has Established Headquarters at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Lake Steamers Are Seriously Affected.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 20.—President John Mitchell of the United States Mine Workers' of America arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock last night and established headquarters.

Effects Lake Steamers.

Rochester, N.Y., May 20.—The effects of the coal strike are being felt seriously by the steamship captains on Lake Ontario, the situation becoming more critical hourly, and many lake sailors say that unless the strike is broken in a few days steam transportation on the lakes will be practically at a standstill. There is a large number of steamers, many of which never before have put into this port, are now lying in Charlotte harbor waiting to be coaled.

Coal Vessels Tied Up at Toronto.

Toronto, May 20.—The schooners Kewatin and Arthur were tied up at the Rogers' coal dock yesterday, owing to the strike of Pennsylvania coal miners. There are no cargoes across the lake awaiting them, hence they will be out of commission until the strike ends. It is expected that all hard coal vessels will be tied up within a few days, as no anthracite is being shipped from the mines to the trestles at the docks.

Strike at Windsor.

Windsor, May 20.—The carpenters and mechanics employed at the planing mills of A. N. McLean and John Piggott & Sons went on strike yesterday morning. The men demanded a ten per cent. increase in pay and recognition of their union. This was refused. W. J. McKee, who has a mill in West London street, has signed the agreement granting the increase, and yesterday his men were at work. There are 24 men now idle, and at least 50 will be out before the end of the week unless their demands are agreed to.

Wage Troubles Settled.

Toronto, May 20.—It was announced yesterday that the representatives of the G.T.R. telegraphers and Manager F. H. McGuigan had come to a settlement regarding the question of wages. By the settlement the telegraphers will receive a minimum scale of $45 per month.

The strike of the carpenters and joiners is now a thing of the past. All members of this trade who went out on strike have returned to work, receiving all their demands. The Street Railway carpenters have also gone back, receiving a substantial increase.

Something About Faith Cures.

What a great variety of faith cures there must be some have faith in so-called divine healers, others in certain doctors and still others in the medicines they use. Every person who has tested Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has faith in them, but faith or no faith they cure just the same, for they act directly and specifically on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and make these organs healthy, active and vigorous. Judging from the enormous demand for these Pills there must be hosts of people that have faith in them.

Five Persons Killed.

Lacrosse, Wis., May 20.—News reached here yesterday morning from Preston, Minn., near here, on the Dubuque division of the Milwaukee road, that a water spout struck a few miles from there last night, deluging the country for miles around. Four unknown persons were drowned, and Alderman Conkey was killed by lightning.

225 MINERS KILLED

Explosion of Fraterville Coal Mine at Coal Creek, Tenn.

ONE MAN ONLY WAS BLOWN OUT

Explosion Made a Frightful Roar and Flames Immediately Shot From the Entrance and Air Shafts—Awful Scenes Most Eager Rescuing Parties—Scenes to Rend the Heart at the Mouth of the Pit.

Coal Creek, Tenn., May 20.—The worst disaster in the history of Tennessee mining occurred at 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning, when between 175 and 225 men and boys met instant death at the Fraterville coal mine, two miles west of this town, as a result of a gas explosion. Out of the large number of men and boys who went to work in the morning, developments at 10 o'clock last night showed that only one is alive, and he is so badly injured that he cannot live. This man was William Morgan, an aged Englishman, who was a road man in the mine, and was blown out of the entrance by the force of the explosion. One hundred and seventy-five miners were checked in for work yesterday morning by the mine boss. In addition to these were boys who acted as helpers and drivers, road men and others to the number of perhaps 50.

Fraterville mine is the oldest mine in the Coal Creek district, having been opened in 1870. It is fully three miles from the mines, opening to the point where the men were at work. They had not been at work long, before the terrible explosion occurred. There was a fearful roar, and then flames shot from the entrance and the air shafts. News of the disaster spread like wildfire, but as soon as possible two rescuing parties were started in, one at the main entrance, the other through Thistle Mine, which adjoins and in which no men were at work. The Thistle party was unable to make any headway, as the gas stifled the workers. The Fraterville party went fully two miles under the earth until a heavy fall of slate was encountered. At this barrier men worked like demons, hoping against hope that those beyond might be safe.

The scenes at the mouth of the mine while the workers were within were beyond description. Business had been suspended in Coal Creek, and all its mines, as soon as the news of the disaster became known, and men, women and children gathered around the Fraterville entrance. Women, whose husbands and sons were within, were wild with grief. All day long the rescuers toiled at the slate obstruction, and not until 5 o'clock last evening did they force an entrance through it. Up to that hour only five dead bodies had been recovered, and hope was still high that many within were safe. The hopes of the living were doomed, however, for when once the rescuers could enter and proceed they walked through a continuous tomb of death. There was not a sign of life. Every man had perished, they believe, although it will be some time this morning before all the rooms can be entered.

The Fraterville mine is owned by the Coal Creek Coal Company, of which Major E. J. Camp is president. He was in Cincinnati, and is now hurrying to the scene of the disaster. In 1891, after inspecting Fraterville mine, State Commissioner of Labor R. A. Shiflet reported that the ventilation was not up to the requirements; that the furnace was inadequate to ventilate the mine, and that the airways were choked in places.

A Distinguished Visitor.

There arrived this morning at Ormond and Walsh's pharmacy, from Brantford, six dozen bottles of that celebrated medicine Merrill's System Tonic. This is not a patent medicine, but a reliable remedy prescribed by three eminent doctors and dispensed by a druggist. Purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and regulates the bowels. Price 50 cents for 50 doses. Get a bottle to-day while it lasts.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

Mrs. Joseph Larose Avoided the Surgeon's Knife by Taking the New Ozone Method of Curing Disease.

I consider it my duty, says Mrs. Joseph Larose, No. 292 St. Timothee street Montreal, to allow my very happy experience with Powley's Liquified Ozone, to come before the public.

MRS. JOSEPH LAROSE, MONTREAL

I had long been subject to severe headaches, and about a year ago a tumorous growth appeared in my chest, and was very sore and painful It was about the size of an egg, and caused myself and friends no small amount of alarm.

I had hospital treatment for three months, and consequently a painful plaster application which only increased my sufferings without doing any good.

I began taking Ozone six months ago, applying it outwardly and taking it also internally. I have used in all eight bottles and the growth has entirely disappeared without the aid of the dreaded knife.

I feel very thankful for my recovery and am always glad to tell others about Ozone.

The method surprises many people because it cures so many; and what appears to be such different forms of disease. You will readily understand why this is when you think of the blood and remember what a fundamental function it is. In health it is health; bearing nourishment and vitality to every tissue, nerve, tendril, muscle and organ of the body. In disease it is disease, spreading foulness and poisonous germs throughout the system. Now Powley's Liquified Ozone acts on the blood. It increases its oxygen-carrying power, adds to its food-giving properties, purifies it and disinfects all the tissues through which it passes. If there are any humors or growths in the body that are not normal, the Ozone will gradually dissolve them and restore natural healthy conditions. You can purchase Powley's Liquified Ozone at your druggists. There are two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

"There were unwritten orders to take no prisoners," which were carried out in one campaign. He did not know who issued the orders. He admitted that he had seen many prisoners, and they were treated kindly by officers and men.

Spectator Sued For Libel.

Toronto, May 20.—A writ was issued yesterday afternoon against The Hamilton Spectator, claiming unstated damages for alleged libel, at the suit of the Reliance Loan and Savings Company of Ontario, whose head office is in Toronto. The charge of libel arises out of an article appearing in The Hamilton Spectator of May 5 last, imputing dishonest methods to the plaintiffs in their transactions with their customers. The article seems specially directed against Hon. John Dryden, Commissioner of Agriculture in the Ross Government, who is president of the Reliance Loan and Savings Company.

THE TEXAN DISASTER

Latest Reports Give 79 Killed and 95 Injured at Goliad.

THE PROPERTY LOSS IS $200,000

Houses Collapsed as If Built of Cardboard—Dead and Injured Covered With Debris Making Rescue Slow—Everything in Tornado's Path Levelled—Severe Havoc Wrought by Storm.

Houston, Tex., May 20.—The latest reports from Goliad state that 79 persons were killed and 95 injured by the tornado which passed over that city Sunday afternoon. The property loss in the city and surrounding country will probably reach $200,000. The storm swept the city from end to end, and demolished 150 stores and residences, many of which cannot be repaired. There is only one telegraph wire working into Goliad, and owing to the crush of official business it is impossible to obtain a list of the dead and injured.

The tornado, which was preceded by a terrific downpour of hail, lasted only a few minutes. The hailstorm drove the people into their houses, where they were caught like rats in a trap, and the death-dealing wind came upon them with terrific force, levelling everything in its path. The tornado swept an area 250 yards wide for a distance of a mile and a half. Houses collapsed as if built of card-board, covering the dead and injured with debris which necessarily makes the work of rescue slow. People flocked to the town from all of the surrounding country. Many of them had relatives in the city. The work of rescue was carried on all day yesterday and the funeral of several victims took place during the afternoon. The supply of coffins had been replenished from other towns, and a large force of laborers are still at work digging graves for many of the unfortunate victims.

The storm wrought severe havoc to the surrounding country, but no lives are reported lost. Governor Sayers yesterday issued an appeal to the mayors of all cities of 3,000 people and over in the State of Texas asking them to send food to Goliad and to raise funds for the suffering.

FROM HOTEL TO PRISON.

But It Did Not Avail Montreal and Quebec Has Triumphed.

Montreal, May 20.—Col. Gaynor and Capt. Greene were removed from the Windsor Hotel to the common jail of the Montreal district. Judge Lafontaine decided that the two men shall remain in prison until the extradition proceedings are resumed on Friday next. It is believed that the change was considered necessary in view of the fact that threats were made by Quebec people to have Gaynor and Greene back to the Ancient Capital, coute que coute.

Taken to Quebec.

Later.—Quebec has for the moment triumphed. A special train left Quebec yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the officials reached here, armed with an order from Judge Andrews. Gaynor and Greene were hustled off to the Ancient Capital, Mr. Macmaster, K.C., and Chief Carpenter went by the regular train.

A THOUSAND THANKS.

Jean Boivue is Very Hearty in his Expressions of Gratitude.

In Graceful Sentences he Pours out his Praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Remedy Which has Done so Much for Him.

St. Elzear, Que., May 18. (Special).—It is a well known characteristic of our French Canadian people that they are fearless and enthusiastic in their praise of anything or anybody that has befriended them.

No one is more capable of gracefully expressing gratitude than the average French gentleman.

A recent case illustrates this point. Mons. Jean Boivue, has for many years been afflicted with a terrible malady of the kidneys.

He suffered a great deal of pain, and his disease forced him to rise every hour during the night.

He was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking a short treatment found himself completely cured.

His gratitude knew no bounds, and ever since he has recommended to all his friends the wonderful remedy which cured him so promptly and completely.

When he finds anyone who has no confidence in them, his first act is to give them some pills, and explain to them how to use them, and he has found this method very soon convinces the most skeptical of the truth of the statement he makes that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest medicine in the world.

Mons Boivue says;

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are good.

"I know this, because while at one time I suffered very severely from Kidney Disease, now I am well.

"Not long ago I used to have to get up several times during the night now I can sleep well all night without rising.

"You can believe me, I am glad to have regained my health, and I say thanks a thousand times to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Poor Old Lady Beaconsfield.

There is nothing in his life, says Lord Ronald, that redounds more to Lord Beaconsfield's credit than the manner in which he treated his wife. She could never have been but a somewhat commonplace though good hearted woman. As she grew old she became a wreck of humanity, but the poor, faded, painted old lady was ever treated by her husband with a deference and regard truly touching. It was painful to see how, in what we are pleased to call the highest society, poor old Lady Beaconsfield was made a butt and a laughing stock. Knowing how sensitive Lord Beaconsfield was to anything approaching ridicule, I felt how bitterly he must have suffered when in a crowded hall or drawing room his hosts would what they called "draw out old Lady Beaconsfield" and laugh at her to her face, showing no reticence, regard or decent feeling for the poor husband, who, imperturbable as he ever appeared, was probably suffering acutely at the conduct of his ill bred hosts.

INSANE WOMAN'S DEED.

Broke a Lighted Lamp and Poured Contents Over Herself.

Waterford, May 20.—On Saturday evening last a shocking fatality occurred on the 4th concession of the Indian Reservation, which resulted in the death, under very distressing circumstances, of Mrs. Elijah Monture. About 7 o'clock, wild shrieks were heard to proceed from her home, by the husband and a couple of friends, who stood conversing on the road in front of the house. As the woman had for ten days previously shown unmistakable signs of mental derangement, at times becoming violent, little attention was paid to her cries at first. Flashes of light appearing at the windows, and the cries becoming more agonizing, the men went to the door, and, finding it locked, burst it open. The unfortunate woman was found to be enveloped in flames, rushing madly about in a vain endeavor to get out, while her aged father-in-law was trying to put out the fire by throwing water over her. The men, with difficulty, succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until the victim was so badly burned that, after a night of terrible agony, she died next morning about 10 o'clock. The old gentleman explained that Mrs. Monture had been lying down, resting quietly, when she suddenly rose, seized a lighted lamp, smashed it, and purposely threw the contents all over herself, with the evident design of taking her own life. Her insanity is said to have been induced by the sufferings endured throughout the past winter, when herself and four children were often without food or fuel.

BURIED ALIVE IN A SEWER.

Fatal Accident at Toronto Junction on Monday Afternoon.

Toronto, May 20.—About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon George Eadie, a contractor, of 17 Laughton avenue, Toronto Junction, was buried alive in a drain excavation at the corner of Dundas street and Humberstone avenue, near the Peacock Hotel. Deceased held the town contract for the laying of private drain connections, and was working at the bottom of the excavation when the sides, which were badly planked, gave way. His son, John H., who had been working with him, had ascended to the surface just previous to the accident. Together with other men who were nearby at the time of the collapse, he succeeded in reaching his father, but not before life was extinct. At the inquest last night a verdict of accidental death was returned. Deceased leaves a wife and five children, all grown up.

Curtis Disher and Mrs. Klock to Be Tried by a Judge.

St. Catharines, May 20.—Curtis Disher of Jordan and Mrs. William Klock appeared before Magistrate Comfort, charged with bigamy. Only two witnesses were examined, the woman's husband (William Klock) and Rev. R. Ker. Klock testified to having been married to the woman on Oct. 18, 1900, and Rev. Mr. Ker to having performed the second ceremony on Wednesday night last. Some time ago Klock and his wife, who seemingly had not lived happily together, drew up a bill of separation, and thinking this equal to a divorce the woman married again.

The couple agreed to be tried by the judge, and will likely come up for election to-day. No bail was asked for.

A funeral service will be conducted at the Methodist church, Hastings, at four o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and the remains will be conveyed to Peterborough on the 8 p.m. train.

The deceased reverend gentleman was 47 years of age, and was a most successful worker in the Methodist ministry. He has held a number of important charges in his day being stationed at Bobcaygeon, Millbrook, Hastings and other places. He was an ardent revivalist and an earnest worker. Besides being a splendid preacher the late Mr. Adams was very popular amongst his fellow-clergymen. He was also much sought after by the various circuits and his removal from each charge at the termination of his term was a matter always to be regretted.

He married a Miss Elliott, of Smith, a sister of Messrs. Geo. E. and E. M. Elliott, of Peterborough, who together with one son survives him. The late Mr. Adams had many warm friends in Peterborough all of whom will regret to learn of his unexpected demise.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

Mrs. (Capt.) Lane has arrived in [illegible] resumed her duties in connection with the City of Peterborough. Mrs. Lane made a very popular stewardess when formerly identified with the "City."

Commodore Calcutt's steamers are splendidly officered this season.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. Harry Neil had to drive a couple of passengers to the locks to catch the Water Lily. They were ten minutes late, and nearly had to spend the night in town, as the steamer is billed to leave her wharf at 3.45 p.m. sharp.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. John Crane will not receive again until the third Friday in September.

Mr. Wilkinson Hartley, J. P., of Nelson, England, one of the seven Commissioners sent out by the English Cotton Manufacturers Association, to inquire into the American system of cotton making, is spending a few days in town with relatives, and is at present a guest at the residence of Mr. S. Clegg. The Commission has now completed its work, the importance of which may be estimated from the fact that a reporter from the Manchester Guardian accompanies the members on their tour. The party is now in Montreal, and will remain in Canada for the balance of the week.

LAKEFIELD WELCOMES STRATTON.

He Addresses the Electors on the Issues of the Day.

The Claims of a Business Government Upon the Support of the Electors—How Development Benefits Material Interests—Prohibition Politicians Exposed—Why the Ross Government Should be Supported.

Hon. J. R. Stratton addressed a largely attended meeting of the electors in the Town Hall, Lakefield, on Monday night. The seating capicity of the hall was taxed to such an extent that standing room had to be utilized to accommodate the attendance.

Mr. John Hull occupied the chair, who expressed his gratification at seeing such a large attendance of the electors. They were fully aware that they were assembled to listen to a discussion of public questions in view of the solemn duty they had to perform on May 29th of selecting a representative. It was an important matter that every elector should carefully consider the question of selecting a representative whose election would be in the best interests of the Province, West Peterborough and the Village of Lakefield. He believed the Ross Government had done well for the whole Province and the conditions it had created were most favourable for the advancement of the whole people, and as a result we had conditions of prosperity that were to be found in no other Province. He anticipated no difficulty in keeping order for he knew that Lakefield people were noted as being law abiding citizens. He then called upon the first speaker, who began by pointing out that the Government of the Province were the trustees of the people, and the manner in which they had discharged their duty was evidenced by the splendid condition of the finances, whose administration had been marked with carefulness, economy, thrift, conjoined with an unusually efficient regard for the various services of the country. Since Confederation there had been spent about 113 millions of dollars and it was a proud thing for Government to be able to say that in all that time with this large disbursment there had not been made a tenable charge that one dollar of this had been dishonestly or corruptly expended. Of course the Opposition made charges that money had been improperly spent, but these charges were made on the stump and not in the proper tribunal — the floor of the House. In answer to these vague charges, and to satisfy the public mind, the Government had issued a financial commission of impartial experts, and their report showed that all that had been claimed for the financial administration was justified — that all receipts had been properly accounted for and all expenditures properly recorded, and that as a result of careful administration, and husbanding of our resources, there was a surplus of over two and a half million dollars, of which $800,000 and over was cash in the bank, and since then the financial condition has improved, for the cash balance had steadily grown, till on the 15th of March, 1902, the day that Parliament adjourned, there was in bank to the province's credit, in cold cash, $1,980,000. (Applause.) Not only were we in such a comfortable condition financially, but we were without a dollar of net debt, while the other provinces with smaller populations, and less to show for their expenditures, were burdened with heavy debts. No stronger tribute could be paid to the success of the financial administration of the Liberal Government than the facts he had recited. The country was showing such evidences of prosperity that nobody, except the politicians, who wanted office, or disappointed office seekers, were demanding a change. He spoke of how the policy of the Government had helped Peterborough, and thanks, largely to the energy and watchfulness of their representative, Mr. Stratton, we had such new industries as the Cordage Company, employing 200 hands, and the Cereal Company, employing 800 hands. (Applause.) Mr. Hall concluded a short but lively speech by pointing out the advantage the county would derive from having Mr. Stratton as a representative. He had served them well in the past, as they all knew, and now that his opportunities were greater, he would give even better service as a member of the Government and the representative of the province as well as the riding. He had no doubt that the electors would appreciate this and join issues and send as supporters of the Ross Government two supporters in the person of Mr. Stratton and Mr. William Anderson. He felt that Lakefield would do its duty on May 29th. (Applause.)

MR. R. R. HALL,

MR. STRATTON,

who was received with enthusiastic cheers, made one of his effective addresses dealing succinctly with the chief phases of the public questions at issue in the present contest. He lucidly explained the pulp wood policy of the Government, showing how the Government's manner of dealing with our immense pulp wood areas resulted in the establishment of seven centres of industry in New Ontario. It was shown that in these the public rights were fully protected, the rights of the settler secured and settlement largely promoted, for as the settler got all the timber on his land, even in the pulp areas, he could make money with the first stroke of his axe in clearing his land, for he could sell the pulp wood cut on his land to the neighbouring factory, and when he begins to raise crops he could sell his products to the employers of the mills. The result had been that older Ontario—and Peterborough had got a large share—was given a chance to supply machinery, and labour was given added employment, not only on the scene of operations, but as well in old Ontario in the manufacture of machinery and other supplies. Mr. Stratton also dealt with the railway policy of the Government which essentially consisted in opening up the new country by assisting railways, not by money subsidies, but by grants of wild lands, which, worthless in an undeveloped state, were made valuable by giving access and permitting of development operations. These railways would help develop and settle that new country, and create trade with older Ontario, so that the settled portions of the Province were directly benefitted by the energetic railway policy of the Government. (Applause.) There was room in old Ontario for large manufacturer-expansion and this

by the development policy of the Government, which would create large industries there and make the resulting trade tributary to this part of the Province to the manifest advantage of every interest of older Ontario, commercial, manufacturing and agricultural. The market for farmers' products would be enlarged employment for labour would be more plentiful, and a circle of wide-spread benefits would follow the energetic development of the Government. The Government believed in Ontario, old and new, and they had the energy to put their belief into operation, while the Opposition wanted to wait, to stand still, to mark time. Which policy, Mr. Stratton asked, appealed most to the energetic people of Lakefield and of Ontario? He need not worry about the answer which, he believed, would be emphatically given on May 29th. (Applause.)

Mr. Stratton then went on to refer to the peculiar company which Mr. Miller, the prohibition-Conservative candidate, was keeping. He had on the stump a collection of speakers, including several men who were the sworn enemies of temperance, or prohibition in any form, and, added to that, the greatest falsifiers and makers of wild, rash, reckless and untruthful statements to be found on any platform in the country. Mr. Stratton said that he had never been assailed in such a slanderous, lying and unworthy manner, as in the present campaign, but this only showed how desperate was a cause that needed such assistance.

Referring to prohibition, Mr. Stratton went on to point out that the Government had gone as far in enacting prohibition as it was in its power to do. The act was not perfect prohibition — it did not, and could not, prohibit the manufacture and sale — it was in fact partial prohibition, and the Government felt that upon such an act the to say whether or not they approved of it—hence the referendum. If the temperance people were in earnest it was the opinion of the best men in the temperance party that they should rally to the polls and carry the referendum on December 4th. If temperance people were divided it was the fault of the false friends of prohibition — such men as Mr. W. W. Buchanan, who, as a political heeler, under the colours of temperance, was doing, sad had done, more to discredit temperance than any other man in the country.; and he was ably seconded in this direction by the vice-president of the Dominion Alliance, who was coming from Quebec to West Peterborough to tell the honest elector how to vote for a Conservative candidate and for temperance at the same time. These men were being co-operated with by some local ministers, who were using their pulpits to push the canvass of a political candidate, and of a party which had pronounced against prohibition. And some other ministers were being used to permit of their pulpits being employed to announce party political meetings, for such in fact were the meetings announced under the cloak of temperance. If temperance was "thrown down" and set back in West Peterborough, and the East also, it would be by the acts of its false friends, who prostituted it to serve party politics.

After referring to the cry of corruption raised by the leader of the party which had reduced corruption to a fine art, and had done more in that direction in one election than any other party had been guilty of since Confederation. Mr. Stratton concluded an able and effective address, by pointing out that the prosperous condition that prevailed in every department of activity, gave no force to a cry for a change. The Government's policy was one of action and of advance, one of progress, and one that appealed to every progressive elector, young and old. He invited every elector to carefully consider the questions at issue, and to conscientiously vote for what they considered best in the interests of the province and of the riding, and cast their vote accordingly on May 29th. (Loud applause.)

The highly successful meeting concluded with cheers for the King, the Ross Government and Mr. Stratton.

New American Blouse Styles.

In presenting our new sample lines of American print and linen effects for summer shirt waists, we do so with absolute confidence that the two great requisites of correct style and superior value have never before been so well combined. Our skilled staff and the unequalled facilities afforded by our factory gives us advantages in manufacturing shirt waists, faultless in design and fashioned after popular American tastes. Ladies will be interested in our pretty new summer blouses made in fast colour American print, with new dip sleeves, tight fitting backs and long dip front, which we are selling at 65c., instead of 85c, the regular price. We will also have ready for Saturday, the very latest American novelty shirt waists in linen fabrics, some with Paisley stripes, which we will sell direct from our factory at $1.00 to $1.50 instead of $2.00. TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

A Great Rally in Ashburnham This Evening.

Mr. R. C. Clute K. C., of Toronto and Mr. William Anderson, the East Riding Liberal Candidate Will Speak.

A great Liberal rally will be held in Ashburnham, this evening, when the electors will be addressed by Mr. Wm. Anderson, the candidate, Mr. R. C. Clute, K.C., of Toronto, and others. Mr. Clute's address should be of great interest, particularly to the workingmen, as he was on the Commission which looked into the labour troubles at the Crow's Nest Pass, the Commission in connection with the Miners' troubles in British Columbia and the Commission on Chinese Emigration. The Liberal cause has no more fluent exponent than Mr. Clute, who is possessed of oratorical powers which have won for him the name which he possesses.

Mr. F. D. Kerr will also speak during the evening.

An opportunity will be given for the views of the Opposition to be presented. Mr. William Scott will occupy the chair and the meeting will begin promptly at eight o'clock. Seats will be reserved for ladies.

An important meeting of representatives from the various lacrosse teams of the town was held last night, when a city league was formed, and arrangements were made for a good season's sport. BASEBALL.

The effort on the part of the Coal Heavers to keep the grand old game of baseball alive in Peterborough, should be supported by the people of the town in turning out in large numbers to see the game on May 24th, between the Royal Canadians of Toronto and the Coal Heavers. Manager McClellan has gotten together a speedy aggregation, and says that he is going to turn out the championship team of the Midland League. The Royal Canadians are the leaders in the Toronto City League, and are just as confident of winning as is Manager McClellan.

A meeting of the members of the different junior baseball nines in town, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Central Park for the purpose of forming a league. The average age of players must be 16 years, or under.

THE REGISTRATION

Appeals That Were Dealt With Last Night—Few Allowed.

His Honour Judge Weller, His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble, and Registrar B. Morrow, who constituted the Board of Registrars, sat last night to hear the appeals from last week's registrations, were kept rather busy. About twenty-six appeals were disposed of, and the court will sit again this evening to clear up what ever appeals are still standing. Almost every appeal last night was lodged by the Conservatives, as it will be remembered that the percentage of Liberals registered was about six to one, and there was therefore very little opportunity to take exception to any of the registration of Mr. Miller's friends. The results were as follows:—

The following appeals to strike off were dismissed—Alex. Morrison, Thos. Sproate, Frank McCoy, George Dorie, Lesslie, Treamon, Thos. Beston, Pat. Garvey, E. Ricks, Michael Ryan, Forrin, Ira Goodfellow, Albert Costello, Jas. Gordon, jr., Geo. Stevenson.

The following appeals were allowed;—Robt. Granger, Jacob Ricketts, John O'Kleg.

The following appeals stand for judgement;—Isaac Morrison, Wm. Shea, F. Fatsa, Pat. Barrie, T. Calvini.

Moses Thompson appealed against not being allowed to register, and the appeal was dismissed, whilst R. Nelson Roddy, who appealed in the same manner, was successful.

The appeals of C. Waller and N. Martin were abandoned.

A FEW PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to ask Mr. H. P. Lindsay, President of the local branch of the Ontario Alliance, who is taking so deep an interest in this election, a few questions on the same line that he has given to others, namely:—Are you a total abstainer? Will you do all you can to secure the enactment and enforcement of legislation prohibiting the traffic in intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes? Will you promise to vote at the coming election for the party who has given us such legislation, subject to the approval of the people on Dec. 4th, next? Have you put those questions to Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition party that you put to Mr. Stratton and other candidates for election in East and West Peterborough, and what answer did he give you? It should be made known, for until this is fully known it is a farce to put such questions to the rank and file who are pledged to support him. They being only his footmen they can do nothing against him and his party which is in favour of licensing the Victuallers Association to sell liquor under the Government seal of approval. Again I would ask Mr. Lindsay whether is the liquor traffic a blessing or a curse to the people of this Province? If it is a blessing, then he (Mr. Lindsay) is setting a good example to others to follow, and he said a great truth when he said if the referendum is carried by the people, won't "be worth a pinch of snuff." The prohibition is now a statute of the Province awaiting the sanction of the people. But some people say it is loaded and cannot be carried. They may well say it is loaded when Mr. Lindsay president of the so called Temperance Association at a gathering of temperance workers would say it was not worth a pinch of snuff. This coming from such a source is fit, not only to load it, but to bury it so deep that it never will have a resurrection. "Not worth a pinch of snuff." Is that the answer for that poor heart-broken and much abused wife of the drunkard, who would be a good husband if it was not for that acursed liquor traffic? I ask those poor, half starved, half clad and abused and neglected children, children of a drunken father and mother, who have to be taken to a children's home, would prohibition be worth a "pinch of snuff" to you, who love father and mother if it was not for that strong drink? I ask that poor inebriate who in fighting against the appetite for strong drink, and has to flee to the gold cure for help, to rescue him or her from a drunkard's grave, if prohibition would be "worth a pinch of snuff" to them? And lastly I ask those people in Peterborough who were brought to the street by the screams of that murdered woman as she ran a short distance on the sidewalk leving a stream of blood as she went and then dropped dead by her husband, maddened by that accursed drink to plunge a knife into her body. I ask those people who gathered around her lifeless corpse if prohibition is "worth a pinch of snuff?" I ask that husband as he works in the Kingston penitentary in pennal servitude for the murder of that wife he once loved and would have loved unto death if it had not been for that demon, strong drink, if prohibition is "worth a pinch of snuff?" I dare not follow the effects of the liquor traffic farther than this life, the judgment will reveal all that, but I do say shame on the man who makes any pretentions to temperance to express himself in such a way.

Now, Sir, we have this prohibitory act, with its different clauses, given us to accept or refuse, and it is so clearly set forth and well defined that it cannot be gotten over with by the tricks formerly resorted to by the violaters of the law, for liquor or liquors includes all fermented and malt, and all combinations of liquors and all drinkable liquors which are intoxicating, and any police officer, policeman or constable or inspector of licenses has power to enter any house and premises and search these places, except private dwelling houses, which means any house not having more than three boarders residing in it. This is the bill the Hon. G .W. Ross is bound, not by promise, but by act of parliament, to enforce, and if returned to power and sanctioned by the people, will wipe out the liquor curse as far as it is in his power. Let all the people rally round him and his good cause.

STRAIGHT LYING RESORTED TO.

The Opposition Stumpers Unblushing in Their Statements.

FALSEHOOD UPON FALSEHOOD

All the Arguments Opposition Stumpers Advance Seem to be Misrepresentation.

Mr. Garvin, at the Ford meeting in Ashburnham, last night, re-iterated the falsehood that Mr. S. Clegg receives a salary of $1600 from the Ottawa Government, and $337 from the Ontario Government at the same time. These are two distinct falsehoods. Mr. Clegg receives only $800, and he has not received a single cent from the Ontario Government, since he was appointed to a position under the Dominion Government.

Only direct falsehood seems to answer the purpose of the Opposition stumpers. That is the only argument they have, and they make good use of it.

Conservative stumpers are repeating the false statement on the streets also, and there is only one reply and that is that it is an unmitigated falsehood, and the man who utters a lie, knowing it to be a lie is a — well the public can finish the sentence.

The salary of $800 Mr. Clegg is receiving is a reduction of Mr. Rogers' former salary to that extent. This is not a matter which concerns the Ontario Government in any event, and it is aside altogether from Provincial politics, but it shows how far the Opposition speakers will go in making reckless statements, to bolster up a tottering cause.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

Monday's Event Was Visit of Premier Ross at Chatham.

MR. WHITNEY'S INCONSISTENCIES

The Liberals of the Two Kents Gathered to Do Honor to Their Leader—Eloquent Gospel of "Build Up Ontario" Preached by Its Most Consistent and Aggressive Champion.

Toronto, May 20.—What is practically the last week of the Provincial campaign started yesterday. The event of the day was the visit of Premier Ross to Chatham, where a magnificent demonstration occurred in his honor. His speech was an eloquent exposition of the progressive policy of his administration. Mr. Whitney has gone to his constituency, where he will spend most of the week. The registrations in Toronto last week were within a shade of 14,000, a number which goes to show how thorough an interest is being taken in provincial politics by the young men, for whom registration is especially intended.

Premier Ross speaks this afternoon at Simcoe. Arrangements are well forward for the great Liberal demonstration fixed for Tuesday evening of next week in Massey Hall.

Premier Ross at Chatham.

Chatham, May 20.—That Western Ontario is interested no less than the Georgian Bay counties and the cities of the east in the development policy of Premier Ross was emphatically shown at a large political gathering here last night. The Liberals of the two Kents came to do honor to their leader and to hear the gospel of build up Ontario preached by the eloquent, consistent and aggressive apostle that he is, besides displaying their enthusiasm for their honored chieftain in an imposing street procession. The Liberal and Independent electors filled the large opera house at last night's meeting to its utmost limit, hundreds having to stand throughout, and this they willingly and patiently endured, and the interest and enthusiasm never flagged. Mr. Ross, who in a trenchant manner exposed some of Mr. Whitney's inconsistencies, was ably supported by Senator Landerkin of Grey, who delivered his first speech in the Ontario campaign. The Senator was in his usual happy vein, and as he dealt some home thrusts in a sarcastic manner he was cheered repeatedly. Chatham is located in West Kent, in which Mr. T. L. Pardo, ex-M.P.P., is the Liberal candidate. Mr. Ross spoke also in the interests of Mr. John Lee, ex-M.P.P., the candidate in East Kent. Both are excellent candidates and the prospects for their re-election are very bright.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The prohibitionists of North Norfolk decline to bring out a candidate.

Hon. Mr. Davis and W. S. Calvert, M.P., spoke Monday night at Strathroy in the initerests of the Hon. Mr. Ross.

FISHERIES CONFERENCE.

Delegates From the Provinces Have Arrived at Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 20.—Representatives of the Federal Government and the several Provincial Executives, excluding British Columbia and Manitoba, will meet here to-day to discuss questions relating to the fisheries, more especially the foreshore fisheries. The conference will begin at 11 o'clock and may last a couple of days. Hon. James Sutherland, Hon. A. G. Blair and Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick will represent the Federal Government, and the following will act for the provinces: Ontario, Mr. S. T. Bastedo and Mr. Aemilius Irving, K.C.; Quebec, Premier Parent, Hon. H. T. Duffy and Mr. L. J. Cannon, Assistant Attorney-General; New Brunswick, Premier Tweedie and Attorney-General Pugsley; Nova Scotia, Premier Murray and Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General; Prince Edward Island, Premier Peters, Hon. John T. Wheur and Hon. Peter McNutt. All the delegates have arrived, with the exception of Premier Tweedie and Attorney-General Pugsley of New Brunswick. It is not known how long the conference will last, but it may occupy a couple of days. Hon. George Murray intends to go from here to Toronto. British Columbia is unable to take part in the conference, and her interests will be considered at a later date. Manitoba is not particularly concerned.

SLAYS A RELIGIOUS FANATIC.

An Alaska Mine Superintendent Shoots Man in Self-Defence.

Dawson, Yukon, May 20.—Joseph McDonald, superintendent of the Treadgold Mines on Douglass Island, Alaska, shot and killed Nick Jones, a religious fanatic. Jones claimed that God had appointed him to have McDonald close the mines on Sunday and McDonald was warned. When the men met, Jones told McDonald that his time had come, and attempted to pull his gun. Before he could do so, however, McDonald shot him. He died within an hour. The coroner's jury exonerated the slayer.

The Horse in New York.

New York, May 20.—Among the passengers who arrived yesterday per Ward Line steamer Monterey from Havana was Sir William Van Horne, who said he expected that the last spike in the Santa Clara and Santiago Railroad would be driven next week.

Earthquake in California.

San Francisco, May 20.—A slight shock of earthquake was felt in Northern California at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Too Great a Sacrifice.

Impassioned Lover—Tell me, my angel, what to do to prove my love. Oh, that I might, like some knight of old, battle for you, suffer for you, die for you!

Sweet Girl—I wish you would give up smoking.

Impassioned Lover—Oh, come now; that's asking too much!

LOADED UP WITH IMPURITIES.

IN THE SPRING THE SYSTEM IS LOADED UP WITH IMPURITIES.

After the hard work of the winter, the eating of rich and heavy foods, the system becomes clogged up with waste and poisonous matter, and the blood becomes thick and sluggish.

This causes Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, Lack of Energy and that tired, weary, listless feeling so prevalent in the spring.

The cleansing, blood-purifying action of eliminates all the pent-up poison from the system, starts the sluggish liver working, acts on the Kidneys and Bowels, and renders it, without exception,

"Have you the first requisite of an actor?" inquired the manager, with some impatience. "I have." answered the young man, in a tone of confidence. "It is true that I have had no practical experience. Lace Draped Brims—Revival of Burnt Straw.

The hats of the hour are extremely pretty, there being a greater tendency than ever to drape the brims with lace and embroidery. Chenille and straw mixtures are being worn very much just now, and there is a revival of the burnt straws of one or two seasons ago. These are threaded through with black ribbon or with velvet or glace ribbons. This revival is quite in accord with the craze for ecru shades, added to which burnt straw is very useful for everyday wear and lends itself admirably to the completion of the tailor made frock. It requires to be relieved, however, with a fair amount of black, for a yellowish tint over the face is becoming to few indeed.

TO WEAR EVERY DAY.

It is a pretty notion to line the hat brim with a contrasting color, and black near the face is always safe. The draping of black or cream lace over the hard edge of a brim has a softening and delightful effect.

There is a craze for spring flowers, while the smartest French millinery is trimmed with fruits of all kinds.

A serviceable three cornered hat for everyday wear is the one in the illustration. It is made of burnt straw with a black underbrim. It is trimmed with wide moire ribbon run through a long buckle in front and having a wide bow and ends in the back.

Nervous Dyspepsia

Can Never be Cured by Mere Temporary Aids to Digestion—The Nerves Must be Restored and Filled With Vitalizing Nerve Force.

You know that certain drugs, such as pepsin and bismuth, bring about artificial digestion, and if you have dyspepsia or indigestion it is possible that, like hosts of others, you have taken these into the stomach, hoping that they will take the place of gastric juice and other digestive fluids, digest the food and by resting the stomach effect a cure.

Did you ever hear of a bodily organ being strengthened by inactivity? It is to the organ that is exercised that the new, rich blood is conveyed in order to restore the tissues wasted by the functions of that organ, and so the stomach that is given rest does not get stronger, but the gastric juice gradually ceases to flow, and you are finally compelled to resort to the continual use of artificial digestants.

If instead of these temporary aids you seek permanent cure you must treat the nerves, because it is the nerves that control the glands of the stomach, and only when the supply of nerve force is liberal is digestion rightly performed and the body properly nourished.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is no experiment, as you know if you have read the hundreds of testimonials that are appearing in the daily press. We recommend it for nervous dyspepsia and headache, because it has actually cured scores and hundreds of cases. Here is an interesting letter:

Mrs. R. H. Scott, 557 Queen street east, Toronto, states:—"For a long time I was a great sufferer from nervous dyspepsia, and as a consequence of the stomach trouble I was nervous and sometimes had severe headaches and dizzy spells. Since using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I can say that my digestion is good, and as a result I have been entirely freed of the other troublesome symptoms. I think this an excellent treatment for nervous dyspepsia, as well as an invaluable system-builder."

This treatment will prove equally effective in your case, because it actually contains the most powerful restoratives known to the medical profession. It cures by building up the system, and instilling new vital nerve force into the wasted and depleted nerve cells. 50 cents a box; 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 10

A PROHIBITION KING

STORY FROM THE MISSIONARY REVIEW BY DR. A. T. PIERSON.

An Incident in the Life of Khama, the Native Chief or King of Bamangwato, Who Was Converted to Christianity—Thought It Prohibited Liquor and at Great Sacrifice He Stood by His New Principles.

It takes a hero to face death unflinchingly in standing up for what he believes to be the right, rather than swerve one inch from the path of duty. The following article from The Missionary Review, by Dr. A. T. Pierson, describes how an African king made a prohibition law and enforced it in his dominions:

It appears that Sekhome, chief the the Bamangwato, the father of Khama, had no faith in Christianity, and when Khama became a Christian, Sekhome tried to prevent him succeeding him. After some trouble, however, Khama did succeed and set about governing according to his Christian principles.

He began to fight red rum systematically. He called the white men together and told them his mind, They pleaded to be allowed to bring in small cases of brandy as medicine. He gave consent, but he must see no drunkenness. Of course the drunkenness came. Then there was a new summons for the white men, and this time they were forbidden to bring in drink for their private table use. "Bring none! I will allow none! There's an end of it!" He had to resort to fines, threats, and even to banishment from the country; but he stood firm. When, after many provocations, the crisis came, and notwithstanding oft-repeated warnings, there was drunken violence and uproar, Khama wore a stern face, which always meant a fixed purpose. He went and saw with his own eyes how his laws were trampled on and then he said:

"You despise my laws because I am a black man. Well, if I am black I am chief of my own country, and I rule here and shall maintain my laws. Go back to your own country. Take all that is yours and go. If there is any other white man who does not like my laws, let him go, too. I am trying to lead my people to act according to the Word of God, which we have received from you white people, and you, white people, show them an example of wickedness such as we never knew. You know that some of my own brothers have learned to like the drink, and that I do not want them even to sell it, that they may forget the habit; and yet you not only bring it and offer it to them, but try to tempt me with it. I make an end of it to-day. Go, leave my town, and never come back."

The effects of such a talk from an African chief was like a thunderclap—everybody was stunned. One man at last ventured to plead for exemption from the stern law of banishment on the ground that he had grown up in the country and he and Khama were old friends. "Surely, for old friendship's sake, you will pity me!"

"Friendship!" said the indignant Khama, "you call yourself my friend, do you? You are the ringleader among those who insult and despise my laws."

Then, with withering words of rebuke, he answered the plea for pity by reminding him that there was a "pity" which he owed to his own people. Khama flamed with righteous anger, but he cleaned his town that day of the white man's drink curse; and then he also forbade the use, and sale, and manufacture of native beer.

Remembered by Royalty.

The Prince and Princess of Wales have sent a gold watch and chain to Khama, the Bechuana chief, as a memento of their meeting with him at Cape Town last year, and in recognition of his loyalty. Khama, who is head of the Bamangwato tribe, is the most interesting native personality in South Africa. Accompanied by the chiefs Bathoen and Sebele, he made a "pilgrimage of protest" through England when the marking out of the boundaries of Rhodesia was in progress, and succeeded under British protection in retaining his independence, ceding only a strip of territory for the Bechuanaland section of the Cape to Cairo Railway. Khama, who dresses as a European, is an intelligent and refined man. When quite a lad he was trained in the truths of Christianity by Robert Moffat, the celebrated missionary. This early teaching has had far-reaching results for good among his people. The sale of intoxicating liquor is prohibited in his territory. All through the war Khama and his men have been of great service to the British forces, and the Bechuanas generally, mainly through his influence, have asserted their loyalty to Great Britain in an unmistakable manner. Khama had always a deep feeling of respect and reverence toward Queen Victoria. During his visit to England her late Majesty presented him with an Indian shawl.

Malt Breakfast Food

The Only Perfect Health Food for Young and Old.

Malt Breakfast Food is now recognized by food experts and physicians as the only true health food for young and old. It possesses all the important virtues that are lacking in other prepared breakfast foods. It is partially cooked and predigested, therefore adapted for the weakest stomach. It is the most delicious to the taste of all grain foods. It is the most nourishing, most appetizing and most energizing of all breakfast foods. It is the most economical of foods; one package makes a meal for at least twenty-five people.

Malt Breakfast Food is doing a wonderful work for dyspeptics and those suffering from stomach derangements. The use of Malt Breakfast Food for a month will banish the dyspeptic's woes and sufferings. It is always refreshing to the stomach, and tolerated when all other forms of food are rejected. It is the ideal food at all seasons for growing children and older people. Your grocer can supply your wants.

The Trifling Brother.

"Br'er Jenkins, you so triflin' dat I ve'ly believes ef you wus 'pinted ter be watchman at de pearly gates de fust t'ing you'd do would be ter let down en go fas' asleep."

"Br'er Thomas, you may well say dat, kase I'd sho' feel so good over de 'pintment I'd des nachully hatter go ter sleep ter dream ef it wus true."

Discovered.

A story is told of a little girl who asked one morning at the breakfast table, "Mamma, is hash animal or vegetable?"

"Animal, my dear," replied mamma.

"Then," cried the little one triumphantly, holding up a tiny bone, "here's the hash's tooth!"

FAT NERVES.

A whirl of excitement was recently caused among scientists by the discovery of "how nerves act".

Healthy nerves are fat nerves. It is fat in the core of a nerve that by hardening and softening creates nerve action.

Maybe this explains why Scott's Emulsion has always been such a remarkable remedy for nervousness,

Scott's Emulsion makes fat nerves. It feeds them with fat. Good for all forms of nervousness and for neuralgia.

HISTORIC EFFECTS.

Clever Modistes Utilize the Fashions of Past Days.

The smartest and newest wrap of the moment is undoubtedly Japanese, not always in color, but certainly in cut.

One of the most stylish dust cloaks or traveling wraps the year has brought forth is of brown canvas, with sleeves, revers and upper collar strapped with brown and black silk on a white cloth ground. In shape it closely suggests a mandarin's robe, only improved by a suggestion of up to date smartness in the collar. The influence of the modern tailor is seen in the strapped seams, which are decorated with the brown and black silk on the white cloth. The same idea carried out in glorious Japanese coloring would form an ideal opera wrap lined with fox.

The resurrection of past modes is clearly to be discerned in the spring

A PLAIN TAILOR MADE.

fashions. Are we not using the Tudor sleeve, the Elizabethan ruffle and the Puritan collar with equal impartiality? The skill in adapting these old world fashions to modern purposes says much for the talents of the up to date modiste.

A plain but smart model in a tailor made is here shown. It could be equally well carried out in linen pique or any of the new cotton weaves. The jacket is collarless, with a military strap on the shoulder of a darker shade and a fancy effect down the front also of the same shade. The jacket is Eton in front, but extends below the hips on the sides and back. The sleeves are very wide at the wrists. The skirt is plain with the exception of three straps on either side of the front gore. The little buttons are of silver.

Five Views of a Man.

Success Assured When the DIAMOND DYES. Are Used.

Success in home dyeing depends altogether upon the quality of the dyes you select for the work of colouring. Diamond Dyes are acknowledged to be the best in the world, as far as brilliancy and strength of colour are concerned.

They always do perfect work, and and never disappoint the most exacting dyer. Diamond Dyes are sold at 10 cents per package, the same price that many people pay for imitation and adulterated dyes. The most progressive druggists and dealers will sell no other dyes but the Diamond, because the inferior dyes cause so much grumbling and loss of materials.

Do not accept imitations or substitutes from any dealer no matter how strongly he may recommend them. The poor dyes are sold simply because they pay large profits. See that the name "Diamond" is on each package you buy.

Send Postal Card with your address to The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal, P.Q., for Diamond Dye Mat and Rug Designs.

Hard to Get an Opinion.

I have always wanted to know what disorder the medical world considers most painful, so I asked a prominent physician in Fourteenth street about it.

"Without doubt," said he, "an abscess of the ear inflicts the most excruciating agony a human being is ever compelled to endure."

I went over to Thirteenth street and asked a physician there the same question, telling him what the Fourteenth street man had said. Two other doctors happened to be in the room. The Thirteenth street man grinned.

"Did Dr. G. say that?" said he. "Well, I dare say he thinks he's right. I remember he had an abscess in his own ear once. From experience in my own practice, however, I should say that, while other things may last longer, the most intense pain any one ever endures is caused by an attack of acute indigestion."

He looked at the other medical men for confirmation of his opinion. One of them leaned forward earnestly.

"What did you take for it?" he asked, and the Thirteenth street man merely blushed.

$500 Reward

will be paid by Merrill the druggist, Brantford, to any firm who can produce more testimonials for a cough and cold cure than he can for his celebrated Four T's which cures coughs and colds in 24 hours. One quarter million bottles sold in five years proves it the best lung remedy made. Sold in 25c. bottles at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Crowing In Lent.

"During the season of Lent," says the London Chronicle, "it was ancient-ly the custom of the watchmen to crow the hour of the night instead of shouting it, the intention being doubtless to remind sleepless sinners of the effect the third crowing of the cock had on St. Peter. This custom, too, was observed at the royal court, an officer known as 'the king's cock crower' performing the duty within the precincts of the palace.

"On the first Ash Wednesday after the accession of the house of Hanover, as the then Prince of Wales, afterward George II., was at supper, this officer entered and crowed 'past 10 o'clock.' The astonished prince mistook the crow for an insult and rose to resent it, but was made to understand with some difficulty that the custom was in accordance with court etiquette. The custom was from that time discontinued."

Malay Weapons.

The national Malay weapon, the creese, is said to have been invented by a Javanese monarch of the fourteenth century. Its varieties are said to exceed a hundred, and there are in Javanese no fewer than fifty names for them. It varies in size, from the two foot wavy blade of Sulu down to a mere toothpick. But the peculiarity is that the weapon is never ground, but kept rough and sawlike in edge by scouring with lime juice or the juice of an unripe pineapple, sometimes mixed with arsenic, and it is on this account that creese wounds are so dangerous.

Old specimens are so eaten away by this practice that the blade seems formed from a bunch of wires roughly welded up. Such creeses are highly valued, and some of the ancient ones, heirlooms of chiefs, with grotesquely carved and inlaid hilts and sheaths, are almost unpurchasable.

How the Cocaine Habit Starts.

Generally from using catarrh snuffs and ointments containing this deadly drug. It is well to remember that the only direct scientific cure for catarrh is Catarrhozone, which cures by the inhalation of medicated air. Simply breath Catarrhozone and it will cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung Trouble and Deafness. Every breath from Catarrhozone Inhaler, soothes, heals and relieves. Permanent cure guaranteed even though other remedies failed. Try Catarrhozone; price $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Ready Reply.

Foote's ready reply to the caution, "Your handkerchief, sir, is hanging out of your pocket," was of high merit, both from the surprise and for the cordial way in which the caution was accepted—"Thank you, sir; you know the company better than I do."

No Reason For Delay.

"My darling," he exclaimed, "I would go to the end of the earth for you." There was a slight pause while the orchestra played tremulous ragtime.

"Suppose," she said, "you begin your travels now."

The Messenger Boy.

"Why is it that one can never get a bright, reliable and speedy messenger?"

"De company don't pay dat kind of wages, ma'am."

THE DEATH OF CECIL RHODES.

"So much to do; so little done; Good bye!"
—Last words of Cecil Rhodes.

I.

"So little done," brave heart, "so much to do"!
Since first the sun and stars looked down to scan
The core of nature's mocking mystery, man,
This was the cry of workers such as you;
Each strove and strove till, sudden, bright in view,
The rich fruition of the striver's plan
Shone far away beyond Life's narrowing span—
Shone while the world was waving him adieu.

An age's days may live in fifty years—
To him who dreads no spite of Fate or Chance,
Yet loves both Man and Earth and starry spheres
Life's brevity is part of Life's romance;
And when the footsteps fall of Death's advance
He hears the feet; he fain would stay but hears.

II.

"So much to do," brave heart, "so little done"?
What son of England left a work more grand?
Did that fierce trader-boy who, sword in hand,
Captured the siren-mistress of the sun
Whom only in dreams great Alexander won?
While India, from Comorin's belt of sand
To where the guardian Kashmir-mountains stand
Acclaims our Clive, your work is but begun.

The century dawns, and race is trampling race,
Where'er the white-man's living breezes blow;
England is saying: "He won a breathing space
For English lungs where skies of azure glow"—
Freedom is saying, "He gave a brooding place Where, 'neath the Southern Cross, my limbs shall grow."
—Theodore Watts-Dunton.

Woman is as Old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigorous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

Where Theft Is Not Robbery.

In China theft is so common that nobody notices it. A young Chinaman once slipped three oranges up his sleeve at a party. While making his bow at parting the oranges slipped out and rolled on to the floor. He accounted for the awkward event by saying that his mother was very fond of oranges. His fault was straightway overlooked, and he was afterward held up as an instance of filial piety. There are several proverbs which go to show that the folk think lightly of stealing. One says that "when tailors cease to pilfer cloth their children will have to go without food," and another declares, "When silversmiths do not steal, they will certainly starve."

WHY THE ROSS GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE SUSTAINED.

They have given to the farmers' sons and others who wish to take up land the opportunity to build up homesteads and win a comfortable independence within our own borders. In place of an exodus of Canadians to the United States we have now an influx of settlers from that country seeking to establish themselves in Ontario.

Our statute book contains the most progressive legislation to be found in the code of any province or state in America. The excellence of our laws is shown by the manner in which they have been copied by legislators elsewhere. In all important departments of legislation Ontario leads.

In the important matters of education, temperance reform, simplification of legal process, joint stock companies and insurance law, sanitary regulations, and labour legislation, the Government had been active and vigilant in the work of revising and amending the laws so as to abolish all abuses and safeguard the best interests of the public.

Our legislation is so generally satisfactory and adapted to existing conditions, that the assailants of the Government are unable to point to any important interest which has been neglected or any grievance for which the people are demanding a remedy.

In short, Hon. G. W. Ross and his colleagues have proved themselves in every respect faithful to the confidence reposed in them, vigilant and trustworthy guardians of the public interests and active promoters of the welfare and prosperity of the province.

They can therefore appeal to the electors with the utmost confidence for a renewal of the trust reposed in them. They are prepared to render the fullest account of their stewardship and to show that their broad and progressive policy has been conducive to the advancement and prosperity of the Province.

Their opponents, on the other hand, have no settled policy. Their tactics are simply those of obstruction and criticism.

They have no constructive ideas. They are not in harmony among themselves as to the course to be pursued. They can do nothing but rail, scold and denounce.

They are fertile in the invention of scandals, which are disproved as soon as they are promulgated, and the bringing of stale and oft-refuted charges which do not touch the real question at issue.

The cry upon which they hope to gain office is, "It is time for a change."

It may safely be left to the public spirit, the patriotism and the enlightened self-interest of the voters of Ontario whether for the mere sake of a change they will reject the administrators who have served them well and faithfully for new and untried men, who, in their comments on public affairs, have never given any evidence of the statesmanship, foresight aand mental grasp, necessary to enable them to fill the positions to which they aspire.

THE REVIEW AT MADRID.

14,000 Soldiers March Past Young King Alfonso.

Madrid, May 20.—The entire population of Madrid seemed to have assembled yesterday afternoon along the broad and leafy Paxo Del Prado the Paxo Del Recoletos, where the boulevard of Madrid, there to witness the great military review. The weather was beautiful. Grand stands had been erected at a central point on the line of march, and, from these the Queen Mother, members of the royal family, the diplomats, and members of the Cortes witnessed the march past of 14,000 soldiers.

King Alfonso, in the uniform of a captain-general, and mounted upon a handsome bay charger, left the palace at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He was accompanied by General Weyler, the Duke of Connaught, the Grand Duke Vladimir (the Russian representative) and other princes and a suite of staff officers. His Majesty rode to the Plaéo Del Recoletos, where the troops were drawn up. As the King passed down the line the soldiers greeted him with hearty cheering. He then took up a position at the side of the grand stand where his mother was seated.

Plot to Kill Emperor Francis Joseph.

London, May 20.—The correspondent of The Daily Chronicle at Buda Pesth reports the frustration of a plot against the life of Emperor Francis Joseph.

The Emperor was recently going on a night train from Vienna to Buda Pesth. In the final inspection of the Imperial train in the terminus of the State railroad at Vienna, made 10 minutes before His Majesty's arrival there, a bomb covered with paper was found in the Emperor's apartments. It was evidently calculated that this bomb would explode the moment His Majesty entered the car. An investigation of the matter led to the dismissal of several railroad employes.

Never Heard of Brock.

The press of the United Kingdom has made many curious errors and amusing blunders in their reference to Canada, and it is of interest to note that the education of some of the British writers is to-day no better in this respect than their predecessors, says Events, Ottawa. The correspondent of one of the great London dailies who accompanied the royal party through Canada alluded to the monument of Sir Isaac Brock at Queenston Heights as erected to a leader who fell in "the Fenian raid." This was more serious than the correspondent, also with the Duke of York, who told the English people that the timber berth which ran the slides at Ottawa "emerged on the broad bosom of the St. Lawrence." The Brock incident recalled to a prominent public man in Ontario, who was in Ottawa recently, a complaint he received from a Canadian last year who was in London endeavoring to secure material for a history of Brock, and who was unable to get any assistance from the records of the War Office. He implored the public man from Ontario to go with him and see if he could not move the indifferent officials. He did so, and was called aside by the official at the War Office, who said: "We are very willing to accommodate this gentleman in any possible way, but we do not know what he is talking about. He wants information about a General Brock, but we never heard of such a person." This incident is vouched for by unimpeachable authority, namely, the public man to whom the War Office official confided his ignorance. Canada badly needs a little more knowledge of her history and geography in the Mother Country, not only among officials, but journalists on the staffs of the big daily papers.

Irish Lace.

In Ireland orders for lace are being received to an unprecedented extent. Over a thousand pounds worth of orders were given from England for Honiton lace soon after the Queen wore her veil of this fabric at the opening of Parliament.

WOOD FAMINE AT AN END.

The wood famine which has prevailed in town recently, came to an end on the receipt of two scows of hardwood, both green and dry, by J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

86-Year-Old Debt Paid.

In 1816, the year after the battle of Waterloo, an aristocratic customer of the famous firm of wine merchants, Hedges & Butler, ran up an account of £20. This year, the firm was surprised to receive from the Court of Chancery a cheque for £95 12s. 8d., in settlement of the account, with the accumulated interest.

The customer became bankrupt in 1816. Subsequently, he set aside for the benefit of his creditors £2,000 in the then newly-issued Consols, the value of which, with the accumulated interest, is now greatly enhanced.

The comparatively speedy settlement by the Court of Chancery of the account of Messrs. Hedges & Butler was assisted by the fact that the firm's trade ledgers go back in complete form to the year 1667, rendering proof of any debt easy.—Lloyd's Weekly.

Many Want to Rule London Police.

Among the candidates for the office of chief commissioner of the city police in London are one major-general of the army, seven colonels or lieutenant-colonels, three majors and five captains, says The Newcastle (England) Chronicle. The latter all occupy somewhat analogous posts in the provinces but the other officers are military men pure and simple. There is also one baronet and one knight among the applicants which goes to show that, although the emoluments of the office are much greater, the post is not so attractive to those bearing titles as that of city marshal, for which recently a couple of peers of the realm sought appointment. The police committee will select five from the numerous applicants, and from these the court of common council is to choose Sir Henry Smith's successor.

A Coronation Medal.

Emil Fuchs, a German resident in London, has devised for a British firm a medal to commemorate the coronation, which takes place next June. On one side are the portraits of King Edward and Queen Alexandra; on the other, above, is the Imperial crown, from which rays spread out, and in the rear a view of Westminster Abbey. Britannia sits in front, leaning on a shield which shows the royal arms wreathed with laurel and draped with the Union Jack.

A Broken Neck.

"Did you hear about the catastrophe down at the Browns' last night?"

"No. What happened?"

"Why, Mrs. Brown gave the baby a bottle to play with, and while she was in the kitchen it fell out of the cradle and broke its neck."

"What, the baby?"

"No, the bottle."

The First London Theater.

The first playhouse to be built in England was the Theater. It was erected in the year 1576, and its builder was James Burbage, father of the famous actor Richard Burbage and himself an actor of some repute. Access to the Theater seems in old times to have been over Finsbury fields. The Curtain, which, curiously, is named from the region or old manor on which the playhouse was erected and not from the familiar drapery of the stage, was situated south of Holywell lane, in Moorfield (modern Gloucester street), and is first mentioned in the following year, 1577. Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" was among the many plays first acted there. The Theater was moved away to the Bankside, and the old materials were employed in building the Globe, Shakespeare's chief theater, in 1598. The Curtain continued to be used as a playhouse far into the reign of King James. No picture of either of these original theaters has been handed down, and owing to their position without the walls none of the old maps represents their precise location.—Lippincott's.

WHAT THE ROSS GOVERNMENT HAS DONE FOR AGRICULTURE.

MR. STRATTON AT BUCKHORN:

The Province of Ontario occupies an admittedly high position in the matter of agricultural development. Our farming lands are the most fertile on the Continent, and our natural facilities have been made the most of by the systematic encouragement given to this great staple industry by the Liberal Government. The Department of Agriculture created by the Liberals in the face of the opposition of the Conservative party, has always been administered by a practical farmer, and the appropriations made for agricultural objects have been on a generous scale.

Since 1872 the Province has expended $5,142,226 on agriculture, the amount spent in 1901 being $264,000.

Of this amount, $1,932,725 was granted to agricultural societies scattered throughout the Province, whose annual fairs have done excellent work in raising the status of the farming industry.

The Live Stock, Poultry, Fruit-Growers and other Associations have received Government aid to the extent of $512,204, by reason of which their usefulness has been materially increased.

The Government has established and promoted the Farmer's Institutes, which have proved an exceedingly valuable agency in disseminating information and familiarizing farmers throughout the country with the latest methods and results of scientific research.

The Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, the creation of which was opposed and ridiculed by the Opposition, is now recognized as the best agricultural college in America, and attracts many students from abroad.

It has been such a marked success and proved its usefulness so thoroughly that Mr. Whitney, after having for years denounced it as a useless expenditure of money, has recently changed his attitude, and now contends that several other agricultural schools should be started.

The Department sent travelling dairies through the Province for several years, maintaining three dairy schools, as a result of which the standard of dairy produce has been considerably raised. The dairy trade has been sedulously fostered, until the value of our cheese product in 1900 amounted to $13,000,000, and that of creamery buttter to nearly $2,000,000.

A mass of practical and useful literature in the form of reports, bulletins and agricultural statistics is published by the Department, which keeps the farmer well informed in all that relates to his calling, and in touch with the latest developements of agricultural science.

Fifteen Fruit Experimental Stations are maintained in different sections, and instruction in fruit spraying has been widely given. In many other ways the Government has aided in the promotion of agricultural interests.

Largely as a result of the great and constant attention given by the Government to the improvement of farming, and the appropriation every year of large sums to popularize the newest ideas and methods, Ontario takes a very high rank in agriculture. This was conclusively shown at the Pan-American Exhibition at Buffalo, where exhibitors from this Province bore away a large share of the prizes in every important department of farm production.

The fact that no fewer than 45 acts directly affecting agriculture and similar activities have been placed on the statute books since 1888 indicates how closely the welfare of the farmers is studied by the Government.

Mr. Whitney and his following, on the other hand, have persistently acted as obstructionists and opposed again and again many of the measures introduced and appropriations asked for to promote agricultural education.

Under these circumstances the farmers of West Peterborough can have no doubt as to who is best entitled to their suffrages in the present contest.

A POLITICAL WEATHER-COCK.

Mr. Whitney in his political vagaries is as changeful as the inconstant moon. He is an opportunists to the hilt. He has no policy and his desire for office leads him to say at the moment what he thinks will best serve his turn in that direction. He says one thing one day and denies it the next. Hon. Mr. Ross has taken his measure to a hair, and in his speech at Chatham, thus sets forth the changeful moods and contradictory positions assumed by this political weathercock, Mr. Whitney, to catch what he hopes may be a favouring breeze:

"One of the most remarkable features of the campaign, Mr. Ross went on to say, is the agility which Mr. Whitney displays in adopting the varied opinions which he finds in party circles. Madame de Stael described Talleyrand as "a man who possesses the most happy flexibility and most agile capacity for transition." Mr. Whitney has played Talleyrand at his wont, and played him well. At his meeting in Toronto last August he announced what he declared was his policy, and what the party newspapers paraded as the very thing the country needed in order that its political redemption might be accomplished. At Port Hope a few weeks ago he declared the Opposition had nothing to offer except good intentions. (Laughter.) The Clergue grant of land he declared "a phenomenal steal," when he was in the House, of course. A steal implied a thief, the thief in this case being Mr. Clergue; now he says Mr. Clergue deserved the grant, and also the credit for the marvellous development which Mr. Whitney saw. At Owen Sound he declared he was always in favour of developing New Ontario. At the "Soo" he admitted that he was not able to see farther than his nose, with respect to the Government's schemes of development. (Laughter.) At New Hamburg he was opposed to taxing corporations, and declared he would repeal the supplementary revenue bill proposing this tax if he got into power. At Uxbridge and other places he declared that the statement that he favoured the repeal of the corporation tax was an absolute falsehood. He is in favour of a Minister for New Ontario and he opposed a Minister of Education and a Minister of Agriculture. He favours half a dozen agricultural colleges, and has opposed the dairy school for Western Ontario and some of the ordinary expenditures in connection with agriculture, and has supported measures which would interfere with the success of the only agricultural college we have. (Cheers.) He speaks from the same platform with Mr. Foy at various public meetings, and then speaks in support of Mr. P. D. McCallum, who struck the heaviest blow at Separate Schools ever attempted in the Legislature. He declares himself as opposed to corruption, yet he sits with William Smith of South Ontario on the same platforms. He supports Calder, whose seat was bought for him by Billy Smith and others. He supports Macdiarmid in West Elgin, who was elected by personation; Bower in East Elgin, who was unseated for corrupt practices, and Lackner in North Waterloo. He condemns tampering with ballot-boxes, and yet supported the Conservative party in their infamous gerrymander of half the Province of Ontario. (Cheers.) He opposes prohibition, and yet he speaks for candidates who are pledged in favour of prohibition. He calls for the clergy to help him elect his prohibition candidates, yet he himself declares against prohibition. He declares that the electors should be allowed to express opinions without undue influence, and yet in his northern Ontario trip he offered the settlers custom smelters for their ore, talked mysteriously about the necessity of amending the regulations of the Crown Lands Department, so that the settlers might get the timber on their land, and thought the mining laws might be greatly improved in the interests of the miners, although he sat in the house, where these things should be discussed and disposed off without offering a single suggestion. He wants athletic men to protect the polls against undue influence, and yet at the bye-election in Welland, a couple of years ago, as an inducement to the electors to support his candidate, he was prepared to sacrifice the full rental received by the Government for the water power of Niagara Falls, amounting to $15,000 a year. What can the country expect from a leader so hysterical in his utterances and so unsettled in regard to his convictions. He really proposes nothing, except to take office. For 14 years he has held a seat in the House, and for six years he has been leader of a party, and he is still as empty handed as when he entered parliament. Does Ontario want a change under these circumstances?

In concluding, Mr. Ross referred to the great future before the Dominion of Canada, in which it would become the second, if not the first, nation on this continent, and the greatest colony of the empire. "That is the work which is with us as a Government," he said; "we are your servants, we are your trustees; we are seeking honestly — I am speaking for myself and my colleagues — to discharge that duty. We are not afraid of the fierce light that rests upon a throne. We are not afraid of criticism; we want fair play; we know we will get it, and getting it we know there will be a victory for the Liberal party in the election."

THE ORIGIN OF ELECTORAL CORRUPTION IN ONTARIO.

The history of electoral corruption in this country dates from the Tory gerrymander of 1882. That act blunted the public conscience and paved the way for further wrong-doing. Conservatives, although admitting its unfairness, accepted it as a method of party warfare, and some Liberals, smarting under the injustice, were led to adopting a policy of paying the Tories off in their own coin when the opportunity offered. The tu quoque argument obtained a foundation in minds that otherwise would have rejected it.

Take this county for instance. Previously to 1882 the parties were pretty evenly divided and the contests in each riding for the House of Commons were on fair lines. Sir John Macdonald, with the connivance of the local Conservatives, planned the practical disfranchisement of two townships, giving large Liberal majorities, in order to obtain a party advantage. North and South Easthope, with their Liberal majority of 600, were taken out of the Perths and put in North Oxford, which had previously a large Liberal majority. That was what Sir John called "Hiving the Grits," in order to strengthen the Tories in other ridings. What moral difference was there between "switching" ballots and "burning" ballot boxes and this outrageous proceeding? If the ballot boxes of these two townships had been burned in every Dominion election held since that date the result in North Oxford would have been in no way affected.

The Conservative conscience having accepted the iniquity, the way was paved for further wrong-doing. We all know to what a science it was brought. Here is a brief outline of some of these atrocities on a free ballot.

One Freeborn went to Manitoba in 1896 on behalf of the Tupper candidate, being sent by the Ontario organization. Nat Boyd, the Tupper candidate, wired the organizer in Ontario, inquiring about Freeborn, and the reply went swiftly back, "He was a good man in Bruce." A school of instruction for ballot spoiling and stealing was started and well attended and the lessons were acted on. These things are all a matter of sworn record.

But Manitoba was not the first place in which this method of political warfare was employed. Freeborn had learned the trick in Ontario, and here is a partial record of what had been accomplished by the Tory organization in this province.

In West Northumberland in 1891, Mr. Hargraft, the Liberal candidate, was declared elected by a majority of 36. A deputy returning officer, during the interval between the election and the period of the recount, had taken the ballots out of the box and put them in his safe. While in the safe the ballots had been tampered with so that the result was 55 for Hargraft, 48 of which were without initials, and had been printed upon different paper from the regular ballots. The judge refused to give effect to the fraud and the Liberal candidate was declared elected.

In North Middlesex, in 1891, the Liberal candidate had a majority of three. The official figures of the returning officer gave Hutchins a majority of two. In the middle of a pile marked for Mr. Taylor, the Liberal candidate, were found three together marked for both candidates, the extra marks having been made after the election.

In South Grey, Dr. Landerkin's majority was 16, but on recount it was proved that 26 of his ballots were taken out and 26 ballots marked for his opponent substituted.

In Muskoka and Parry Sound, in 1891, whole polling sub-divisions were disfranchised and the contents of two ballot boxes containing Liberal majorities were burned.

In South Wentworth, in 1891, more ballots were found in the box than were recorded on the poll books.

In North Ontario, in 1896, 21 ballots marked for Graham, Liberal, were taken from the envelopes before the recount and 21 marked for Graham's opponent were substituted. The beneficiary of the fraud Mr. McGillvary, Tory, sat for the length of the term.

In Lincoln, in 1896, 500 extra ballots were printed for fraudulent use. Over 300 of them were supplied to deputy returning officers and many were used. A number of shady characters were appointed deputy returning officers and instructed by an American named Quackenbush how to substitute Rykert ballots for those marked for Gibson, Liberal.

In Parry Sound, in 1896, over 40 ballots in one box were tampered with.

The Beacon does not for a moment argue that these wrongs on the part of Mr. Whitney's friends are an excuse for wrong-doing on the part of Liberals, but it is only fair that the circumstances should be reviewed which led up to the state of affairs in a couple of the bye-elections in this province which Mr. Whitney and his friends are making so much of.

The Liberal Government of Ontario is the first on record to punish its own friends for corruption at elections, and thousands of dollars fines have been imposed and several men of both parties have been punished.

In addition the Government introduced and the Legislature passed laws very stringent in their provisions for the future. That is the position taken by Mr. Ross.

Now, if Mr. Whitney were more anxious for purity in elections than for party capital, he would condemn the bad conduct of his own friends as Mr. Ross has done, and join hands for the suppression of the evil. But neither Mr. Whitney nor one of his newspapers has as yet condemned the wrong-doing of their friends, but they keep continually talking as if the wickedness were all confined to their opponents. So long as they maintain that attitude, there is little hope of minimizing the evil, for it is virtually an invitation to their friends to continue in the old ways and the wrong-doing will be winked at by the leader, for up to date he has found no fault with it except when discovered in an opponent.

All good citizens desire freedom from corruption, but it never will be secured till Mr. Whitney does as Mr. Ross has done, admits that wrong is wrong in his own party as well as when practiced by opponents, and that the only way to put it down is by a union of forces of both parties.

THIS IS BRIBERY.

Yesterday the Examiner referred to Mr. Whitney's inconsistency in condemning political corruption alleged to have been practised by Liberals, and neglecting to condemn still greater wrongs committed by his own party. Below will be found a further example cited by the Globe of the way Mr. Whitney himself practices bribery:

Mr. Whitney told the people of New Ontario that if he were in power he would give the settlers the pine on their lots. The value of such pine would vary, but it has been calculated that in any pine region it would be worth from $400 to $3,800 per lot. This last figure was the actual sum paid for one hundred acres by a firm which purchased a limit in the north at a recent sale. The settlers buy their land from the Government at 50 cents an acre, and if there is any rock on it allowance is made for that fact. On an average, therefore, the amount paid for a hundred-acre lot would not be more than $40. For this $40 some of the lucky ones would get pine worth nearly $4,000. There would be a great rush into northern Ontario under such a policy as this, but, unfortunately, as soon as the exploiters had skimmed their land of the pine there would be a great rush out.

One would need Mr. Whitney's own perfervid rhetoric to fittingly characterize this unblushing and dishonest bribe. It is dishonest, because Mr. Whitney, ignorant as he may be of Provincial administration, can scarcely have persuaded himself that any imaginable Legislature would authorize such a wholesale spoilation of the public estate. He therefore promises the settler something that he could never perform. And if he could get the Legislature to sanction such a proceeding he would administer a blow to the public revenue that would certainly compel a resort to that direct taxation of which he himself has talked so much. Mr. Whitney's campaign partakes of the desperate gamester character.

EDITORIAL NOTES

One day Mr. Whitney says he is against the tax on corporations. The next day he says he is not. It is pretty near time he settled these differences of opinion.

Mr. Whitney, judging from his Sault Ste. Marie speech, seemed to be converted to the Algoma Central Railway enterprise. He now declares he would vote against such a measure again if he had the opportunity. Mr. Whitney is a wobbler from, as the street boy would say, "away back."

The reader of the speeches of Hon. G. W. Ross in the present campaign will always find something new. Not so with Mr. Whitney's. He has only the one dull, mournful tale to tell, and this has become so monotonous that the Mail and Empire now confines its report of it to a paragraph or two. The contrast between the two leaders in this respect is marked.

Hamilton Hearld, Independent, says:—With the succession duties and the corporation taxes, the provincial revenue is none too great for the provincial needs. If it be the policy of the Conservatives to abolish the succession duties and the corporation taxes, they should point out how they propose to raise revenue to make good the loss from the abolition of these revenue producing sources.

When Conservatives sheets speak of secret concessions to grafters, they must be thinking of the time when the Conservative Government at Ottawa parcelled out the timber limits in New Ontario to its friends private-at $5 per square mile. The Ontario Government sells them by public auction, and receives on an average $1,000 a square mile bonus. They are subject to ground rent and timber dues besides.

Mr. George F. Marter, Mr. Whitney's deskmate, and only recently the leader of the Conservative party in Ontario, was for years a resident of New Ontario. He says the pulp agreements of the Ontario Government are in the interests of the people, and that Mr. Whitney has just been standing in the way of progress. He probably understands the pulp wood question as well as the gentlemen who pretend to criticise it in this and other ridings.

Conservatives continue to ring the changes on the burning of the West Elgin ballots. They fail to state the fact that these ballots were once examined at Toronto, and practically nothing was found wrong with them. To insinuate that the Government had them destroyed intentionally is absurd. It was a misfortune for the Government that they were inadvertently destroyed, as the Royal Commission found from the evidence. It has given the Conservative shouters material for their trial by newspaper.

A STOCK BOOM.

Dealings in C.P.R. Stock on the Toronto Exchange on Tuesday Overshadowed Everything Else.

Toronto, May 21.—There were exciting scenes on the local stock exchange yesterday. The galleries were crowded by traders and others who watched with keen interest the activity on the floor of the exchange. Every few minutes the brokers would get into a bunch and gesticulate like mad, and it is said that the scenes more resembled Wall street than anything that has been seen here yet. Canadian Pacific stock was the cause of all the excitement. All day long there was heavy trading in it, and when the total was footed up at the end of the day it was found that over nine thousand shares had been dealt in. This represented, at current prices, dealing involving over one million of dollars. Nothing was ever witnessed on the local exchange like yesterday's business. The stock opened strong at 128¼, sold down to 128, but quickly rallied to 129. This was the price up to 12.30 o'clock. Before the afternoon board had opened at 2 o'clock, however, it had gone up in Wall street. At the opening at 2 o'clock it sold at 130. There was a good deal of profit-taking and the stock broke to 129¾, but in a few minutes orders came pouring in, and it began to ascend. It advanced gradually by ¼'s and ½'s to 132½, where it closed. In Montreal at the close it was wanted at 132½, while holders asked 133.

The reason of the buying is found in the wonderful developments in the Canadian Northwest, and the great development is being focussed on the stock exchange. Land sales are going on at a furious rate, and the Canadian Pacific is getting the cash in hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is said that the company will sell over two million dollars' worth of land this month. American farmers are pouring in by thousands.

I Will Cure You of

Rheumatism

No pay until you know it.

After 1,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month, and if it does what I claim, pay your druggist $5.00 for it. If it doesn't, I will pay him myself.

I have no samples. Any medicine that can effect Rheumatism with but a few doses must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs. It is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk. I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of every 40 who get those six bottles pay, and pay gladly. I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. Let me send you an order for the medicine. Take it for a month, for it won't harm you anyway. If it cures, pay $5.00. I leave that entirely to you. I will mail you a book that tells how I do it.

Simply state name of your dealer, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

JAMAICAN TRADE.

Boats Every Two Weeks Would Secure Much of It For Canada.

Ottawa, May 21.—The report of the committee of the Jamaica Society of Agriculture and Commerce, which was appointed to confer with the visiting delegates of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has been received by the Department of Trade and Commerce. The committee decided to urge that the Manufacturers' Association should look into improved steamship rates between Jamaica and Canada as compared with the United States. The committee represents that with a fast fortnightly direct steamship service, the six hundred thousand bunches of bananas which Canada annually consumes could all be supplied by Jamaica, and that from September to April, Jamaica oranges, of which Canada now takes only four millions out of a total consumption of 40 millions could be shipped to fully supply the Canadian market.

In regard to sugar the committee came to the conclusion that the Canadian preference of 33 1-3 per cent. had not been sufficient to attract sugar from Jamaica, but held out the hope that, upon the abolition of the bounties the trade would increase.

The committee hesitates to suggest the possibility of any rebate of duty being granted by the island in favor of any or all of Canada's products, and in view of the fact that Canada is not at present asking such a preference, the committee does not feel called upon to make any recommendations at this stage. The report is dated May 13.

The Canadian commercial agent in Kingston, Jamaica, Mr. G. Eustace Burke, reports that the Colonial Government has decided to admit sheep from Canada duty free when imported by contractors for supplying the British troops stationed on the island.

Mr. Burke says he is also endeavoring to have removed the extremely stringent quarantine regulations which at present practically prohibit the general importation of sheep even from Canada, although Canadian flocks are free altogether from the diseases from which the regulations are intended to protect the native animals.

A THOUSAND THANKS.

Jean Boivue is Very Hearty in his Expressions of Gratitude.

In Graceful Sentences he Pours out his Praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Remedy Which has Done so Much for Him.

St. Elsear, Que., May 18. (Special).—It is a well known characteristic of our French Canadian people that they are fearless and enthusiastic in their praise of anything or anybody that has befriended them.

No one is more capable of gracefully expressing gratitude than the average French gentleman.

A recent case illustrates this point. Mons. Jean Boivue, has for many years been afflicted with a terrible malady of the kidneys.

He suffered a great deal of pain, and his disease forced him to rise every hour during the night.

He was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking a short treatment found himself completely cured.

His gratitude knew no bounds, and ever since he has recommended to all his friends the wonderful remedy which cured him so promptly and completely.

When he finds anyone who has no confidence in them, his first act is to give them some pills, and explain to them how to use them, and he has found this method very soon convinces the most skeptical of the truth of the statement he makes that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest medicine in the world.

Mons Boivue says;

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are good.

"I know this, because while at one time I suffered very severely from Kidney Disease, now I am well.

"Not long ago I used to have to get up several times during the night now I can sleep well all night without rising.

"You can believe me, I am glad to have regained my health, and I say thanks a thousand times to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

ADVOCATE OF PEACE.

Gen. Dewet and Transvaal Government Take This Stand.

STATERS FOR INDEPENDENCE.

A Number of Obstacles in the Way of Immediate Peaceful Settlement—Possibility of a Split Between the Boer Factions—In That Event Many Surrenders Would Follow—The End Nearer.

Pretoria, May 20.—While it is hard to sift out the truth from the mass of contradictory reports that are floating in here from Vereeniging, Transvaal, where the Boer delegates are in conference, the best information obtainable leads to the belief that there are a number of obstacles in the way of a peace settlement.

In summing up the situation at Vereeniging, it is safe to say, that a majority of the Transvaalers, including the Transvaal Government, are in favor of peace, while the representatives of the Orange Free State, with a few influential exceptions, declare they will not renounce independence.

Strangely enough, General Dewet, who was most irreconcilable at the last conference, is now quite a strong advocate of peace.

Lord Kitchener certainly will not exceed the concessions already offered the delegates, as there remains only the question of the reduction of the demands of the Orange Free State representatives or the possibility of a split between the Boer factions.

This latter, while it would delay an immediate settlement of the matters before the conference, would certainly hasten the final solution of the situation in the field.

PEACE TALK IN LONDON.

Report That Boer Conference Voted to Send Delegation to Pretoria.

London, May 21.—Business on the stock exchange was very buoyant yesterday afternoon owing to reports of the receipt of a private telegram announcing that the Boer conference at Vereeniging had voted in favor of peace on the best terms procurable by a delegation to be sent to Pretoria to confer with Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner.

Optimism continues to prevail here regarding the prospects of peace in South Africa; but, definite facts are wanting. Such an incident as A. J. Balfour, the Government leader in the House of Commons, and Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief, dining with King Edward at Windsor Castle last night has been magnified into an important conference on the subject of the proceedings in South Africa.

The single fact appears to be that the official messages indicate that the meeting of the Boers at Vereeniging is in favor of sending a deputation to Pretoria to confer with Lord Milner and Lord Kitchener, perhaps during the course of the present week. This, however, by no means assures peace.

Any way, the negotiations are likely to be protracted.

It is thought at Brussels, says The Times' correspondent, that the announcement in Amsterdam of the breakdown of the South African peace negotiations is devoid of serious foundation. The Patriots publishes extracts from a Transvaal correspondent. It says peace will be declared May 25, and that the final conditions include limited autonomy under British protectorate, and amnesty for prisoners except Cape rebels.

Van Heerden Killed.

Middleburg, Cape Colony, May 20.—The town of Aberdeen (about 75 miles south of Middleburg), was attacked on Sunday last by 120 Boers, who were repulsed. Commandant Van Heerden was killed.

ANOTHER LARGE DRIVE.

Gen. Delarey's Brother Is Among the Prisoners Captured.

Vryburg, Bechuanaland, May 20.—The immunity which Lord Kitchener granted to the delegates to the Vereeniging conference of Boer leaders and their immediate followers from molestation by the British columns has not prevented the consummation of one of the biggest drives of the war, which has just wound up against the Bechuanaland blockhouse line.

Gen. Ian Hamilton and other commandors have gathered in 400 prisoners, including 100 rebels and recalcitrant Boers who have caused much trouble in the past.

Among the prisoners are a brother of Gen. Delarey and several other commandants. The movement was remarkable for the lack of resistance by the Boers, most of whom surrendered, after aimless dodging, without fighting.

There were no British casualties. Five hundred Boers managed to escape in the earlier stages of the drive.

Third C.M.R. Participates.

Ottawa, May 21.—The Executive Committee of the Canadian Patriotic Association has decided that the members of the four regiments constituting the 3rd contingent of Mounted Rifles shall be included in the objects of the association on the same conditions as those of the 2nd Mounted Rifles.

A Distinguished Visitor.

There arrived this morning at Ormond and Walsh's pharmacy, from Brantford, six dozen bottles of that celebrated medicine Merrill's System Tonic. This is not a patent medicine, but a reliable remedy prescribed by three eminent doctors and dispensed by a druggist. Purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and regulates the bowels. Price 50 cents for 50 doses. Get a bottle to-day while it lasts.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

Mrs. Joseph Larose Avoided the Surgeon's Knife by Taking the New Ozone Method of Curing Disease.

I consider it my duty, says Mrs. Joseph Larose, No. 292 St. Timothee street Montreal, to allow my very happy experience with Powley's Liquified Ozone, to come before the public.

MRS. JOSEPH LAROSE, MONTREAL

I had long been subject to severe headaches, and about a year ago a tumorous growth appeared in my chest, and was very sore and painful It was about the size of an egg, and caused myself and friends no small amount of alarm.

I had hospital treatment for three months, and consequently a painful plaster application which only increased my sufferings without doing any good.

I began taking Ozone six months ago, applying it outwardly and taking it also internally. I have used in all eight bottles and the growth has entirely disappeared without the aid of the dreaded knife.

I feel very thankful for my recovery and am always glad to tell others about Ozone.

The method surprises many people because it cures so many and what appears to be such different forms of disease. You will readily understand why this is when you think of the blood and remember what a fundamental function it is. In health it is health; bearing nourishment and vitality to every tissue, nerve, tendril, muscle and organ of the body. In disease it is disease, spreading foulness and poisonous germs throughout the system. Now Powley's Liquified Ozone acts on the blood. It increases its oxygen-carrying power, adds to its food-giving properties, purifies it and disinfects all the tissues through which it passes. If there are any humors or growths in the body that are not normal, the Ozone will gradually dissolve them and restore natural healthy conditions. You can purchase Powley's Liquified Ozone at your druggists. There are two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

FORCING THE FIGHTING.

Coal Operators in Secret Session Discuss Plans to Break Strike.

New York, May 21.—The Herald says: Presidents of the coal-carrying railroads in secret session Tuesday discussed plans to break the strike of the miners in Pennsylvania. Every railroad operating in the anthracite fields was represented, and it is understood that J. P. Morgan kept in close touch with the proceedings by means of the cable. "No surrender" was the slogan of the mine operators, and when the meeting adjourned it was said the railroads were prepared for a protracted struggle, in which every resource would be brought to bear upon the strikers. Arbitration has been abandoned, and the mine owners intend now to force the fighting. The railroad presidents met in the office of George F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia & Reading Co. It was the first conference since the strike began, and there was a large attendance of officials. From one of the railroad presidents who attended the conference, a summary of the proceedings was obtained. "Such a thing as settlement of the coal strike," he said, "was never mentioned, or even suggested."

Greatest in the World.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 21.—President Mitchell says that the strike situation remains unchanged. He considers the present strike the greatest in the world in point of numbers.

Wind Kills Six.

Cincinnati May 21.—A terrific wind and rainstorm, accompanied by a water spout, swept over this locality yesterday, causing the loss of six lives and injuring many others. The fury of the storm continued only 30 minutes, but the damage wrought in that time will amount to more than a million dollars in the business section of Cincinnati, and as much more in other parts of the city and its suburbs.

Tornado Killed 92.

Goliad, Texas, May 21.—Ninety-two dead and one hundred and three injured is the result of the terrible work of Sunday's tornado. The town was literally swept from end to end by the wind, and 150 houses were demolished. A revised list of the dead shows that twenty-eight whites perished.

STATERS FOR INDEPENDENCE.

A Number of Obstacles in the Way of Immediate Peaceful Settlement—Possibility of a Split Between the Boer Factions—In That Event Many Surrenders Would Follow—The End Nearer.

Pretoria, May 20.—While it is hard to sift out the truth from the mass of contradictory reports that are floating in here from Vereeniging, Transvaal, where the Boer delegates are in conference, the best information obtainable leads to the belief that there are a number of obstacles in the way of a peace settlement.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Two Thousand Farmers Crowded Into the Drill Shed at Simcoe to Hear the Premier Hon. G. W. Ross.

Toronto, May 21.—After his meeting in Chatham the Premier went yesterday through the garden of southwestern Ontario to Simcoe, where a most enthusiastic meeting was held in the Drill Shed. The farmers of the district turned out to the number of 2,000 to hear him, and the report of the meeting shows that they returned home still satisfied with the forward policy of the Ross Government, which means so much to their own industry. The Opposition leader was present at a demonstration in his honor at Winchester, in his own riding. Mr. Stratton spoke at Peterboro, and Mr. John R. Barber, who is most competent to deal with the subject, spoke at Burlington on the pulpwood concessions. With nominations to-morrow and the election a week later, the chief work now must be to make certain that the vote of every supporter of the Government is polled, while careful attention should also be paid to the appointment of scrutineers in every polling sub-division, so that any attempt at improper methods may be at once detected.

FRENCH PREMIER TO RESIGN.

Waldeck-Rousseau Will Get Out of Office Before June 1.

Paris, May 21.—It is officially announced that the Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, will resign before June 1, leaving President Loubet to form a new Cabinet simultaneously with the meeting of the new chamber. M. Waldeck-Rousseau notified M. Loubet and his colleagues just before the President's departure for Russia that he considered he had accomplished the work of unity, which was the object of his taking office, and that, therefore, he desired to retire from the present Cabinet, but would retain office until a new Cabinet was formed from representatives of the majority of the newly elected deputies.

RAISED MILLIONS ON NO SECURITY.

How an Unscrupulous Woman Cozened British Financers.

New York, May 21.—The Herald's London correspondent states that Mme. Humbert, on the strength of the Crawford fortune, cozened English financiers out of twelve million dollars. She gave practically no security. She told her story so well that it was believed. She said that she would get money from the Crawford estate no matter how the decision went.

Chinese Indemnity.

Pekin, May 20.—The foreign Ministers have decided to divide the installments of the Chinese war indemnity, provisionally, on the basis of a pro rata reduction of the excess. They have also unanimously decided to instruct the bankers' commission to inform the Taotai of Shanghai that the argument to the effect that the indemnity is payable on a silver basis is untenable.

Restraining the Trust.

Kansas City, Mo., May 21.—Judge John W. Henry, in the Circuit Court here yesterday, issued a temporary order, at the request of Attorney-General Crow, restraining Nelson Morris & Co., packers, from fixing the price of meats or from working in conjunction with the so-called beef trust.

They arrived on a "special" at 3 a.m. from Montreal, where it was sought to hold them for the extradition proceedings which will now be heard here. In an interview Col. Gaynor had few kind words for the manner in which they were treated by the Montreal detectives.

THE SOLOISTS OF WESTMINSTER ABBEY CHOIR PARTY.

Seldom has any musical enterprise started out from England with a finer, all-round equipment of brilliant soloists than the Westminster Abbey Choir party, who are due to appear in Cleveland on Tuesday next.

They are one and all a unique combination in this respect from the wonderful male altos down to the phenomenal double bass of the party, representing the very pick of England Cathedral singers.

Mr. Percy Coward and Mr. Harry Oakley have long been recognized as foremost exponents of the difficult art of alto singing, and as they possess voices of great beauty, their performance may be safely looked upon as one of the greatest novelties ever presented in this country.

The tenors of the choir party are four in number, and here again will be found a most brilliant array of young musical talent.

Conspicuous among this number is Mr. Edward Branscombe, the director and organizer of the tour, one of England's foremost soloists, holding a prominent position among oratorio singers on the other side of the Atlantic, to which his ten years work at Westminster Abbey has contributed in no small degree. Mr. Branscombe is the fortunate possessor of a beautiful tenor voice and is justly famed for quite remarkable clearness of enunciation.

Mr. Edward Dalzell has the unique reputation of being the most accomplished glee singer in London, and particular features of the Westminster Choir Party's programme will be the unaccompanied quartetts, in which this gentleman is associated.

Mr. Dalzell's great experience in this school of music may be estimated from the fact that he was a choirister at Ely Cathedral, principal tenor at New College, Oxford, for nine years, while since 1878 he has held a layvicarship at Westminster Abbey.

Mr. William Bell, another tenor, is likewise well known in the Old Country, is an excellent soloist and finished performer. Originally a solo boy in Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, he subsequently became solo tenor at King's College, Cambridge, and still later lay vicar of Westminster, an appointment which he still holds.

Mr. Frederick Norcup, one of the latest recruits to the Abbey Choir, having been appointed there as recently as last year, is a former lay vicar of Peterborough Cathedral, and a young singer of remarkable promise. Mr. Norcup's beautiful tenor voice has been warmly eulogized by the Canadian and American press.

Mr. Robert Hilton, whose face is familiar to all Abbey visitors, and to whom will be allotted an important share in the coming coronation music, is the second bass of the party, and has a unique record in England as a festival and oratorio singer, whilst during the comparatively short time he has been known in Canada, he has secured an extraordinary reputation there. Mr. Hilton possesses a voice of great nobility and beauty allied to a most distinguished and dignified presence, added to which his large experience of professional concert work makes him an artist of more than ordinary attainments.

Another really wonderful soloist is Mr. Harry Dearth, a basso, cantante, of beautiful quality, and who is claimed to be the most promising young singer in England at the present time.

Mr. Dearth has the privilege every year of conducting the musical services for Princess Louise in her Highland Home, and frequently sings before the King and Royal Family. This is a distinction accorded to a very few.

Will be heard in the George street Methodist church, Peterborough, Wednesday, May 28th. Tickets at Edgecumbe's store, Lane's, Nugent's and Madill's, or any member of the choir. 1d

A MAY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Grace Kendry and Mr. William Bletcher This Afternoon.

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized at 1.30 this afternoon, at the residence of Mr. T. E. Kendry, when his daughter Miss Grace C., was united in marriage to Mr. William B. Bletcher, of town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Bastow, underneath an arch composed of evergreens and apple blossoms, the latter being the predominating decoration of the house. The bride who entered the parlor on the arm of her father to the strains of Medellsohn's Wedding March, by Miss McCabe, was beautifully attired in white organdie, with trimmings of white satin baby ribbon, with tucked satin bolero and applique, and carried a magnificent bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley. She was attended, as bridesmaid, by Miss Lillie Mowry, similarly attired. The groom was assisted by Mr. Mr. J. G. Gemmell, of town.

After the ceremony, the guests, to the number of about 40, sat down to a delightful wedding dejeuner, served by Long Bros. Among the numerous presents received was a handsome silver soup tureen and ladle, from the members of Eko camp, of which the groom was a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Bletcher left on the 4.45 train for a short visit to Toronto and Niagara Falls. Their many friends will wish them a very happy and prosperous journey through life.

FIRE IN LINDSAY.

It Started in the Rear of the Daly House This Afternoon—Great Damage.

Lindsay was visited by a big fire this afternoon, and at one time it looked as if the entire business portion of the town would be wiped out. A telegraph message from Lindsay at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon to Mayor Denne asked that the Peterborough Fire Brigade be sent with all possible haste to the Scugog town. The fire alarm in Peterborough was sounded, and it was only a short while until the Peterborough men with their steam fire engine and the hook and ladder wagon were on their way to the Grand Trunk Station. However, at three o'clock, another message from Lindsay stated that the fire had been gotten under control, and that the services of the Peterborough brigade would not, therefore, be needed.

The fire is said to have started in some sheds to the rear of the Daly house, and cleared out a large number of frame outbuildings. It then spread to the premises of James Hamilton, Carriage Manufacturer, which is at the time of going to press in flames, as is also a valuable terrace, owned by Mr. J. J. Lundy, of Peterborough. It is feared that the fire may yet eat its way to the business portion of Kent street.

BUCKHORN WELCOMES STRATTON.

An Enthusiastic Meeting of Smith and Harvey Electors.

Mr. Stratton's Services to the North Country—Agricultural Record of the Government—Addresses by Messrs. Hall, McClellan, Culverwell and Stratton—The North Solid for Stratton.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the electors of Harvey and Smith assembled in the Orange Hall, Buckhorn, last night, to hear addresses from Mr. R. R. Hall, Mr. J. H. McClellan and Mr. Stratton. The hall was crowded to the doors and the meeting was in full sympathy with Mr. Stratton and the Government he represents.

Mr. John Smith occupied the chair, and in opening the meeting said that Mr. Stratton had been a faithful representative of West Peterborough, and the northern part of the county had good reason to remember him, as he was sure they would do, to good effect, on May 29th. (Applause.)

MR. R. R. HALL

took up the financial question and showed that the Government which had so faithfully discharged its trustee ship, and so successfully that after spending over 100 millions, of which 85 millions had been returned to the people, that there was a surplus in the treasury of two and a half millions, was worthy in this respect, as in all others, of a renewal of public confidence. He contrasted the position of Ontario with that of all the other provinces which had large debts and demonstrated how greatly in the public interests would be the return of the Ross Government.

MR. J. H. McCLELLAN

who was heartily received, and after congratulating the people of Harvey upon the advantages which they now enjoy, he showed that the public money had been well expended, and also showed that their representative for the past sixteen years had carefully looked after their interests, and the unfair tactics of the Opposition was evidenced by the fact that Mr. Stratton's services to Harvey and the back country were being used against him in Peterborough and urged as reason why Peterborough should not support him. Mr. McClellan then appealed to the working men in support of the Liberal Government. He said that there was a large union labour organization in Peterborough of which both himself and Mr. Miller were members. Mr. Miller claimed that he had the support of union labourers, but this was not the fact. Then Mr. McClelland inquired if it were not in the interests of the working men that such works as the Cereal Company should be established in Peterborough, as they had been largely by the efforts of Mr. Stratton. This industry gave employment to a large number of people and supplied a first class local market to the farmers of the county for their grains. Practical work of this kind was worth more than any amount of empty claim and election promises. Performance was always better than promises. (Applause.)

MR. J. ALEX CULVERWELL,

who was in the neighbourhood in connection with the survey of the water powers by his company, in course of a few well chosen remarks, said that he felt it his duty to congratulate the electors of Harvey and Smith upon having Mr. Stratton as their member and at the same time a member of the Government. Mr. Stratton had done his work for West Peterborough well because he knew how to do it. He knew what the wants of the people were better than any other man in the riding and the speaker was sure that he will show an inclination to meet these wants in the future as he had done in the past. (Applause.) It was an easy matter for Mr. Miller and his friends to talk wind and make reckless charges with nothing in them, but wasn't it better to have a representative who could point to a record which showed that he had been able to render good service to the riding and would be able to do so in the future with increased effect with his influence as a Cabinet Minister? Mr. Culverwell went on to speak of the effective manner in which the affairs of the province were carried on by the present Government, which was entitled to the heartiest support of the electorate. It was not a standstill but a go-ahead Government. He was sure the Government was reasonable to deal with, and careful in the management of public affairs, and the protection of public interests, as he had found out from his own experience. The Opposition had tried to prevent the development of this province, and to prevent important enterprises going on for the sake of party, and because they were not at the head of affairs. There was too much of this rib-stabbing business in politics. The Opposition should be fair. They should not, on the eve of an election make reckless charges against honourable men, who had not an opportunity to answer them. Such charges should be taken with a grain of salt—there was nothing in them. He hoped Mr. Stratton would be elected by an increased majority. He well deserved our heartiest support. (Applause.) There was no question of the Ross Government not being sustained. It was therefore in the interests of West Peterborough to have a representative who would be a member of the House, and besides—a friend at court—a member of the Government. (Applause.)

MR. STRATTON,

on rising to speak, was given a most enthusiastic reception, showing that he held his old time place in the hearts of the electors of North Smith and Harvey. He dealt effectively with the public issues of the day. He explained and set forth the advantages of the pulp wood policy of the Government, and showed how its railway policy was calculated, without imposing any burden upon our finances, to open up the new country, to promote settlement, to promote the establishment of industries, that would give employment to both capital and labour, and promote trade with older Ontario. The Government had grappled with the transportation problem in a practical way. They had, and still, appreciated the importance of giving settlers the advantages that would come from good colonization roads and colonization railways. The life of a pioneer settler was hard enough at the best, in the beginning, and the more the Government did to give the settler access to his market and means for comforts and necessities to come in, the more they were doing their duty to the hardy settlers who had entered upon the work of conquering a new country. The railway policy of the Government was entirely in the public interest; monopoly was provided against, and freight and passenger rates were under the control of the Government. The Government looked after the rights and interests of the public in preference to the interests of railway companies. Mr. Stratton dealt in some detail and on the lines of the display article on the front page of this issue, with the manner in which the Government helped the farmers of the country. After dealing with some other public questions, Mr. Stratton dealt with the relations of the Government to the electors of the north country from a local point of view. He was sure that farmers in that portion of the riding would appreciate having their

FARMS TEN MILES NEARER TOWN.

When they came to Harvey first, farms were thirty miles from town—now they were twenty. They would appreciate a saving of twenty miles on the round trip. The township had been opened up in the last fifteen years with excellent results to the agricultural community. It had been charged that the moneys appropriated, had been badly expended. These statements were made up by men who did not know the circumstances, who had a purpose to serve. Mr. Stratton said his hearers had only to drive over the roads of Harvey, they had only to drive to Peterborough to realize the falsity of the charges, and to see the splendid roads they had. He did not care about the misrepresentation in other portions of the riding, because he knew that facts were stubborn things, and it would be impossible for his opponents to show where anything had been wrongly expended before the eyes of the people who travelled and were benefitted by the road and expended the money. When he had been at Harvey fifteen years ago there were no religious services conducted, no Methodist service at Lakehurst and no Presbyterian service at Lakehurst, but now services were being conducted in fine handsome churches. He was glad to see that the people felt an interest in the development of the higher interests of the township. Building had been liberally encouraged, and the people were taking an interest in having proper edifices in which to hold their religious services. They did not have any cheese factory in Harvey fifteen years ago. They had built one and the business had so increased that another one was erected, which was a thriving industry in a township particularly adapted for dairying. No doubt the dairying and the cheese industry would increase and become a greater benefit still to the farmers whose farms were particularly adapted to this purpose. The action of the Government in establishing dairy schools and instituting the travelling dairy, against the obstruction of Mr. Whitney and his followers, had done much to boom the dairy industry, and add to its profit, to the farmers. They did not have an agricultural society in Harvey fifteen years ago, but conditions had so improved that one of the most successful township exhibitions was annually held in Harvey, much to the satisfaction and advantage of the people. Mr. Stratton also referred to the policy of the Government in especially assisting what was known as poor schools in the newer districts, so that in places where the people were too scattered and financially unable to keep up a school themselves, the help of the Government enabled their children to have the advantages of education. Since he had been their representative the grants to poor schools had been largely increased, and one of the pleasantest recollections of the services he had been able to render the northern parts of this riding was represented by the increased grants to "poor schools." Mr. Stratton said that it would be his one aim to continue to serve not only the whole county, but the northern part especially to the best of his ability. He knew the requirements of the township, and he knew the wishes of the people as well as he thought anyone did, and he felt satisfied that a renewal of the confidence that had existed between them would not be detrimental to the township that had given him hearty support in the past. Everything desired could not be done at once. It took time to accomplish even the nearest approach to their desires, and Mr. Stratton was satisfied that it would be in the best interests of the county and of the province that they should extend to him a renewal of their confidence on the present occasion. (Applause.)

The highly successful meeting closed with the usual cheers.

ANDERSON IN ASHBURNHAM.

Greeted by a Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

Another Campaign Bubble Pricked—A Garvin Ghost Story Laid—Addresses by Mr. Anderson, Mr. Kerr and Mr. Clute.—Public Questions Discussed.

There was a large attendance at the meeting which was held in the Ashburnham Town Hall last night in the interests of Mr. Wm. Anderson, Liberal candidate in East Peterborough. The chair was occupied by Mr. Wm. Scott, chairman of the Liberal Association of Ashburnham, and the audience proved to very enthusiastic throughout. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Anderson, the candidate, Mr. F. D. Kerr and R. C. Clute, K.C., Toronto. The hall was very appropriately decorated with mottos and flags.

The chairman announced that the first speaker would be the candidate, Mr. Wm. Anderson, and he also extended an invitation to any representative of Dr. Ford to take a seat on the platform and he would be given the usual opportunity to speak.

MR. ANDERSON.

Mr. Anderson was given a very cordial reception. He assured them of the pleasure it gave him to meet the electors of Ashburnham and also of the pleasure he felt in seeing so many ladies present. He asked to be excused from making any very lengthy remarks, as he was suffering from a severe cold. Speaking as to his candidature, Mr. Anderson said that he was a farmer and had always been a consistant advocate of temperance and he would continue along that line in the future. As he was a farmer he was in a better position, therefore to judge as to the needs of his constituents than Dr. Ford, a professional man. Mr. Anderson referred to the fact that he had represented the Township of Otonabee in the County Council for upwards of 30 years and during that time no one could point to a dishonourable act that he had ever done. He appealed to the electors of East Peterborough for their support, and if elected he would do all in his power for the advancement of their best interests. He had not as yet had any experience in Provincial Legislation, but the experience he had gained in County Council work should prove to be of much assistance to him at Toronto. He asked them for their support and felt confident that he would receive the same on the 29th of the present month.

MR. F. D. KERR.

Mr. F. D. Kerr was the next speaker, and after expressing his pleasure at speaking to an Ashburnham audience, he went on to speak of the ability of Mr. Anderson as a legislator. He was a farmer and if the interests of the farmers are looked after there need be no concern as to the interests of the county at large. Mr. Anderson had been a faithful representative of the banner township of Otonabee, and so splendidly has he discharged his duties that he had never encountered defeat. Mr. Kerr then referred to the change of "policies" of the Opposition during the past few years. Where was the "calf with the cough," the "Ross Bible," and the school question? They are all gone, and the cries that we have to-day are of no more weight than the old cries of several years ago. These cries had no foundation; in fact they were all raised to blind the electors of Ontario for the purpose of getting into power. Is there a province in Canada, or a state in the Union whose record they would change for that of Ontario? Why don't the Opposition quit their mud slinging, such as they are conducting in East Peterborough, and why do they not state their policy, if they have any, on the broader matters that concern the development of our country? Mr. Kerr then took Mr. Garvin to task for his misleading statements during the past few weeks. Mr. Garvin was asking them to take his advice. He asked them to take his advice in West Peterborough four years ago, and the electors rejected his advice by one thousand of a majority, and they were not sorry for it yet. (Applause.) The people of the province of Ontario are well educated or better than in any State in the Union.

A voice—"They are, and better."

Mr. Kerr ridiculed Mr. Garvin's idea of an educational council, showing that it would tend towards irresponsible government. Mr. Kerr alluded to the finding of the commission that was appointed by the Government to inquire into the cost of the production of school books, and to see if the publishers were making such enormous profits as the Opposition had alleged. The result of the inquiry was that they reported to the Government showing that the school books of the province of Ontario were cheaper and of better material than the school books of any State in the American Union. Continuing, the speaker reviewed Hon. Mr. Ross' administration of the Department of Education, the development of New Ontario by the present Government, and the defection of Mr. Marter from his party owing to the standstill policy of his leader, Mr. Whitney. Messrs. Fox, Carnegie and one or two other Conservatives had bolted during the recent session as they could not vote against a policy tending towards the development of the province, and then dare go back and face their constituents. The attitude of Dr. Ford on the temperance question, with his leader pledged against prohibition was explained to the amusement of the meeting. Mr. Kerr then took up the latest campaign cry of the Opposition party in East and West Peterborough, viz., that Mr. Sam Clegg had received $1600 a year from the Dominion Government, and at the same time was drawing $300 from the Crowns Lands Department of the Ontario Government. Mr. Kerr characterized this statement as deliberately false, and read the following letter from Mr. D. H. Kerr, Crown Timber Agent, Peterborough;

Peterborough, May 20th, 1902

F. D. Kerr, Esq., Peterborough;

Dear Sir,—In answer to your enquiry I beg to state that Mr. Clegg's services and pay as my assistant during the winter of 1900-01 both ceased the day he received his appointment to the position of Superintendent of Public Works in the Newcastle District.

Your Obedient Servant,
D. H. MOORE,
Crown Timber Agent.

As a matter of fact Mr. Clegg received only $800 a year from the Dominion Government, and not $1600. In conclusion Mr. Kerr urged the electors of East Peterborough to return Mr. Anderson at the head of the poll on May 29th. (Applause.)

R. C. CLUTE, K. C.

The address of R. C. Clute, K.C., Toronto, was very interesting and during the course of his remarks he was given an attentive hearing. His explanation of the relation of capital towards labour showed himself to be a deep student of affairs of that kind, whilst his review of the many acts passed by the Ontario Government tending towards the relief of the working man was clear and convincing. His preliminary remarks were in an endeavour to show how the greatness of a country depended upon the greatness of its people, and that the duty that devolved upon each one of us is to see that our country is developed. In this regard he felt sure that the Ross Government was doing its duty. Speaking of the relation of capital towards labour, Mr. Clute contended that as the employment of labour had increased capital and labour had become more and more separated from each other, and the increase in wages has not been in proportion to the increase of interest on the capital invested. However, with a view of equalising this as far as in their power, the Ross Government and the Liberal Governments preceeding it had passed legislation whereby trades unions and labour unions have become corporate bodies, recognized under law and are therefore in that regard on an equal footing with capital. By the recognition of of trades' unions the length of a day's work has been almost halved, children of tender years cannot be employed and in certain lines women, for their own best interests, are not allowed to be employed. Having spoken at some length along these lines Mr. Clute proceeded to review the many acts of the Ontario Government in the interests of the labouring classes. Amongst these were the Mechanics' Lien Act, and the Factory Act, the details of which the speaker went on to explain. Referring to the general policy of the Government, Mr. Clute commenced by stating that when Mr. Ross assumed the Premiership of the Province he did what any right-thinking business man would do—he took stock of the affairs under his charge. He appointed a commission, consisting of three very prominent financiers, to report as to the financial condition of the province. That commission, after being given access to all the books of every department, and after careful deliberation, reported that the receipts of every department of the Government had been duly collected and promptly turned over to the Provincial Treasurer; that the method of bookkeeping was good, and that there was a surplus to the credit of the province of 2 1-2 million dollars. Regarding the policy in connection with the development of New Ontario, Mr. Clute went on to show that on almost every occasion in which the Government had introduced legislation tending towards the development of New Ontario, the Opposition leader and his party had voted against it. In the battles which in years past, the Liberal Government had fought for provincial rights, they had received no support from the Opposition, and Mr. Whitney is on record as having denounced the pulp concession to Mr. Clergue, terming it "a colossal steal." Proceeding with his remarks, Mr. Clute explained the provisions of the pulp wood concessions, showing how they called for a vast expenditure of money on the part of the capitalists, with every safeguard for the protection of the settlers. None of the land had been sold, and the price per cord was 40c., subject to being increased at any time. Another matter in which the Opposition and the Government differed, was in the question of the tax on corporations, and the Succession Duty. Mr. Whitney says that the first thing that he will do after getting into power is to take the tax off corporations. How was it that Mr. Whitney is championing the cause of the corporations on the eve of an election?

Mr. Clute paid a passing reference to the wise course the Government had pursued in its saw-log policy, and then went on by sizing up the merits of the two candidates on the question of temperance. He made an eloquent appeal for the support of Mr. Anderson and the Ross Government and sat down amid much applause.

He asserted, in closing, in spite of all that had been said to the contrary, Mr. Clegg's salary was only $800 per year.

The meeting closed with cheers for the King, the candidate and Mr. Ross.

Provincial and Dominion Representatives Meet.

HAVE REACHED NO DECISION YET

The Members of the Conference and Who They Represent—Manitoba and British Columbia Take No Part—The Claims Made by the Provinces—What Ontario Has Already Done in Action—A Hint.

Ottawa, May 21.—In the hope of reaching a mutual understanding as to the control and administration of the sea coast and inland fisheries of Canada, in accordance with the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, a conference of representatives of the Dominion and Provincial Governments opened yesterday morning in the office of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The Dominion Ministers present were: Hon. James Sutherland, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. William Paterson, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. J. I. Tarte and Hon. William Templeman. The provinces, exclusive of Manitoba and British Columbia, which are not taking part in the conference, are represented as follows:

Ontario—Mr. Aemilius Irving, K.C. and Mr. S. T. Bastedo.

Quebec—Premier Parent, Hon. H. S. Duffy, Provincial Treasurer, and Mr. L. J. Cannon, Assistant Attorney-General.

Nova Scotia—Hon. George Murray, Premier; Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General.

New Brunswick—Premier Tweedie and Attorney-General Pugsley.

Prince Edward Island— Premier Peters and Hon. Messrs. Whear and McNutt.

Ontario's Position.

The several provinces are not united in their views with respect to the fisheries. The effect of the Privy Council judgment is to vest the ownership of the fisheries in the provinces, but the right to fix the close seasons; to make regulations and to determine the nature of the apparatus for catching fish is reserved to the Dominion. So far as Ontario is concerned, the province has assumed the ownership of the fisheries and now issues licenses and collects a revenue. It has also passed a law imposing restrictions as to the number of fish to be caught by anglers and the size of such fish. To this law objection is taken by the Dominion, which argues that the province has no power to make regulations and in so doing has encroached upon the Federal power. In return the province asserts that it will be well satisfied if the Dominion makes regulations upon the points in dispute.

Other Provinces' Claims.

Quebec, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island claim that the Privy Council judgment gives them the ownership of the fisheries within three miles of their coasts, and that in consequence they are entitled to have divided amongst them the Halifax award, amounting to $4,500,000, with interest. Nova Scotia has not taken any active part in presenting its claims, but appears to be inclined to allow the Federal power to administer the fisheries.

The question as to the ownership of the foreshore fisheries may as a result of the present conference be referred to the courts for interpretation.

The conference was in session until 1 o'clock, when an adjournment took place until 8.30.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was held in the office of the Privy Council, the delegates being closeted until 6 p.m., when they adjourned until to-day. It was given out at last evening's adjournment that the consensus of opinion seemed to be in favor of the Dominion exercising control over the sea coast fisheries, the provinces being left to administer the fisheries inland. No definite understanding was, however, reached. Last night Hon. James Sutherland entertained the delegates to dinner at the Russell House. Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, goes to Toronto on Saturday to attend the meeting of the Royal Society. While in the Queen City he will be the guest of Mr. Goldwin Smith.

B.C. Does Away With the Time Honored Land Grant.

Victoria, B.C., May 21.—The Provincial Government yesterday introduced a revised railway policy. In place of the cash bonus and land grants for the construction of the railway from the coast to the boundary district, with ferry connection with Victoria, the bill grants only a cash bonus of $5,000 a mile for the railway from Victoria to the eastern boundary of the province instead of by land grant and cash bonus. The new bill increases the cash bonus from four to five thousand dollars a mile.

Inhabitants of Fort de France in a Panic of Terror.

MONT PELEE AGAIN ERUPTS.

Showers Stones in the Streets of the City, and It Was With Great Difficulty That People Were Reassured—Severe Inundation at Basse Pointe—Twenty Houses Swept Away and Fifty Damaged.

Fort de France, May 21.—Yesterday morning at 5.30 a thick, heavy cloud, lit up by flashes of lightning and the rising sun, rose from Mont Pelee. The people of Fort de France at once became panic stricken, and in scant attire rushed excitedly through the streets of the town. Stones from the volcano as big as hazel nuts fell upon the streets. Many of the inhabitants hurriedly embarked on the vessels in the harbor, and it was with great difficulty that they were eventually reassured. At 7 o'clock, however, the excitement was over, and the people became calm. The phenomenon of yesterday morning was similar to the eruption of Wednesday, May 7, but not so severe.

The cloud which issued from Mont Pelee yesterday morning was composed of cinders. It is estimated 20,000 people rushed into the streets of the town shrieking and praying.

A severe inundation at Basse Pointe, on the northeast coast of this island, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning swept away twenty houses. Fifty other buildings were damaged by the flowing mud, which has swept over the Vallee de la Riviere, Valley of the River. There was no loss of life. Basse Pointe having been evacuated several days ago.

Access to the ruins of St. Pierre is still impossible. The United States cruiser Cincinnati and the United States special steamer Potomac, which left here yesterday for St. Pierre, in another attempt to recover the bodies of the United States and British consuls and their families, have not been able to land their searching party, owing to the intense clouds of cinders sweeping over the stricken town.

A tidal wave has destroyed a portion of the village of Le Carbet. Senator Knight will accompany Governor L'Huerre on the Suchet to St. Pierre. A number of the inhabitants of Fort de France have embarked on the available vessels of the harbor, and intend to seek refuge on the Island of Guadeloupe or to the southward.

Where Canada's Money Goes.

London, May 21.—The Governor of the Windward Islands, Sir Robert Llewellyn, cables from St. Vincent to the Colonial Office, as follows: "All immediate wants now supplied. Have ordered timber for the construction of houses through His Majesty's ambassador at Washington, and the Governor-General of Canada, at a cost of £5,000 ($25,000). Please instruct those officers to co-operate and arrange for the payment.

"The question of the re-settlement of the people is under consideration. One of the new townships is already settled. In my estimation £50,000 ($250,000) will enable us to support all the sufferers for six months and re-house them in new localities.

"The sufferings of the wounded from burns are very terrible. Sixty deaths have occurred in the hospital."

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

A POSITIVE CURE FOR DISEASE.

It has a Fame and Reputation That no Other Medicine can Boast of.

It is not what is said in the newspapers about Paine's Celery Compound, but what it does—its life-saving work, that explains its world wide fame and popularity.

It is well that all should know that Paine's Celery Compound is not an ordinary patent medicine ranking with the nervines, sarsaparillas, bitters and pills of this day. Paine's Celery Compound is as far beyond these common remedies as the effulgent light of the mid-day sun is superior to the tallow candle.

Paine's Celery Compound possesses extraordinary virtues and powers for health building and life lengthening. Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. medicine in the world was ever marvellous medicine to his profession as a positive cure for sleeplessness, nervousness, wasting strength, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles. Since its introduction, tens of thousands have been raised from sickness and disease to perfect health and vigour. No other medicine in the world was ever so highly honoured and recommended; no other has accomplished such a blessed mission amongst the sick. When the honest physician is called upon to prescribe for weak, run-down, over-worked, debilitated and ailing men and women, he invariably recommends the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

At this time no household can afford to be without Paine's Celery Compound. It is within reach of all classes. It makes the sick well, and the cure is permanent. Strengthen, purify and regulate the system at once with this greatest and best of all remedies, and you will be in a condition to resist all invasion of disease.

A DROLL CHARACTER

"COUNSELOR" NOLAN WAS A WIT OF THE NEW YORK BAR.

Some of the Quaint Sayings of This Picturesque Legal Light, Who For Years Kept Gotham's Judges and Lawyers Laughing.

In a book entitled "The Barrister" Charles Frederick Stansbury has brought together the best of the anecdotes of Tom Nolan, who was known popularly among members of the New York bar as "Counselor Nolan." For many years the counselor kept judges and lawyers of New York laughing, and at political conventions he was one of the important, if not serious, attractions. The counselor was himself sui generis. His drollery was individual. Some characteristic stories from Mr. Stansbury's collection are here set down:

At a political convention a friend asked Nolan:

"Isn't it strange, counselor, that your friend Croker, who is such a mighty power down your way, does not get a nice political job for himself?"

The barrister drew himself up, looking his inquisitor over from the corner of his eye, and then replied, with severity: "'Tis a peanut brain you have, Clancy, to ask me that. Is there anny job he hasn't got?"

Judge Horace Russell told the following story: Nolan once had a client whose name was Mrs. Moriarity. After her case had been placed upon the calendar Mrs. Moriarity appeared every day in Nolan's office with her eleven witnesses. Finally the case reached the top of the calendar, and Nolan was on hand to try it. The opposing counsel asked for a postponement. Nolan fought the postponement with great eloquence, laying much stress upon the fact that Mrs. Moriarity had been put to enormous trouble and expense of coming every day to his office with her eleven witnesses. Judge Dugro, who was sitting, was not convinced apparently by Nolan's perfervid oratory and granted the adjournment. Then the barrister arose.

"Your honor," said he, "has seen fit to grant a postponement of the case, and, while I humbly submit to the ruling of the court, yet I would like to ask your honor to do me a personal favor."

"Certainly, counselor, with pleasure," replied Judge Dugro. "What is it?"

"Go you to my office," thundered the barrister, "and inform Mrs. Moriarity that this case has been postponed."

Witty and keen as Nolan was, he once in awhile got the worst of an encounter with a witness, as the following incident illustrates:

The plaintiff, Mr. Foley, was suing Mr. W. for damages sustained by carelessness of defendant in allowing his donkey to escape from his stable and trespass upon plaintiff's lawn. Foley is in the witness box.

Barrister Nolan (for defendant)—You say that Mr. W.'s animal caused all this injury to your property?

Foley—Yes, sor.

Barrister—Where did you first see this donkey?

Foley—Tied up in defendant's stable.

Barrister—Where did you next see him?

Foley—On me premises.

Barrister—How do you know it was the same donkey?

Foley (emphatically)—If I saw yes tied up in the sthable, don't yes suppose I'd know yes whin yes got loose?

The barrister excused Mr. Foley.

It was in the old superior court before Judge David McAdam and a jury, and the barrister was trying a case on behalf of the plaintiff in a negligence suit against the Twenty-third street crosstown railroad, which was controlled by Jacob Sharp, who afterward gave the name of "boodle aldermen" to the world. On rising to sum up on behalf of his client Nolan launched forth into an attack upon Sharp, who had in no manner appeared in the case. Raising his voice to a pitch that could be heard by citizens in the City Hall park, he concluded his peroration as follows:

"And who, gintlemen of the jury, is Jacob Sharp? I will tell you, gintlemen. He is a man so lost to all his sinse of ethics and the rights of man that for the sake of paltthy prospective dividends he would run a railroad up your spine and make ties out of your ribs!"

When the bar of the city of New York gave a dinner at Delmonico's in honor of former Justice Abraham R. Lawrence on his retirement from the bench, one of the remarks Nolan made was:

"There's Recorder Smyth. He's a good judge, a foine judge, but he thinks ivery man ought to go to prison at least wance."

Nolan on one occasion was a candidate for a municipal office, and in the course of his canvass he asked a woman of his acquaintance if she would use her influence in obtaining for him her husband's vote. "Sure, I will," said the woman. "Are we not everlastingly grateful to yon ever since you got my husband off for stealing a gun?"

"No, no, my dear woman," cried the barrister, "not for stealing a gun, but for the alleged stealing of a gun."

"Alleged be bothered," replied the woman. "Come up stairs and I'll show you the gun."

Once arguing a case in behalf of clients who were sailors and while in the midst of an exhaustive display of nautical scholarship Nolan was interrupted by the court:

"How comes it, counselor, that you possess such a vast knowledge of the sea?"

"Does your honor think," responded Nolan, "that I came over in a hack?"

Sad Reflection.

It happens quite frequently that the suit made man has a son who is simply tailor made.

One Price.

Customer (after beating the price down from $3.50 to $2.25)—What right have you to call this a "one price store?"

Dealer—Why not?

Customer—Why, you ask all kinds of prices.

Dealer—But, my dear sir, the price of a thing is not what is asked, but what is accepted for it.

A BANANA TREE.

The Fruit Grows Small End Up and Is Cut While Unripe.

Contrary to popular belief, bananas do not grow on the tree as they hang in the grocery, but with the small end of the fruit pointing upward—to all appearances upside down.

There is probably no other fruit of such universal consumption about which so little is known to the average person as the banana. Something like 100,000,000 bunches are annually eaten in this country alone, but scarcely one man in a thousand not connected with the business knows what a banana tree looks like.

The fruit is never allowed to ripen on the tree, but is cut half or three-quarters "full"—that is, half to three-quarters developed—according to the distance it is to be shipped, and comes to maturity by feeding from the stalk, which contains a large amount of sap. Bananas cut in this way attain practically the same size as if allowed to remain on the tree, in which case the bunch becomes too much of a burden for its support and either falls or breaks the tree and ripens on the ground.

After the cutting the plantation is "cleaned," which merely consists of severing the standing trunks within a few feet of the ground, and a new tree comes forth from the remains of its predecessor, so that the fruit in all stages of growth is to be found at the same time and the yield is continuous.

Five Views of a Man.

A healthy man, a man with a cough, a man with congested lungs, a man in consumption, a dying—now dead man. All from neglecting, when the cough started, to take Four T's, the great guaranteed one day cough and cold remedy. Price 25c a bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

An Anecdote of Wordsworth.

A contributor to the London Spectator thus writes to that journal:

Your interesting article on "Vastness and Isolation" recalls to my mind Wordsworth's own interpretation of the lines—

Those obstinate questionings
Of sense and outward things,
Fallings from us, vanishings—

as reported to me by the late Professor Bonamy Price. One day as he was walking with the poet in the hills he asked him what he meant precisely by the words "fallings from us, vanishings." Wordsworth's answer was to this effect: "Sometimes I find myself in a mood in which the whole material universe seems to fall away. The sense of outward things is lost. Nothing remains but an immaterial self, detached from all physical conditions. In order to get back into the known world of consciousness I have to clutch at something—so." Here he grasped the bar of the gate on which they were leaning at the moment. I was much struck by the story at the time and made a note of it.

No Place For Kings.

An American battleship once had a visit from the king of Italy. The gorgeous apparel of the king and his suit, splendid in gold lace and decorations, filled the sailors with awe. During the inspection one of the magnificent members of the suit stepped backward and disappeared. No one missed him, and there were no witnesses to his misadventure save a weather beaten tar, who leaned against the rail with a grin of huge enjoyment on his face. At last he went up to the officer of the deck and said, as he jerked his thumb over his shoulder, "One of them kings fell down the hatch, sir."

Nervous Dyspepsia

Can Never be Cured by Mere Temporary Aids to Digestion—The Nerves Must be Restored and Filled With Vitalizing Nerve Force.

You know that certain drugs, such as pepsin and bismuth, bring about artificial digestion, and if you have dyspepsia or indigestion it is possible that, like hosts of others, you have taken these into the stomach, hoping that they will take the place of gastric juice and other digestive fluids, digest the food and by resting the stomach effect a cure.

Did you ever hear of a bodily organ being strengthened by inactivity? It is to the organ that is exercised that the new, rich blood is conveyed in order to restore the tissues wasted by the functions of that organ, and so the stomach that is given rest does not get stronger, but the gastric juice gradually ceases to flow, and you are finally compelled to resort to the continual use of artificial digestants.

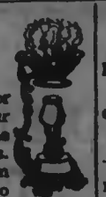
If instead of these temporary aids you seek permanent cure you must treat the nerves, because it is the nerves that control the glands of the stomach, and only when the supply of nerve force is liberal is digestion rightly performed and the body properly nourished.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is no experiment, as you know if you have read the hundreds of testimonials that are appearing in the daily press. We recommend it for nervous dyspepsia and headache, because it has actually cured scores and hundreds of cases. Here is an interesting letter:

Mrs. R. H. Scott, 567 Queen street east, Toronto, states:—"For a long time I was a great sufferer from nervous dyspepsia, and as a consequence of the stomach trouble I was nervous and sometimes had severe headaches and dizzy spells. Since using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I can say that my digestion is good, and as a result I have been entirely freed of the other troublesome symptoms. I think this an excellent treatment for nervous dyspepsia, as well as an invaluable system-builder."

This treatment will prove equally effective in your case, because it actually contains the most powerful restoratives known to the medical profession. It cures by building up the system, and instilling new vital nerve force into the wasted and depleted nerve cells. 50 cents a box; 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 10

Danger Next Door.



Perhaps it's diphtheria, or scarlet fever. Keep your own home free from the germs of these diseases. Prevent your children from having them. You can do it with our Vapo-Cresolene. Put some Cresolene in our vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and let the vapor fill the sleeping room. Have the children sleep in the room every night, for it's perfectly safe, yet not a single disease germ can live in this vapor. Ask your doctor about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

A PERFECT WOMAN.

She was a phantom of delight
When first she gleamed upon my sight;
A lovely apparition, sent
To be a moment's ornament;
Her eyes as stars of Twilight fair;
Like Twilight's, too, her dusky hair;
But all things else about her drawn
From May-time and the cheerful Dawn;
A dancing shape, an image gay,
To haunt, to startle and waylay.

I saw her upon nearer view,
A Spirit, yet a Woman, too!
Her household motions light and free,
And steps of virgin-liberty;
A countenance in which did meet
Sweet records, promises as sweet;
A creature not to bright or good
For human nature's daily food;
For transient sorrows, simple wiles,
Praise, blame, love, kisses, tears and smiles.

And now I see with eyes serene
The very pulse of the machine;
A being breathing thoughtful breath,
A traveler between life and death;
The reason firm, the temperate will,
Endurance, foresight, strength and skill;
A perfect Woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command;
And yet a Spirit still, and bright
With something of angelic light.
—William Wordsworth.

NOT A SCHOOL PROBLEM.

Lally Bernard Just Suggests Some Things in the Globe.

I doubt if you would find in one of our high schools in a country town in Canada six of the boys who could give you an exact idea of the number of miles and the pace at which a young horse should be driven, says Lally Bernard in The Globe. The knack of harnessing and of adjusting weights is so little understood; indeed, half the suffering of the horses in the country comes from the absolute indifference of the men as to whether the harness fits or not. Our country roads are improving, but, as a rule, farmers are absolutely careless about the condition of the roads over which they drive their too often badly shod horses. Surely the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have an immense field before them in this country of great distances, unbroken country and bad roads. Not only this, but, in many cases, really valuable animals are lost by the indifference or ignorance of their owners as to the necessity of good winter quarters. All the questions affecting the welfare of domestic animals, who form such an important feature in the economics of the country, should be widely discussed and given their due place in the education of our people. We are very dependent upon the help accorded us in our struggle for existence by these domestic animals, and it is safe to say that the immense development in the poultry business during the last ten years has done more to teach men to care for the wants of the feathered branch of our domestic charges than all the work of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals during the past twenty years. But there still remains so much to be done, and such constant vigilance to be exerted—the constant attendance of delegates from the society at all meetings and conventions of live stock societies, and keeping closely in touch with all movements for the improvement of the veterinary profession, and even a knowledge, of the history and growth of the farrier business. For while the human species suffers acutely from the ignorance of the men who model and make our foot gear, imagine to what a degree the poor horses are dependent upon the skill of the man who models and fits their shoes! One knows that the human species find standing much more fatiguing than walking, and I often wonder if the horses at a cab stand do not suffer more from the hours they stand in the scorching sun or pelting rain than from racing over the hard pavements.

The Midlands Exhibition.

The Exhibition, opened for a press view, at Wolverhampton, England, on Saturday, 26th April, is the most ambitious one in the history of the Midlands. Scottish architects have designed the picturesque group of light, graceful buildings in the spacious grounds of West Park. The Industrial Hall, painted in strong shades of red and green, is a structure of marked originality, with high towers, capped by open lanterns, and main entrance decorated with a free stencil treatment in color. It contains, in addition to the Midland and Scottish exhibits, a varied Japanese collection of curios and lacquer, Indian carving and embroidery, and Danish porcelain. Machinery Hall is a simple but artistic structure with a bowstring roof, treated with special reference to electric illumination.

The Canadian pavilion is an artistic building, with a fine dome, and is filled with complete and well-arranged exhibits of the natural products of the Dominion. Commissioner Scott and Secretary Brodie have displayed Canadian energy in setting the pavilion in order. There is only one American exhibit.

Canada's Mineral Production.

The mineral production of Canada during the year 1901, according to the preliminary statement of the geological survey, was valued at $69,407,031, of which $42,834,000 was metallic and $26,282,000 non-metallic. The growth is equivalent to about eight per cent. over that of 1900, rather moderate increase compared with what recent years have shown. Gold, as a result of Yukon discoveries, occupies the first place, with $24,462,222, or more than a third of the whole; coal, with a value of $14,721,122 comes next.

He Was Rather "Close."

An English clergyman of the eighteenth century, the Rev. Mr. Jones of Blewbury, with a nest egg of £200 and a stipend amounting to £50 per annum, left at death the sum of £10,000. He had been rector of his parish for forty years, and during all that time only one person had been known to sit at his festal table. No fire was ever lighted in his house, nor was a servant kept. In winter he would visit his parishioners to keep himself from perishing of cold rather than light a fire at the rectory.

Something About Faith Cures.

What a great variety of faith cures there must be some have faith in so-called divine healers, others in certain doctors and still others in the medicines they use. Every person who has tested Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has faith in them, but faith or no faith they cure just the same, for they act directly and specifically on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and make these organs healthy, active and vigorous. Judging from the enormous demand for these Pills there must be hosts of people that have faith in them.

A STRANGE CHASE.

Characteristic Incident in the Life of Alex. Tremblay, the Well-Known Hunter and Guide, of Parry Sound.

The best laid traps sometimes do not work just as the trapper intends them to, and Alex. Tremblay, the famous hunter and guide of Parry Sound, has found this to be the case more than once. Having set some traps on a well-marked bear trail, Tremblay left them for a day or so, and went on a fishing expedition. Returning towards evening he saw a bear moving slowly and awkwardly along the bank, one foot securely clinched in a twenty-pound trap attached by a strong chain to a sixteen-foot pole. "My trap and my pole," said the hunter to himself. He turned his dugout inshore, and landed, his only weapon being a well made and reliable tomahawk. The bear saw him coming, seized the pole in his forepaws and hobbled off as fast as circumstances allowed. The pole and the trap inconvenienced the animal greatly, and it did not seem to just exactly realize the why and wherefore of things as they were. The bear stopped occasionally and made desperate but futile attempts to get rid of the encumbrances. Tremblay, at first, thought only of the fur and meat, but after awhile the helplessness of the brute appealed to him, and he began to wonder if he could set it free. He approached several times with that intention but the attitude and actions of the bear, raging with pain and incapable, of course, of any understanding of Tremblay's desire, was so foreboding that the hunter concluded to await the chance of despatching it.

And so the strange hunt went on, the man stopping when the bear stopped, the bear suffering, impotent, and perhaps well aware of its ultimate fate, the man cautious, cool, wary, biding his time, and confident of what the end would be. Finally the animal, in spite of trap and pole, started to climb a tree. Up it went, uttering weird cries and panting painfully. Bravely it struggled, almost to safety, and then its grip loosened and it fell crashing to the ground, its sufferings and struggles being quickly ended by the tomahawk.

The story of "the praying bear" is told not by Tremblay himself, but by friends for whom he occasionally acts as guide. He tried for a long time to catch a bear whose trail ran under and beyond the partly fallen trunk of a tree, which formed a kind of an arch. The usual traps and stratagems failed completely, and Tremblay, put upon his mettle, tried another plan. He made a slip-noose of thin but exceedingly strong wire, fitted it in the evening to the tree, and returned to the shanty, to stand some good-natured chaff as to the futility of his efforts to catch this particular bear. He ventured the opinion that "heem's catch before so verry long," but refused to state the grounds of his belief. In the morning he and his friends started out, and by accident or design, no one but Tremblay knows, they went first to the fallen tree, and there they found the bear, a 400-pound male. He was standing straight upright, and apparently without support other than his own; his eyes closed, his head bent, his paws one above the other, hanging loosely before him. One of the hunters whispered excitedly, "Let me have first shot." Another said, "Looks like the old fellow was saying morning prayers." Tremblay, however, advanced toward the animal with the words, "Heem's catched, an' no bullets for heem's." And, sure enough, bruin was dead and cold, but it was not until a careful examination revealed to the rest of the party the wire noose, drawn tightly, by reason of its own struggles, around the bear's neck, that they realized why Tremblay had ventured his prophecy of the night before.

It is never right to say what one does not mean, but why not mean the nice things? Insincerity does not necessarily follow in the wake of politeness.

It will do you more good to acknowledge your faults than it will do your enemies.—Atchison Globe.

A Strange Target.

In "The Book of the Rifle" the Hon. T. F. Freemantle tells the following amusing story apropos of accidents to markers:

"Sir Henry Halford on one occasion—it was not a very clear day—was about to begin shooting at 1,000 yards and, thinking that the marker must now be ready for him to begin, asked him through the telephone, 'Are you all right?' The marker replied, "All right, sir, in a minute;' but, unluckily, Sir Henry took 'All right, sir,' instead of the whole sentence and removed the telephone from his ear. He lay down and fired his shot, and on looking through the telescope to see where it had hit was horrified to see the marker with a perfectly white face staggering toward his shelter. He was intensely alarmed, and in a moment there came a ring at the telephone. 'What has happened? Are you badly hurt?' 'No, sir, I am not hurt; but I had a bucket of whitewash between my legs painting the target, and you put a bullet into it and splashed it all up in my face.'"

A Poverty Stricken Queen.

Partly owing to the fact that she was wedded to an avaricious king and partly because she was generous with the little money allowed her Elizabeth of York, queen of Henry VII., spent but a small amount for dress. She was very often in debt, and the sums she spent were ridiculously small, 20 shillings ($5) being the greatest amount expended at any one time. Her gowns were mended and turned, and new waists were made for them, as is shown by the record of bills paid to her tailor. These bills prove that she wore her clothes for a long time, for her gowns were obliged to be newly hemmed, and also that, though a princess of the great house of Plantagenet, she wore shoes costing but 24 cents, which were decorated with tin buckles!

$500 Reward

Sorry He Spoke.

He was in the parlor of a St. Louis residence while his fiancee was playing a Chopin sonata on the piano. Her mother was seated almost opposite her future son-in-law, and when the proper opportunity presented itself she said:

"Don't you think Edna has a great ear for music?"

"I certainly do," replied the young man. "If you'd stretch a few strings across, it would make a lovely guitar"—

But he never finished his sentence.

It All Depends.

A student long ago asked the president of Oberlin college if he could not be permitted to take a shorter course of study.

"Oh, yes," replied the president, "but that depends upon what you want to make of yourself. When God wants to make an oak, he takes a hundred years, but when he wants to make a squash he takes six months."—Instructor.

Answered.

"If a ship," began the comedian with the rose tinted beard, "is 100 feet long and 40 feet wide and its masts are 100 feet high and the bo'sun is bowlegged, what does the capstan weigh?"

"It weighs the anchor!" hoarsely shouted the audience as it grabbed the benches to prevent itself rising en masse and doing violence to the thespians.

Oriental Horseshoes.

The type of horseshoe common in the orient is a plate fitted so as to cover the entire bottom of the hoof, with a perforation in the center. The weight of the average horseshoe is three-fourths of a pound. The native smiths usually cut these plates from sheets of wrought iron and rudely shape them for the purpose in view.

Tut Tut.

"The word 'reviver' spells the same backward or forward."

It was the frivolous man who spoke.

"Can you think of another?"

The serious man scowled up from his newspaper.

"Tut tut!" he cried contemptuously. And they rode on in silence.

Absurd.

Nourishment by Bathing.

"It is well known that the skin is a great absorbent, and nutrition even can be conveyed through its agency," said a trained nurse. "A physician once ordered a beef tea bath for a child that I was nursing who was apparently dying of some exhaustive bowel trouble and with admirable effect. And I myself have found that rubbing delicate persons with warm olive oil is an excellent tonic. If I had the charge of a puny, sickly baby, I should feel inclined to give it oil baths instead of water baths and try the effect. The oil is quite as cleansing, and it stands to reason that such tiny beings, particularly if they are badly nourished, should not have the natural oil of the body continually washed away."

Pale cheeks rapidly become rosy when Miller's Compound Iron Pills are taken. 50 doses 25 cents. Sold by all druggists.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

The Peasant Meant Well, But Failed in Nicety of Expression.

A man who was bicycling in southern England was pushing his machine up a steep hill when he overtook a peasant with a donkey cart. The patient beast was making but little progress, although it was doing its best.

The benevolent cyclist, putting his left hand against the back of the cart and guiding his machine with the other hand, pushed so hard that the donkey, taking fresh courage, pulled his load successfully to the top.

When the summit was reached, the peasant burst into thanks to his benefactor.

"It was good of you, indeed, monsieur," he protested. "I should never in the world have got up the hill with only one donkey."

Woman is as Old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigorous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

The Late Daniel Defoe.

Daniel Defoe, author of "Robinson Crusoe," was a well known novelist and political writer in England about 1700. He has been described as a patriotic controversialist, honest in his aims, but not very scrupulous in his means. His voluminous writings amount to 210 works in prose and verse, but his fame as a novelist has led to forgetfulness of his labors as a pamphleteer. His style is homely, graphic and perspicuous, and his vocabulary is of almost Shakespearian richness. His novels are autobiographic in form and characterized by an irresistible air of veracity, due to his skillful manipulation of minute and prosaic incidents. Though remembered chiefly as a novelist, he was during thirty years a leader in the fierce partisan strife, by which, under William III., constitutional liberty was realized in England. He died in London, April 24, 1731, in the 70th year of his age.

Grow Inside.

Little children should grow not only outwardly, but should develop big strong hearts and lungs and other vital organs to prepare for adult life. Scott's Emulsion is an excellent medicine for growth both outside and inside.

Names in Ireland.

A contributor to The Pilot finds that in every thousand of the population in Ireland 13.8 bear the name Murphy, 11.3 the name of Kelly and 9.2 the name of Sullivan. These three names lead all others by a long gap. The somewhat popular notion that the Mc's and the O's stand at the head of the list of Irish surnames is thus disposed of.

Silence Is Golden.

"What do you think we had better do about this man who keeps saying things against you?"

"Let him alone," answered the practical politician. "When the people get tired of hearing him, they'll say that he's a bore and that I'm probably a much misrepresented man."

CARNAGE WAS AWFUL

What our Boys Experienced at Hart's River.

LETTER FROM PTE. DANIELS.

He Gives an Interesting Description of the Fight in Which the Canadians Fought With Such Valour.

Pte. Gen W. Daniels, of town, writes the following most interesting account of the Harts' River fight to Mr. R. A. W. Hay:

Whitpoorte Ranges, S. A.,
April 5, 1902.

Dear Friend Bob, — I have just this sheet of paper, and we are 47 miles from Klerksdorp, so I can't get any more, but I thought that I would write you, hoping that it will find you and all well, and you will be pleased to learn that I am also alive and well. Well, Bob, we have been having a pretty tough time of it since I wrote you last, marching night and day, so at last we ran into it pretty hard on the 31st of March. Before that we had a small scrap and captured a lot of wagons, and our scouts killed three Boers and captured one at midnight. I belong to the scouts that were formed from this corp. There are about 24 of us under Calahan, and we are having it hard these times and are doing a lot of work. The scouts alone captured a Boer convoy and killed three Boers, and captured one. This was about three weeks ago, but on the 31st of March we ran into it terribly hot, but only had three of our scouts wounded.

We have been after Delarey for quite a while, ever since he gave Methuen the cutting up. At last we found him with some 3000 men with him. The first sight we got of him we were scouting through the bush when we came across the tracks of big guns, we traced these tracks up until we ran into about 3000 Boers. We laid quiet for a while and then sent word back to Col. Cookson, who is in command of our column, that we had found him. He sent up the remainder of the column on the gallop, all mounted men, about 1000 of them, and the first thing we knew we were surrounded, Scouts as well, and we received a terrible rifle fire, at about 600 and 700 yards in some places. There were a lot of men killed and wounded. In about half an hour up came two of our guns and commenced shelling the Boers. They then cleared out. We buried our dead and gathered up our wounded, and then camped right there because there was plenty of water. We only lost three men out of our Scouts wounded, but a lot of horses were killed. We went into camp and unsaddled our horses. The convoy was away behind, so we tried to get something to eat and have a little sleep before night came again. We had fires made and were boiling our coffee when the first thing we saw was that we were surrounded by Boers on all sides. We were in a nice fix, and we thought that it was all up with us. We could see them coming up in the sky line like a swarm of bees; there must have been over 3000 of them. We saw them as plain as day placing their guns in position, and our officers looking at them through their glasses, Cookson as well. They said, "Oh, they are our own men,"—the same old story. The first thing we heard was Bang! Bang!! from two of Delarey's guns, two shells dropping in camp. There was quite a confusion getting the mules and horses into camp as they were all out grazing, but they were all brought in safe, but they might just as well been left out as we lost a terrible lot of them any way. Our guns answered them in a second and the rifle fire from all around us was terrible. We could see nothing but men and horses falling over, just like a machine cutting down grain, it was awful, Bob, the worst I ever saw, it was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and it kept up, a continual roar of guns and rifles from both sides until sun-down, then we could see the Boers gathering up together and going away. I think they got the worst of it as they wouldn't have left so soon because Delarey was never known to quit so soon before without getting beaten, so I think we gave it to him, at any rate he left, but we were just as glad he did for there was a terrible sight to be seen after it was all over. There were dead and wounded men, horses and mules lying in heaps all around the camp, and outside the camp where they had been cutting up the rear guard to the convoy, but they did not get any of the convoy, they managed to get into camp safe with the wagons, but lost a lot of their mules. The doctors were busy all night long cutting arms and legs off that were shattered by Pom Poms and shells. It was just like a butcher's shop to see the arms and legs lying around the camp. Poor Milligan was shot through the head with an explosive bullet. He was the only one from Peterborough that was killed, but Murphy was hit on the head with a piece of a shell. If the Boers' shells had all burst we would have been slaughtered, but as it was the Canadians lost, 9 killed and 32 wounded, and 165 horses killed. I don't know for sure what our whole loss was all through the column, but there was a large amount anyhow. You will doubtless have read of it in the papers. We were relieved next day by General Kitchener, the other half of our column, and he gave us great praise for holding out the way we did, but we left that camp and came here where we are now camping waiting for food and horses to come from Klerksdorp, then we are going after him again. They captured a lot of the rear guard and stripped them naked and sent them back to camp. It was cruel to see it. A doctor belonging to the Boers came into camp for bandages and he said that they had over 200 killed and wounded then, and they hadn't them all gathered up then. They must have had a lot because we could see them all night long with lanterns gathering up their dead and wounded and all next day with three or four wagons, so they got it pretty hot. We were in a very poor position right in a hollow, while they were on hills all around us. If we had had their place and they ours, we would have captured the whole lot of them, but as it was we had only about 1,300 in camp but we held them off. They tried to rush the camp two or three times but we drove them back. I think our ambulance wagons are taking some wounded men into Klerksdorp to-day so I will get them to post this. I wish I had more paper, Bob. I could tell you far more about it. They fired on our ambulance all the afternoon and tried to kill our wounded. They are desperate, etc., etc. With kindest respects to all enquiring friends,

GEO. W. DANIELS,
219 E. Squadron, 2nd C.M.R.

WHAT THE ROSS GOVERNMENT HAS DONE FOR AGRICULTURE.

Mr. Stratton has always shown himself fully in accord with the cabinet of which he is a leading member on all questions having a bearing on agriculture. He has strongly supported in the House and in his speeches throughout the Province various measures in which the tillers of the soil are interested.

The people of the riding know how thoroughly he has identified himself with all local institutions and movements, tending to advance the interests and improve the conditions of the farmer.

The policy of opening up New Ontario, of which he is one of the most strenuous advocates, is one which appeals to the farmers as much as to any other class. It enables the farmers' sons and other young men who wish to build up homesteads for themselves to obtain cheap or free land without leaving the country of their birth.

In Mr. Stratton the farmers of West Peterborough have a representative who is always ready to use his influence as a member of the cabinet to forward all just and reasonable local objects.

To elect Mr. Miller would be to deprive themselves of this advantage and to substitute for a man of proved ability and energy, who has won his way to the front rank, one who however good in his intentions would have neither the experience nor the power to do as much for his constituents.

The farmers of West Peterborough are too shrewd, intelligent and practical a class to have any hesitation as to which of the candidates is best entitled to their support.

STOCK MARKETS.

A Bear Party Created.

New York, May 20th.—Events of the three weeks, notably the Webb-Meyer episode, the period of higher money and the coal strike have logically created a bear party in Wall street, who are at present engaged in an endeavour to reduce values to their benefit. Their work has already been commenced in a series of newspaper articles, given wide circulation, one of them the lecture of a college professor on U.S.S. His theoretical remarks were given wide newspaper publicity, undoubtedly for effect upon the public mind, if followed up by an attack upon the company's securities. This bearish party evidently has some organization to it and has been the first one to make its appearance in the street for some time. As a result, for the time being, there will be two sides to the market and it will be likely to cause frequent rises and falls in securities as the battle progresses. Under these conditions it will be well to take on a line of stocks every time the market is depressed through bearish efforts, selling same out when rallies are brought about by the bull leaders and banking interests on the shorts. Bears cannot be ultimately successful in Wall street, unless they can catch the public largely long of stocks so that they can dislodge them and create sellers on declines. Any one can sell a market down, but the stocks which they have not must be got. Frequent small profits of from 1 to 2 points more than equal a long pull of five to ten points profit. It makes a good trading market, while a bear party are an added safe guard as they create buyers should any unforseen disaster to the market come about, the bears would buy to secure their profits. Bearish committments have frequently been great levers for lifting prices. Frequent rumors relative to the strike will probably give the market quick changes from strength to weakness and vice versa.

New York, May 20th.—The bear party got itself into difficulties to-day through its short committments of yesterday, and the market was up quite sharply upon them. Union Pacific was taken in hand and bought by insiders. Reading was good, jumped on by short sellers, the other coalers followed as did the trunk lines. The rise ran from 1 to 2 points. Bear camp followers turned buyers at the higher figures. The steels climbed up com. 40 again. We advise buying Ill. C and U. P. for the general list our advise is buy when stocks are under the hammer looking for from 1 to 2 1-2 profit. Ultimately some bull operations will be resumed.

THE ROSS GOVERNMENT A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

MR. STRATTON AT COBOURG:

The business interests of the Province are vitally concerned in the questions at issue in the Provincial election. The Government of Hon. G. W. Ross has been pre-eminently a business administration. It has done its utmost to organize prosperity. It has kept steadily in view the idea that the functions of government are something broader than those of mere administration, and has sought in every way to foster and encourage those staple industries which form the basis of national prosperity.

Every manufacturer, every man of business is interested in the creation of new markets, in the expansion of commerce and industry. in the completion and perfection of our systems of transportation.

Hon. G. W. Ross has initiated a forward movement, the impulse of which has been felt along all the lines of industrial and commercial activity. He saw that in the undeveloped resources of New Ontario, in the extent of splendid agricultural land awaiting developement, in the immense possibilities latent in the raw material and water power of that region, the opportunity for vastly increasing the population, the wealth and the importance of the Province, for opening up new avenues of trade and enlarging the markets, open to the enterprise and capital of our manufacturers and merchants.

The policy of the Government in this regard has been highly successful. Despite the short time that has elapsed since the Government undertook the work, the results have been such as to fully justify the bright anticipations formed at the outset.

The amount of capital expended by Mr. Clergue and his associates in the establishment of industries at Sault Ste. Marie and the various enterprises connected therewith is fully $20,000,000.

Communication has been facilitated by the construction of railways and colonization roads, opening up large areas of country, rich in raw materials and fertile tracts of farming land, which would otherwise have been unavailable.

As a result, even at this early stage, settlers are pouring into the new districts. Each industry established becomes the nucleus of a town or village. Centres of distribution are springing up all along the railways.

Men who might have otherwise been adding nothing to the wealth of the country or who would have sought work across the border, are actively engaged by tens of thousands in productive pursuits. The agricultural area of the northern region has been found to be greater in extent than the whole settled and cultivated acreage of the whole Province. It is being taken up just as rapidly as the country can be opened for settlement.

The railways encouraged and aided by the Government will bring the trade of this region to the cities and towns of Ontario instead of its being diverted to the east, and going to build up Montreal.

Do the various business men of Ontario fully realize what this means to them? Do they appreciate the great possibilities for extension of trade and increased prosperity, which have been created by the energetic policy of the Ross administration?

The prosperity of the towns of Ontario is mainly dependent upon its growing manufacturing interests. The settlement and development of a new country creates an additional market for all products, for the output of our machine shops, electrical works, woollen mills, tool factories, agricultural implement works, furniture factories, etc.

The settlers all need clothing, tools, furniture and other household necessaries. They will get them from the centres of Old Ontario.

The establishment of new industries creates a demand for machinery, hardware, structural iron works, engines and a countless variety of manufactured goods. Old Ontario will reap her share of this additional trade.

Our capitalists, our workingmen and our men of business have the strongest interest in seeing to it that Mr. Ross' policy suffers no reverse.

By the encouragement of railway building and the inducements held out to men

OUR SCHOOL BOOKS ARE CHEAP.

The Opposition stumpers and newspapers in pretending to discuss the educational questions, try to make a great point of an alleged "school book ring," "school book monopoly," etc., and try to make the people believe that they are oppressed with the heavy hand of unduly expensive school books. School books may be considered dear in some cases and by some persons, but as a matter of fact they do not cost more than any other books with a limited circulation. The cost of a book is regulated by the number printed. If an edition of one book were printed the cost of that single book might be $500 or $1000, but if this one book is multiplied into millions, the same book might be sold for 5 cents or 10 cents. We can best estimate the cost of our school books by comparing them with the cost of school books in other places. It usually takes ten years in Ontario to complete a public school course. The cost of a complete set of text books, eighteen in number,, for a ten year public school course, is $5.77, and perhaps these books to a large extent will serve two or three members of a family — an elder child passing forward leaves his first, second or third book, to another younger, etc. But take $5.77 as the total cost of a complete set. In New York State the cost of a complete set of school books is between $9 and $10. And in many parts of the United States there is no uniformity. A child removing to the next county may find a complete change of text books, while in Ontario there is no change. A child removing from Ottawa to Rat Portage — the extreme limits of the province — can take his school books with him, and find them in use in the school he goes to.

Consider the price of school books to the pupils in places where the municipality supplies the books. In Toronto school books are purchased for the pupils by the school board. In the report of Inspector J. L. Hughes, a bitter partisan politically, and hostile to the Liberal Government, it is shown that the cost per pupil for text books in Toronto on the basis of average attendance, omitting Kindergarten pupils, is 8 3-4 cents, the cost on the basis of the total enrolment is 7 3-4 cents per pupil a year. This is certainly not a burdensome cost, and demonstrates that, worked out in practice, the alleged "ring" is not the enemy of oppression, it is claimed to be.

Another Conservative authority may be quoted, Dr. Beatty Nesbitt, one of the most prominent men in the party, and a gentleman slated for the leadership — in case Mr. Whitney does not win this election — unconsciously, for he did not mean it, proved by argument that Ontario school books are cheap. Speaking in St. Paul's Hall, Toronto, on May 13th, Dr. Nesbitt in an argument to show that the Government had taken taxes from corporations that should have gone to the City of Toronto, proved that the average cost of supplying school books to the pupils of the city per year was 10 4-5 cents, including re-binding. Let Dr. Nesbitt speak for himself. His argument is contained in the following extract from his speech:

"During the past ten years the average registered number of pupils in the Toronto Public Schools was 29,237. The original and total cost of text books supplied during that period to the children in the Public Schools of the city of Toronto was $31,850.84. In other words, under a business Government, the $30,000 of corporation taxes which the courts say should have been yours, and which, had we been in power, would never have needed to go to the courts, and would have been yours, would have paid your school book bill for ten years. This means an average yearly cost of $3185.08 2-5. The average cost of books supplied per pupil for ten years was $1.08, and the average cost of supplying the books to each pupil for one year was 10 4-5 cents. Now, I want you to understand that these figures include not only the cost of keeping the books in order —the cost of renewing the books, but the original cost of purchasing the books from the school book ring. And this means every text book necessary for a Public School pupil in the City of Toronto.

These figures doubtless appear to you, as they did to me, astonishingly low. Remembering our own school days, we cannot conceive how such economy could exist. Much of it is due to the fact that a school book does not cease its work, as ours did, when we had passed through the corresponding grade. It goes into the service of other pupils in the same grade. Its service is continuous. When the binding is destroyed it is sent to the binders and rebound. The same care is taken of it as with the books in our public libraries. The children are taught that the book is school property, and that they must no more think of marking or destroying one of their books than they would of cutting their name on their desk. So you see that we not only have a saving to the parents in the supplying of school books, but we have the children hourly and daily taught lessons of care and thrift in the handling of their books that will be invaluable to them in after life.

Dr. Nesbitt in his anxiety to grab everything for Toronto proves too much for the Conservative contention of school book oppression. It takes ten years to complete a public school course. Dr. Nesbitt shows that in Toronto the cost of school books per pupil for ten years is $1.08. Remember this is no ex-parte "Grit" statement but the statement solemnly made by one of the most prominent members of the Opposition. The stumpers must either dispute Dr. Nesbitt's statements or admit that their demagogic talk about the way the poor ratepayers are oppressed with high-priced school books is mere talk, and more than that, mere twaddle. If the price of school books permits the City of Toronto to supply them for ten years to a pupil for $1.08, the price is not unreasonable; especially considering the quality of the books—well printed, well bound, written by Canadian writers, made by Ontario workmen from Canadian material.

ROBBING THE COUNTRY, EH?

(Kingston Whig)

The greatest yarn of the campaign, in the county, is that the Government is robbing the municipalities. How? In taking so much of the money that is collected from the licenses. Why away back in the seventies the legislature, for revenue purposes, took a certain proportion of the license fees.

It wasn't to that which the Conservatives objected in several elections. They were worried about the manner in which the law was being administered. They insinuated that the license commissioners were so many agents in the hire of the Government. But it was not insinuated, and it certainly was not proven, that the commissioners did any wrong act in the public interest.

The amount collected from the liquor dealers goes into a fund out of which the expenses of the license and inspectors' offices are paid. Two-thirds of what remains is paid to the municipality, and one-third to the Government.

The Conservatives say, give our side a chance, and we'll show you what we can do. There is a record already of what the party accomplished when in power.

In 1895 Sir John Macdonald's Government assumed the right to issue licenses, and exercised it for about a year—until the Privy Council decided against it. The Conservative Government appointed its own inspectors and fixed its own fees. Were the municipalities remembered in this grab game? Were they benefitted by the change?

Let some of these, whose hearts are bleeding for the municipalities at election time, go back in history and they will find that the Conservative Government provided for the payment of nearly all the money its officers collected, to itself, all but a paltry $5, in each case. Did the Conservative party kick? Would it kick now if such an injustice were offered? Parties, like men, are known by their works, and what we have recited of the Conservative party in this license business is not to its credit.

MR. WHITNEY AND CORPORATIONS.

Mr. Whitney has declared that he will, if given the power, repeal the act taxing rich corporations. He has said this several times and once he has said he had no such intentions. But let that pass; let us tie him to the statement he has made oftenest.

He contends that this tax is a diversion from the coffers of the municipalities, and he would restore these taxes to the municipalities.

The corporations in question are doing a huge business in Ontario, and they have no more right, because they are rich financial concerns, to escape taxation than the farmers.

If Mr. Whitney repealed the law, which compels these rich corporations to pay their share of the expense of the public service, what would be the result? A sum of over a quarter of a million dollars would be missed from the provincial treasury, a large sum, which, in its distribution, touches or benefits the hospitals, charities, and public institutions generally.

If this tax were repealed, some of the taxes would be lost, because not collected. But supposing that they were collected, the whole quarter of a million, and more, by the municipalities, about ninety per cent. of them would remain in Toronto where the head offices of the companies are.

How much would go into the coffers of the Town of Peterborough or Village of Ashburnham? How much into the till of the county treasurer? Not. much. There is not in this town or county perhaps more than one company or corporation which is affected by this tax. What would the loss be? Peterborough's proportion, town and county, of the quarter of a million which is distributed generally over the Province of Ontario.

Yet Mr. Whitney voted against the tax. Is he to be credited with statesmanship or stupidity?

THE WHOLESALE BRIBERY POLICY.

(The Globe.)

Mr. Whitney's campaign in New Ontario, can scarcely be too strongly reprehended. Apart altogether from its political dishonesty, it was nothing short of cruel to raise hopes in the minds of the settlers which are bound to be disappointed. If Mr. Whitney were premier he could not fulfil the hopes which he has so recklessly excited. The greater part of the pine which he declares he would give to the settlers, has already been sold. The province has received the bonuses for it, and is reaping or will reap the dues in good time. It cannot therefore be given away without compensation in full to those who have bought it. Mr. Whitney is committed to a policy which would reduce the public revenue, and at the same time call for large sums as compensation to the lumbermen whose property would be taken away from them.

It will be said that there is not the least danger of the Opposition leader pursuing such a policy, if he had the opportunity, and even were he so disposed he could not induce the Legislature to authorize so revolutionary a proceeding. That is probably true, but does not that very admission expose the reckless, and, it might be said, ruthless character of Mr. Whitney's campaign?

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Whitney, according to Premier Ross, really proposes nothing, except to take office. For fourteen years he has held a seat in the House, and for six years he has been leader of a party, and he is still as empty-handed as when he entered Parliament. Does Ontario want a change under these circumstances?

The celebrated "Billy" Smith, who testified to having expended $1200 to defeat Hon. John Dryden in one election in South Ontario, was one of Mr. Whitney's associates on the platform in North Ontario, the other evening. It is also related that he started the applause when Mr. Whitney referred to purity of elections.

Henry Smyth, a former Conservative member for Kent, and at one time a power in the Tory party in the West, is out with a letter in praise of Hon. Mr. Ross. He declares that he has "marvellous ability, indefatigable industry and honesty of purpose." There are thousands of Conservatives who hold such views, say nothing, but will make them count at the ballot box.

A lie well stuck to will come to pass as the truth seems to be principle upon which the Conservative writers and speakers act. One of them says—"Under the Ross regime the people of Ontario have been constantly surprised and annoyed to find that the Government, in secret conspiracy with the grafters, has given away this to that concession. The property of the people should be handled in the open." And so it is handled in the open." Pine timber limits are sold at auction. Pulp wood concessions have to be ratified by the Legislature. The Opposition voted for or concurred in three of these and voted against four.

The Liberal party saved New Ontario to the province and commenced to develop it. The Liberal party have faithfully guarded the treasury of the province and not a single dollar can be pointed to as wrongfully spent. The Ross Government initiated the development of the pulp wood industry. The Ross Government has set apart a million dollars for the construction and improvement of public highways. The Ross Government has a railway policy that will open up millions of acres of land to settlers. The Ross Government has promoted the development and extension of the lumbering and mining industries of the province. The Ross Government has aided agriculture, education and public charities in Old Ontario. "Build up Ontario," is its motto. It is no time for a change.

GALWAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

It is with feeling of very deep regret that we have this week to chronicle the death of Mrs. John Clark, whose sad demise took place about five o'clock on the morning of May 8th, after a short illness of but a few days. She was twenty-four years and eleven months old, and leaves behind a young and sorrowing husband and one child who will ever mourn the loss of a true wife and mother. Throughout her life, though short, she had many friends, who were won by her kind and gentle disposition. The funeral, which took place at 9 a.m., on Wednesday, was very largely attended. A Requim high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father O'Leary. Great sorrow is expressed throughout the community for Mr. Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Doherty, father and mother of deceased, and her sisters and brothers also share the sympathy of all.

Good-bye on earth forever,
Fair cousin whom we loved,
God grant that we may meet again
In Heaven up above.

Yes Mary, dearest Mary,
Our loss it is your gain;
Without you life is lonely,
But we live in hopes to meet again.

'Twas on a bright May morning,
Just at the break of day,
Our loving Saviour He did come
And bore her soul away.

Little did we dream
Death was so close at hand,
When thy frail form was borne
To thy Father's blessed land.

Oh Mary, dearest cousin,
Will you pray for all,
That we like you be ready
When the loving Saviour calls.

M. A.

The Galway Catholic church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, May 14th, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Mary Clark, third daughter of Mr. Thomas Clark, of Galway, to Mr. John Pearson, of the same place. After the marriage ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father O'Leary, the wedding party drove to the residence of the bride's father, where a grand dinner awaited them. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Annie Clark, while the groom was assisted by his cousin, Mr. John Doherty. The bride looked charming in a beautiful dress of blue. The young couple took the afternoon train for Peterborough. On their return they intend taking up house near Kinmount. All join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Pearson a long and happy married life.

WARSAW FOR ANDERSON.

A Splendid Mass Meeting Held by the Liberals.

Addresses by the Candidate, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. R. F. McWilliams on Friday Evening.

The mass meeting of the electors held on Friday evening last in the interests of Mr. Wm. Anderson, the Liberal candidate for East Peterborough, was the largest and most enthusiastic political meeting ever held in Warsaw. Chair was occupied by Mr. Geo. Payne.

Mr. Anderson, the Liberal candidate in the East Riding, spoke first, and received quite an ovation upon arising, but was unable to make more than a few brief remarks, as he was suffering from a severe cold.

That the people here still have a warm spot in their hearts for Mr. Blezard, our ex-M.P.P., was evidenced by the hearty reception accorded him when he arose. Mr. Blezard, after discussing various features of the Ontario Government's work during the past term, expressed the belief that Mr. Anderson would be returned by an even larger majority than he had received.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, the next speaker, dealt with various of the issues before the electors, more particularly the prohibition question, in which he ably defended the Government's action in regard to the referendum.

Hon. Mr. Stratton, the speaker of the evening, upon arising, expressed his satisfaction at the enthusiastic manner in which Mr. Anderson had been received by the people of Dummer, and in the course of his remarks expressed his belief that in this contest Dummer would undoubtedly roll up one of its old-time Liberal majorities of several hundred votes. Mr. Stratton devoted some time to a discussion of the Government's vigourous policy in the development of New Ontario, to which the audience listened with much interest. He then took up the educational system, upon which the Tories have made such ridiculous attacks. The speaker pointed to the fact that while during the last election their cry had been that the text books were changed too frequently, this time it was exactly the opposite. This and many other of the inconsistencies of the Opposition attacks were shown up, and it was plainly seen that the Government had by its wisdom built up an educational system which was excellent in every respect. The Opposition charge that the Government was wasting our pulp wood was shown to be utterly groundless. Mr. Stratton claimed that the people should be more than satisfied at the manner in which the Government had disposed of the lands. The location of the different pulp mills was shown by a map, and the business-like way in which the Government had dealt with the matter fully explained. Mr. Stratton quickly disposed of the charges of corruption which the Opposition were hurling so recklessly. He showed that the Conservative party was much the greater sinners in this respect. He concluded by appealing to the electors to give their support to Mr. Anderson, and created much applause by remarking that if the East would look after Dr. Ford, the West would attend to Mr. Miller. The meeting closed with the usual cheers. Judging from the enthusiasm displayed throughout the meeting, and also in fact during the whole campaign thus far. Warsaw will certainly "Remember Ross" on May 29th.

Review of Russian Troops.

Tsarskoe-Sfio, Russia, May 22. — The Czar, President Loubet, the Czarina and the Dowager Czarina attended a great review of troops yesterday. His Majesty, on horseback, and M. Loubet, the Czarina, the Dowager Czarina and the Grand Duchess Sergius, in a carriage, passed down the front of the troops, attended by brilliant suites. The Imperial and Presidential cortege received an ovation from the large crowds of people which assembled to witness the military display.

PREMIER AT LONDON.

His Position on the Prohibition Question Explained.

AN OVATION TO COLONEL LEYS.

Candidates on Both Sides Ready For Nomination Day—Government Supporters All Over the Province Continue Their March to Victory Next Week—How Ontario Is Particularly Strong.

Toronto, May 22.—Nomination day finds the two parties facing each other with completed lists of candidates. There will be several three-cornered contests, resulting in most cases from the entrance into the field of a Socialist or a Prohibitionist. In one or two cases, also, an Independent candidate has taken the place of the straight party nominee.

The Ministers and the Opposition leader and his lieutenants will to-day speak in their own ridings, where the nominations will require their attendance.

The reports to hand from various portions of the province show that the best of feeling continues to prevail among the supporters of the Government, and little doubt appears to be entertained anywhere as to Mr. Ross being splendidly sustained next week. This feeling appears to be particularly strong in New Ontario, a striking testimony to the popularity of the great development policy of the Government in the region which is chiefly affected by it. No amount of confidence as to the result of the contest, however, on the part of the Liberal party should allow any relaxation of effort until the polls have closed a week from to-day.

Premier Ross at London.

London, Ont., May 22.—A rousing Liberal meeting, such as London perhaps better than any other Ontario city can produce, was held in the Grand Opera House last night in the interests of Lieut.-Col. F. B. Leys, at which Premier Ross was the principal speaker. There were nearly 2,000 persons present and the enthusiasm both for Mr. Ross and for the popular candidate was remarkable for its spontaneity and vigor. The Premier, whose eighteenth speech in this campaign it was, again spoke in his clear and impressive manner of the features of the Government policy which are daily gaining in strength in Ontario. He also took occasion to explain once more his position on the prohibition question, which he did to the evident satisfaction of his audience. Other speakers at last night's meeting were Col. Leys, Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P., Dr. Routledge, the candidate in East Middlesex, and Mr. M. K. Cowan, M. P. The latter, who spoke last, created a notable impression on the audience, who remained until nearly 11.30 until he concluded.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

W. T. Bailey, Rosemont, has announced himself as an Independent Prohibition candidate for Dufferin against Dr. Barr. He is an ex-Mayor of Orangeville.

The charges of perjury against Macdonald and Carruthers, said to be agents of the Conservative and Liberal candidates, respectively, in North York, were heard at Newmarket on Tuesday night. Carruthers was discharged, and the case against Macdonald will be heard next Monday.

C.P.R. MOVES UP TO 135 1-8.

Another Day's Excitement on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Toronto, May 22.—The excitement on the local stock exchange over Canadian Pacific continued unabated yesterday. The business broke Tuesday's record, 9,095 shares, all told, having been bought by an army of traders. In the morning, before the opening, brokers' offices were crowded with people eagerly making enquiries as to what it would likely open at. On Tuesday it closed at 132½, but before our market opened, London had been trading in it for several hours, 10 a.m. here being equal to 3 p.m. in London. It had risen there, and when our exchange opened it sold at 134½. A good many people hurried to realize profits on the quick advance of two points over night, and the price receded to 134. Just before the close of the noon board, it sold at 133¾. At 2 p.m., under further large offerings, it receded to 133⅝. At that price it appeared that the profit takers had sold all their stock, and as the demand seemed to increase the price gradually hardened, first 133¾, then 133⅞, then 133⅞, and soon after 134. There was great excitement on the floor of the exchange as the prices mounted up, and all day long the galleries were crowded with spectators.

The advance did not end with 134. Word came in that there was big buying in Wall street, and that the price there was 134½ bid. Immediately there was a wild scramble among the brokers and the price soon went to 134½. About 2.30 large orders came in absorbing everything that offered, and the price moved up to 135½, amid great excitement.

$30,000 For $1,610.

New York, May 22.—A block of first preference bonds of the Cape Breton Railway was offered for sale yesterday at the weekly public auction of securities, the par value of which was $30,000. The bonds were knocked down for $1,610, or $53.66 for each bond, the par value of which is $1,000. These bonds were offered for sale at par by Lockwood, Hurd & Co., one of the firms which went down in the Webb-Meyer crash.

Pauncefote Improves.

Washington, May 22.—The condition of Lord Pauncefote is improved, notwithstanding the fact that he passed a rather restless night.

A Distinguished Visitor.

There arrived this morning at Ormond and Walsh's pharmacy, from Brantford, six dozen bottles of that celebrated medicine Morrill's System Tonic. This is not a patent medicine, but a reliable remedy prescribed by three eminent doctors and dispensed by a druggist. COMING CONFERENCE.

Subjects for Discussion by Dominion Board of Trade.

TORONTO BOARD'S SUGGESTIONS

The Proposed Resolutions Embrace Defence, Fast Steamship Service, Commercial Depot in London, Metric System, Trade Relations Within the Empire, Fast Atlantic Service, Railway Commission.

Toronto, May 22.—The Council of the Toronto Board met yesterday afternoon and prepared resolutions to be submitted to the forthcoming conference, dealing with defence, metric systems, commercial depot in London, Railway Commission, trade relations within the Empire and Canadian copyright. The proffer of Premier Ross of the Legislative Assembly for the conference was accepted. The resolutions of the Toronto Board are:

Defence.

Resolved, that this conference desires to place itself on record as holding the opinion that the time has arrived when a plan of naval and coast defence for Canada should be considered.

Fast Steamship Service.

Resolved, that this conference of boards of trade of the Dominion of Canada request the Government to consider the establishment of a cargo steam service from Montreal in summer and Maritime Province ports in winter, to be subsidized at so much per outward voyage, calling at Cape Town, and proceeding to ports in Australia, considered most desirable by the Government of Canada, thus enabling the development of business in heavier articles than is possible under present conditions. The subsidy to be sufficiently large to enable rates to be made as low as prevailing rates from New York; further

Resolved, that the Government be requested to provide a faster service from Vancouver, in order to provide a tri-weekly service instead of monthly, as at present.

Commercial Depot in London.

Resolved, that this conference hold the opinion that provision should be made at the earliest possible time for a practical trade representation of the Dominion of Canada in London, by the establishment in that city of a depot of exhibition, presided over by business experts, having at their head a man of comprehensive knowledge of Canadian products, the whole purpose and scope of the enterprise being the increase of Canadian trade throughout the Empire and the direction of the attention of the people of the British Isles to the products and capacities of Canada, both as to emigration and investment.

Metric System.

Whereas, the largely increasing export trade of Canada necessitates the adoption of a more simple and uniform system of weights and measures: and,

Whereas, on the Continent of Europe, the metric system prevails from the Atlantic Ocean to the borders of Russia, and it is also used in the South American republics; and,

Whereas, the adoption of the metric system has been urged in Great Britain, and, in the near future, may be established in that country; and,

Whereas, Canada's foreign trade has been seriously handicapped by the use of practically an obsolete system, therefore, be it

Resolved, that this board urge the necessity of immediate action being taken toward the establishment of the metric system of weights and measures for Canada.

Trade Relations Within the Empire.

Resolved, that the Prime Minister of Canada be requested to urge at the Imperial Conference the securing of a royal commission composed from representatives from Great Britain and the colonies to investigate conditions and to suggest such preferential treatment of imports from the various parts of the Empire as shall be best calculated to ensure the fullest benefits.

Fast Atlantic Service.

Resolved, that the establishment of a fast Atlantic steamship line from a Canadian port to a port in Great Britain would assist trade in the Dominion, would increase our export trade especially in perishable products, would add greatly to the volume of passenger travel through Canadian channels, would give an impetus to ship-building in Canada, and would, with the aid of our transcontinental railways bind the different portions of the Empire more closely together; and it is further resolved, that speed should be the first consideration in the selection of ports of call of terminal ports, and that the conduct of the enterprise should be under the control of the Dominion Government.

Railway Commission.

Resolved, that this conference desires to place itself on record as holding the opinion that a properly constituted commission should be created with power necessary to deal with any questions affecting the relations of all common carriers to the people.

Canadian Copyright.

Resolved, that this conference respectfully, but strongly, urges the Premier of this Dominion to take up with the law officers of the Crown in England, and with the Colonial premiers assembled in London at the time of His Majesty's coronation, this question (copyright) of such immense and practical importance to the many industries engaged directly and indirectly in the making, publishing and selling of books, to the end that an understanding may be finally reached, by which, at once, Canada may, without further friction, make her own laws in matters copyright, and that an English and American monopoly shall no longer be perpetuated in this self-governing country.

The Montreal Board of Trade will also send resolutions.

Not Entirely.

THINKS PEACE ASSURED.

Bennett Burleigh Wires His Friends That He Is Preparing to Return Home—Boer Delegates at Pretoria.

London, May 22.—Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent at Pretoria of The Daily Telegraph, has cabled his friends here that he is about to return home. The Telegraph interprets this action on the part of its correspondent as a circuitous intimation that peace has been arranged in South Africa, and that owing to the censorship Mr. Burleigh was unable to communicate this fact to his paper.

Boer Delegates at Pretoria.

Pretoria, May 21.—In accordance with an arrangement made April 6, the Boer delegates who were chosen at the Vereeniging conference arrived here May 18.

They consist of four representatives from the Transvaal and Orange River Government, Gen. Dewet and Gen. Delarey, and are accompanied by eight secretaries.

The party has been lodged in a house next door to the one occupied by Lord Kitchener.

His Jaw Was Broken.

Ottawa, May 22.—In answer to enquiry, His Excellency the Governor-General received a cablegram from the Casualty Department, Cape Town, yesterday, stating that Shoeingsmith W. Hunter, who was wounded in the Kleinhart River engagement March 31, is doing fairly well in the hospital at Germiston. He had his jaw broken by a bullet, necessitating the binding up of an artery.

AUGMENT THE STRIKERS.

Engineers, Firemen and Pumpmen to Join After June 2.

Wilkes-Barre, May 22.—Three anthracite executive committees of the United Mine Workers of America yesterday decided to permit the engineers and firemen and pumpman to remain at work, provided the coal companies grant them an eight-hour day at present wages. If these demands are not granted by June 2 the men shall then suspend work. Although the instructions issued to the local unions do not specially say that the men shall cease work on that date if the demand is not granted, they are so construed by the committeemen. This action was taken after two sessions had been held which consumed the entire day.

STRUCK WITH BAR OF IRON.

Windsor Moulder Knocks a Negro Senseless and Nearly Dead.

Windsor, May 22.—James Barclay, a moulder, struck Arthur Watkins, colored, over the right temple with a heavy bar of iron at the Malleable Iron Works, Walkerville, yesterday morning. Watkins fell unconscious, and Barclay fled. Watkins was taken into the office of the works and Dr. Story summoned. The doctor succeeded in reviving the patient. It is thought he will recover. Chief of Police Griffith located Barclay, who is employed at the Kerr Engine Works, about 11 o'clock on one of the back streets.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Two Schooners Collide Off St. John's, N.F. —A Snowstorm Rages.

St. John's, Nfld., May 22. — The schooner Lily Dale sank off this harbor Tuesday night, after having collided with the schooner Roger. The crew of fourteen men of the Lily Dale, and two women, who were on board, were barely rescued from drowning. After the collision they reached the deck, clad only as they were when they leaped from their bunks, and were taken off by the Roger. A severe snowstorm was raging here last night.

Diarrhoea Weakens the System.

and if not checked becomes a chronic condition. No remedy compares with Nerviline, which is prepared especially for stomach and bowel troubles. As a radical cure for cramps, colic, gas in the stomach, summer complaint, Nerviline excels everything in the medical line, as an indispensible household staple, and costs 25c. Buy a bottle to-day.

Miller Says He Is Innocent.

Jackson, Mich., May 22.—Prof. Miller, who is in jail for life for killing Carrie Jennett of Detroit, said yesterday that he is innocent. He declares the police of Detroit treated him like an animal, and he was powerless, owing to ill-health, to enter a defence. He said he had written to Fred. Uttley of Galt, Ont.

Missing For a Week.

Belleville, May 22.—Considerable anxiety exists at Coe Hill, a mining village in North Hastings, over the disappearance, a week ago yesterday, of John Batchelor, a laborer employed at St. Charles Iron Mine, five miles from Coe Hill. Searching parties are trying to locate him.

THE FIRE FIEND.

Destructive Blazes at Lindsay and Cannington—$80,000 and $30,000 Lost in Each Respectively.

Lindsay, May 22.—Lindsay suffered a heavy fire yesterday afternoon, which is said to have originated from some workmen setting fires in the rear of Mr. Hamilton's terrace. Several barns and stables in the immediate vicinity quickly caught fire, which spread to Mrs. Connolly's and Mr. Hamilton's terraces, which were completely gutted. Fortunately, the wind was not high, else the loss would have been much greater, as the Presbyterian Church and several large terraces were in the direct line of the fire.

Nine or ten families are burned out with much of their effects ruined. Messrs. Sutcliffe & Sons, and R. B. Allan & Co., merchants, dry goods, suffered considerably from smoke and water.

The fire swept two or three acres of barns and outhouses, including the above-named terraces. The loss will be about $80,000 to $85,000, mostly covered by insurance.

The insurance companies interested are: The London and Lancashire, Norwich Union, Economical London Insurance Co., Alliance, Traders' Insurance Co., Merchants', Anglo-American, Caledonia, Royal Insurance Company, Manchester, and several non-tariff companies.

The families burned out here in the fire yesterday were: Mr. Naylor, Mr. J. F. Connell, Mr. Blain, Mr. Hamilton, the carriage-maker, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Petty, Mrs. Leary, Mr. H. Brimmell, Mrs. Connolly.

The new stables of the Daley Hotel, the oil house of Mr. A. Campbell, Mr. Hamilton's lumber and sheds and several stables were also burned.

Big Fire at Cannington.

Cannington, May 22.—At 6 o'clock last night, a disastrous fire broke out in Dobson's power house. The fire got beyond control before discovered, and in less than two hours the woollen mills and electric light and power house were completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000. Small insurance was on the buildings.

Fire at Tweed.

Tweed, May 22.—At about 10.15 o'clock last evening fire broke out in Pratt & Armstrong's heading mills. One building was entirely consumed. The electric light plant and stock in yards were, however, saved.

SLAVERY DAYS.

Authentic Reports State Positively That Slavery Still Exists in Canada.

Thousands are Bound Hand and Foot and Punished Terribly—The Tortures of the Inquisition Outdone.

The days of slavery are not yet over.

True the buying and selling of black men and women as cattle is abolished, but there are still many thousands who are bound in an awful bondage, and who daily suffer punishment greater than ever the average slave had to endure.

Dyspepsia is the task master to whom these poor unfortunates are bound, and a cruel master he is.

Lashed to desperation by his awful punishment, many have sought liberty in death, preferring suicide to further torture.

But a Great Deliverer has appeared, and is striking off the shackles from all who would be free.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made old King Dyspepsia totter on his throne, and have snatched many a victim from his ruthless clutches.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets by their timely aid have saved many a life from despair and death.

Into the very heart of this hitherto unconquerable old monarch's realm have Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets strode as a conquering hero to whom many wan and weary faces have been turned for deliverance.

And no poor Dyspepsia Slave has ever turned to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for emancipation in vain.

Right on the palace gate of the tyrannical monster has been posted the proclamation—

"All Dyspeptics may be free—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have defeated Dyspepsia."

Many have been liberated, and if you are still in the bondage of Dyspepsia it is only because you will not put out your hand and take the freedom from all its distress and pain which is within your reach.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold at 50c. a box wherever medicine is sold.

Traveller Fell out of Hotel Window Last Night

And Broke his Neck—Representative of W. H. Petrie & Co., Toronto.

Mr. A. A. Benson, a traveller for the W. H. Petrie Engine Works, of Toronto, was killed here at about 12.30 last night by falling out of a second story window in the National Hotel.

Mr. Benson has been in town since Tuesday of this week, and last night retired to his room about 10.30 o'clock. This was the last seen of him until he was found by the bus driver at about one o'clock. He was lying on the ground in his night robe and was unconscious. Medical aid was summoned and it was found that the unfortunate man's neck had been broken.

It is thought that Mr. Benson, while walking in his sleep, met with the accident which proved fatal. The window sill is about fifteen inches from the floor, and the lower sash was up to its full height.

Coroner Gray decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was removed to Mr. A. Comstock's undertaking establishment and will be shipped to his home.

The deceased was a man of large physique and was over six feet in height. He was 53 years of age and was married, his home being in Mitchell.

AN EXPLANATION AND CORRECTION

Respecting Mr. Stratton's Statements at Buckhorn Tuesday Night.

In yesterday's report of Mr. Stratton's Buckhorn meeting he is made to say that "When he came to Harvey fifteen years ago there were no religious services, no Methodist services at Lakehurst, and no Presbyterian service at Lakehurst." As the report given to the Examiner was by one of the persons who was present at the meeting, it was a misconception of the statements made. What Mr. Stratton said was that when he first came to Harvey fifteen years ago there was no brick Methodist church at Lakehurst, there was no brick Presbyterian church near the Narrows, there was no church upon the Buckhorn road, but now brick edifices took the place of the primitive structures of the early days. He was glad to see that the people felt an interest in the development of the higher interests of the Township. Fifteen years ago there was no practical transportation facilities across the Narrows; there were no roads leading to the Narrows in the condition they are to-day. The same excellent condition of roads was to be found on all the leading highways in the township. The primitive cheese factory had been replaced by a structure of more modern character, new school houses had been erected, and the happiness and condition of the people had been improved in a very marked degree.

AMONG THE ODDFELLOWS.

Decoration Day Exercises on June 19th —Election of the Grand Warden.

This year, the Grand Warden, who becomes in turn Deputy Grand Master of Ontario, will be elected by the votes of the Past Grands in their respective lodges at the last regular meeting in May. The Hare-Spence system of voting will be used, by which a voter gives a vote to each candidate, numbering them 1, 2, 3, 4, etc., as his choice may direct. It is important that all Past Grands in good standing be present to cast their vote at Otonabee Lodge on Monday, May 26, and at Peterborough Lodge, on Thursday, May 29.

Decoration Day has been fixed for Thursday, June 19th. No doubt the general public in and around Peterborough will join heartily in making the ceremony a success. All owning plots or graves in the Little Lake Cemetery will no doubt decorate them for that day.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

The meeting held in the Opera House last night in the interests of Mr. Miller, was well attended and though there was eruptions of enthusiasm of a volcanic character the speeches, and fairly good ones from the party points of view, were listened to with exemplary patience.

Mr. Dennistoun was the first speaker and undertook to criticise an Examiner article showing why the Ross Government should be sustained. He contended that the Government had forfeited all claims to public confidence and had the assurance to call upon old Liberals to remember the struggles of Baldwin and Lafontaine for responsible government, and appealed to them to condemn the Ross Government, and, of course vote for Mr. Whitney the leader of a party that made the bitterest fight against responsible government in early days, and so oppressed and outraged the people as to practically drive them to arms to secure their rights. The Conservative party to-day is the same in instinct, though public opinion compels them to subordinate it in practice, as it was in the days of the family compact.

Mr. Dennistoun referred to electoral corruption, but only condemned it in a general way, specifically condemned the Liberal Government just as Mr. Whitney has done. He referred to South Ontario as an instance of Liberal wrong-doing, but he did not condemn nor refer to the unblushing bribery that unseated the Conservative candidate at the previous election. He also referred to West Elgin and North Waterloo, but he omitted to say that in the elections of 1898 the Conservative candidates in these ridings were unseated for corruption. Electoral wrong-doing cannot be too severely condemned, but for one party—the one that Mr. Dennistoun was speaking for, which has been guilty of unspeakable corruption, which it has reduced to a fine art, and which it has never repented of, to claim the support of old or young Liberals either, in order to put down corruption in elections is the height of absurdity not to say hyprocisy.

Mr. Dennistoun claimed to be encouraged by the fact that last election the Government had a narrow majority and that the Conservatives carried Ontario in the succeeding Dominion election, forgetting that the gerrymander contributed to the latter result and that as a matter of fact, there was in that election, according to the honest arrangements of Ontario constituents, a parity if not, majority of Liberal votes cast.

The speaker, contrary to the facts, contended that the corporation tax is a direct tax. This is a half truth. It is a direct tax upon our rich corporations, but it does not mean general taxation of the people—the visit of the collector—not direct taxation on the population. Mr. Whitney wants to relieve these wealthy corporations of this tax from which we get a quarter of a million a year, thus preventing to that extent the distribution of provincial funds to municipalities to relieve local taxation.

The old story was repeated of the gift of pulp wood areas, in face of the fact that not an acre of land or a stick of pulp wood is given away, and that no rights of settlement are interefered with. The pulp wood agreements printed and circulated and accessible to the public and ratified in open parliament contain the disproof of the misleading statements made respecting them.

The speaker was frank enough to admit that the code of Labour Laws enacted by the Liberal Government was excellent, but it was due to British Legislation being adopted. Doesn't the Government deserve credit for that? Where could it better go than to the fountain head of all advanced and liberal legislation? The Conservatives had abundant chance fo eighteen years to copy such admirable legislation which has been in Ontario, an inestimable boon to Workingmen, but they never passed a single act in the interests of labour, while the labour laws passed by the Liberal Government of Ontario are large in number and cover almost every condition that can promote the welfare and protect the rights of the working man.

Mr. Dennistoun says Mr. Whitney has a policy. He favours law reform, more assistance to agriculture, improved education, reform in dealing with railways. He would leave our colonization grants to be expended by townships, municipalize licenses and play the mischief generally with conditions that are now in existence and in the public interests.

He spoke highly of Mr. Miller as a citizen, something nobody denies that he deserves. Mr. Miller had no "pull," and was a consistent temperance man.

Mr. Garvin spoke next. He again reiterated the incorrect statement that Mr. S. Clegg receives $1600 a year from the Dominion Government, and at the same time receives some $300 from the Ontario Government. He only gets $800 a year, and has received no payment from the Ontario Government since he became superintendent of Public Works in the Newcastle District.

Mr. Garvin evidently thought he could improve on Mr. Foy's criticism of Mr. Ross' "Thirty-nine Articles," made by Mr. Foy recently from the same platform. Touching the pulp concessions, he asserted that Mr. Whitney had voted for them, till he found out they were being sold for immense sums. The sale of the Sturgeon Falls concession to the Lloyds, of England, was instanced. But he did not tell the whole facts. The concession was sold for $750,000 — $90,000 paid. Investigation showed the concession didn't represent the value. The Lloyds went to law, lost and threw up the concession for which they found they had agreed to pay $750,000 more than it was worth.

The Government was blamed because the municipalities, with the absolute self-government they possess, voted bonuses to railways, and got in debt.

The speaker went over the usual well-worn subjects in the usual well-worn opposition way. Speaking of Mr. Whitney's attitude to education, Mr. Garvin made the extraordinary claim that Mr. Whitney would provide that engineering be taught in the public schools, a bit of clap-trap of a piece with several items of policy put in Mr. Whitney's mouth, which that gentleman has not once publicly referred to in this campaign. Mr. Whitney has no policy, and so his stumpers put up one for him, just to suit the needs of the locality and the moment.

Mr. Miller, the Conservative candidate, began by declaring himself in favour of female suffrage, but immediately drifted into a denunciation of "paid canvassers," whatever that means, and dark and mysterious references to the "ghouls," he did not send out—but whose names he knew.

His speech was practically a half humourous reference to his visit to the back country, and the terrible things he saw there. He repeated substantially the disproved and discredited statements he has previously made in regard to colonization roads in the north country. If these statements were not disproved by the facts themselves, they are disproved by the satisfaction of the people with the excellent colonization roads, that permit easy travel through the townships and easy access to town. They are disproved by the fact that the tills of town merchants have been enriched through the medium of the roads on which Mr. Miller and his friends say Government money was squandered and wasted.

Mr. Miller's attitude on the temperance question is peculiar. He poses as a temperance man and justifies his support of Mr. Whitney, an opponent of prohibition, and an upholder of the license system, which Mr. Miller professes to be anxious to destroy. Mr. Miller says, good, kind, Mr. Whitney says "he doesn't propose to control any man's conscience." But he proposes to control his vote in the House, and if Mr. Miller is elected to support Mr. Whitney, and Mr. Whitney is in power, the first vote he gives against Mr. Whitney, he will get a repetition of the "swift kick" Mr. Marter got out of the party ranks when he dared to vote against his leader.

Mr. Miller is otherwise inconsistent. He declared that he was a Conservative to the hilt, or something to that effect, and the next moment he declared that there should be no party lines in this contest, and that Liberals were promising to "vote for Miller," though he didn't explain whether they should vote for a temperance man supporting an anti-temperance leader, or as a working man supporting a party that has never given a line of legislation in the interests of the working man.

Mr. Miller claims that the working men now have a chance to vote for a working man. Why should they do so? Do the working men want to elect a man for the mere honour of the thing, or a man that can advance their interests in the Legislature? Mr. Miller says Mr. Whitney won't control any man's conscience," but he himself seeks to control the consciences of those who won't throw up their hats for him, when he denounces them for supporting Mr. Stratton.

Mr. Miller poses as a working man, but is he really a working man in the generally accepted meaning of the word? He describes himself on the ballot, which he wants working men to mark for a "working man," on Thursday, as follows, "Miller, J. W., boot and shoe manufacturer." Being a manufacturer, he is an employer of labour, and a master, not an employee.

Is Mr. Miller any more a "working man" than Mr. Stratton, who is a hard worker and also an employer of labour?

Do Mr. Miller's products as a manufacturer bear the union label? Mr. Stratton's products as a manufacturer will on and after the first of June.

Intelligent and thoughtful working men will not vote for a mere man — they want to vote for something — the power, the will and the guarantee of effective service in their interests. Working men don't want anything in the way of gifts or favours from any Government. They want a recognition of their rights through legislation, and they want legislation that will protect them in their callings, and create the conditions that will permit them to realize the most for their labour, and secure the fruits of their labours without loss.

The thinking working man can easily see what source he should look to to secure these advantages.

PANIC THROUGHOUT THE ISLAND

Terror Reigns on the Island of Martinique, and the People Are Fleeing From the Threatened Dangers—Boatloads Arriving at the Adjacent Islands —The Inhabitants All Losing Nerve.

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, May 22.—The Soufriere volcano has been active of late. Its activity has spread consternation among the residents of the island. Villagers who had fled to Chateau Bellair and Georgetown for safety are now pouring into Kingstown, this being the furthest town from the Soufriere. Kingstown is now congested. Yesterday there was an alarming report from a credible source that Unham Mountain, near the Marriaqvia Valley, an old and apparently extinct crater, is showing signs of activity. This volcano is only about six miles from Kingstown.

MONT PELEE VIOLENT.

Ten Times More Angry Than When She Destroyed St. Pierre—The People Flocking From the Island.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 22.—Tuesday's eruption from Mont Pelee, was violent in the extreme. It was ten times as violent as that which destroyed St. Pierre. Colossal columns of volcanic matter were ejected from the volcano, which rained huge red hot boulders, many feet in diameter, on the ruins of St. Pierre and the country near it, from an enormous elevation and with fearful velocity. The volcanic clouds advanced until they reached Fort de France. The rays of the rising sun lighted them until the clouds looked like molten metal suspended in the air and rolling over the city.

The spectacle was appalling and sublime beyond description. The whole population of Fort de France was thrown into a frenzy of panic, during which soldiers, police, men and woman, all terrified, frantic, weeping and praying, rushed through the streets, while overhead the glowing, fiery clouds rolled relentlessly, and rained down stone, still hot, amid the swirling ashes. The steam launch of the United States cruiser Cincinnati took some refugees to the French cruiser Suchet, and nearly a hundred persons sought refuge on the Cincinnati and on the United States special steamer Potomac.

At 10 o'clock the Potomac went to investigate matters. Lieut. Benjamin B. McCormick, the commander of the steamer, went in close to St. Pierre and found that city had been bombarded with enormous ejected stones and that the ruins left standing after the first great disaster had been nearly razed. Millions of tons of ashes then covered the hideous city of slignce and death. Further south smaller stones had destroyed the houses of the brave villagers who had stuck to their homes.

Lieut. McCormick took on board the Potomac 18 refugees, the oldest of whom was 72 years of age, and the youngest three days old. The lieutenant brought the party to Fort de Franco.

It is reported that the whole population of the island is fleeing towards Fort de France. The consternation prevailing is indescribable. Mont Pelee is still very threatening. Everybody is trying to leave the island, which the inhabitants believed to be doomed. Should the volcano again assume activity scenes of awful panic and horror will surely occur. Under the frightful strain the crowds are losing 'their nerve' and even the foreigners on relief and other duty are nearly worn out with the ceaseless vigils, day and night. The people want to get away entirely from the place.

Everybody Fleeing.

Point a Pitre, Guadeloupe, May 22.—The steamer Horton arrived here with 200 negroes from Fort de France, Martinique, on board. It is reported here that the French steamer Salvador, with a thousand people on board, who are unable to remain at Fort de France, is coming here, and that everybody who can do so is leaving that port.

Filled With Refugees.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, B. W.I., May 22.—The Norwegian steamer Helga, Captain Braastad, arrived here yesterday from Fort de France, Martinique. She is filled with refugees from that port.

Another Volcano Active.

New York, May 22.—Captain M. Hanson of the Norwegian steamer Talisman, which arrived yesterday from Barbadoes, brings a story of a volcanic outburst on Diamond Rock, an isolated island, two miles from Martinique.

Would Carry Supplies Free.

Ottawa, May 22.—The Government has received an offer from Messrs. Pickford & Black undertaking to carry supplies to St. Vincent free of charge. The offer comes at an opportune time, and if Canada's relief goes in the form of timber it will be carried on Pickford & Black's steamships.

As It Is in the U.S.

Chicago, May 22.—President Gemmage, in his address before the American Physicians' Association, said he regretted that "the profession of physicians had degenerated into commercialism."

82 Bodies Obtained.

Knoxville, Tenn., May 22.—Up to midnight last night 82 bodies had been taken from the Fraterville mine at Coal Creek, the scene of the disaster in which 225 miners lost their lives.

HAULTAIN SUSTAINED.

N.W.T. Government Will Have a Majority of Nearly Twenty.

Winnipeg, Man., May 22.—The Haultain Government was sustained at the polls for Northwest Territories Legislative Assembly elections, held yesterday. Returns are incomplete, but sufficient have been received to indicate that the Government will have a majority of nearly 20 in a House of 35 members. Premier Haultain is elected in Macleod by a fair majority. Hon. A. T. Sifton was returned for Banff by about 200, leading his opponent at every poll. E. C. McDiarmid, (opp.) is returned for Carrington. Other members elected are:

AGAINST DEERING BYLAW.

Vote in Hamilton Fell 1,000 Below Required Number.

Hamilton, May 22.—The city is not to have the Canadian branch of the Deering Harvester Company of Chicago, according to the votes cast by the ratepayers yesterday. A bylaw was submitted, granting the company a bonus of $50,000 on certain conditions. Voting went on quietly all yesterday, and 3,858 votes were required to give assent to the bylaw. The actual vote in favor fell more than 1,000 below this, it being 2,819, with 632 registered against the bylaw. The Trades and Labor Council worked against the bylaw, but the vote shows that passive indifference, more than active opposition, had to do with the bylaw's defeat.

Brockville Is Pleased.

Brockville, May 22.—Brockville is pleased that Hamilton voted against the Deering bylaw. This city would give a $50,000 bonus to have the company locate here.

WILL YOU ALLOW

A Relative or Friend to Pass Into the Dark Valley Simply Because the Doctor Desires to Cling to Medical Etiquette?

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Is Daily Saving Precious Lives After Pronounced Failures of Physicians.

The months past of the present year have brought bereavement and dark clouds of sorrow to many homes in our land. Fathers, Mothers, sisters and brothers have been forever removed by the grim reaper, death. The large majority of such could have been saved had their friends given them Paine's Celery Compound instead of the worthless medicines the sick ones were forced to swallow.

In many families a too slavish obedience to medical dictation kept the true life saver from the sick and and dying ones. Past records of marvellous cures and victories wrought by Paine's Celery Compound were ignored by medical men; in a word, it was unprofessional in their estimation to introduce the life-giving compound.

Ah! Remorse is now doing its quiet but effective work, and those most closely interested are suffering for their neglect.

Will you, dear reader, allow some dear relative or friend to pass from life without making an effort to save the perishing one by Paine's Celery Compound? The virtues and powers of Dr. Phelp's prescription are wondrously far-reaching and mighty. Even though your friends have suffered long and have come to that point where the physician is helpless to save, even then there is a blessed hope, if Paine's Celery Compound is used.

The desperate cases cured in the past, and the number of precious lives saved, is the bright, the living proof, that Paine's Celery Compound makes sick people well.

Conference Is Closed.

Ottawa, May 22.—The Fisheries Conference closed yesterday morning and the Provincial representatives who took part will report to their respective Governments the nature of the propositions made. If the propositions are concurred in, another conference will be held later, at which the conclusions reached will be embodied in an agreement.

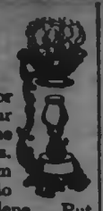
A Balloon Party.

Berlin, May 22.—The people of this city spent a part of yesterday in staring at the flock of balloons floating above Berlin, in which the members of the International Aeronautical Commission were sailing as guests of the Military Balloon Battalion. The ascents and descents were made without mishap.

Rat Brother Turns Up.

Halifax, May 22.—The remains of Henry Murray, recently brought here from Nevada, were supposed to be the remains of the brother of Prof. Murray of Dalhousie. The interment took place at Truro in the family lot. It was learned yesterday that Prof. Murray's brother is alive.

Danger Next Door.



Perhaps it's diphtheria, or scarlet fever. Keep your own home free from the germs of these diseases. Prevent your children from having them. You can do it with our Vapo-Cresolene. Put some Cresolene in our vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and let the vapor fill the sleeping room. Have the children sleep in the room every night, for it's perfectly safe, yet not a single disease germ can live in this vapor. Ask your doctor about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

HER LOST DIARY.

The Plaguy Thing Had All Her Dearest Secrets Recorded Too.

"Diary!" fairly shrieked the pretty young lady, with flashing eyes, as she walked down the avenue with a companion. "Diary! Don't you say diary to me again. What do you know about it, Kate?"

"Nothing, only that you told me that you had commenced keeping a diary, as usual, and I supposed you had dropped it at the end of a month, as usual. I didn't mean to throw you into hysterics."

"Kate, don't you ever breathe a word of it, but I've lost that diary; dropped it somewhere on the street. And the plaguy thing has all my dearest secrets in it. I wrote just what I thought too. It just sends me crazy. There it is in black and white that Lillian looks like a fright, that Hattie is turning green from jealousy, that Charley is just too sweet to live and that Fred hasn't sense enough to talk more than three minutes unless he rehearses in advance."

"Why don't you advertise and offer a reward?"

"Indeed, I won't. I never want to see the thing again. If any one returns it, I shall declare that it's a forgery from beginning to end. I'll never own up the longest day I live."

"What did you say about me, Edith?"

"Oh, I don't just remember, but something nice. You can depend on that, for you're my very dearest friend."

"I can help your memory. You wrote that I was the most inquisitive little minx in the city and that I thought it my special business to look after other people's business. Here's your diary. You left it at our house, and Tommy spelled out your estimate of me before I knew what he was doing. Good afternoon."

Then they looked at each other, both began to cry, fell into each other's arms and in five minutes were criticising a mutual friend.

Sulphur and Silver.

A sailor in the custom house the other day took out of his pocket some silver coins that had a strange yellow hue, and a clerk said to him, "What makes your money such a funny color, Jack?" "Well," replied the mariner, "we just got in with a cargo of fuel oil. It's the oil that turned my money yellow. Fuel oil has that effect on every kind of metal. You ought to be on a fuel oil steamer some time. It would surprise you to see the cabin silverware, the kitchen tins and every blasted bit of metal on board all having the jaundiced look. There is sulphur in fuel oil, and it's this sulphur that does the yellowing. Nitric acid will bring back the original color again."

A Great Pity.

The Scotch are great users of snuff. It was a Scotchman who once asked a big nosed stranger if he took snuff and, receiving a negative reply, remarked: "What a pity. You have such a grand accommodation."

COLDS THAT WILL NEVER BE CURED

Are Being Contracted Every day —The Treatment Prescribed by an Eminent Medical Author and Physician—Timely Action the all Important Point in Treating Colds.

"Colds that will never be cured." A startling sentence, but you know it to be true. Scarcely a day passes but some death from consumption, pneumonia or similar ailment emphasizes the truth of this statement. It is well to remember a newly-contracted cold can, in almost every case, be cured. It is the neglected cold that leads to death—the cold that runs on and on—the cold that is added to by fresh colds from time to time.

But what treatment is to be chosen from the great number of remedies that are recommended? You can use common-sense in buying medicine, just as you can in the purchase of a piano, a bicycle or a sewing machine. Find out what treatment has the best record in the past, apply the test of time and get the opinion of people who know from experience.

If you apply this test to medicines for coughs, colds and similar ailments, you will select Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, because of the extraordinary merits which it possesses, and which have become known to the public generally through years of trial. The sales of this remedy are far in excess of any similar preparation, and have never been so large as during the present season. These two facts are, we believe, the strongest evidence that can be produced in verifying the merits of any remedy that has been thoroughly tested for years.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is prized especially because of its far-reaching effects, even in the most serious cases of bronchitis, whooping cough, croup and asthma. It is not a mere relief for coughs, but acts on the whole system thoroughly, curing the cold and removing chest pains, soreness of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and all inflammation of the respiratory organs.

Just a word of warning. There are other preparations of turpentine and linseed put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. To be sure you are getting the genuine, see portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the wrapper. Twenty-five cents a bottle, family size, three times as much 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. 11

POLITICIANS' FADS.

BRITISH PARLIAMENTARIANS ASSERT MARKED PECULIARITIES.

Some of These Indulged in by Lord Salisbury, Lord Rosebery, the Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Chamberlain—A Very Racy Incident Anent the Duke of Devonshire's Carelessness of Dress.

There is hardly a man in parliament—at least, among those who assert marked peculiarity—some little trick of speech, which serves to distinguish him from others, and which, in most cases, acts as an index to his personal disposition and character, writes Livingstone Black in The Royal Magazine. Lord Salisbury is no exception to this rule. Broadly speaking, his peculiarity consists in the fact, that seated he is one man, and delivering a speech quite another. A deaf person would be sure to find Lord Salisbury's orations singularly unsatisfying, the language of gesture being in his case almost absent. He says the nastiest and most crushing things about an opponent without altering his attitude one iota; a mere inflection of his voice being the only sign of his spoken satire—none the less cutting, by the way, because it falls from the lips of a statue. All the time he stands with bent head, and hands hanging loose at his sides, or clasped behind his rounded back. When seated Lord Salisbury loses much of this sangfroid, and sometimes appears very nervous indeed. He has a curious habit of working his knees up and down, as if he were treading water. He has been noticed to do this for hours at a stretch. The voice of the Premier is musical, and his delivery in general excellent, but he has one singular defect for so great a speaker. Now and again he lapses into a style suggestive rather of talking to himself than addressing the House, and he then becomes inaudible to the reporters' gallery.

But, if Lord Salisbury divides his time between calmness and perturbation, the same cannot be said of his colleague, the Duke of Devonshire. The Duke cannot be betrayed into anything like unseemly haste or overweening anxiety. He is the "Weary Will" of the House. When not actually engaged in a speech he is lying about in all directions. Apparently, however, the essence of the debate mingles with his dreams, for he always has a good grasp of the subject when it comes to his turn to speak. But it is patent that the whole thing bores him awfully—his own speeches, perhaps, most of all—if we may judge by the yawns with which they are punctuated.

Lord Rosebery resembles the Premier inasmuch as he has two distinct manners, one for the House and one for the platform. In the House latterly he has seemed to try to control himself, to keep down his natural tendency for gesticulation. But he must have something to do with his hands, and he has taken to folding and unfolding, to turning and twisting a piece of ribbon. It is to be feared this new diversion will not last him long, but that he will return to his former trick of thumping the table as he denounces the noble lords opposite. On the platform, or at public dinners, Lord Rosebery lets himself go, so to speak.

It is only the very rich who can afford to dress shabbily, and not even the rich do so without paying certain penalties. The Duke of Norfolk has the distinction of being the most carelessly dressed among Peers. This matters not at all, of course, so long as His Grace is known; no one thinks of a nobleman's clothes. But with strangers it is different. With characteristic kindness the Duke threw open his grounds at Arundel Castle to the public, but in doing so he did not bargain to be ordered off his own grass. Two Irishwoman, who were taking an airing in the park, noticing a shabbily dressed man turn off the pathway and take a bee-line across a strip of the grounds, were very indignant at witnessing, as they thought, so flagrant a breach of hospitality. "Hi! come back here, come back here!" they cried. "Can't you read that notice staring you in the face? It is the likes of you as keeps the likes of us out of many a dacent place!"

In the other House, from the members of the Government downwards, most of the leading and lesser lights have some little mannerism all their own. Mr. Chamberlain is an absolutely unique personality. He is a product of this smart age, but he is also quite original. His eyeglass, his orchid, his frock coat and fancy waistcoat, have all become so identified with his personality, that it is impossible for the public mind to imagine him apart from any of these appurtenances. He is very faithful to the frock coat; the only concession that he will make in summer is to vary its color from black to grey. On arriving at the House Mr. Chamberlain always does the same thing. He will take from the table the orders for the day, glance at them, and then throw them down with an air of impatience. His next action is to adjust his eyeglass, thrust his legs straight out, and gaze round the House. He is not a quick speaker, neither does he make use of much gesture. All his speeches are neatly written out, and are carefully prepared, and many of them are first committed to memory. When he is most calm, he is most dangerous. As his intensity of feeling grows, he becomes paler and paler, his parchment-like skin being sometimes almost ghastly in its pallor. Mr. Chamberlain has an overwhelming confidence in himself and his own powers, though not up to the estimate of a little girl in a Sunday School at Birmingham, who, when asked by her teacher, "Who made all this wonderful world, the sky, the trees, the flowers?" replied, "Please, Miss, Mr. Chamberlain."

AN INCENSE PARTY.

Odd Etiquette of an Interesting Japanese Function.

If you ever receive an invitation to a Japanese incense party, accept it promptly and thankfully. It has no counterpart in our own social system and is as merry and pleasant an affair as can be imagined. The people of the mikado's land have trained the nostrils for generations the same as we have trained the eye and ear, and they display a skill which at times is startling to a westerner. There is an odd etiquette to be followed in these social affairs. For the twenty-four hours preceding the party each guest must avoid the use of anything which can produce any odor whatever. Scented soaps, perfumes, odorous foods and even spices must be avoided. These prevent the user from smelling accurately and also interfere with the other members of the party.

When you dress, be careful to put on no garment that has been kept in the neighborhood of camphor wood, tobacco, bouquets, dried blossoms or scented powder. When you reach the house of your host, enter it as softly as you can and as slowly as possible. This is to prevent making a draft by the movement of your own body. Be equally leisurely in opening and closing doors, as a quick movement induces a sudden rush of air. In the drawing room the hostess burns a series of incenses, usually four or five in number. Each guest is allowed to take three sniffs of each incense and must then jot down its name and number upon a card. Each of the four or five incenses is burned two or three times, so that the number of cards will vary from eight to fifteen. At the end the cards are laid out on the table, and the hostess reads the names of the incenses employed, which are checked off upon the cards. The guest who has guessed the largest number receives a pretty prize, which is sometimes a silver or bronze incense burner, statuette or carving. Among the Japanese the average woman guesses correctly about six times in ten, while with the American women the ratio is three in ten

Fashions.

Lisette—No doubt. And they do seem so absurd until they come in!

The Jewish Torah.

Of the objects used in the Jewish synagogue one of the most interesting is the Torah scroll. The Delineator describes this as parchment scroll in Hebrew, mounted on wooden rollers, wrapped in a cloth of green velvet, embroidered in silk, which is held by a silver worked belt and covered with a mantle of black velvet embroidered in gold. The upper handles of the rollers are of carved wood and the lower of ivory, with silver bells on the rollers. The Jewish Torah, or the law, is considered by the people of this race the most important and sacred portion of the Scriptures. In order that it may be kept alive in the minds of the people it is divided into as many "pericopes" as there are Sabbaths in the year, so that within a twelvemonth the entire book will have been read through. A manuscript copy is used, having been prepared by a professional scribe on parchment made of the skin of a clean animal—that is, one the flesh of which may be eaten.

Something About Faith Cures.

What a great variety of faith cures there must be some have faith in so-called divine healers, others in certain doctors and still others in the medicines they use. Every person who has tested Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has faith in them, but faith or no faith they cure just the same, for they act directly and specifically on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and make these organs healthy, active and vigorous. Judging from the enormous demand for these Pills there must be hosts of people that have faith in them.

Strong Even In Death.

A yew tree almost destitute of branches or bark grows abundantly in the Caucasus to a height of from fifty to sixty feet and a diameter of a little over two feet. It grows slowly, but its timber is almost indestructible except by fire. It is considered superior in durability, appearance and toughness to mahogany, which it otherwise somewhat resembles. In some large forests of this tree it is very difficult to distinguish the live trees from the dead ones, the latter being very numerous and said to stand for 100 years after death without exhibiting decay.

Division of Labor.

Helene—How long did you stay in Paris on your trip to France?

Emma—Oh, a week altogether.

Helene—But surely you could not take in everything in such a short time!

Emma—But we did, all the same. You see, there were three of us. Mamma took in the picture galleries, I studied the shops and things, and papa examined the local color in the cafes.

WEATHER AND FOOD.

As the hot weather comes on we lighten our raiment with due care for the comfort of the body. In like manner should young and old arrange a system of diet for the summer months — a diet that will maintain a normal appetite and at the same time nourish the body, nerves and blood.

In hot weather the breakfast should be light, refreshing and nourishing. If you desire a supply of energy, nerve and brain food, use Malt Breakfast Food; make it your regular morning dish. Do not forget the children; let them have their dish of Malt Breakfast Food as well as the older people; they need all the energy, strength and health they can acquire.

As a summer food Malt Breakfast Food holds first place in the estimation of medical men. It does not heat the blood; it is easily digested and assimilated; it comforts the stomach; its concentrated nourishment builds up the body and enriches the blood. Besides energizing and invigorating every function of the system, Malt Breakfast Food conduces to sweet and refreshing sleep. It stands unequalled as a health food. At all grocers.

Precedent.

A clever answer in court was that given to Chief Justice Coleridge years ago, when he was defending a lady who had become a Sister of Mercy and was expelled from the convent for refusing to obey the rules.

She had brought an action for expulsion and libel. In the course of the trial Coleridge assumed that breaches of discipline are trivial, contemptible and should never be noticed.

"What has Miss Sawin done?" he asked Mrs. Kennedy, a mistress of novices.

"Well," said the lady, "she has, for example, eaten strawberries."

"Eaten strawberries? What harm is there in that?"

"It was forbidden, sir," said Mrs. Kennedy.

"But, Mrs. Kennedy, what trouble was likely to come from eating strawberries?"

"Well, sir," said Mrs. Kennedy, "you might as well ask what trouble was likely to come from eating an apple, and yet we know what trouble did come from it."

That closed the discussion.

Too Much For the Sheriff.

An Irish widow with a quick wit one day received a call from a sheriff who had a writ to serve on her. According to the story, the widow saved the day by some rapid fire courting which took the sheriff by surprise when he called at her house and began in formal fashion:

"Madam, I have an attachment for you."

"My dear sir," she said, blushing, "your attachment is reciprocated."

"You don't understand me. You must proceed to court," said the sheriff.

"Well, I know 'tis leap year, but I prefer to let you do the courting yourself. Men are much better at that than women."

"Mrs. Phelan, this is no time for fooling. The justice is waiting."

"The justice waiting! Well, then, I suppose I must go, but the thing is so sudden, and besides I'd prefer a priest to do it."

A Useful Woman.

"Blennerhasset," said Mrs. Biggins as he was about to start down town, "can you let me have a little money to run the house with today?"

"You can have just 50 cents," he growled, flinging the coin at her and slamming the door behind him as he went out.

"By the way, Biggins," said a friend who dropped into his place of business an hour or two later, "will you go my security on a note for $500?"

"Shortleigh," replied Biggins, "it is an inflexible rule in my family that I must never do anything of that kind without consulting my wife."

A Summer Without Nights.

To the summer visitor in Sweden there is nothing more striking than the almost total absence of night. At Stockholm, the Swedish capital, the sun goes down a few minutes before 10 o'clock and rises again four hours later during a greater part of the month of June. But the four hours the sun lies hidden in the frozen north are not hours of darkness. The refraction of his rays as he passes around the north pole makes midnight as light as a cloudy midday and enables one to read the finest print without artificial light at any time during the "night."

The Names of Two Cities.

On the principle of "In Rome do as the Romans do" I think it a safe rule to pronounce the name of a place as the residents of that place do, says a writer. Hence we should speak of St. Louis as though it were written "St. Lewis," not "St. Louee." All good Missourians say "St. Lewis." It is a little difficult to put down in black and white the local pronunciation of New Orleans, but it is something like this, "New Awl-yins," with the strong accent on the "Awl."

An Appropriate Text.

A preacher in an eastern city was a little fellow, so little that a box had to be hastily brought from the cellar for him to stand on. The services proceeded safely until the sermon, when he mounted the box and announced his text, "A little while ye shall see me, and a little while and ye shall not see me." At this point the box broke, and the prophecy was verified amid the smothered laughter of the congregation.

Two Sides.

"You'd make a pretty good clerk," said the employer sarcastically, "if you only had a little more common sense."

"Indeed!" replied the clerk. "But did it ever occur to you that if I had a little more common sense I wouldn't be a clerk at all?"

Advertising in the Examiner brings the best results.

A Domestic Blend.

A resourceful young matron had a small dinner party. Covers were laid for six, and the dinner was charming. The red wine was not too cold, the white wine not too warm and the black coffee a masterpiece. At the beginning of the end of the dinner a cordial was served. It happened to be Creme Yvette, and when the husband tasted it he put down his glass with a look of anguish and was about to speak. His wife's eye silenced him. Nobody took more than the first sip of the liqueur. After the last guest had departed the husband braved his wife's eye and spoke.

"My dear," said he, "what in the name of all unspeakable things was the matter with that liqueur?"

His young wife smiled triumphantly.

"Why," said she, "when I came to look at the bottle, just before dinner, I found there wasn't enough left to go round. It was too late to get any more, so I just added to it a bottle of violet toilet water. It was the same color, and it had the same smell, and I knew nobody would notice the difference. Wasn't it good?"

Woman is as Old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigorous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

East Indian Idols.

The images of the gods in India are not made by a separate caste, but the carpenters and masons respectively make the large wooden and stone idols set up in the temples, the potters the clay idols consumed in daily worship and the braziers, coppersmiths and goldsmiths the little images in brass, copper, mixed metal and gold and silver that are always kept in private homes. The East Indians regard an alloy of brass with five other metals—gold, silver, iron, tin and lead, making, with the copper and zinc of the brass, a mixture of light metals—as a perfect alloy, and this is highly prized as a material for sacred images.

Palmerston and His Muscles.

Lord Palmerston died at his post two days before he was eighty-one, his faculties undimmed and his physical strength little affected by his advanced age. A hidden witness recorded a touching anecdote: A fortnight before his death he saw the old statesman come out of his London house early one morning, look around to assure himself that he was alone, then climb over the area railing around the house and back again to test the strength of his muscles.

Grow Inside.

Little children should grow not only outwardly, but should develop big strong hearts and lungs and other vital organs to prepare for adult life. Scott's Emulsion is an excellent medicine for growth both outside and inside.

Outward and Visible Signs.

Ambitious Young Woman—Tell me honestly, do you think I ever will make a great actress?

Experienced Manager—Not unless you can subdue that bright and cheerful smile. Haven't you learned by observing the pictures of great actresses that they all wear a look of tragic and profound gloom?

Lucky For the Ancestors.

"It's a great thing to have a fine line of ancestors."

"Doubtless it is, and it's a mighty good thing, too, that some of these fine lines of ancestors couldn't look into the future and see their descendants."

THE CAMPAIGN IN NORTH SMITH.

Defective Organization of the Temperance Wing of Mr. Miller's Candidature.

No Place for an Advertised "Alliance" Meeting Provided--No Funds to pay for a Hall--An Amusing Hour of Squabble--A Meeting That Lasted Till Midnight.

Perhaps one of the most amusing incidents of the present campaign took place last night in North Smith. Mr. Nicholls, the secretary of the Dominion Temperance Alliance, was billed to speak at the Orange Hall, in the interests of Mr. Miller, the Conservative-Temperance-Whitney-anti - prohibition candidate in West Peterborough, and Mr. Faint, Mr. Powell, and Mr. Martin, of Peterborough, went out to attend the meeting. On their arrival there they found no signs of a meeting at the Orange Hall, although it was long past the hour for the meeting to commence. There were, however, signs of a crowd going in the direction of Montgomery's school house. On the Peterborough party's arrival there they found Mr. Nicholls standing disconsolate outside the school house, which was not open or lighted. On enquiring as to the meeting, Mr. Nicholls informed Mr. Martin that apparently no arrangements had been made for the meeting, and that he proposed to leave inside of two minutes. Mr. Martin strongly objected to this, reminding him that a very large number of people were there to listen to him, and suggested that he should have the school house opened and go on with the meeting. This he declined to do, as he said the meeting was in the hands of the local people, and he had nothing to do with the arrangements.

Mr. Martin then said he would try to have the school house opened, and on enquiring found that the difficulty was that the $2.00 fee had not been paid. Mr. Martin then explained the matter to Mr. Nicholls, and told him that it was usual to charge this small fee for cleaning the school room after a meeting of this kind. Mr. Nicholls flatly declined to pay, and again reiterated his intention of returning to Lakefield. This seemed very discourteous to the intelligent electors who had flocked to hear him speak, so Mr. Martin paid the $2.00, and suggested that Mr. Nicholls go on and hold his meeting, and stated if this were not done, he himself would appoint a chairman and hold a meeting himself.

By this time the school house was crowded to the doors, and a large number were unable to obtain admission. Then ensued one of the most comical incidents that has ever been recorded in the history of political contests.

Mr. Soloman Northey and Mr. Crowe, of the local Alliance, arrived on the scene, and at once proceeded to insist that Mr. Nicholls leave the hall and return to Lakefield, as they asserted that they would allow no opposition, and no discussion. For about an hour an unseemly wrangle proceeded, Mr. Martin insisting on his right to be heard, as he had paid for the hall. Several times Mr. Nicholls and his friends were on the point of leaving the hall, but at last the openly avowed disgust of the meeting compelled a change of mind, and Mr. Nicholls, to the great amusement of the audience, stated that the only conditions upon which he would speak were that he be allowed to speak last, and Mr. Martin was not to reply to him, though he had no objection to Mr. Powell and Mr. Martin speaking before him. Absurdity could not go any further than this, but at the request of Rev. Mr. Delve, Mr. Martin conceded these conditions, and the "Donnybrook" ended and the meeting proceeded by Mr. Nicholls nominating his chairman and arranging the order of the speakers to his own satisfaction.

After Mr. Delve had opened the meeting with prayer, Mr. Powell dealt with the history of Mr. Lindsay's unfair treatment of the local brethern of the temperance cause, and made a quiet and sensible speech, insisting that the interests of the temperance party would be best served by the continuance of the Ross Government in power.

He was followed by Mr. Northey, who spoke for nearly an hour.

Mr. Martin then dealt with the main issues before the people, showing by what class of men Mr. Miller's candidature was being supported in this campaign, and tracing the various restrictive measures which the Liberal Government had placed on the statute book in favour of temperance in the Province of Ontario.

He was followed by Mr. Nicholls, who made the usual appeal to temperance people to sink party. His speech from his own standpoint was a very able one, but his veiled attack upon Hon. Mr. Stratton and the members of the Government seemed to have little effect upon the fair-minded, liberty-loving electors of North Smith.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Harrison, on behalf of the Orangemen of North Smith, explained that no proper application had been made for the use of their hall, and that it was entirely due to the very careless manner of Mr. Nicholls and his friends, that they owed a hearing given to them to the generosity of Mr. Martin and the visiting friends from Peterborough.

A very successful meeting from a Liberal standpoint closed a little after midnight with enthusiastic cheers for the King.

Sticking to it

Is what counts in advertising. One advertisement one time may, and often does, produce results, but people have many things to look at and think of. To impress them permanently with any one article takes persistent and continued hammering. "It is a mistake to suppose a thing has become sufficiently well known to need no more advertising. The public has a strangely short memory. A firm which had for twenty years spent $50,000 a year in making a particular article public, tried the experiment of reducing their outlay to $25,000 per annum. But the next year it took $100,000 to restore them to their position. Enormous fortunes are amassed by those who advertise largely, judiciously, and incessantly; but all who have had experience in the matter will confirm the statement that the latter is the one great point. It does not do to relax in exertion." — Exchange.

PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD.

First Meeting of the Season Held on Wednesday.

10 3-4 CENTS TOP PRICE.

A Number of Valuable Suggestions by the President, Mr. Drummond as to an Inspector.

The first meeting of the Peterborough cheese board was held on Wednesday. The buyers present were Messrs. Wrighton, Rollins, Cook, Whitton, Fitzgerald and Kerr.

In opening the proceedings the president said he was pleased to see so many present. They had all doubtless received a copy of the rules, which had been carefully prepared during the past winter. He hoped that the buyers and sellers would live up to these rules and deal fairly one with another. Mr. Drummond expressed the sympathy of the Board in the long continued illness of Mr. Andrews of Benafort. He was a cheese maker of high reputation. Mr. Drummond then referred to the action of the Ontario Bank in once again placing in the hands of the salesmen and buyers a book which was useful in recording the transactions of the board. In closing Mr. Drummond alluded to the policy adopted by certain other towns in the province in engaging an instructor exclusively for the use of the factories on the board; the same principle might be adopted by the Peterborough Board.

Mr. Whitton agreed with the president's suggestion regarding an inspector. He thought that the factories located within the boundaries of Peterborough, constituting, say 20 factories, should employ an inspector who could spend all his time among the cheesemakers of the district.

Mr. Riddel read an article from the Montreal Gazette, in which this principle was strongly advocated.

Mr. Cook strongly endorsed the idea and said that the Peterborough district could give an inspector all the work he could attend to.

Mr. Blezard said that while we had the honour of being the model board of the dominion, still they must keep abreast of the times. He thought that if each factory would pay $20 it would be well spent money.

Mr. Rollins endorsed what had been said. He had been an inspector himself, and he was of the opinion that our present inspectors had too much territory to attend to. There are many matters in connection with the factories that a cheese maker cannot attend to but in which an inspector would be of much assistance to him. He instanced cases which came to his knowledge during his term as an inspector.

Mr. Fitzgerald expressed himself as pleased to meet so many of the old buyers and salesmen and others back again.

President Drummond thought that the matter of employing an inspector exclusively for the Peterborough Board was an important one, and that the salesmen should consult with their directors in the matter and report at the next meeting of the Board.

Mr. Galvin advocated the adoption of the Babcock test as a first step towards securing the best possible results.

THE ROSS GOVERNMENT A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

of large capital and enterprise to engage in manufacturing and mining, the Government attracts the surplus labor from Old Ontario to a section where it can be profitably employed, invites immigration, sets the wheels of industrial activity in motion, expands production and stimulates every business enterprise in the country.

And we are merely in the infancy of this period of development. The result to be looked for in the near future will place the foresight and statesmanship of the Government beyond question or cavil.

"Nothing succeeds like success." The Government has won friends and supporters all along the line, not so much by argument, not by trading on dead issues, not by appeals to traditional sympathies or prejudices, but by the practical demonstration of the soundness of its policy afforded by the growing prosperity of the country.

Increased trade, orders in excess of the capacity to fill them, larger profits, more customers, a heavier bank account----these are object lessons that appeal to every business man however little interest he may take in party conventions or political speeches.

The business men will support a business Government. They will not clutch at the shadow of vague and wordy promises and miss the substance of honest performance and practical effort.

They realize that not only in their New Ontario policy, but in their advanced line of action in the direction of encouraging industry generally, opening up new markets, developing the export trade, and raising the standard of agriculture, the Ross Government have shown a broader conception of their duties and responsibilities than has previously guided our administrators.

The people are prosperous. Commercial interests are flourishing as never before. The era of expansion is upon us.

Public confidence in the future was never so great. Enterprise never had had more opportunities before it for remunerative effort and investment.

The public have no use for carpers and pessimists—for men whose only effort is to obstruct the wheels of progress.

The business men will support a business Government.

WHAT THE ROSS GOVERNMENT HAS DONE FOR LABOUR.

MR. STRATTON AT BOBCAYGEON:

A prominent and praiseworthy feature of the policy of the Liberal Government is their enactment of legislation to protect the rights and promote the interests of Labour. Previous to the accession of the Liberal party to power nothing had been done in this direction. The Conservatives, though loudly proclaiming their friendship for the workingmen and claiming their support on the score of these sounding questions, refused to listen to their appeals for justice. They did nothing to counteract the crying evils and abuses which had grown up in connection with the industrial system. The terrible grievances under which the wage-earners suffered were fully exposed by a Royal Commission appointed in 1881, but no action was taken to rectify them.

It is to the Liberal party of this Province that Labour owes the Factory Act, first brought into operation in 1886 and perfected and strengthened by repeated amendments, so as to make it more effective. By these enactments, women and minors are protected against over-work, the employment of young children prohibited, sanitary conditions in factories secured, and safe-guards provided against accidents.

The principle embodied in the Factory Laws has been extended to various other classes of employees, and special acts have been passed dealing with the specific conditions in various trades, so as to secure the health, safety and comfort of the workers.

The Mechanics Lien Act, first adopted in 1873 and subsequently amended, protects workingmen employed in building and similar work against being defrauded of their wages, by making the property liable for the debt incurred by the contractor.

Employees have been made liable in damages for accidents to their workmen caused by defective machinery, the negligence of those in control, or the operation of factory rules.

The Railway Accidents Act, compelled railways to effect a number of specified improvements, so as to greatly lessen the dangers to life and limb incurred by those in their service.

The Mine Workers, whose occupation is necessarily a hazardous one, have been protected against preventable accidents so far as it is possible to do so by carefully devised legislation.

The collection of wages has been facilitated, and a cheap and simple process provided to enable the labourer to recover his due with little cost, inconvenience or delay.

Trade Unions, instead of being, as formerly, under the ban of the law, have been accorded the advantage of legal incorporation, and in cases where they give benefits to their members, can be registered as friendly societies, giving them stability and guaranteeing their members against imposition.

Conciliation and arbitration, as a means of settling labour disputes and avoiding strikes, have been encouraged by legislation, based upon measures which have worked successfully abroad.

A Provincial Bureau of Labour in charge of a competent and representative labour man, has recently been established for the collection of labour statistics. Last session its functions were enlarged by making it the duty of the Secretary to become a mediator in disagreements between employers and workmen.

Canadian workmen have been protected against an influx of alien labour by a law passed in 1886, making all agreements made with such labourers void, as against those introducing them. In 1900 a law was enacted forbidding the employment of aliens in the construction or operation of subsidized railways. The same law also provided for the payment of the current rate of wages by railways receiving public subsidies.

Workingmen have been secured time to poll their votes at elections without reduction of pay.

In 1901 there was introduced the act respecting Sanitary Regulations in unorganized territories, giving the Government power to regulate the cleansing and inspection of lumber, mining and railway construction camps, and providing for medical attendance and the erection of hospitals when found necessary.

FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1902.

THE SONG OF PROSPERITY.

North of Lake Nipissing and the line of the C. P. R. connecting North Bay and Mattawa, north of Lake Huron and Lake Superior and the Rainy River, lies a vast tract of territory which has come to be known as "New" Ontario. It stretches away toward the pole as far as Hudson's Bay, and comprises about 100,000,000 acres, whereas all the rest of the province amounts to only 26,000,000 acres. Just why this northern territory should be called "New" Ontario does not strike one at once, because it was not known to the westward moving civilization as early as was the fertile peninsula of Southern Ontario. The "New" seems to have been prefixed because it is only recently that the latent wealth of the territory has been discovered, and, besides, thanks to the old maps, which have shoved that portion of the map into a corner, and drew it on a small scale, the true extent of that country has never been dreamed of.

The first thrills of life are now passing through that long-neglected land. At Sault Ste. Marie one of the greatest industrial developments in America, if not in the world, is now springing up. But Sault Ste. Marie is not advancing alone. It is being followed by Rat Portage in the extreme west, by Port Arthur and Fort William, by North Bay and Mattawa, and by a score of smaller towns along the north shore of Lake Huron and the railway lines. Everywhere there is a feeling of buoyancy. The casual visitor cannot escape it. At North Bay there is not a house to be had, and frequently two or three families are living in one house. The hotels are crowded, and cots line the corridors, while sometimes even this convenience is denied guests. The expectation of the Government railway into the Temiskaming district is booming things, and everyone is hopeful.

A similar hopefulness exists everywhere in the new country. The sawmilling industry has received an unparalleled impetus from the Government's saw-log policy, and new mills are springing up like mushrooms. Capital from the United States and Great Britain is being poured into the mines, and great nickel, iron and copper industries are now assured.

The tide of immigration has turned to New Ontario and settlers are coming in from the States, from Europe and from older Ontario at a hitherto unheard of rate. They will find good homes, because, despite the rocks which are so evident from the railway lines there are millions of acres of fine arable land.

At the present time the Colonization Department of Ontario is receiving on an average about 75 letters a day from farmers in various parts of the world, enquiring about New Ontario lands. A number of these home seekers reside in the western States, and were formerly residents of Canada. Others are from England, and other European countries, and among these the Department has to deal with a class who are not used to farming as carried on in America. These are invariably advised to work with an Old Ontario farmer, until they have mastered the elements, before they take up land for themselves.

Hitherto Manitoba and the Northwest have overshadowed New Ontario as the promised land for the home seeker, the reason being that the settler there has no clearing to do before he is able to put in his first crop. Now, however, wooded farms in New Ontario are becoming more attractive to settlers, because, with the growth of the saw-milling industry and the springing up of pulp mills, the settler is able to make money while clearing his land.

ONTARIO'S WISE SYSTEM.

One of the most conspicuous successes of the Ontario Government is its administration of our timber resources. It has always received good prices for its timber areas, thanks to the excellent quality of the forest product and the fair and honourable way that lumbermen have been treated. The companies know from experience that the Government will provide facilities needed to help get their cut of timber to market, such as building dams, slides, etc. This knowledge, together with other considerations mentioned, leads lumbermen to offer better prices than they would under different conditions, and the extent of these prices, especially compared with those of other provinces or States, much more than compensates for the expenditure mentioned. But independent testimony to the excellent administration of our timber resources is not lacking.

Speaking at a gathering of Michigan lumber dealers at Saginaw, Mich., December 10, 1901, Mr. R. H. Roys, of the Saginaw Lumber and Salt Co., paid the following tribute to the timber policy of the Canadian Government;

"A little over a year ago the lumbermen could go out and buy stumpage on the Spanish tributary streams for $1 a thousand, and frequently pieces were snapped up at last than that price. In contrast, notice the prices obtained by the Ontario Government in September last, when portions of the townships back of the Canadian Soo brought $10 stumpage, according to the reports of the timber cruisers. I cannot refrain from speaking, while passing, about the wise system pursued by the Canadian Government in handling their timber, as compared to that of our own, where the Government obtained only $1.25 an acre for land and timber. They (Ontario) put up the timber separate from the land, at auction, the highest bidder obtains a license to cut whenever he chooses, but when the timber is cut he is obliged to pay the Canadian Government $1 a thousand for the stumpage, or even more. In the sale of 1892 the province of Ontario realized $2,250,000 from the timber offered and still kept the land, such as it was. The men who measure the logs are licensed scalers of the Canadian Government."

It will be noted that by the Michigan system both land and timber pass to the purchaser of limits. If that system had been in force in this province from the beginning, is it probable that the rich pine that covered parts of this county would not have passed into the hands of the lumbermen, and we should not have had many now well settled and prosperous townships, peopled with a thriving population, a much better national asset than pine.

It should also be remembered that in 1884, prominent members of the party Mr. Whitney leads, conspired with an American lumberman to bribe certain members of the Legislature to desert the Liberal party and vote for the American system of selling timber — that is, the land to go with the timber — at a nominal price. Opposition criticism of the Ontario timber policy comes with bad grace, especially when it collides with facts, and a traitorous record on the part of their party towards our timber resources.

MR. WHITNEY'S CAMPAIGN.

The general impression produced by Mr. Whitney's campaign is one of disappointment. There doubtless are points in which the policy of the present Government might be improved, and the country at present is receptive of new ideas. But Mr. Whitney has given the people no new idea. They are ready to advance, but he has never given the word. There is a class of men who sometimes render useful service to the State by putting on the brakes. But we hardly think that is what Ontario wants at the present time. There is no proposal that we shall engage in any hazardous experiment—adopt Socialism or bi-metalism, or declare war against anybody. It is proposed that the Province shall be governed very much on the old lines, and that all possible aid shall be given to the development of what is called New Ontario, the northern and western portions of the Province. There is to be expansion, but not inflation—progress, but not rash and hazardous experiment. It is the opportunity for men whose ideas are original, and at the same time sane and practical. That opportunity Mr. Whitney has not grasped. It may be that the ground is already occupied; that we have a Ministry that is thoroughly alive to the needs of the hour. But if this explanation is rejected as too flattering to Mr. Ross and his colleagues, where does it leave Mr. Whitney? Where is the great opportunity for the advancement of Ontario that the Ontario Ministers have missed, and that Mr. Whitney has perceived and pointed out to the electors?

In the answer to this question will be found the secret of the disappointment produced by Mr. Whitney's campaign, and in the gradual waning of the hopes of his friends. There is no "body" in his speeches—nobody remembers or quotes passages from them. They may satisfy those who have already made up their minds to support him, but they attract no new support. There is often vehemence, but when the vehemence is analyzed it is not found to represent force, but merely violence, exaggeration or illtemper. There is no leadership, no evidence of a sure and strong grasp of Provincial questions.

Some of Mr. Whitney's followers may comfort themselves with the belief that he has a strong, definite policy concealed somewhere, and that if he is made Premier he will reveal it to an astonished and admiring world. This explanation may do very well for the faithful, but it can hardly be expected to win new friends.

The campaign has now been in progress several weeks, and it is evident that the Opposition leader has not gained ground. His extraordinary change of front on the question of taxing corporations is not calculated to inspire confidence in him as a legislator and an administrator, and his promise to give the settlers the pine on their lands had evidently not been carefully thought out before it was made. Indeed, Mr. Whitney's suggestions often seem to be the result of mere impulse, according to his own mood or that of the audience. They are not parts of a clearly considered policy, and they consequently make no enduring impression on the public mind.

The thirty years argument is a two-edged sword. It is a serious matter to change a policy and course of administration which has been followed for thirty years, and it is natural that people should desire to know what is to be the nature of the change. There is no reason for taking a leap in the dark. The affairs of the province are not in a desperate state; there is neither confusion nor stagnation, but steady and vigorous progress on definite lines. Whoever demands a change under such conditions must show good reasons, and these have not been given. The Opposition campaign drags wearily along, becoming more and more feeble as the election approaches. There is a lack of strong, clearly-defined views of Provincial questions.—Globe.

AN OPPOSITION WHICH OPPOSES PROGRESS.

The Conservatives, at election time, claim to be anxious to develop New Ontario, yet their record is against them. They have steadily opposed the chief steps taken by a wide-awake Government to accomplish this object.

In the first place, if Conservative contentions had prevailed, we should have had no new Ontario, as we now know it.

The Conservative party opposed the acquisition by the province of New Ontario, and even after the territory had been awarded to us declared we should have not one stick of timber nor one pound of minerals.

Then Mr. Whitney and his followers opposed the development of New Ontario by opposing the building of the Algoma Central Railway, and the wonderful developments that go along with, and are produced by, it. He called the land grant a "gigantic steal," yet when he was at the "Soo," this month, he broke bread with the "thief" who made the "steal," Mr. Clergue, and said he was "amazed" at the wonderful industries, whose progress he so violently opposed.

Then the party of Mr. Whitney have been opposed to local development by their opposition to colonization roads, a boon to the new settlers, without which life in many new settlements would have been almost impossible. By means of colonization roads, settlers have not only been helped in conquering a new country, but have been able to reach their market towns and patronize and help enrich our merchants.

In 1877 Mr. Paterson, Conservative member for Essex, moved, seconded, by Mr. Harkin, "that the 80th resolution regarding colonization roads, be amended by substituting $50,000 for $77,300." This would have reduced the grants for colonization roads by $27,300.

In 1894, Mr. Campbell of Algoma East, moved, seconded by Mr. Miscampbell, that "the resolution relating to the Crown Lands Department be not carried but be forthwith referred back to committee of Supply, with instructions to reduce the grant of $125,309 for Crown Lands to $60,000, thus reducing the grant for the Crown Lands Department by $65,309." And let it be remembered that the expenditures on Crown Lands are mostly for colonization roads.

Settlement can't advance and new country be opened out without railways, yet the Opposition were hostile to even that absolutely necessary preliminary step.

In 1893 Mr. Miscampbell moved; "That the 89th resolution be not now agreed to, but be referred back to a committee of the House with instructions to amend the same by striking out the item of $35,000 proposed to be voted for surveys of new townships in the new districts."

In 1894 Mr. Miscampbell moved, seconded by Mr. Clancy: "That all the words in the motion after 'that' be struck out, and the following substituted therefor: "That this House disapproves of the large expenditure which is made annually by the Crown Lands Department for surveys, amounting to upwards of $35,000."

In 1899. Mr. Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Matheson, that the grant to the Ontario & Rainy River road be reduced by $330,000. Had this motion been carried the enterprise would have been blocked.

Again Mr. Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Marter, that the proposed grant of $2,000 per mile for a distance not exceeding 250 miles to the Ontario, Hudson's Bay & Western Road be struck out.

In the season of 1900 Mr Whitney called the bargain made by the Ross Government with the Algoma Central Railway Company a gigantic robbery and a phenomenal steal, and yet the grant thus made has been the chief stimulus of the amazing development, which has since taken place in and about the "Soo."

What is the use of having a great country if it has not been surveyed?

How can settlers be got in if you have no colonization roads?

How can a country be opened up without the aid of railways?

The people of Ontario will decide to leave the development of New Ontario to the party which fought for its possession, and has shown itself to be capable of managing it.

Mr. Whitney and his party haven't a title to the right of administration of a foot of the land they were willing to have divided between Quebec and Manitoba. They have shown an obstructive and unprogressive spirit and that is the spirit no energetic elector of New Ontario wants to see in those who manage our affairs. They want life, go and advance. They want a well defined, energetic policy of development all along the line.

"Mr. Whitney affirms that the Government taxes the corporations," says the Galt Reporter, "and then asserts that they pay the Government for taxing them. If there's one thing about Whitney that's more marvellous than another it's his logic."

A VIEW OF THE FIELD

Nomination Day Passes Without Special Surprises.

SOME SOCIALISTS NOMINATED.

Mr. Lucas, Conservative, Elected by Acclamation in Centre Grey—Toronto Has No Fewer Than Sixteen People Running—One of Them Is a Lady—Premier Ross at Mt. Brydges.

Toronto, May 23.—The nominations are over, and we are in the last week of the campaign. There were no special surprises yesterday, though independents appeared here and there at the last moment, increasing the number of three-cornered contests. There are, in fact, in several ridings more than three candidates, as in the case of the four Torontos, and in London and West Hamilton, in each of which there are four nominees. In the Torontos the regular party nominees are supplemented by four Socialist candidates, including the lady who had been nominated in North Toronto, and also by four Socialist-Labor candidates. In London, besides the regular party candidates, there are a Prohibitionist and a Socialist in the field. Socialists appear here and there elsewhere in the province, and there are several Prohibition candidates. In West Hamilton, besides the party nominees, Mr. E. A. Colquhoun, the former Conservative member, adheres to his expressed intention of remaining in the field, and his reception was quite cordial. This contest promises to be a particularly interesting one.

There appears to have been only one acclamation, that, namely, of Mr. Lucas, Conservative, for Centre Grey. In several ridings, however, the opposition to Government candidates is practically nominal.

Premier Ross speaks to-night in Windsor, and the Opposition leader, resuming work outside his constituency, speaks at Napanee.

The following candidates are nominated:

Toronto, North — G. F. Marter

Premier Ross at Mt. Brydges.

Mount Brydges, May 23.—Judged by yesterday's nomination meeting, West Middlesex does not think it time for a change. The proceedings following the usual formalities were of the liveliest character, but such as inspired Liberals to remarkable enthusiasm. Almost 30 years their representative, first in the House of Commons, then in the Legislature as Minister of Education, Geo. W. Ross faced the electorate of West Middlesex yesterday for the first time as Premier of Ontario. The admiration of his friends for their distinguished candidate was shown in the most emphatic manner, if possible greater than ever before, a golden testimony to the services and the lasting qualities of a great public man. Mr. Thomas English of Wardsville is his opponent.

TALKINC EVACUATION

French Ministry of the Colonies Considering Martinique.

NO GENERAL EXODUS AS YET.

French Gunboat Jeffrey in the Rescue Work—The French Troops Quartered at Le Corbet Have Not Suffered Loss According to Most Recent Reports—3,000 Have Fled From Fort de France.

Paris, May 23.—The Ministry of the Colonies did not receive any despatch from the Island of Martinique yesterday. The Government is considering the possibility of the necessity for the evacuation of Fort de France and of the whole island. The Ministers do not believe that any such emergency will arise, but they are taking all the necessary measures to meet it if it does.

According to the latest advices received here, quiet is restored at Fort de France, and there has been no general exodus of the population, though 1,000 persons have gone to the Island of Guadaloupe and the the Island of St. Lucia, and 3,000 more have removed to the towns and villages in the extreme southern part of the island. Those who remain at Fort de France are calmer.

French Troops Safe.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 23.—For a time some apprehension was felt regarding the safety of the detachment of French troops quartered at Le Carbet, but there has been no loss of life among them, according to the most recent reports.

The French gunboat Jeffrey took on board about 150 of the inhabitants of the neighborhood of Le Carbet.

It is estimated that 3,000 persons will have left Fort de France by night time yesterday for the extreme northern part of the island.

May Send Wooden Houses.

Ottawa, May 23.—In reference to the application of the $25,000 voted by Parliament to the sufferers by the St. Vincent disaster the Secretary of State said yesterday that the matter had not yet been passed upon by Council. He himself, however, was of opinion that no better use could be made of Canada's contribution than to purchase and forward a number of ready made wooden houses such as are manufactured in this country and shipped abroad in knock-down shape.

THE KING'S PLATE.

Eighteen Horses Ran—Hendrie's Lyddite Won, Seagram 2, Davies 3.

Toronto, May 23.—The forty-third renewal of the race for the guineas donated by the Sovereign of England to the Ontario J. C. took place yesterday at Woodbine Park, and the result was a grand triumph for the stable of Mr. William Hendrie of Hamilton, president of the club. Mr. Joseph E. Seagram, M.P., of Waterloo, who, since 1890, had only lost the race once till yesterday, was second with Fly-in-Amber, and Mr. Robert Davies Opuntia finished third. The defeat would probably have been less bitter with Maple Sugar ahead, only the inside talent expecting the crash from Lyddite. The victory was most decisive. The time was 2.15.

NATURE'S BLESSING

Is Found in Health, Strength and Freedom From Pain.

This Gift is Meant for all—On it the Happiness and Usefulness of Life Depend—Without it Life is an Existence Hard to Endure.

Health is nature's choicest gift to man and should be carefully guarded Ill health is a sure sign that the blood is either insufficient, watery or impure, for most of the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable to this cause. Every organ of the body requires rich, red blood to enable it to properly perform its life-sustaining functions, and at the first intimation that nature gives that all is not well, the blood should be cared for. Purgative medicines will not do this—it is a tonic that is needed, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been proved, the world over, to surpass all other medicines in their tonic, strengthening and health-renewing qualities. From one end of the land to the other will be found grateful people who cheerfully acknowledge that they owe their good health to this great medicine. Among these is Mr. Elzear Robidoux, a prominent young man living at St. Jerome, Que. He says:—"For some years I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. My appetite became irregular and everything I ate felt like a weight on my stomach. I tried several remedies and was under the care of doctors but to no avail and I grew worse as time went on. I became very weak, grew thin, suffered much from pains in the stomach and was frequently seized with dizziness. One day a friend told me of the case of a young girl who had suffered greatly from this trouble, but who, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had fully regained her health and strength, and strongly advised me to try these pills. I was so eager to find a cure that I acted on his advice and procured a supply. From the very first my condition improved and after using the pills for a couple of months I was fully restored to health, after having been a constant sufferer for four years. It is now over a year since I used the pills and in that time I have enjoyed the best of health. This I owe to that greatest of all medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say on their behalf."

Through their action on the blood and nerves, these pills cure such diseases as rheumatism, sciatica, St. Vitus' dance, indigestion, kidney trouble, partial paralysis, etc. Be sure that you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on every box. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DISEASE GERMS IN WALL COVERINGS

In these days when small pox and other contagious diseases are so prevalent, the question of how we shall protect the health of our homes and insure a healthy condition is worthy of great interest.

PHYSICIANS ALL AGREE that wall paper with its poisonous coloring matter and paste, which is unsanitary in the extreme, is the source of many diseases. This is evident from the fact that when they say, but from the fact that the walls of hospitals are never papered.

ANOTHER POINT. Sanitarians all tell us that the walls of a room to be healthy must breathe; they will prove and point out how this is impossible.

THE ONE POINT IN OUR FAVOUR is that ALABASTINE has none of the disadvantages of other paper, paint or kalsomine, but all the advantages of a pure, porous, cement-like wall-coating that hardens with age, and can be recoated as often as is necessary to renew.

With ALABASTINE the most beautiful effects can be produced; anyone can do plain tinting. Write for free book of instructions about how to decorate. Mention this paper.

ALABASTINE is for sale by Hardware and Paint dealers everywhere. Never sold in bulk. Practical men, ask your dealer for free other "Two Good Thing," or address

GIFT TO MR. CRANE.

The Jarvis Street Choir Forward him a Bust of Beethoven.

Mr. John Crane, organist and choir master of St. Paul's church, received a very agreeable surprise this morning, when he received an exceedingly handsome bust of Beethoven, as a gift from Mr. Vogt's Jarvis street choir.

The members of the choir evidently enjoyed themselves thoroughly on the occasion of their recent visit to Peterborough, and as an evidence of their appreciation of Mr. Crane's congratulatory letter concerning their splendid performance, they arranged the pleasant surprise which greated him at his office this morning.

The gift was accompanied by the subjoined letter from Mr. Vogt;

Toronto, May 21, 1902.

Dear Mr. Crane,—

Your letter was read to our choir on Friday evening last and its contents were received with much applause. It was felt that the choir should give some expression of your own unselfish efforts in the matter of the excursion and concert, and a committee was appointed to purchase a souvenir of the occasion, and forward it to you personally as the gift of the choir. I was also deputhed to write you and express the thanks of the members for having arranged and so carefully carried out a most enjoyable function for us, and at the same time to give expression to the hope that the bust of the greatest of all musicians, which we are sending you, would serve to remind you of the occasion and of the many friends your thoughtful attention to our pleasure has made for you in Toronto.

With kind regards to yourself and Mrs. Crane, and with remembrances to the members of the choir of your church, who co-operated with you in entertaining us, I am, on behalf of the choir of the Jarvis street Baptist church,

Very sincerely yours,
A. S. VOGT.

The bust is of marble and stands about 18 inches high. It is mounted on a handsome alabaster pedestal about six inches in height.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

CAMPAIGN COMMENTS.

Build up Ontario.

Mr. Stratton has served West Peterborough, town and county, well for 16 years.

He will serve it well four years more and better, for he has larger experience, better opportunities and enlarged influence.

The right view to take of your vote is to vote in your own interests, in voting for the good of the Province.

Mr. Whitney and his party don't advance any policy that gives hope for the future.

Mr. Whitney and his friends are not so anxious to do something for the people of Ontario as to have the people of Ontario do something for them.

The Opposition leader asserts that the rich corporations contributed to Liberal campaign funds in the bye-elections.

Yet the Liberal Government, next session, ungratefully clapped the taxes on the big corporations.

And Mr. Whitney now pities these poor rich corporations so much that he will take off this tax.

It seems a slander to accuse Mr. Whitney of being a stand-still leader—he can't stand five minutes on the same statement, if shifting his ground will, in his opinion help his chances.

A Liberal Government enfranchised the young, and gave them a chance to register. Mr. Whitney's party opposed manhood suffrage registration.

Where then should the young man place his ballot?

When a working man finds it necessary to go to law in pursuit of his rights, he doesn't employ another working man to plead his cause. He gets somebody qualified to protect his interests.

A working man in parliament without experience or prestige couldn't do as much for the working man's interests as a member of experience, and a member of a Government which has enacted all the laws for the welfare of labour now on our Statute Books.

Praise the bridge that carries you safely over the stream.

Mr. Miller's "temperance" attachment to his straight Whitney-anti-prohibition candidature doesn't seem to arouse much interest among temperance people.

At the meeting in Mr. Miller's interest in North Smith, enough interest was not taken to hire a hall and at Mr. Miller's meeting at Bridgenorth last night there were not half a dozen voters present—the entire attendance—men women and children being the unlucky number of 13.

Sing "God Save the King" to-morrow and vote to save Ontario on Thursday next.

Vote for Ross and progress. Vote for Stratton and efficient service.

Build up Ontario.

MR. J. W. MILLER'S MANY "MISTAKES."

Cornered and Compelled to Acknowledge Making "Mistaken" Statements.

Brought to Book in Harvey—Mr. Miller's Reckless Statements Made in Peterborough Have to be Retracted—Mr. Stevenson Was Also "Mistaken"—Cross-Examined by Mr. Stratton—Misrepresentation Exposed.

Taylor's School House, Harvey, was the scene of a double campaign meeting yesterday afternoon, meetings in the interests of both Mr. Stratton and Mr. Miller being advertised for the same date. The meeting in Mr. Miller's interest was addressed by himself and Mr. Stevenson, the latter claiming that there should be no party in provincial politics—the electors should vote for the candidate who would give the most efficient services. In dealing with the pulp was no guessing about it. When the time came he would give names. The corruption apparent in the north country was going on he doubted not, all over the country."

Mr. Stratton said the men were there who knew where and how the money was spent, and Mr. Miller was asked to name the men referred to, and make good his charge of corruption.

Mr. Miller, it is needless to say, declined to name the men, or to instance a case of wrong doing.

Another statement of Mr. Miller, contained in the same report, was that "the settlers would like to put up barns and other necessary buildings, but they dare not cut a single stick of timber because the Government gave it to the wealthy lumber firms. All the timber went to these firms, and the settlers could not get enough to build a fence."

Mr. Miller, in answer to Mr. Stratton, had to acknowledge yet again that he was mistaken, as the settlers in Harvey got all the timber except the pine, and they got enough pine also for fencing and building purposes.

In another report in the Review, Mr. Miller had stated that $360 had been given for a private road owned by the Dickson Company, and that the money was spent by Mr. Aikens, and that he received pay as overseer while he was in the employ of the Dickson Co.

Mr. Aikens, who was present, stated that he did not charge nor receive

CLEGG'S SALARY IS ONLY $800 PER YEAR.

Official Denial by Hon. Mr. Tarte of the $1,600 Story.

The Statement in Hansard Made in Error—Mr. Clegg Employed Only by the Public Works Department.

A great deal has been made of an erroneous statement reported in Hansard to the effect that Mr. S. Clegg was receiving a double salary, or $1600 per year. The Examiner, knowing the facts, contradicted the statement, made to this effect; but, for the purpose of political capital, they were repeated. Hon. Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, was communicated with in regard to the truth of the reports, and here is his explicit official denial:

Office of the Minister of Public Works of Canada.
Ottawa, Ont., May 22nd, 1902.

Hon. J. R. Stratton,
Peterborough, Ont.

My Dear Sir,—Mr. Clegg's salary is $800 a year. A mistake was made when it was stated in the House that he was paid $1600. He is only employed by the Department of Public Works.

Truly yours,
J. ISRAEL TARTE.

This official contradiction should silence a statement founded on an error and show, to anyone who is contented with the truth, that Mr. Clegg is receiving only the salary always attached to the position he now occupies. Possibly those who don't want to believe the truth will continue lying.

wood agreements be asserted that the agreements gave exclusive rights to the companies, but Mr. Stratton challenging him to read the terms of the agreement he held in his hand, Mr. Stevenson did so and had to acknowledge that he was practically giving his audience wrong information—he was "mistaken."

Mr. Miller dealt with the timber policy and claimed that settlers should have all the wood on the land. He also said that no proper attention was given to reforesting the Province, forgetting to say, however, that Mr. Whitney had voted against reforestry movements. He also dealt with the Stony Creek dam matter and colonization road grants. He was not opposed to the grants being made for these roads, but the money should be spent through the township where the roads were built.

Mr. Miller then stated that he could stay no longer as he had a good deal of driving to do, but Mr. Stratton asked leave to put some questions to Mr. Miller. Mr. Stratton said Mr. Miller was reported in the Review of the 15th, as saying that "money voted for roads in the back country never reached the roads; if it had every road out there would be better than the streets in Peterborough. The roads that appears in the public accounts as having received money running into thousands did not exist." Mr. Stratton asked Mr. Miller to point to any grant made that did not "reach the roads" and to name the roads that had received grants "running into the thousands, that did not exist."

Mr. Miller said he had been mistaken and Mr. Stratton remarked that the people here (in Harvey) know the roads and the grants that have been made. Mr. Miller could not point to a single dollar that had been misspent, and could not deny in the face of the electors who knew the facts that every road existed for which money had been granted.

In the same report Mr. Miller was reported as saying that certain men had received money to be used in the North Country who had "got their share and spent the balance. There anything for overseeing the construction of the road, and the electors present endorsed his statement that this road was used by the settlers the same as any other public highway.

Mr. Miller said that his only reason for supposing that Mr. Aiken's pay as overseer was because he did not believe that any man "would work for the public for nothing," and he had to acknowledge that he was mistaken (again) in supposing it was a private road. "And yet," said Mr. Stratton to Mr. Miller, "you try to profit in the town of Peterborough by making these reckless and false statements on mere supposition."

Mr. Miller's meeting then adjourned, and though Mr. Miller had previously stated that he was anxious to get away, he remained outside the school house till the meeting of Mr. Stratton was concluded. The meeting was addressed by Mr. F. A. Anglin and Mr. Stratton on the issues of the campaign.

The system of individual contributions has worked splendidly, and our giving has increased 50 per cent.

PEACE IS IN THE AIR.

Optimistic Feeling in London About the Matter.

CABINET HAS BEEN SUMMONED.

The Chronicle Boldly Says Peace Is Assured—Despatches From Lord Milner and Lord Kitchener—Boers Seeking to Retain Their Horses—Bennett Burleigh's Return Thought Generally to Mean Peace.

London, May 23.—The Daily Chronicle this morning claims authority to say that peace in South Africa is practically assured. This is also the general impression which prevails with the other newspapers and public, although the former don't go so far as the assertion published by The Chronicle.

At a late hour last night, however, the Government departments declined to give any information on the matter. It is understood that important despatches were received yesterday from Lord Kitchener, but nothing can be ascertained as to the nature of the contents of these messages.

The fact that the Cabinet was summoned to meet to-day so quickly after the arrival of the delegates at Pretoria is regarded as a good augury, as the discussions at Pretoria could only have commenced on Monday. The Cabinet will meet late this afternoon in order to enable the Ministers who are at a distance to reach London for the meeting.

A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Pretoria says that the Boers are seeking permission to retain their horses.

Another Ultimatum.

London, May 23.—The Daily Mail in its issue on this morning, says it understands that, owing to the protracted haggling of the Boer leaders at Pretoria, Great Britain has presented them with what is practically an ultimatum, their reply to which is awaited, and which it is expected they will accept.

Despatches, which have been received here from Pretoria, continues The Daily Mail, say that during the stay of the Boer delegates there the conference will continue at Vereeniging, and a majority of those present at the conference are trying to persuade the recalcitrant minority into a unanimous vote. In the meantime, the British columns have been resting and they are now all ready for immediate action. The Daily Mail says it believes the delegates at Pretoria will despatch the ultimatum to the conference at Vereeniging for its consideration.

CABINET SUMMONED.

Thought to Be Directly Concerned With South African Peace.

London, May 23.—A Cabinet council has been summoned for to-day.

While the Government departments are discreetly silent, it is generally accepted that the summoning of the Cabinet is directly connected with the South African peace conference. Most of the Ministers are out of town for the Whitsuntide recess, though they left rather expecting to have their holidays broken up by just such a summons.

The consensus of opinion here is that all the signs are propitious, but the British officials have given no indication of the course which the negotiations between Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner and the Boer delegates at Pretoria are taking.

That conferences are occurring regarding the bases upon which peace shall be declared is the sum total of the information which the War Office has vouchsafed up to the present, though it is intimated that a definite announcement of the result, peaceful or otherwise, may be speedily expected.

The impression that peace is close at hand has obviously taken a strong hold of operators on the stock exchange. The buying of consols and gilt-edged South African shares continues, it is believed, on behalf of well informed interests.

The Daily Telegraph's belief that Bennett Burleigh is returning from Pretoria because peace has been arranged, is believed here. The steadfast manner in which Mr. Bennett Burleigh has stuck to his post in South Africa would seem to justify the deduction The Daily Telegraph places upon his despatch. Readers are well acquainted with Mr. Burleigh's work during the earlier and more interesting stages of the war. Long after other special correspondents left South Africa Mr. Burleigh remained, and it is difficult to imagine on what grounds he is returning home now unless it be that he has reason to believe that peace is assured.

Another Canadian Ill.

Ottawa, May 23.—A cablegram from the Colonial Secretary to His Excellency states that Martin Conway of "C" Division, South African Constabulary, is dangerously ill of enteric fever at Mooi River. He belongs to Kingston, Kent County, N. B.

C.M.R. Run Amuck.

Halifax, N.S., May 23.—Nearly 400 men of the 5th Regiment of Canadian Mounted Rifles dashed through the streets at a late hour last night. They were armed with stones and halted in front of a dive on Albernarle street, kept by Sarah Smith, a negro woman. They bombarded the house, shattering every pane of glass therein, and then they tore out the lower portion of the front. The inmates made a hasty retreat from the rear. Several days ago, Trooper Martin of British Columbia was sandbagged in the house, and he is now ill in the hospital. It was to avenge the injury done him that they attacked the house. The civil and military police succeeded in dispersing the men without any further trouble. No arrests were made.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A Boy and Girl Struck at Fenelon Falls—Great Damage at Toronto by Wind.

Fenelon Falls, May 23.—During a thunderstorm which passed over this village about 6.30 last evening little Jennie and Jamie Smith, aged about 14 and 10 years respectively, children of Mr. Thomas Smith of this place, were killed. The girl was going out to a neighbor's for milk, and as she went out the door the little brother followed about two yards behind her, when lightning struck and killed both instantly within three yards of the door.

Hand's Fireworks' Premises Struck.

Hamilton, May 23.—A severe electrical storm struck the city shortly before 6 o'clock and did considerable damage. Lightning struck one of the storehouses of the Hand Fire Works Company on the Dundas road, causing an explosion. No one was hurt fortunately. The city fire department was summoned, but the call was not responded to as the place is beyond the city limits.

The Storm at Toronto.

Toronto, May 23.—The windstorm that swept over Toronto last evening was one of the most destructive that has visited this part of the province for many a year. Considerable damage was done to property, several buildings being badly wrecked, one boy, William Parker aged 14, had his thigh broken and two horses were reported to have been killed. The storm, which was accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain, struck the city a few minutes before 7 o'clock, but was of short duration. Narrow escaped were reported from various parts of the city, the greater danger being from falling trees and store signs.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

The Best Medicine in the World for Children of all Ages.

Baby's Own Tablets are good for children of all ages from the tiniest, weakest baby to the well-grown child, and are a certain cure for indigestion, sour stomach, colic constipation, diarrhoea, teething troubles and the other minor ailments of children. There is no other medicine acts so speedily, so safely, and so surely, and they contain not one particle of the opiates found in the so-called "soothing" medicines. Mrs. R. M. Ness, Barrie, Ont., says: "I first began using Baby's Own Tablets when my baby was teething. He was feverish, sleepless and very cross, and suffered from indigestion. After using the Tablets he began to get better almost at once. I think the Tablets a fine medicine for children and keep them on hand all the time." The Tablets are readily taken by all children and crushed to a powder can be given to the very youngest baby with a certainty of benefit. Sold by all druggists, or sent postpaid at 25 cents a box by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

SLAVERY DAYS.

Authentic Reports State Positively That Slavery Still Exists in Canada.

Thousands are Bound Hand and Foot and Punished Terribly—The Tortures of the Inquisition Outdone.

The days of slavery are not yet over.

True the buying and selling of black men and women as cattle is abolished, but there are still many thousands who are bound in an awful bondage, and who daily suffer punishment greater than ever the average slave had to endure.

Dyspepsia is the task master to whom these poor unfortunates are bound, and a cruel master he is.

Lashed to desperation by his awful punishment, many have sought liberty in death, preferring suicide to further torture.

But a Great Deliverer has appeared, and is striking off the shackles from all who would be free.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made old King Dyspepsia totter on his throne, and have snatched many a victim from his ruthless clutches.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets by their timely aid have saved many a life from despair and death.

Into the very heart of this hitherto unconquerable old monarch's realm have Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets strode as a conquering hero to whom many wan and weary faces have been turned for deliverance.

And no poor Dyspepsia Slave has ever turned to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for emancipation in vain.

Right on the palace gate of the tyrannical monster has been posted the proclamation—

"All Dyspeptics may be free—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have defeated Dyspepsia."

Many have been liberated, and if you are still in the bondage of Dyspepsia it is only because you will not put out your hand and take the freedom from all its distress and pain which is within your reach.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold at 50c. a box wherever medicine is sold.

MAYBE YOU HAVE

A Wrong Impression About Powley's Liquified Ozone You Should Investigate all our Statements.

"I rejoice," says Mme. Gauthier, who resides at 701 St. Paul street, Montreal, "to be able to state, that after two long years of great suffering from bronchitis, in which I was the victim of a most distressing, choking and smothering sensation, I have been completely cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone, after trying to get cured by drugs time and again. I consider it a truly marvellous discovery and warmly recommend it to all."

MADAME GAUTHIER, MONTREAL.

This is not separate testimony, nor is it a citation of an isolated case. It is a faithful statement from one of our Canadian women, of her condition during her sufferings with bronchitis, and her subsequent cure by the new Ozone Method, Powley's Liquified Ozone. Her case has been duplicated scores of times, and if you haven't been convinced of the merits of Ozone it's the fault of our advertising, not of this valuable preparation. We seek to impress the truth of our claim by the disinterested testimony of others who know its merits by actual experience. We know a great many other concerns also publish testimonials, and we presume we'll have to stand in line with the rest, if you do not feel interested enough to investigate every statement we or any other firm publish. We are doing an honest business and we hope to merit your confidence. We believe it will be worth your while to try Ozone. Powley's Liquified Ozone is for sale at all drug stores. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00.

ILLUMINATED LIFEBUOYS.

Some of the Results Attained in the Search After Safety by the British Naval Authorities.

Special appliances for securing the safety of our seamen have lately been under the consideration of the British Naval authorities, and one of them has been adopted in the shape of a new patent lifebuoy. Every ship has recently received two of these, one to be carried on each quarter. The buoys are made of copper, enclosing hermetically sealed air chambers, and have sufficient float power to keep some half-dozen men afloat for as long as they can hold on. Immediately the cry is raised that some unlucky tar has fallen into the sea, a chain is pulled and the buoy slides off a sort of tramway into the water. As it drops a couple of reservoirs containing calcium carbide are automatically opened, and immediately the buoy touches the water a couple of flaring lights blaze up from the tubes running to these reservoirs. The lights are inextinguishable, and will burn for about an hour. Their purpose is to show the man where the buoy is and guide his rescuers to him. The man in danger can ensconce himself comfortably on the buoy once he gets hold of it, and if the weather is foggy he can signal his whereabouts by a whistle. If he feels cold he will find in a special receptacle some rum which he can drink. The new buoy should reduce the chances of a man being lost by falling oberboard to a minimum. Our sketch is from a photograph.

ILLUMINATED LIFEBUOYS.

A Municipality of Women.

When the millennium gets here we opine the dawn will begin right about Decatur, Mich., which has a population of fifteen hundred. The president of the Council is Mrs. Alma Sage, and all the town offices are filled by women. Mrs. Dr. Kinney is one of the leading physicians, Mrs. Ada Gregg is preacher, and her church—the Advent—is cared for by a janitress—Mrs. Barnett. The restaurant of the town is conducted by Mrs. Crane and Miss Haines. The biggest store in the place is owned and conducted by Mrs. Mary Schood. Mrs. Nicholson is the postmistress, Miss Clara Hotaling is shoemaker, and a good one. May Percival is the furniture dealer, and Miss Anna Pardnett keeps the harness shop. Miss Carpenter is a florist; Mrs. Childs is a carriage painter. There are several woman painters, weavers and brokers. The women have a secret society run on the endowment plan. There is a woman's literary club. The women control the saloons, and the only drinks sold are milk, soda and pop. The drummers say it is a first-class place to sell goods, and when they get their goods sold they are expected to move on and make room for business.

Shape of the Earth.

The exact shape of the earth is a question which cannot be settled without fresh evidence from the Antarctic. For this purpose two at least of the expeditions have been provided with pendulum outfits; by noting the exact length of time occupied by the swing of a pendulum the distance of the place of observation from the earth's centre can be determined, says The Popular Science Monthly. It is held that the South Monthly. It is held that the south polar region projects further from the plane of the equator than does the north polar region; according to one estimate the south pole is slightly more than one-hundredth further from the earth's centre than the north pole.

He Let Her Sleep.

Some years ago a Swansea vessel was caught in a terrible gale. The captain had his wife on board, and when the wind was still rising he told her to go down below and sleep, for all was well. He remained on the bridge till the mate came up and said: "We've done all we can. Hadn't you better tell the chaps to get out the boats?"

"Yes, yes, my lad, if you think so," said the captain, who knew the only choice left was whether to go down with the ship or in a small boat, which couldn't live ten seconds in that sea. The engineers came up with the news that the fires were all out. "Very well, my lads," said the captain quietly, "save yourselves if you can."

"Won't you fetch the wife on deck, sir?" asked one of the men.

"No," was the calm reply; "let her sleep, poor old girl. I am going down to have a smoke." And, smoking by the bedside of his sleeping wife, he went down with the ship.—London Standard.

The Little Finger.

Adepts in palmistry assert that the length of the fourth or little finger is the most important sign in the hand. There is no great man—no man who rises to importance in any line of life—without a long and straight little finger.

The type of finger, whether spatulate, pointed or very nearly square, causes the capacity to be directed into very different channels. With the long spatulate little finger success in business will result, while the long pointed one denotes tact and the management of people.

This indeed is the finger of "wheedle." The old saying, "To turn people round your little finger," is, like most old proverbs, the result of continued and close observation and in the case of "the long pointed Mercury," as Ben Jonson in The Alchemist calls the fourth finger, is undoubtedly entirely true.

Modern Teaching.

"How is it, my dear," inquired a schoolteacher of a little girl, "that you do not understand this simple thing?"

"I do not know, indeed," she answered, with a perplexed look, "but I sometimes think I have so many things to learn that I have not time to understand."

He Wasn't Satisfied.

Landlady (who has been looking for the boarder's umbrella)—I'm satisfied, Mr. Blake, that it has been stolen.

The Boarder—You may be satisfied, Mrs. Hasher, but I'll be blowed if I am.

Solemn Affairs.

Inquiring Child—Papa, why do people cry at weddings?

Papa (abstractedly)—Most of 'em have been married themselves.

A curious custom prevails in Korea. If a man meets his wife in the street, he ignores her presence and passes her as if she were a stranger.

When you find yourself hating a man as much after a meal as you did before, it is time to call a halt.—Atchison Globe.

Snow In Venice.

"I saw Venice once under unusual circumstances," said a traveler. "At the time of which I speak that sunny, smiling land was wrapped in snow. Our folks were a bit surprised, but the natives were amazed. To the real Venetians snow is a thing they do not know how to deal with. Many persons remain all day in bed indulging in hot drinks and pass their time in doing nothing. The children, to their extreme satisfaction, are not sent to school, as the streets and squares are covered with snow. Those courageous persons who venture abroad only walk at the slowest pace. To cross a bridge is considered hazardous, if not foolhardy. St. Mark's square is entirely deserted. Even the pigeons are invisible."

Mispah.

How many people know that the monument that Laban and Jacob set up near the borders of Canaan and called "Mispah," or a lookout, was erected in suspicion rather than love? The literal meaning was this: "The Lord watch between thee and me when we are absent one from the other, and see that you are not up to some new trick as soon as my back is turned."

So when it is inscribed in an engagement ring it might mean, "The Lord watch and see that you do not flirt when we are absent one from the other."

Those who use the text are sometimes wiser than they know.

Incontrovertible Chemical Proof is Very Much Stronger Than the Opinions of Ignorant Merchants and Dealers.

If a merchant or a dealer tells you that a dye prepared for colouring all-wool goods will successfully colour cotton goods, do not believe him. The person who makes such a statement is a stranger to the chemistry of dyes.

Vegetable fibres such as cottons and linens, require special dyes to produce fast, clear and brilliant colours. The manufacturer of Diamond Dyes prepare sixteen special Cotton colours in addition to their large range of wool and silk colours. These special Cotton colours are immensely popular with carpet, mat and rug makers. Rags, warps and cotton and linen goods dyed with the Diamond Dye Fast Cotton colours stand sun and washing; these colours never fade or wash out. When you are about to dye cotton, linen or mixed goods, ask your merchant for Fast Diamond Dye Cotton colours; he should have the full range for your convenience.

Thousands of Diamond Dye Mat and Rug Patterns are sold every week. If you have rags, old pieces of cloth or yarns, you should make up a handsome floor rug. Send your address to The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal, P. Q., and you will receive sheets of new designs to choose from.

FRANK SPEAKING.

This is the Time for Plain Talk to our Relatives and Friends who Suffer.

WE SHOULD WARN THEM OF PERILS AND DANGERS.

Tell Them of

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Nature's Specific for the Weak, Brokendown and Diseased.

Frank, honest speaking of husband to wife, wife to husband, and friend to friend is more urgently called for to-day than ever before.

In the spring, when the husband notes that his wife's vitality is low—when he knows she has headaches, backaches, is dizzy, nervous, sleepless, has loss of appetite and energy, perhaps racked with the pains of rheumatism or neuralgia, it is criminal for him to try to console her with the thought that all will be well when the fine summer weather comes in. It is the imperative duty of such husbands to suggest—nay to insist that wise and effectual treatment be at once restored to. Frank and plain speaking at the right moment will often save a precious life.

Wives should act in the same way towards their husbands, when the first symptoms of ill health are apparent. Friend should speak to friend giving kindly warning and advice, above all, pointing to that marvellous spring health-giver Paine's Celery Compound.

Many a life has been saved by the kind and unselfish recommendations of those who have been made well and strong by Paine's Celery Compound. The use of the great medicine has been urged upon sick, suffering and diseased friends, and Heaven has blessed their work. Honest physicians and conscientious druggists have saved the lives of many by promptly recommending the use of Dr. Phelps' wonderful prescription. While speaking to those in ill health always give them to understand that Paine's Celery Compound will without fail meet their necessities at this season.

How Coal May Be Saved.

When it is understood that the same amount of fuel is consumed in producing either gas or heat, it is readily seen why one person will use four times as much coal as another without producing any more heat, if as much. When feeding coal after the fire is made, only a small quantity should be fed at a time, and that spread evenly over the surface of the fire, for when fresh coal is added it for a time lowers the temperature of the fire box (just as pouring cold water into a pot of boiling water stops the boiling by lowering the temperature) until the added coal is heated up to the igniting point, when it first begins to burn and adds its heat to the mass. When but little coal is added, this lowering of the temperature will be hardly noticed, but add a large quantity, and it can be plainly seen.

When Irish Duels Were Common.

Once upon a time, and not so very many years ago either, duels were so common in Ireland as to be regarded as everyday, matter of course affairs. There was much truth in the story which has been told of Dick Martin of Galway, who, being in conversation with the prince regent, was addressed by the prince with, "So you are going to have a contested election in your country?"

"Yes, your royal highness, as usual."

"And who will win?"

"The survivor, please your royal highness," Martin answered with Hibernian coolness.

The First Knitting Machines.

In the reign of Queen Elizabeth first mention is made of hand knitting. William See in 1589 invented the first knitting machine, called a knitting frame or stocking frame. He was refused a patent in England and went to France and established a factory at Rouen. This machine was introduced into the United States shortly after the Revolutionary war, was modified and improved by a Yankee and a factory established at Cohoes, N. Y., in 1832.

A Startling Metaphor.

For a "startling metaphor" take Sydney Smith's when he saw a little girl stoop down and stroke the shell of a turtle.

"Why are you doing that, Belle?" he asked.

"To please the turtle."

"My child, you might as well stroke the dome of St. Paul's to please the dean and chapter."

An Old Smallpox Cure.

The following primitive "cure" for smallpox has been discovered by the Leytonstone (England) Guardians in one of their registers for the year 1700: "Take thirty to forty live toads and burn them to cinders in a new pot; then crush into a fine black powder. Dose for smallpox, three ounces."

His Cleverness.

The Lady—Jack, why don't you write a book or paint a picture or do something clever?

The Gentleman—Because I selected a millionaire for a father, and I think that was clever enough to last a lifetime.

A Bit of Information.

The London Chronicle casually drops the bit of information that the people of Missouri are called Pikes, "after their great peak." Thus is American history made in the English papers.

A Slight Difference.

Collector—I left a bill here yesterday for some shirts your husband got. Did he look it over?

Lady of the House—No; he overlooked it.

MAN BEFORE BREAKFAST.

More Ill Natured Than Woman, Says an Observant Restaurateur.

"Of course," said an avenue restaurant keeper, "I think my business gives me the best opportunities in the world for judging human nature. My observations have led me to the conclusion that women, as nervous as they are supposed to be, are more good natured than men. The test for this trait comes at breakfast time. Now, I suppose that my customers are about as cheery a lot as frequent any restaurant in the city. A good many of them are newspaper men, who, as a usual thing, take life as it comes without much complaint. If you take them in the evening or late at night, you will find them the most companionable lot imaginable. But let me tell you there is a difference in the morning.

"As friendly as I am with most of the men who come in here, there is not one whom I would care to provoke before he gets his breakfast. Most of the 'kicks' are made concerning the first meal of the day. The waiter is too slow; the steak is too rare; the steak is too well done; the eggs are not fried properly or are boiled too little or too much. But by the time the average man has had a good meal and a cup of hot coffee 'Richard is himself again.'

"Now, with women it is different. I don't know whether it is because they wake up less hungry than men or whether an empty stomach affects their nerves to a less degree, but those who get their breakfast here seldom annoy us with complaints."

Don'ts For Literary Beginners.

Don't tell the editor what your family or friends or literary acquaintances say of your manuscript.

Don't urge the editor to buy your manuscript because you need the money to help you in contributing to the support of your family or in making your way through college.

Don't assume a jaunty, sarcastic or insistent tone with the editor. Don't coyly ask him to "permit this literary dove to nest in your olive tree or else return it to the ark at the above address."

Don't try to temper the severity of his judgment by sending him pressed flowers with your manuscript or to impress him with your literary power and experience by telling him that you "write on the spur of the moment and never correct."

Bear in mind, in short, that the best way to submit a manuscript is simply to submit it and let it speak for itself.—Franklin B. Wiley in Ladies' Home Journal.

Grow Inside.

Little children should grow not only outwardly, but should develop big strong hearts and lungs and other vital organs to prepare for adult life. Scott's Emulsion is an excellent medicine for growth both outside and inside.

How the Nations Sleep.

In this country the unhealthy feather bed is being driven out by the healthier mattress, which also rules in America. French beds are noted for their hardness, and German beds are so ridiculously short that foreign visitors are often much too big for them. Many Norwegian beds are made to pull out from recesses. The hammock rules in South and Central America. Japanese lie upon matting laid upon the floor, with a stiff, uncomfortable wooden headrest. The Chinese use low bedsteads, often elaborately carved.—London Health.

Rhinoceros Horns.

The horns of the African rhinoceros sometimes grow to the length of four feet. In olden times rhinoceros' horns were employed for drinking cups by royal personages, the notion being that poison put into them would show itself by bubbling. There may have been some truth in the idea, inasmuch as many of the ancient poisons were acids, and they would decompose the horny material very quickly.

WHAT THE ROSS GOVERNMENT HAS DONE FOR LABOUR.

This is a fairly long list of the measures ameliorating the condition of labour passed by the Liberal Government, but it could be very largely extended, as many other acts designed to remove abuses and secure justice to the class least able to protect themselves have been adopted from time to time.

No Session of the House has elapsed without some enactment of this sort being placed on the Statute Book.

The mass of labour legislation, including many comprehensive and far-reaching acts, voluminous in their details, sufficiently indicate the care and thought which Mr. Ross and his colleagues and their predecessors have bestowed upon the question.

They have always given a sympathetic and careful hearing to the frequent deputations from labour bodies, asking for changes in the law.

Every reasonable demand for ameliorative legislation has been granted, notwithstanding the strong and influential opposition which some employers have brought to bear against enlightened measures of labour reform.

There is no country anywhere where the Statute Book contains more liberal and advanced legislation, dealing with the relations of capital and labour, than the Province of Ontario.

Conservatives themselves testify to the excellence and effectiveness of our labour laws. Mr. A. W. Wright, a representative labour advocate, while a member of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labour, wrote as follows:

"While there is still a good deal of legislation which we labour cranks think should be enacted, I am free to say that Ontario has not much to learn from any other state in the Union in this respect, and is immeasurably in advance of most of them."

Since this was written, a large number of important additions have been made to the list of labour measures. In its course on labour matters the Government have acted consistently with the best traditions of old-time Liberalism in standing as the champions of the rights of the masses of the people against the interests of the wealthy and powerful.

If labour does not know enough or realize its own interests sufficently to support its true and tried political friends, the working classes cannot expect that men in public life will always be found ready to make sacrifices and incur risks in their behalf.

Mr. Stratton claimed that his course in regard to labor legislation has always been in harmony with that of his colleagues. He has given no uncertain sound on the numerous questions affecting labor which have come before the Legislature. He has advocated, and supported by his vote, the various propositions submitted at the request of the labor organizations which have become law.

In might be justly added:—

In Mr. Stratton the workingmen of West Peterborough have a representative who can always be depended upon to champion their cause and promote all reasonable legislation proposed for the improvement of the condition of the wage-earner.

He has won their confidence and respect by his record in the past, they know where to find him and what they may expect at his hands in the future. They could have no warmer friend, no more faithful and trust-worthy exponent of their views.

Both as a member of the Ross Cabinet and as a representative who has proved true to his trust he has every claim to their cordial support.

RURAL DEANERY.

Members met in Quarterly Session on Tuesday, in St. John's School House.

The quarterly meeting of the Rural Deanery Chapter of Northumberland, was in session on Tuesday at St. John's church here. The Rev. Rural Dean Warren of Lakefield presided and there were also present Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. A. J. Reid, Rev. E. R. James, Rev G. A. Field, and the secretary, Rev. W. L. Armitage.

The vacancies in the Missions of the Deanery were discussed with the result that a strong recommendation was passed inviting the Council of the Archdeaconry of Peterborough to make it a subject of discussion at their next meeting, that provision might be made for constant and effective superintendence of the parishes and missions.

The temperance question was also taken up and a paper written by Mr. W. Fitzgerald of Brighton was read by the secretary.

In reference to the observance of Sunday as a day of rest much was said, and the following resolution was passed;

"Whereas, at the present time many hostile forces are directed against the sanctity of the Lord's Day, be it hereby resolved that we, the members of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland, will do all in our power to preserve the Lord's Day, and and will strongly oppose anything thing that will take away from the people the God-given day of rest."

An excellent paper on St. John III was given by Rural Dean Warren, which was followed by a lengthy discussion.

The next meeting will be held in Hastings on September 8th and 9th, and it was decided to pool the travelling expenses hereafter.

Lord Pauncefote's Distinguished Career Closed Saturday.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF HIS LIFE

A Turn For the Worse Came Friday Night—His Term at Washington Extended Three Times—Secretary Hay's Letter by Cable to Lord Lansdowne—The Arrangements For the Funeral.

Washington, May 27.—Lord Pauncefote, British ambassador to the United States, died at the Embassy Saturday morning at 5.35 o'clock. The improvement which had been noted in his condition during the past week suffered a sudden check about 6 o'clock Friday evening, when it was noticed that he was experiencing difficulty in breathing, but at 8 o'clock Saturday morning Dr. Thayer left the house leaving him resting comfortably.

Soon after 8 o'clock a distinct weakness of the heart developed, and his pulse began to collapse. He died so peacefully that it surprised even his physician. At the bedside when the diplomat passed away were Lady Pauncefote, the Honorable Maude Pauncefote, Miss Sybil and Miss Audrey, Dr. Jung and Mr. Radford, one of the clerks attached to the embassy.

As soon as it became generally known that Lord Pauncefote was dead, flags were half-masted over the different embassies and legations. At the Arlington Hotel, where the visiting Frenchmen, who have come to witness the Rochambeau statue unveiling are stopping, the French flag was placed at half-mast.

The news of Lord Pauncefote's death brought Secretary of State Hay to the White House, shortly after 9 o'clock. He spent some time with the President considering what action should be taken by this Government. After the conference it was announced that the President would call at the British Embassy after the unveiling ceremonies to offer his personal condolences and ascertain the wishes of Lady Pauncefote's family in regard to the future plans.

Message to Lord Lansdowne.

Later Secretary Hay despatched the following cablegram:

"Department of State, May 24, 1902.

"To the Marquis of Lansdowne, London:

"Permit me to express my deep sympathy and sorrow at the death of Lord Pauncefote. His Majesty's Government have lost a most able and faithful servant, and this country a valued friend."

(Signed) "John Hay."

The President also sent a letter of condolence to Lady Pauncefote. Immediately after the unveiling ceremonies the flag on the White House was placed at half-mast.

Arrangements For the Funeral.

With the exceptions of a few details, the arrangements for the funeral services over the remains of Lord Pauncefote, are now complete. Lady Pauncefote yesterday signified her approval of the arrangements, tentatively made Saturday, by which services are to be held Wednesday at noon in St. John's Episcopal Church after which the body is to be temporarily deposited in a receiving vault at Rock Creek Cemetery.

A military escort will be provided by the War Department to attend the funeral, which will be of a state character. A large number of messages of condolence from all over the world were received at the Embassy yesterday but they were not made public.

Sketch of His Career.

The Right Hon. Lord Pauncefote of Preston, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., the first British Ambassador to the United States, and the dean of the diplomatic corps in Washington, was born in Munich, Bavaria, 74 years ago, and was the issue of one of the most ancient of families, whose history is founded in the Doomsday Book. Educated as a lawyer, his governmental service began in Hong Kong, China, as Attorney-General, in 1865. After much valuable colonial experience, he came to Washington in 1889, first as Minister, and afterward as First Ambassador. His service here has been one unbroken record of successful diplomacy. The Behring Sea negotiations were among his earliest works of importance, and it was his familiarity with that difficult subject which led to his selection by the Foreign Office for the post at Washington. The arbitration treaty negotiated with Secretary Olney was the forerunner of the great work accomplished at The Hague, and it may be said that it embodied some of the most important principles of the great general convention, regulating arbitration, afterwards framed by The Hague Conference. Then came a number of reciprocity treaties (and arrangements involving a vast amount of study and work, all of which were perfected as far as the executive branch of the United States Government could co-operate with Lord Pauncefote. Soon after Secretary Hay assumed office, Lord Pauncefote began the task, which he regarded as the greatest accomplishment of his busy life, viz., to forever set at rest the question growing out of the old Clayton-Bulwer treaty. He entered again upon negotiations, the result of which was the framing of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, recently ratified. For these valuable services, the British Government did Lord Pauncefote the honor of three times extending his term of service at Washington, which would otherwise have ceased when he attained the age of 70 years.

The News in London.

London, May 26.—The first news of the death of Lord Pauncefote, the British Ambassador at Washington, Saturday morning, was conveyed to the British Foreign Office and the United States Embassy by a representative of the Associated Press. The officials were greatly shocked, and expressed the deepest sympathy

Lord Pauncefote's Successor

London, May 26.—The death of Lord Pauncefote of Preston, the British Ambassador at Washington, will probably be more deeply regretted by the British public than would the loss of any other British diplomatist.

The question of a successor has been discussed for a long time, as his retirement was expected. Mr. Saunderson, Under Secretary for the Foreign Office, has been prominently mentioned for the place, but, from present indications, the selection will be one of the most prominent men in the service.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, favors the selection of an expert on international law. The latest gossip is that the Marquis of Lansdowne himself may go to Washington.

Canada's Sympathy.

Ottawa, May 26.—His Excellency the Governor-General, sent a private message to Lady Pauncefote, expressing sorrow at the death of her distinguished husband. He will be represented at the funeral by either Capt. Bell or Major Maude.

Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State, on behalf of the Government, sent a telegram to Lady Pauncefote, expressing the sympathy of the Canadian people in her bereavement.

WARNING BY RAILWAY MEN.

They Will Not Carry Coal That Is Taken Out by Non-Union Miners—The Strike Situation.

Wilkesbarre, May 26.—Not a wheel will turn on the coal carrying railroads, if the mine workers in the bituminous fields join in the strike inaugurated in the anthracite region, and if any attempt is made to transport coal mined by non-union men. This is the decision reached by the railroad men in this section after mature deliberation. During the big railroad strike they made no appeal to allied unions for assistance in order to bring the corporations to terms. They are in sympathy with the miners now and they are determined to strike if they are called upon to handle the product of non-union labor, but otherwise they can see no reason for action.

"There is no chance of a strike so long as coal is mined by members of the United Mine Workers," said one of the leading railroad men Saturday evening. "If John Mitchell wishes our aid, let him first see that all the members of his organization quit work. There must be no districts exempted for any reason. Then if any shipments are attempted of coal mined by black legs, we will go out to a man."

John Mitchell, president of the Mine Workers, has not yet issued the call for a national convention to determine whether the bituminous men shall strike through sympathy. He left Wilkesbarre for the west yesterday afternoon, going from here to Buffalo, thence to Indianapolis, and afterward for a brief visit to his home in Illinois. During his trip he will have an opportunity to consult many of the union leaders in the soft coal districts. In his absence all questions will be submitted to the presidents of the three anthracite districts. It is not likely that any momentous issues will arise before June 2, the date set for the engineers, firemen and pumpmen to quit work, unless the operators agree to let them continue at the same rate of wages that they now receive, but with a reduction of their time to eight hours.

Coal Will Reach Famine Prices.

New York, May 26.—"Coal will reach the highest price in history, and not a gear or wheel will move if this strike continues."

The above statement was made Saturday by a man thoroughly familiar with the strike situation. He predicted that a coal famine was inevitable unless some agreement is reached between the mine workers and the operators.

"This will be the greatest strike ever known in the coal regions," he continued. "It will be a long drawn out battle, and violence is sure to result. The feeling has already become very bitter, and even the policy of idleness adopted by the operators will not prevent a conflict.

"An army of at least 150,000 men, and proably twice that number, if strikes of sympathy are ordered, will be out of employment. Although the unions that are affected are rich, all these men will be in straitened circumstances and will feel want. They will be idle, and under these conditions the leaders cannot long hold them in."

Anthracite coal still remains at $8.50 per ton, the highest price it has reached in a quarter of a century, but local dealers said Saturday that the outlook was that the price would soon be higher.

The announced intention of the operators not to mine any coal is taken as a sure indication that New York will soon face a coal famine and that the price of coal will soar to fabulous prices.

Miners continue to leave the coal regions and go to their homes in Europe. More than 500 of them have passed through the city. All of them are sure the strike will be a long one.

STRUCK BY AN EXPRESS.

Charles Bernie, Jr., Badly Injured Between Midland and Victoria Harbor—A London Boy Loses One of His Legs.

A terrific tornado passed over Union, S.C., Saturday, wrecking many buildings and killing four persons.

Floods have caused enormous damage to bridges in the Southern Alberta district adjacent to MacLeod.

The C.P.R. traffic for the week ending May 21, was $738,000; for the same week last year, $633,000.

Sergt. E. T. Austin of the Fifteenth Regiment and Captain Jordan of the Forty-Ninth will represent Belleville on the coronation contingent.

Probably half the villages, towns and cities of Canada celebrated the first Victoria day on Saturday; the balance will celebrate to-day.

The Mayor of Cork announced definitely on Saturday that King Edward would visit the exhibition there in the autumn.

While walking on the G.T.R. track from Midland to Victoria Harbor late Saturday night, Charles Bernie, jr., was struck and badly injured by the express going west.

At Woodstock H. Clarke Teeple of Brantford fell from the hay loft in the Caister House barns to the stone pavement below, a distance of 13 feet, at an early hour Saturday, causing death instantaneously.

J. Pierpont Morgan is said to have presented to the King a large tapestry, for which he paid $500,000. This tapestry will be used for decorative effect in the Abbey at the coronation service.

Walter Campbell, 13-year-old son of Archie Campbell, carpenter, London, Ont., while boarding a moving Springbank car on Dundas Street on Saturday, fell between the motor and trailer and in consequence will lose one of his legs.

R. S. Little, teller of the Royal Bank of Canada at Charlottetown, N.S., suicided in a room at the Hotel Minto Sunday morning. A note was found in his pocket to the effect that "Physical trouble from which I cannot recover is the cause of this deed."

Lawyers Advertise.

In spite of the prejudice among lawyers against straightforward advertising, says the Philadelphia Record, several members of the bar do advertise regularly in the newspapers. And they find that it pays. One lawyer in New York who puts $100 a week into newspaper advertising ("exclusive of the Sunday journals") tells Printers' Ink that he would not stop advertising for the world. "If I should stop it," he adds, "I should expect to be forgotten. That such advertising pays I know from long experience. The ethics of the profession are largely an illusion—a bugaboo. No lawyer is ostracized because he advertises."

ANOTHER ROORBACH COLLAPSED

Duncan Bole Appointed Agent When Sir John Macdonald was President.

Hon. G. W. Ross Never Knew of his Appointment—Desperate Trick of Tricky Politicians Exposed—A Lithographic Lie Laid.

A tempest in a tea pot has been raised by the small bore politicians of the Opposition in an attempt to connect Duncan Bole, an insurance agent, politically with Hon. G. W. Ross. Mr. Bole was charged with irregularities in connection with the West Elgin bye-election and appeared voluntarily before the Judicial Commission which reported that no charge of conduct subversive of the will of the people had been shown. And because Mr. Bole's name as agent appears on a policy of the insurance company of which Mr. Ross is president, the attempt is made, and by no less a person than the Conservative leader in Quebec, Mr. Monk, to show that Mr. Bole is under the favour of Mr. Ross. Here is direct disproof of any such connection. A letter from Mr. Robert Junkin, assistant manager of the Manufacturers Life, shows that Mr. Bole was appointed agent when Sir John Macdonald was president and if anybody is to blame it is that gentleman?

"Dear Sir,—I noticed in the Mail and Empire that your name as President of the Manufacturer's Life Insurance Co., and that of D. Bole as agent, appear on an interim receipt of the Company, and I also notice the attempt made to connect you politically with this circumstance. It is only fair to you that I should say that Duncan Bole has been an agent of our Company almost from its inception, having been appointed when Sir John MacDonald was President. He has gone to Jamaica for the last two or three winters, and has done business there on the usual commission paid to agents. I am able to say without any reservation that you neither advised his appointment in the first place, nor his present engagement in Jamaica. "Robert Junkin, Assistant Manager."

Isn't that a pretty small and discreditable attempt to stab a public man and to create the impression that he is in league with corruption, when no such connection exists? Mr. Ross is no more responsible for Mr. Bole's appointment than was Sir John Macdonald when Mr. Bole was appointed during his presidency, thirteen years ago. A party must be in desperate way to discredit a Government when it takes such childish and self evidently idiotic a way to create party capital.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Encouraging Reports Sent in From Liberals All Over the Country—Mayor Fowke Assaulted by an ex-M.P.

Toronto, May 26.—The most encouraging reports come from Liberals all over the country as to the likelihood of a sweeping Liberal victory on the 29th. It is admitted on all hands that the Liberal prospects have greatly improved during the last two weeks, and that the Conservative campaigners have proportionately lost heart and hope. The speeches of Mr. Ross have profoundly affected the country. The Liberal policy has been squarely and admirably presented by Liberal speakers in all the constituencies, and all the more serious charges of the Opposition have been met squarely and refuted. An unfortunate feature of the campaign in its closing days is the very many wild statements made from Conservative platforms, and the free circulation of charges which will not stand a moment's investigation. Liberals everywhere should beware of these eleventh-hour charges, and rest in the absolute confidence that no charge that will bear investigation would be withheld until the closing days of the contest. The important work of the next few days is to complete the preparations for getting out the vote. If a full Liberal vote can be polled there is no doubt of the success of the Ross Government. This is now the first and paramount duty, and in every constituency the most adequate measures should be taken to poll the full Liberal strength.

MAYOR FOWKE ASSAULTED.

Mr. Smith, ex-M.P., Sprang Upon the Platform at Columbus to Do So.

Oshawa, May 26.—At a meeting held in Columbus, a village six miles north of here, in the interest of the candidature of Hon. John Dryden, a lively scene was enacted. Throughout the canvass the Conservatives have constantly sought to slander and vilify the character of Hon. Jno. Dryden, and this policy was followed at this meeting. Mr. Dryden had spoken first in an able presentation of the policy of the Government, after which Dr. Kaiser of Oshawa followed, giving a half hour's address, in which he spoke in abuse of Mr. Dryden, and related afresh Mr. Fowke's remarks in reference to Mr. Wm. Smith, ex-M.P., at the nomination meeting in Whitby on Thursday last. He asked Mr. Fowke, who was present at the meeting, if he was willing to repeat the remarks to this audience, and in the presence of Mr. Smith.

Mr. Fowke, Mayor of Oshawa, who was down for the closing speech, followed Dr. Kaiser. He stated in reply in reference to Mr. Smith at the nomination meeting that he had not said to his face, and was prepared to repeat it now. Proceeding, Mayor Fowke told the audience that he had been informed that he was likely to get into trouble if he attended the meeting in Columbus, and read the following telegram, which he had received at 6 o'clock that evening:—"Whitby, May 24.—Personal plot at Columbus on you. Be ready. (Signed) T. G. Calwill." On reading the telegram Mr. Fowke said that he cancelled an engagement at Oshawa in order to be present in Columbus on Saturday night, and said that none other than an arrant coward would maliciously determine upon being guilty of such violence as that suggested by the telegram, and then proclaim his purpose to the world. Mr. Wm. Smith, ex-M.P., then suddenly sprang upon the platform from the audience, exclaiming, "I am the man," and assaulted the Mayor, without, however doing very much damage. At once everything was in a state of confusion and nothing but the presence of the township constables prevented more serious trouble. Mr. Fowke had foamed his watch, a fine gold one, to the Chairman to time the speakers, and it was badly smashed, if not destroyed. Mr. Dryden's election is regarded as safe beyond a doubt.

Twenty Years of Itching Piles.

Sufferings Ended Seven Years Ago —A Permanent Cure by

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mr. Alex McLaughlin is well known and highly respected in Bowmanville, Ont., where he has resided for about thirty years. His cure of itching piles, after twenty years of almost constant and often very severe suffering, is a remarkable one. There can scarcely be a stronger recommendation for Dr. Chase's Ointment, and his letter will be read with interest by many who are still victims of this dreadful malady.

Mr. McLaughlin, writes: "For twenty long years I suffered from itching piles, and only persons who have been troubled with that annoying disease can imagine what I endured during that time. About seven years ago I asked a druggist if he had anything to cure me. He said that Dr. Chase's Ointment was most favourably spoken of, and on his recommendation I took a box.

"After three applications I felt better, and by the time I had used one box I was on a fair way to recovery. I continued the treatment until thoroughly cured, and as that was seven years ago, and I have not suffered any since, I am firmly convinced that the ointment made a perfect cure.

"I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment an invaluable treatment for piles. In my case I think the cure was remarkable when you consider that I am getting up in years and had been so long a sufferer from disease."

It is all nonsense to talk about a surgical operation as the only cure for piles. Scores of people are being cured every day by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not merely relieved — though relief itself is a great thing to the sufferer from piles — but cured thoroughly and permanently, as Mr. McLaughlin has been. Dr. Chase's Ointment has no worthy rival. It stands alone as an absolute cure for piles of every form: 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

FINISHING ITS WORK

Mont Pelee Sweeps Away the Remains of Basse Pointe.

SOUFRIERE'S ERUPTION MAY 18

St. Vincent's Desolation Added to by Another Outpouring of Ashes and Stones —Efforts to Escape From the Stricken Districts—Supplies Now on Hand For Four Months— A Big Pleasure.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 26.—Mont Pelee was comparatively quiet Friday. Saturday the volcano belched forth a torrent of lava and mud, which rushed down the northern slope of the mountain and swept away what was left of the town of Basse Pointe. New fissures have opened in the side of the mountain.

ANOTHER ERUPTION MAY 18.

Inhabitants of Chateau Belair, St Vincent Terrorized by Latest Outbreak.

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, B.W.I., May 26.—Another eruption on the night of Sunday, May 18, caused a greater fall of ashes and stones and more consternation at Chateau Belair, Island of St. Vincent, than resulted from the eruption of May 7. Shortly after the appearance, on May 18, of a cloud, which was belched from the mountain, Egyptian darkness enveloped the town of Chateau Belair. The inhabitants of the hamlet rent the air with their shrieks, and groped against the banks of the road leading to Cumberland, in their efforts to flee from the threatened danger. Many persons had their limbs broken.

Enveloped in Darkness.

The darkness lasted one hour, but the exodus from Chateau Belair lasted all night. Detonations and smoke and lava from this volcano continued the next day, May 19, and the people still continued their efforts to leave Chateau Belair for Kingstown and other towns.

A heavy rainfall occurred at Chateau Belair on May 19, the first in the district for two months, and the streets, huts and shops of the village were flooded. As the volcanic eruptions diminished after May 19, some 30 of the inhabitants returned to Chateau Belair, but are still apprehensive of severe eruptions.

Kingstown is longing for rain, and the heat and dryness here are unprecedented.

The U. S. steamer Dixie arrived here Friday with 900,000 rations, together with clothing, medicine and supplies. The interruption of the cable between here and the Island of St. Lucia has caused delay in the transmission of messages.

A 30-Metre Fissure.

Fort de France, Martinique, May 26.—The Government dredge went to St. Pierre yesterday, and the crew burned 130 bodies, including many of those killed by last Tuesday's eruption of Mont Pelee, who were evidently engaged in looting.

The workmen report that Mont Pelee is split from peak to base, and that there is a fissure 30 metres wide.

It is unofficially reported that the various Governments will be advised to discontinue sending supplies, as the enormous quantity now here is sufficient for the greatest emergency. The financial condition of the people, however, is bad.

Czar Gives $50,000.

Paris, May 26.—The Government continues to receive subscriptions from various sources for the relief of the inhabitants of Martinique. The Czar has contributed $250,000, through his Minister of Finance, M. de Witte, and the Emperor of Japan has given $10,000 for the same purpose.

SUPPLIES FOR FOUR MONTHS.

Admiral Servan of French Fleet Requests Stopping of Food Relief.

Washington, May 26.—Commander McLean of the United States cruiser Cincinnati, cabled the Navy Department yesterday from St. Vincent as follows:

"Cincinnati made circuit of St. Vincent and is now going to Fort de France. One hundred and thirty in hospital and eighty more badly burned to come in. Four thousand received food. Steamer circuits island daily. Dixie will finish discharging cargo Tuesday."

Consul Ayme has cabled the Department of State from Fort de France, Martinique, that he visited Admiral Servan of the French battleship Tage Friday afternoon, and that the admiral requested him to officially inform the Government of the United States that there were now sufficient supplies in the colony to feed every one needing help for four months, and therefore suggested that nothing further be sent. This suggestion was accompanied by an expression of thanks. The Governor, says the consul, has sent a similar message to the French Government.

WOMEN CANDIDATES.

One Man Anxious to Know What Their Husbands Think of It—George Elucidates to Henry.

"I see a Socialist leddy is running against Mr. Marter and Dr. Beattie Nesbitt in North Toronto," remarked Henry.

"Yes," said George, "and if either gent was as polite in a political contest as 'e'd be on the street she'd be helected, made down. But in the 'eat of the discussion about pulp deals and buildin' hup Hontario, the fact that ladies is fust is apt to be hoverlooked. It'll be back to Sapolio and the knitting needles for Mrs. Darwin, wich, I hunderstand, 'is no relation to the gent wot found hout 'oo your great grandfather was, 'Enery, the same being a hape, with a curly tail."

"Wot?" demanded Henry, bristling.

"Ho! it ain't no reflection on your great grandfather, 'Enery, your great grandmother was a hape, too," returned George, apologetically. "But as I was saying, I'm in favor of women being helected, providing their 'usbands is found signing the petition to get them hout. Did ever you 'ear of one of these women being bocked by 'er 'usband? I didn't. And 'oo should know 'alf as well as 'er 'usband, if she is endowed with those 'igh abilities necessary for th' discharge of th' important duties to wich she is about to be chosen? Do you mean to say 'er 'usband wouldn't know? Wouldn't a word from 'im 'ave more weight than a dozen hedftorials? Wy couldn't 'e come hout with a manifesto and say, 'This 'ere candidate is my wife, and gave more satisfaction than any wife I ever 'ad. She's got 'ousework down so fine that I can get 'ot meals during 'ouseclenaing. She's frugal an' hindustrious, 'as brought hup a fine family, and found jobs for th' boys, and 'omes for th' girls. She heschews corsets an' don't 'ave to sit down on th' floor to put on 'er boots. In fact, feller citizens, she's almost as good as a man. I'm goin' to vote for 'er. Rally round th' flag.'

"Now, there's a certificate and character, 'Enery, wot any woman would be proud of, and wich, if believed, would mean 'er helection. And wy didn't you hever 'ear of one? There must be reasons, 'Enery.

"Wen a man comes hout for helection, 'e's generally known by the people who will vote for 'im or against 'im. 'E's usually been in business, an' probably made a success of it, so's we can 'ave a line on 'im, as you might say. Now, a woman's business is at 'ome, an' there's honly one person wot can say if she made good or not. So wot I should demand of hevery woman candidate is 'er 'usband's opinion of 'er, written fair and free for hall to see, wich is a poetical wy of putting it, 'Enery. As you may 'ave noticed. Being nacherally quick-witted, you are, 'Enery.

"I don't mean to say hanythink disrespectful about Mrs. Darwin, but if I was 'er friend, I'd talk to 'er like I'm talkin' to you. But wot's necessary these days is for these 'ere unknown 'usbands of great females to blossom hout a little more and 'elp their wives. Now there's Mrs. Rorer, the cook. Take 'er; everyone's 'eard of 'er. Oo's Mr. Rorer? Wot's 'e done? Does 'e like 'er cookin'? Did it make Mr. Rorer 'appy? That's wot I'd be hinterested to know. And 'ow is the 'ealth of Mr. Lydia Pinkham? 'As 'e been benefited by 'is gifted wife's vegetables? An' then is Mr. Ella Wheeler Wilcox fuller of joy than any hother man in the block wot' asn't th' advantages of such a fine woman's society? And wot about hold Father Siegel? Is 'e soothed and comforted? 'E may be. And again 'e mayn't. Nobody knows. There's pages and pages of hadvertisements giving the hopinions of strangers about these 'ere noble women, but not a line signed 'One 'oo knows.'"

"I wonder wot sort of a fist th' women would make at runnin' th' country anyway," mused George.

"Wot! Ain't you never been at a five o'clock tea?" demanded George.—The Toronto Mail.

Ontario's Political History.

The forthcoming provincial election will be the tenth since Confederation. At Confederation, in 1867, a coalition Government was formed under John Sandfield Macdonald. In the general election of 1871 this Government lost many supporters and resigned after the meeting of the Legislature. Edward Blake then became Prime Minister with a purely Liberal Cabinet. Since that—thirty-one years—Liberals have ruled Ontario. The straight Liberal majorities over all others have been as follows after the successive general elections:

	Liberal majority.
1875	16
1879	26
1883	10
1886	25
1890	23
1894	8
1898	8

Cut Out the Gold Lace.

There was a time when the citizen soldiery were held more cheaply than they are to-day, says The St. John Telegraph. The war fields of South Africa tell a more potent story of heroic daring and devotion on the part of Canadian volunteers than any amount of criticism by arm chair war critics can wipe out. The Canadian people have not lost their good sense in any national war fever, but they have learned from experience that they, as a people, have grown out of swaddling clothes, and fear the entrance to a quarrel only as brave men do who realize the true horrors of war. Straight shooting, and not gold lace, is what Canada can afford to cultivate in her soldiery, and the disparagement of the volunteer has passed away with many of the myths which red tape had created for the aggrandizement of its devotees.

REVISED CREED ADOPTED.

Virulent Presbyterians Will Now Have to Recite It.

New York, May 23.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church yesterday adopted the report of the Committee on Creed Revision, making changes in the confession of faith. This action, which was practically unanimous, was taken after little or no debate. The changes proposed will go now to the various presbyteries for ratification.

President Loubet in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, May 26.—President Loubet arrived here yesterday morning from Tsarskoe-Selo and was accorded an enthusiastic and popular reception. The French President was welcomed at the station by the Mayor of St. Petersburg, who offered him the customary bread and salt and heartily bade him welcome. M. Loubet in reply said he entertained no doubt of the cordiality of his reception in any part of Russia, as he knew the hearts of Russia and France beat in unison.

During the day President Loubet placed a wreath on the tomb of Czar Alexander III., and made his visit especially memorable by giving 100,000 francs ($30,000) to the charities of St. Petersburg, Cronstadt and Peterhof.

MAYBE YOU HAVE

A Wrong Impression About Powley's Liquified Ozone You Should Investigate all our Statements.

"I rejoice," says Mme. Gauthier, who resides at 701 St. Paul street, Montreal, "to be able to state, that after two long years of great suffering from bronchitis, in which I was the victim of a most distressing, choking and smothering sensation, I have been completely cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone, after trying to get cured by drugs time and again. I consider it a truly marvellous discovery and warmly recommend it to all."

MADAME GAUTHIER, MONTREAL.

This is not separate testimony, nor is it a citation of an isolated case. It is a faithful statement from one of our Canadian women, of her condition during her sufferings with bronchitis, and her subsequent cure by the new Ozone Method, Powleys Liquified Ozone. Her case has been duplicated scores of times, and if you haven't been convinced of the merits of Ozone it's the fault of our advertising, not of this valuable preparation. We seek to impress the truth of our claim by the disinterested testimony of others who know its merits by actual experience. We know a great many other concerns also publish testimonials, and we presume we'll have to stand in line with the rest, if you do not feel interested enough to investigate every statement we or any other firm publish. We are doing an honest business and we hope to merit your confidence. We believe it will be worth your while to try Ozone. Powley's Liquified Ozone is for sale at all drug stores. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00.

Saturn's largest moon is 2,093 miles in diameter, slightly smaller than our own.

Jupiter is one and a half times larger than all the rest of the planets put together.

In size the sun equals 1,300,000 earths, but owing to its smaller density its weight equals only 300,000 earths.

Careful scientific investigations show that the average speed of the transmission of earthquake shocks is nearly 16,000 feet per second.

The latest theory in connection with drowning is that no water enters the lungs and that heat properly applied, with artificial respiration, will resuscitate persons who have been under water for an hour. This feat has been accomplished by the doctor who advances the theory.

RESEARCH FINDINGS

DR. JACQUES LOEB ANNOUNCES SOME IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES.

Explains the Cause of Stiffening of Muscles in Death and the Relation of Oxygen to All Stages of Development in Life—Some Interesting "Swapping" of Tales Between Dr. Loeb and Prof. Gaule.

Some important discoveries in reference to the muscles, which probably will be used later by practicing physicians, have been made by research workers studying the effects of salts under the direction of Dr. Jacques Loeb, the noted investigator in physiological chemistry at the University of Chicago. Announcement of these discoveries is made in an official journal just received at the university.

The cause of the stiffening of the muscles in death is one of the discoveries. This was made by Miss Anna Moore, Ph.D., now a teacher at San Diego, Cal. The unwonted presence of certain salts, water or acid in the tissue, causing a lowering of the temperature and coagulating or clotting of the matter in the muscles, is her explanation of "rigor mortis," the stiffening of muscles at death.

As the result of a summer's study of the effects of salts on a frog's muscle, Dr. Ralph Little announces that for normal muscular activity there must be present in the tissues several of the salts in certain proportions which are definite. This applies to men as well as to frogs.

Dr. E. P. Lyon, in studying for Dr. Loeb the question, "Is oxygen equally essential at all stages of development in life?" has discovered that lack of oxygen is absolutely fatal to the growth of sea urchins immediately after the division of the original cell, and also for ten or fifteen minutes after fertilization.

Having fascinated Chicago with the story of a scientific balloon ascension, Professor Gauld, a noted investigator in Physiology from the University of Zurich, has just started on his return to Switzerland, after a visit to the University of Chicago. Dr. Gaule has been the guest of Dr. Jacques Loeb, his brother-in-law. As men of the ordinary world "swap" experience, Dr. Loeb and Dr. Gaule have been swapping" experiments, telling one another of the results of investigations into the greater problems of life.

In one lecture he told of his interesting trip three miles in a balloon on a physiological research trip. Incidentally he stated that his wife took the trip with him. The object of this balloon ascension was to determine with exact scientific precision the effect upon the blood of a change from a low attitude to a higher, or, in other words, to determines what happens in a change like going from Chicago to Denver. For this purpose Dr. Gaule took fine microscopes up in the balloon with him.

"The number of red corpuscles in the blood was doubled in the space of two hours. This doubling was real and not apparent. It was found that many of the corpuscles which appeared on the change to higher altitude were fresh cells made from the bone," said Professor Gaule. University of Chicago scientists say that the apparent increase in the corpuscles has been generally noted, but that Professor Gaule's balloon ascension it was never proved, and that it was never before known that the increase was so great as 50 per cent.

One American Citizen Left.

John Wanamaker was presented to Emperor William, according to The Kleines Journal of Berlin, Germany, during one of the latter's expeditions to Norway, on board the Hamburg-American Liner Augusta Victoria, when the Emperor visited that steamer.

Disregarding ceremony, Mr. Wanamaker grasped Emperor William's hand, shook it firmly and said:

"I am glad to meet such an enterprising young man; that is just the sort of thing we admire in America," and the conversation continued on in this familiar tone.

Emperor William, who seemed highly entertained by this conversation, remarked afterward to a member of his suite:

"In all my life nobody ever talked to me like that."

GIANT HAWAIIAN EELS.

There are three well known varieties of eel found in Hawaiian waters. The largest is the big gray fellow, which so closely resembles his cousin, the conger. He is voracious and fearless, and the natives tackle him with caution, for when cornered he fights viciously and can inflict a nasty wound with his powerful jaws, which bristle with needlelike teeth.

The other species are fat, flabby looking customers, with fantastic markings of black and brown and many shades of gray. On an eel of this sort the skin appears to hang loose from the body, and when disturbed the head sweels like a puff adder's. These eels seldom attain a greater length than three feet and love to locate in the crevices of a stone breakwater, from which they dart out incessantly and make havoc among any school of small fry which may be innocently disporting themselves within striking distance. These hooded eels have been known to haunt a particular spot for over a year. They are good eating, despite their unprepossessing appearance.

Primitive Fire Fighters.

As late as the end of the sixteenth century in London the sole method of extinguishing fires was by means of contrivances known as "hand squirts." These were usually made of brass, with a carrying capacity ranging from two to four quarts of water. The two quart "squirts" were two and a half feet in length, one and a half inches in diameter at their largest part and but half an inch at the nozzle. On each side were handles, and three men were required to manipulate a "squirt."

One man on each side grasped the handle in one hand and the nozzle in the other, while the third man worked the piston or plunger, drawing it out while the nozzle was immersed in a supply of water which filled the cylinder. The bearers then elevated the nozzle when the other pushed in the plunger, the skill of the former being employed in directing the stream of water upon the fire. Such primitive contrivances are said to have been used during the great fire of 1666.

Mad as a March Hare.

That's the way people act when they toss and roll in bed until three o'clock with sleeplessness. Merrill's System Tonic cures this and all nervous diseases, such as twitching of the nerves, nervous prostration and loss of vigour. The 50c bottle lasts three weeks. For sale by Ormond and Walsh.

How Balzac Wrote.

Of all literary toilers Balzac was certainly the most eccentric in his methods. At first he would write his novel in a few pages, hardly more than the plot. These would be sent to the printer, who would return the few printed columns of matter pasted into the center of several large sheets. On this margin Balzac would work, sketching his characters, composing the dialogue and perhaps altering entirely the original plot of the book. For four or five times this process was repeated until at last the few columns had assumed the proportions of a volume. This extraordinary way of building a book naturally ran away with a considerable share of the profits on the work.

Balked by a Woman.

When William E. Chandler was secretary of the navy, he issued an order that officers should not permit their wives to reside at the foreign stations to which their husbands were attached. The order was promptly rescinded upon the receipt by the secretary of the following from Commodore Fyffe, in command of the Asiatic squadron: "It becomes my painful duty to report that my wife, Eliza Fyffe, has in disobedience to my orders and in the face of regulations of the department taken up her residence on the station and persistently refuses to leave."

SOURCES OF KNOWLEDGE.

You May Learn Something From Everybody You Meet.

One of the most useful success habits one can form is that of learning something from everybody with whom he comes in contact. No information which can be acquired is too trivial to be ignored.

Constantly measure yourself with the men you meet. You will find that every one can teach you something which you did not know before and which, perhaps, you would never have a chance to learn again if you did not acquire it from him.

Daniel Webster once made a great hit in arguing a case before a jury by repeating a story which he afterward said he had not thought of since he heard it fourteen years before. But Webster was always picking up something for future use. His famous reply to Hayne, the greatest speech ever delivered on the American continent, was largely made up of little reserves which he had picked up here and there in his reading, from studying men and from observation.

Many a prominent novelist has collected material for his stories by making notes of his conversations with them he has met and by observation. Charles Dickens got a great deal of the matter for some of his novels in this way.

One young man will go to a lecture and after spending an hour listening to the helpful, inspiring words of some prominent man will leave the hall or lecture room without having derived any benefit from the address. Another young man will attend the same lecture with an ambition to learn something. He will drink in the speaker's sentences as if he were never to hear such words of encouragement and inspiration again. At the conclusion of the address he will determine that he will make more of his opportunities in the future; that he will read more, think more, study more, be more than he ever was before. Such a young man has a purpose and is determined to learn something from everything he comes in contact with and from everybody he talks to. The other has no ambition, does not throw himself into what he does, lets his mind wander hither and thither, so that he never wholly understands what people are saying and therefore never derives any benefit or information from those with whom he converses.

Diarrhoea Weakens the System.

and if not checked becomes a chronic condition. No remedy compares with Nerviline, which is prepared especially for stomach and bowel troubles. As a radical cure for cramps, colic, gas in the stomach, summer complaint, Nerviline excels everything in the medical line, as an indispensible household staple, and costs 25c. Buy a bottle to-day.

Try Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake Pills.

The Fishhawk.

"The fishhawk tells us when the shad begin to run up the river," said a Gloucester fisherman. "We have learned that it isn't much use to cast the nets, no matter how mild the weather may be, until Mr. Fishhawk swoops down on us. When he comes sailing up the bay, we know it's time to get to work. Lots of farmers down Jersey would never think to start planting until the fishhawks come. I don't believe they have ever been later than April 12, though. They work their way up the coast from Florida and the other southern waters early in March, when the fish begin to come north. They follow the big schools of herring, as a rule, because the herring swim close together, and the hawk has easy picking. The shad follow the herring, and when the fishhawk comes we know the shad are not far behind."

Fleas as Draft Horses.

Latrielia mentions a flea which dragged a silver cannon of twenty-four times its own weight and showed no fear when the tiny piece was charged with gunpowder and fired off. Bene also says that once he saw three fleas drag an omnibus and a pair dragging a chariot and a single one pulling a brass cannon mounted on wheels.

Applause.

Applause is the tonic of success. When a fellow makes a hit, let him know it in a good, round, royal way. If he has sense, it won't turn his head, and if he does get dizzy for a minute what matters it? Let him enjoy the intoxication while it lasts, for the serious business of life will soon drive him back to work again

Theology as He Understood It.

Passengers in an uptown car one afternoon last week were very much entertained and amused by a discussion of things spiritual by two colored passengers. As the debate waxed warmer the voices of the debaters grew louder until what was said was plainly audible to all in the car. After each had made a confession of faith and given his views of the means whereby mortal man could gain salvation one of the pair blurted out in a tone that implied that all his hope for the next world was embodied in the words:

"Well, sah, I b'lieve dat what's gwine to be is sho'ly gwine to be."

"Huh," grunted his companion contemptuously, "den yo' b'lieves in premeditashun."

The Limit.

"And the railway company agrees to settle by paying me $5,000, does it?" said the man who had been injured. "How much of it do I get?"

"You get all of it," said the lawyer, "and you pay me what you please. It didn't take me five minutes to get a settlement out of them."

This, O reader, is no fancy sketch. There are limits to the imaginative faculty of the human mind.

A Distinguished Visitor.

There arrived this morning at Ormond and Walsh's pharmacy, from Brantford, six dozen bottles of that celebrated medicine Merrill's System Tonic. This is not a patent medicine, but a reliable remedy prescribed by three eminent doctors and dispensed by a druggist. Purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and regulates the bowels. Price 50 cents for 50 doses. Get a bottle to-day while it lasts.

Thought He Missed a Car.

In a neighboring city lives a young man whose name is Carr. Carr is deeply smitten with the charms of a young woman who resides with her mother in a pretty villa near Sandlake, on the line of the Troy and New England railroad. He asked permission of his inamorata to call upon her at her home, and the young woman accorded him the privilege. Mr. Carr reached the villa where his Juliet resided and pressed the electric button at the door. The ring was answered by the mother of the young woman. The latter had never seen the young man. "I'm Mr. Carr," he said, bowing profoundly.

"Um—er—well," was the reply which staggered him, "you may sit on the stoop until one comes along."

Five minutes later the daughter told her mother she expected a caller and asked who had rung the bell. She was informed that there was a young man sitting on the stoop who had missed a car. The daughter looked through the blinds and saw her lover perched disconsolately on the steps. He was quickly within the portals and mutual explanations followed.—Albany Press and Knickerbocker.

The Verdict of a Jury.

"Nothing is more uncertain than the action of a jury," said a lawyer prominent in New York. "I remember a story my father told me when I was a boy in Alabama. The story was of his Satanic majesty and a plain citizen who met one day on a narrow pathway cut in the edge of a cliff. On one side there yawned a precipice; on the other side was the solid rock. There was only room for one to pass, and of these two one must lie down and let the other walk over him.

"'If you'll propound three questions I can't answer,' suggested Satan, 'I'll lie down and let you pass over my body.' The citizen asked:

"'What is whiter than snow?'

"'Cotton,' was the answer.

"'What is sweeter than sugar?'

"'That's easy again—molasses.'

"'What will be the next verdict rendered in this county by a petit jury?'

"'Pass on your way,' said the devil as he made a carpet of himself."

Grow Inside.

Little children should grow not only outwardly, but should develop big strong hearts and lungs and other vital organs to prepare for adult life. Scott's Emulsion is an excellent medicine for growth both outside and inside.

Had to Swallow Many Things.

An amusing anecdote is related of the late Hungarian statesman Tisza, who when one day dining at the Hofburg with the Austrian emperor placed a large pear upon his plate at dessert.

The emperor remarked to his minister that cold fruit after a hot dinner was injurious to the digestion.

Tisza replied, "The stomach of a Hungarian premier, your majesty, is obliged to be a strong one."

Nothing Remarkable.

Mrs. Grumpps (looking up from the paper)—A brother and sister who had not seen each other for sixteen years met accidentally the other day.

Mr. Grumpps—Huh! A brother and sister seldom meet any other way.

The Professor.

"The easiest title in the world to honestly acquire," said the tobacconist to the wooden Indian, "is that of professor, for isn't any man who professes to be a professor necessarily a professor?"

He Did It.

LAKEFIELD PICNIC.

Although the Threatening Weather Kept Many Away

IT WAS A HUGE SUCCESS.

Addresses by Mr. D. O. Fraser M. P., Mr. Jas. Kendry M. P., Mr. F. D. Monck M. P., Mr. D. O'Connell, Mr. J. W. Miller, Rev. Father McColl and Rev. Father Phelan.

Although the weather was against him, yet Rev. Father Phelan made a grand success of his Lakefield picnic on the 24th.

The Lakefield pic-nic is one of those time-honoured institutions which always appears to flourish no matter against what odds it has to contend and so popular has the annual event become that Jupiter Pluvius and his frowns were disregarded to such an extent that between three and four hundred Peterborough citizens went out to patronize the affair. The very large attendance from town, of course, may be attributed to the great local popularity amongst all classes of genial Father Joe, and the hearty greeting which he extended to old Peterborough friends well repaid them for their trip. The Village of Young's Point turned out en masse to assist in making the pic-nic a success and as the local patronage was extensive the receipts of the day were gratifyingly large.

Meals were served in the big exhibition building, the two large tables being superintended, respectively, by the ladies of Lakefield and of Young's Point and the very appetising menu which they served was fully appreciated by all who partook.

The proceedings were opened by the speech-making which began at three o'clock, Mr. Roland Strickland being in the chair.

Mr. D. A. Fraser, M. P., of Guysboro, N. S., was the first speaker introduced. He stated that he appeared as representing Hon. J. R. Stratton, who found it impossible to attend. Remarking that he had been stumping through Ontario for the last few weeks, he humourously added that in his present address he would still continue to speak for good. He referred to the great good accomplished through pic-nics, which brought representatives together of all classes and assisted the great work of welding together those who had drifted apart years ago through differences of opinion in religious matters. There was no better place to spend money, he thought, than at a church pic-nic, when the funds were devoted to the good of all in eternity. Such an occasion tended to broadening humanity. As a Protestant he felt broadened in his ideas by coming into contact with members of the Catholic Church. He had many Roman Catholics in his own constituency and knowing the priests who were in charge of the different parishes he could say that they had but the one end in view—the welfare of those under them and their guidance so that they became good citizens and were fitted to wear a crown of glory hereafter.

Mr. James Kendrey, M. P., warmly congratulated Rev. Father Phelan on the large turnout, and spoke in pleasing terms of his long acquaintance with the parish priest.

Mr. F. D. Monk, M. P., of Montreal, referred to the sense of rest resulting from being able to participate in such pleasant festivities as a break in a political tour. Picnics were great things, he thought, as a medium for cultivating a broad and national spirit. He spoke of the vastness of the Dominion, and the great heritage to which Canadians had succeeded, urging united effort to give that development and expansion which it was the duty of all Canadians to aspire to me.

Mr. D. O'Connell spoke of the great advance which the Lakefield picnic had made in popularity in recent years, and its increased importance in the public eye, as shown by the presence this year of such distinguished speakers as Mr. Fraser and Mr. Monk. During his remarks he dwelt on the great necessity of Canadians uniting as a whole to build up a great Canadian nationality.

Mr. J. W. Miller spoke of the noble sentiments involved in love of native land, pointing out how much Canadians had to be proud of in their heritage, and dwelling on the patriotism which inspired the members of the contingents which went from the Dominion to South Africa.

Rev. Father McColl also spoke along patriotic lines, and extended a warm greeting to Mr. Fraser as a brother Scot. He congratulated Rev. Father Phelan on the success of the undertaking.

Rev. Father Phelan expressed his thanks to all present in his own name and the name of his parishioners, also thanking especially the gentlemen who had made addresses, and calling attention to the thoughtfulness of the ladies of Lakefield and Young's Point who had furnished the meals. He endorsed the kindly sentiments expressed by the speakers, and added his own hope that the process of welding would continue to the building up of a great and united Canada.

The lacrosse match between teams from the Total Abstinence Society, and the Y.M.C.A. proved most interesting and was very closely contested. The passing done by the two home divisions was very accurate, but the slippery condition of the grass, consequent upon the rain, spoiled many pretty plays. The final score stood 5—3 in favour of the T.A.S. Mr. W. Rudkins proved to be a most capable referee. The teams were composed as follows:

T. A. S. — Goal, B Doris; point, J McDonough; c. point, R. Mahoney; defence field, F Derocher, W Meagher, W. Crowley; centre, F McGrath; home field, G Lynch, J Gorham, J Anglesye; outside home, "Galley McCoy; inside home, E McNicholl.

Y.M.C.A. — Goal, Armour; point, Trollope; c. point, Smith; defence, Pennick, Galley, Brown; centre, Taylor; home field, Cameron, Foreman, Robertson; outside home, Dumble; inside home, Beat.

In the sports the T.A.S. almost swept the boards, the results being as follows;

100 yard race — 1 F McGrath; 2, W. Crowley; 3, B. Cameron.

200 yard race — 1, F. McGrath, 2, W. Crowley; 3, B. Cameron.

Putting the shot — 1, J. McDonough; 2, M. Coughlin, 3, Fred Smith.

Quoit match — 1, G. Giroux, 2, M. Doherty.

Step dancing — John Henry.

Irish jig—John Henry.

The fine music which was furnished for the dancing was supplied by the Young's Point orchestra.

The unfinished list of sports will be run off at the Young's Point picnic in August.

The receipts during the day totalled to something over seven hundred dollars — a splendid showing.

CHURCH CHIMES.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

Last night there was a patriotic service, and the pastor spoke very effectively on Christian citizenship. The singing was excellent. Mr. Roddis, of Toronto, rendered a tenor solo in a most enchanting manner. He is the possessor of a magnificent voice, and sings in tune to perfection. The service closed by singing "God Save the King."

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Rev. W. L. Armitage delivered a special sermon to the members of Lansdown Lodge, Sons of England, last evening. The address was timely and eloquent, and the many good points made in favour of benevolent institutions, such as the Sons of England, were very thoroughly appreciated. Appropriate hymns were rendered, and the evening service was by Mammat. The very harmoniously sung anthem was entitled "Here as the Night is Falling." As an offertory duet Mr. and Mrs. Firth, of Toronto, sang "Tarry With Me."

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

A very large congregation assembled in St. Andrew's church last evening to hear Rev. J. G. Potter, the pastor, give his views regarding the recent investigation into the charges which had been preferred against Miss Miller, one of the nurses-in-training. He thought that the matter had not been sufficiently ventilated, and expressed the opinion that the hands of the Board were tied through the fact that the hospital still accepted assistance from the Nicholls estate, the annual deficiency being covered by such grants. The remedy, he argued, lay in the town assuming all responsibility. If the town was able to invest in a waterworks system, he thought that it could afford to maintain the Nicholls hospital. The interior management would be improved, in his opinion, by the appointment of a house surgeon.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

The Royal Canadians played the local Coal Heavers on Saturday afternoon, and beat them 7-0. The Coal Heavers have had no practise at all this season, as they have had no grounds to play on, but they played fair ball until the fourth innings, when the team took a trip in the air, and the Toronto team scored six runs. Earls pitched fairly well, but his support in the field was very bad. The outfield played well. Grady and Davidson gathered in three difficult flies in good shape. The local team could not hit the ball safely, as the Royal's pitcher received fine support, and he pitched good ball. The rain started in Peterborough's seventh, and the game had to be called.

The locals will have to do some hard practicing during the week, if they expect to make any kind of showing against the Cobourg team next Saturday. There is plenty of good material in the town, and all they need is practice. It is to be hoped that the team will practice hard this week, and be able to make a good showing against Cobourg. Mr. Fred Whitcroft umpired the game to the satisfaction of all.

The score was as follows;

	R.	H.	E.
Royal Canadians	—0 0 6 6 0 1 0—7	4	1
Peterborough ...	—0 0 0 0 0 0 x—0	2	4

Batteries—Stoney and Greer, Earls and Graham.

LACROSSE.

After a period of five or six years during which time the grand old game of Lacrosse has been a dead issue in Millbrook, the boys of that town have resurrected Canada's national game. On Saturday the Cobourg twelve visited Millbrook, and a close and exciting game was the result. Fifteen minutes before the full time was up the score was two all, but in the last quarter Cobourg team scored, and for the first time on record a lacrosse team from that town turned down a team of Millbrookites. A novel feature on the Millbrook team the presence of three old timers, in the persons of Billy Strain, Jack Richards and Sid Sloan, who were playing the game twenty-five years ago. The other members of the Millbrook team were boys, with the exception of Jack Natrass.

There will be a meeting of the officers of the Town Lacrosse League at the Y.M.C.A. to-night at eight o'clock. All officers are particularly requested to be on hand.

AT THE RANGES.

Obituary.

The death occurred at the residence of Mr. J. C. Sims, No. 239 Water street, yesterday, of Ann Brown, aged 72 years. — Death was due to old age. The deceased was a native of County Cavan, Ireland, and came to this country when quite young. The funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. Sims Tuesday at 3 o'clock. The remains will be interred in Little Lake Cemetery.

Kawartha Lakes Excursion.

Despite uncertain weather, a large number of people took advantage of the holiday to visit the Kawartha Lakes. The G. T. R. issued half fare tickets and the steamer Empress also cut her rates in two for the occasion. The sterling qualities of the fast-sailing steamer never gave better satisfaction, and the trip up through the lakes from Lakefield to Burleigh proved a delightfully refreshing one. Capt. Reynolds and his crew were attentive and painstaking, and as the Empress glided in and out among the island channels, the beauty of the scenery, and the refreshing air, opulent with summer's freshest odors, added increased exhilaration to the pleased excursionists.

NORTH COUNTRY FOR STRATTON.

A Series of Highly Successful Meetings.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION

Mr. Stratton's Services for the North Country Appreciated—Addresses Delivered in Several Parts of the North—Local Testimony to Mr. Stratton's Good Work as a Representative.

Mr. Stratton and Mr. F. A. Anglin have returned from the northern part of West Peterborough, where they have addressed meetings in Mr. Stratton's interest. Mr. Stratton was every where very heartily received, and their can be no doubt that they appreciate the excellent services he has been able to render them the past sixteen years, and will use their votes almost to the point of unanimity to secure his re-election and a retention of his valuable services.

At Silver Lake, on Friday afternoon last, after addresses being made by Mr. Stratton and Mr. Anglin, Mr. John Coulter, of Silver Lake, claimed the privilege of speaking a few words in regard to the present situation. He said;

"As you are all aware, I have been a Conservative all my life, and you all know the position that I have taken with regard to Mr. Stratton's candidature. I have been voting for forty years and I say frankly and candidly that Hon. Mr. Stratton is the only representative that I have voted for who has given the necessary time and attention to look after the interests of his constituents, and Mr. Stratton has done it in a manner that could not fail to satisfy anybody. As a rule, when a candidate is elected, he is quite indifferent to his constituents until he desires their votes again, but it is not so with Mr. Stratton. He always takes an interest in his constituents, and takes the greatest pains to keep them informed as to what is being done, and once a year after every session, Mr. Stratton visits his constituents and explains the legislation that has been enacted. He also tries in every way to learn what our wants and wishes are, and in what way he can best serve us, with regard to roads, assistance to schools, and similar matters of interest to us, and he has always done a great deal towards adjusting the difficulties that have sometimes arisen between the settler, the lumberman, and the Department. For these reasons, and because his general services to the riding have been so excellent, I am going to support Mr. Stratton, and I believe that if every voter in the riding consulted his own best interests, he would record his vote in the same way. There would be no doubt as to the majority he would poll, and if they took that view, he would be unanimously elected. (Applause.) The longer I live and the more I see, the more I feel that we should vote for the man who best serves our interests. I have read in the papers Mr. Miller's assertions with regard to the squandering of money and the corruption he says exists in the northern country. I have looked around to see where the corruption existed, and I have failed to find any evidence of money being wrongly expended. We realized that we were working in our own best interests in getting good roads for ourselves, and I am sure you will all agree with me that no one begrudges the money, and that we worked as well as we could, with the result that we have reasonably good roads, and we had the additional advantage of having the employment, which in this country we are not always able to obtain. The little money that is expended on the roads is very helpful to us, and the Government is perfectly fair in endeavouring to do what is just as between us all. I have read Mr. Miller's speeches made in other portions of the riding, and we know that his statements are not true. When he is in another part of the constituency he has apparently one story to tell, but he will not have the hardihood to repeat his story when he comes here. (Hear, hear.) Now, gentlemen, I have nothing more to say. I wanted to say this on behalf of Mr. Stratton, because I believe that he is entitled to great credit for what he has done for us. He has stood well by us, and if there was anything to be found fault with, the fault could not be laid at Mr. Stratton's door. The Government appropriated the money. The money was expended by the overseers, and we did the work, and I think we did it faithfully. In view of this it is our duty to vote for Mr. Stratton on the 29th. (Applause.) Mr. Coulter concluded by saying that he would not only like to see Mr. Stratton elected, but supported by a Government member in East Victoria. Mr. Heyd would make a more useful representative than East Victoria had had in the past.

It may be safely asserted that no such part singing has ever been heard in America. Six of the best boy soprano in England and the wonderful men altos

SATURDAY NIGHT'S MILLER MEETING.

There was a good attendance at the meeting in Mr. Miller's interest in the opera house on Saturday night. But the enthusiasm was not conspicuous, and the spirit of confidence was very subdued. The enthusiasm broke out in spots, and the most was aroused by the remarks of Mr. Monk, and by those remarks which had no bearing upon the present contest.

Mr. Bradburn, the chairman, remarked that Mr. Miller would "reduce, or wipe out, Mr. Stratton's majority in the north country." Comment is needless.

Mr. Kendry claimed it was "time for a change," and Mr. F. D. Monk, the Conservative leader in Quebec, rang the changes on the same theme. Mr. Monk, who is a fine speaker, was very heartily received, and heartily applauded during his speech. He had come to Ontario on the invitation of Mr. Whitney — to show that there were no hard feelings, and to Peterborough, on the invitation of Mr. Kendry.

Mr. Monk was great on the British Constitution, which was personally opposed to any Government being in power thirty years. He made a strong plea for giving the Opposition a chance to put their "suggestions" —wiping out our revenue, to befriend corporations, etc.—into effect. Mr. Monk didn't venture to say that Mr. Whitney had any policy, except "good intentions."

Mr. Monk said he had gone through New Ontario, and found discontent. No wonder, he took discontent, in the form of Mr. Whitney, with him. Mr. Whitney wants office, can't get it, and that's why he is discontented. So the discontent Mr. Monk found in New Ontario was found most probably in people that wanted something, and had not got it.

We had examples at Mr. Miller's previous Saturday night meetings of discontented people from New Ontario — who didn't get a liquor license — who were discontented with a second-hand railway, and scrap iron steamers — who couldn't get a site for a machine shop in a region of 100,000 square miles. We get a good idea of the discontented people in New Ontario from the samples imported to Peterborough.

The settlers, Mr. Monk said, were oppressed by the lumber companies because the Government had been so long in power.

It was a great national topic, Mr. Monk said, to have a change of Government. He asserted that the progress, good government and greatness of Ontario depended upon having more frequent changes of Government. In Quebec there had been twelve changes of Government, while there had been none in Ontario, in thirty years.

That of course was the reason Quebec had gone so far ahead of Ontario. That was, of course, the reason why Quebec had a debt of $25,000,000, while poor Ontario had no debt at all. That was, of course, the reason that the first charge upon the revenue of Quebec, the first payment shown in her public accounts, was a payment of a million and a half of interest on her public debt. The retention of a Liberal Government in power so long in Ontario was of course the reason why Ontario didn't pay a cent of interest on her debt — because she has no debt — but receives $300,000 a year interest on her assets and investments.

O, yes, it's very plain to be seen that Quebec's frequent changes of Government have boomed her far ahead of Ontario, and that our long-term Government has run Ontario ages behind Quebec.

Mr. Monk said, "In Quebec we have put out Government after Government. While you (in Ontario) have only had one Government — very good if you like — we have had in Quebec twelve changes of Government."

Mr. Monk's parenthetical tribute to the Ontario Government — "very good if you like"—gave his whole case away as regards the Government. Is it "time for a change" when you have a "very good Government"?

Mr. Monk advocated Mr. Whitney's administrative impossibility of giving the settlers all the pine — which means in many cases a settler getting a lot for $40 and getting timber (which would bring no revenue to the province) worth $7,000 or $8,000. Settlers know the conditions when they settle on land under timber license; they knew that they get all the pine they need for fencing and building purposes. In one part of Ontario, where the settler gets the pine, it is found that in many cases the settler pays no attention to doing his settlement duties — clearing the land for cultivation. He skins all the pine off his lot, and then "skins" out himself, after deserting his holding. The clearing and settlement of the country is retarded by such conditions.

Then Mr. Monk found out that our mining laws were a bad lot — awfully obscure. Even Mr. Carscallen, of East Hamilton, who was with the party of Opposition discoverers, tried in vain to explain them to Mr. Monk, till the latter felt like pitching Mr. Carscallen into Lake Nipissing. That might have been a good thing. If he had mixed a little water with Mr. Carscallen's intellect, the explanations might have been a little clearer than they were.

Speaking of Mr. Carscallen, of course suggested to Mr. Monk, an export duty on nickel. Mr. Monk spoke eloquently, as he can speak, on the glorious possibilities of nickel development, if we can do refining in Ontario; but he failed to tell his rapt auditors that Mr. Carscallen in the House moved to impose an export duty on nickel, and that Mr. Whitney, his leader, jumped on poor "Cam" with both feet, and voted his motion down.

Mr. Monk assured his hearers that Mr. Whitney would change all this, and fix the mining laws so that mining would be encouraged. What is going on now under our "obscure" mining laws? In 1892 the output of our mines was 5,324,000 tons; last year the output had more than doubled, and was 11,822,000 tons, and the value of our mineral output was last last year $2,223,000. Six years ago we didn't mine a pound of iron ore. In 1901 we raised 272,000 tons of iron ore and smelted 116,000 tons of pig iron in Ontario.

And this year the first steel ever made in Ontario was produced. At the "Soo" Mr. Clergue is making steel rails through the help of the land grant which Mr. Whitney said Mr. Clergue had "stolen." All the rails on the remaining portion of the Algoma Central Railway will be made in Ontario from Ontario ore, so will all the rails for the Manitoulin and Northshore Railway on the Temiscamingue Government Railway; and all the new railways now building or to be built in New Ontario will be laid with Ontario made steel rails. This is the fruit of our "obscure" mining laws and of the development policy of the Government. Yet "Mr. Whitney would change all that." No doubt he would change it but in a way to justify the latter part the popular cry in New Ontario "Vote for Ross railways; vote for Whitney and walk."

Mr. Monk took up two questions which he said he "didn't know much about"—a confession which he delayed too long—in relation to the other subjects he had dealt with. These were "school books and the educational system." He was "shocked" to learn that school book publishers were making enormous profits that enabled them to "ride in their carriages."

Mr. Monk can play the demogogue when it suits his purpose to excite class prejudices. If publishers waited for the profits from school books to keep carriages, they would have to do like the people in New Ontario if Mr. Whitney gets into power — walk. The firms that print school books have a large general publishing business, fifty times larger than the school book branch, which is but comparatively a drop in the bucket, to the work done. The cry about dear school books loses much of its force when Inspector Hughes, of Toronto, an extreme Conservative partisan, states in an official report, that in that city where books are supplied by the Board to the pupils, the cost per pupil for school books for ten years is $1.08 or 10 4-5 cents per year.

No wonder Mr. Monk confessed that, on these subjects, he didn't know much of what he was talking.

Again this was due to no change of Government and Mr. Whitney "would change all that" when he came into power. Then we should have a strong Government—a "young Government with a reputation to make." We don't want "young Governments" trying experiments upon this province in order to make a reputation. We want strong stable Government such as we have now, and Mr. Whitney with his barren following, with the ever-present fight for the leadership, with his utter absence of policy or any idea of what this province needs, is not in a position to give us that. We want a business Government that knows the country's needs and how to meet them and we have that in the Ross Government.

Mr. Whitney "loaded up" Mr. Monk well. The latter said the public school should not be made a "stepping stone" to higher education.

Mr. Monk and Mr. Whitney and their ilk, weep over the woes of the poor man in the matter of school books. But they take away the "stepping stone" to a rise in life. Public schools are, in their view, good enough for the masses. Keep them as hewers of wood and drawers of water, and don't let them rise any higher. "Keep them in their places." Higher education is for the rich, but the poor must keep off the "stepping stone."

Mr. Monk had the assurance to talk of electoral frauds, invented by his own party and practiced to the perfection point by his own party.

Mr. Monk tried to make a point out of the assertion that Mr. Duncan Bole, charged with election irregularities, was agent of an Insurance Company of which Mr. Ross was president. In respect of these irregularities, he (Bole) voluntarily appeared before a judicial commission, and the commission of which Judge Morgan, a Conservative was a member, found the "no act had been done (by Bole) by which the integrity of the poll was molested or the will of the electorate was subverted."

Mr. Monk charged that this "fugitive from justice" was "enjoying the favour of the Premier of this Province."

Duncan Bole was appointed agent of the Manufacturers Life in 1889. Recently this company and the Temperance Life, of which Hon. G. W. Ross was president, were amalgamated, Mr. Ross becoming president of the amalgamated company. His signature is lithographed on every policy no matter who the agent is.

Mr. H. P. Lindsay was and may now be agent for the company or amalgagated companies of which Mr. Ross is president. It is just as reasonable to say that he is "enjoying the favour of the Premier of the Province" because he is agent of a company of which Mr. Ross is president.

Mr. Ross had no more to do with the appointment of Duncan Bole as an insurance agent than he had with the appointment of Mr. Lindsay, or a New York policeman.

Mr. Monk strained a great point when he tried to establish such a connection. He can no more establish such a connection than he can clear away the fact that a Conservative Cabinet Minister of Quebec was driven out of public life by Conservative corruption, and that a Conservative Quebec Member of Parliament spent a term in jail for Conservative corruption.

Mr. Monk may try to show that frequent changes of Government have advanced Quebec ages ahead of Ontario, but he comes to the wrong shop to talk of political corruption.

Mr. Miller, the Conservative candidate, had so much back country experience, that he suffered from "a "frog in the throat"—hoarse from much speaking. He "taffied" the French, and was apologetic in reference to Mr. Aikens and the Dickson Company — he didn't want to speak harshly of them—he had to use names to prove his case — but he repeated the disproved statements regarding the way colonization money was expended in the back country. He didn't take anything back — "Miller doesn't take anything back, No, Sir."

He had started to "run a clean" campaign, and had done so, but if this is the case in regard to Mr. Miller, he has had willing stumpers and a willing newspaper to do the "dirty" work.

He closed with an appeal to the people who, he said, had to decide whether he (Mr. Miller) or Mr. Stratton, could best serve the interests of West Peterborough.

He appealed for the support of the working man, because he was a working man himself. He might do credit to the working men as a representative, but he couldn't do much to advance their interests, or initiate legislation they might require.

Mr. Miller concluded his address by advising the young men in polling their first vote to "poll it right," but did not enlighten them as to what the right vote was.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers, but the whole tone of the gathering showed that there were more cheers in the hall, than "cheer" in the prospect.

BURNING THE CANDLE AT BOTH ENDS.

The Succession Duties, to which the Conservatives are opposed, gives the province a revenue of $1000 per day. Who pays it? Ninety per cent. of it comes from the wealth of the very rich, which passes to indirect heirs, and only ten per cent. comes from the wealth that passes to direct descendants, and only the estates over $100,000. It does not affect the great mass of the people, but it compels the very rich, who have piled up wealth in such a way that it has escaped the taxation which the poorest man has had to pay, to contribute their share of the burden of maintaining the public revenue. In 1896 the Opposition voted to have the poor rich people relieved of half this tax. What would have been the effect of the adoption of that motion? Since 1896 the revenue from this source, which is devoted to charitable purposes in the province, has amounted to $1,894,870, and if the Opposition had succeeded in cutting down the rate of taxation on the rich men's estates, the loss to the provincial revenue would have been $850,000, nearly a million of dollars. Of course, "spare the rich," is the policy of the Opposition led by Mr. Whitney — "spare the rich," and leave the poor man so much more to pay.

This is further illustrated in Mr. Whitney's proposal to abolish the tax levied on rich corporations. Since 1899, these rich corporations, which get their charters from the province, which enjoy the protection of the law, which all costs money, have paid for these privileges the sum of $900,000. Mr. Whitney calls this a direct tax, but nobody suffers in the remotest degree. No stockholder of a company gets a smaller dividend, for the capital of these companies amounts to the tens of millions, and their immense profits are in proportion, and the small tax imposed is so small that the companies do not take it into account.

This tax is so small that if it were added pro rata to a life or fire insurance policy of $1000, the tax would not represent an increase of more than eight mills, not one cent.

Yet Mr. Whitney proposes to relieve these rich corporations of a tax that is infinitely less than the lightest tax the poor man has to pay in the most lightly taxed municipality. What a tender feeling Mr. Whitney has for the poor oppressed millionaire corporations — just about election time! It is said that Mr. Whitney has a big "bar'l" this election. Are the big corporations being taxed to make it up? If not, why should the leader of the Opposition want to curry favour with them and at the same time cripple the provincial revenue to the extent of a quarter of a million a year — to wipe out more revenue than the amount given to agriculture each year.

Mr. Whitney in his wild dreams, proposes, if elected to power, to have five or six additional agricultural colleges, increasing the expense in proportion. Yet he proposes to cut off in repealing the tax on corporations, and halving the succession duties, half a million dollars per year. Is that statesmanship, or stupidity? Whatever it is, it shows that Mr. Whitney is not the man to be trusted with power, to "make ducks and drakes" of the public interests. It is no time for a change, when one of Mr. Whitney's first acts will be to add to our expense, with half a dozen new agricultural colleges, half a million dollars a year, and to cut off at the same time half a million dollars a year — a total bedevilment of our finances of a million dollars a year. Ontario can't afford to thus burn her candle at both ends.

THE PREMIER AND THE REFERENDUM.

In the course of his splendid deliverance at London, Mr. Ross squarely faced the prohibition issue, appealing to the sober thought of the friends of the temperance cause, among whom he is, and always has been, foremost. He pointed out that he had accepted the pledge made first by Sir Oliver Mowat, and repeated by Hon. A. S. Hardy, to introduce a prohibitory law, when it was determined that the province had the power. The Manitoba judgment made it the moral duty of the Government to redeem that pledge and the question arose whether the Legislature should pass such a law upon its own responsibility, or upon the reponsibility of the people.

The referendum was first employed in 1864, in connection with the Dunkin Act, which provided for prohibition by municipalities. Again, the Scott Act in 1878, and the local option law were only operative upon the affirmative vote of the electors. Every Act of the Parliaments of Canada — the old Parliament, the House of Commons, and the Provincial Legislature — involved the principle of a referendum. Similarly in the States of the Union, a prohibitory law must be submitted to the people for sanction.

Mr. Ross quoted from a speech delivered by Mr. W. R. Meredith in London, on May 21, 1894, when he was leader of the Opposition and hoped to be premier of the province within four weeks. Speaking of a prohibitory bill on that occasion, he (Mr. Meredith) said he thought > "It would be decidedly in the interests of the whole community that any measure such as that, before it became law, should be again submitted to the people in order that they might have an opportunity to pronounce yea or nay upon it."

The Dunkin Act, the Scott Act, and local option, were all adopted by a bare majority of the vote polled, and in nearly every instance they were repealed. Prohibition has been adopted in sixteen states of the Union and repealed in eleven. After the discouraging experience in this province, the Government deemed it wise to take some steps to ascertain how strongly public opinion was ranged on the side of prohibition. Sir Leonard Tilley, whose sincerity as a temperance man could not be impugned, thought a prohibitory law could not be effective unless it had a three-fifths majority. Such eminent church leaders as Rev. Dr. Caven, Rev. Dr. Warden and Rev. Dr. Potts favoured a large majority. Hon. George E. Foster advocated a preponderating majority. The Dominion alliance itself favoured the referendum. The Government at first was inclined to require a majority of those on the voters' lists, but as the lists would not be fresh, and there there would be many absentees the idea was abandoned. It was then decided that the basis of the vote should be that of the provincial elections, the idea being that if a certain number of electors took sufficient interest in the issues of the general election of 1898 to poll their votes, a bare majority of that number might obtain prohibition if they were sufficiently interested in it to come out and vote for it. Even Mr. Whitney approved of this condition of the referendum as he voted against Mr. Marter's amendment to make the law operative upon a bare majority of the votes cast. The amendment found only four supporters in the Legislature, so that practically the House was unanimous in favouring the basis laid down by the Government.

"A prohibitory law that cannot be enforced," said Mr. Ross, "is not as good as a license law that is reasonably well enforced." Failure would result in anarchy and confusion, and would swing the temperance cause back thirty years.—London Advertiser.

IT IS NOT TIME FOR A CHANGE

Translated into plain English the Opposition cry "it is time for a change" means "give us office." Suppose now that anyone had a man who had served him faithfully and effectively for thirty years and was still able and willing to give similar effective service. Suppose you had thought over his work and found that the man had done well, that he had done no serious wrong, that he had not deprived you of any right, that he had looked well after your interests, that he had been true to you and had done his best to serve you faithfully, would you turn him away because some other man not more vigourous, not more enterprising, applied for his place, not because he would serve you any better, not because he had any plan to advance your interests, but only because he wanted the place because he wanted it? If this is true, applied to an individual, it is equally so applied to a Government. If the Liberal Government has done well for the past thirty years, if under its rule the interests of the province have been so looked after as to result in Ontario being the banner province of the Dominion; if they showed at this day more enterprising or more vigourous and progressive spirit; if they have, taking all their merits into consideration shown themselves worthy of your confidence; if their policy, if their vigourous programme of action, promises greater prosperity, greater growth, greater development than the wonderful prosperity and the great development now existing and going forward, is it in your interests to make a change? And a change to what? A change to a party without a definite policy, mere proposals to make little changes which they do not clearly explain the effect of, and which in the nature of things, will affect only minor matters, and which have no bearing except in a retrogressive way upon the ambition of the people to enter as speedily as possible into a realization of the wonderful resources with which this great province has been endowed.

LEEMING, MILES & CO., MONTREAL.

A CHARGE NOT SUSTAINED.

The political bulletin, or rather roorbach of the hour is the speech which Mr. McPherson, of Toronto, made in Welland, dealing especially with the election irregularities of West Elgin.

It was a carefully prepared brief, was interlarded plentifully with quotations from the evidence of certain witnesses, friendly to the special pleader's contention, and, when given to the press, was headed "A straight charge against Liberal Ministers."

Any one who wades through this long story, issued as a supplement to any newspaper which will be reckless enough to give it countenance, will realize that no minister is inculpated, nor any one who is acting with him or under his inspiration.

An independent critic deals with this document according to its deserts, and this critic, the Hamilton Herald, thus deals with the matter:

"Mr. McPherson has failed to prove his charges even against the organizers. The most he could do was to show that the evidence places them under a cloud of suspicion. And in his main attempt Mr. McPherson failed altogether. There is not a jot of evidence to connect any member of the Ross Government with the electoral fraud. In the lack of such evidence, the Government as a whole and its members individually must be absolved from blame.

"We agree with Mr. McPherson that the Government might have been somewhat more prompt and energetic in its efforts to bring the electoral rascals to justice; but such efforts were honestly made at least; and we doubt if there exists any other instance of a Canadian Government taking steps to prosecute and punish electoral agents who, in its interests, violated election laws.

"If the Ross Government is open to criticism for not doing its whole duty in this matter, it surely deserves credit for acting in harmony with the principle, hitherto little recognized, that it is duty of a Government to probe and expose electoral fraud and corruption even when by so doing it works injury to itself and the party which supports it, and punishes its own friends."

This is from an independent newspaper, not a Liberal journal, but a journal which gives the Government as hard knocks as it can when it considers they deserve it. It demonstrates that the charges as against cabinet ministers are not supported by any evidence that would justify their convictions at a bar of justice and the bar of public opinion will not regard them as satisfactorily or in any way convincing. Mr. McPherson astute lawyer as he is, has failed to connect any member of the Government, directly or indirectly, with any of the election scandals to which he refers.

WAITING FOR PEACE

Boer Conference Is Still Sitting at Vereeniging.

VICTORIA DAY DISAPPOINTMENT

All Vital Points Have Been Retained by the Government, But Peace May Be Expected at any Moment—Piet De Villiers and Commandant Beyers Have Established Boer Republics of Their Own.

London, May 26.—The Daily Mail in its issue this morning says the announcement of peace may be expected at any moment, and that it will be found that the Government has remained inflexible on all vital points at issue.

The Conferences Continue.

Pretoria, May 25.—The Boer deputation is still here and the conferences at Vereeniging continue. Nothing definite of the result is known, but it is believed that the negotiations are proceeding favorably. At the celebration of Victoria Day yesterday a large crowd gathered in the square here expecting to hear a proclamation of peace. There were no disturbances.

Mr. Seddon's Message.

As confirming the probability that peace is not distant, the Rt. Hon. R. J. Seddon, who is now visiting here, has sent a cablegram home, in which he said: "I have had a satisfactory interview with Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner. I don't think another New Zealand contingent is necessary."

Two New Boer Republics.

Two Boer communities have just added a new feature to the South African drama by establishing separate republics remote from Pretoria. Piet de Villiers has been selected by his friends President of the Republic of Sangeberg, west of Vryburg, partly on English and partly on German territory. All the usual officeholders have been appointed and the burghers, to the number of a few hundred, are already building cattle kraals and herding stock.

Commandant Beyers, who a few months ago was an active combatant, is now President of another miniature commonwealth in the extreme northern part of the Transvaal. He never consented to enter into the present negotiations.

THE FERNIE DISASTER.

Forty Bodies Have Been Recovered From the Main Shafts of Wrecked Mine —Relief Measures Organized.

Fernie, B.C., May 26.—Rescue work in the wrecked mine is proceeding slowly on account of gas. Very few foreigners volunteer.

Forty bodies have been recovered, all from main shafts. Some were killed by rocks, some by fire, and some by afterdamp and gas. Many bodies were badly scarred. The English Church is used as a morgue, where the bodies are placed in coffins.

A public funeral was held at 6 o'clock last evening. The rescue work will last several days. Some bodies may never be got, as they are buried deep in debris. The Coal Company are arranging for the funerals. The Board of Trade organized relief measures, and $1,100 was contributed on the spot. Relief is badly needed.

The explosion was due to dust. All of No. 2 and the right of No. 3 are affected. Gas overcomes the rescuers often.

CREED AS REVISED.

What the Presbyterian Assembly Assembly Has Adopted as Its Tenets.

New York, May 26.—The Presbyterian Assembly has adopted the creed revision. This is a summary of the report of the commission on revision of the faith:

All who die in infancy and all others beyond the reach of the outward means of grace are regenerated and saved by Christ through the Spirit.

The word of God is the only infallible rule of faith and life.

God is revealed in nature, in history and in the heart of man.

God is not the author of sin.

Man free to choose between good and evil and forever responsible to his Maker.

Penalty of first parents' sin is eternal death.

Christ perfect sacrifice for world's sin.

Spirits of just enjoy immediate communion with God.

Sacraments of baptism and Lord's Supper alone divinely established.

Christ will come again to judge the world, and the wicked shall receive the eternal award of their sins.

HAVE WOMEN INTUITION?

One Writer Says They Have Never Shown It In Literature.

Literature is the final expression of human thought. If women can lay claim to a special faculty of intuition, why do they not manifest it in their writings? Intuition, if it means anything, means the faculty that gets down to the form of actions and characteristics and focuses external traits into a central verity recognisable to the general public. Now, there are more female writers than male. No woman poet has ever written an inevitable line, a line that flashes spontaneously out of the unknown and casts an illuminating light upon the abyss. Woman has added practically nothing to our stock of familiar quotations. Take down your Bartlett or your anthology, and you may be surprised to find that from Mrs. Browning to Mrs. Meynell women have never coined a phrase which has passed into the common currency of speech. Mrs. Browning has indeed written fine lines, but nothing of hers can be said to have become a household word.

Nor has any woman novelist created any character that is generally recognised as typical. George Eliot has come closest with her Tito Melema and Mrs. Poyser. You would appeal only to the educated few if you described a person as a Tito or a Poyser. But call a man a Don Quixote, a Micawber, a Dogberry, a Falstaff, a Colonel Newcome, a Bilsl, a Parson Adams or Bob Acres, call a woman a Mrs. Malaprop, a Becky Sharp, a Beatrice, a Diana Vernon, a Meg Merrilies, and even the illiterate will mentally classify the individual as you wish him or her to be classified.

"Ah, but," you say, "in real life women are the true intuitions. They size up a man or a woman at a glance. They are never mistaken when they trust to their instincts."

I can only testify to my own experience. I have not found that women's snap judgments of character are imbued with any special verity. They form likes or dislikes quicker than a man does because they are quicker on the trigger of conjecture. They can only be one of two things, right or wrong. If time proves that they are right, as they must be in 50 per cent of cases, the right guess is remembered and treasured up by the slower minded man as an extraordinary instance of intuition. The wrong guess is forgotten.—William S. Walsh in Era.

To Save Tempers and Collars.

"You button your collar the wrong way," said the salesman as he was selling neckwear to a customer.

"How is that?"

"You have buttoned the right side last. Now, when you go to take it off you will have to tug at the end of the collar and crumple it, because you can't get a proper hold of it, but if you had the left end on top you could get it off easily, then loosen the collar behind, and the right end could be easily detached. That's why men have so much trouble taking off well laundered collars. Remember to fasten the right side first and then the left, and you will save your collars and your temper."

"I never supposed there was a right and a wrong way of putting on collars."

"Try both ways and you will see."

THE HEAD OF THE TRAIL.

Exquisite Scenery Where 100 Years Ago the Iroquois reigned.

Winding up the grade, through the gloomy forests, leaving the wide expanse of Macassa Bay behind, over rocks, ridges, and streams, beaten smooth by countless moccasined feet, lay the old Iroquois trail.

Where now stand blocks of houses, factories, churches, and public buildings, where parallel and at right angles stretch miles of streets, once lay the hunting grounds, the camping grounds, and the battle grounds of forgotten, dusky hordes. Over the present site of the market howled the wolves, along the ridge in the fashionable West end roamed the red deer, and from the bay shore lazily rose the smoke—curling blue in the hazy summer air—of camp fires innumerable.

Six miles to the east stretched the sand spit known as the Beach, and seen in years gone by from the pitching deck of the cutter, by the mythical "Leatherstocking." "A large, land-locked bay, lying within, according to Indian reports," says the "Pathfinder."

The dusky nomads wearying always of one settled hunting ground, forever moving back and forth over the country—yet ever returning to this favored spot for some months each year, long ago found and utilized the only way of surmounting the hills around the bay, and gradually wore the old, old trail.

To-day a vestige of it yet remains—a bare hundred yards almost obliterated where it climbs the overhanging face of the mountain's brow.

A mile from the city's centre, just without its farthest bound, at the entrance of the gorge cut back into the hills by the Chidoke stream, on the western promontory of the ridge, and facing Chidoke House, it struggles up through the trees, pausing at the last precipitous, rocky wall then, through a gap in the overhanging terraces, climbs up and disappears—the old Indian trail.

How often have the bygone braves swarmed up the path, climbing the narrow cleft one by one, and assembling overhead, rushed whooping to their own or their enemies' destruction. How often have the toiling squaws—loaded with household goods—panted up the path, and paused perforce at the last stiff climb to breathe and gaze down on the stream, fretting amongst the fallen boulders two hundred feet below. Perhaps some daring child has essayed the climb unassisted, and, slipping back, has been hurled to destruction into the rocky gorge.

Again—in the night, pausing often—the hoarse roar of the falls floating faint from the upper end of the gorge—did stepping silently, perhaps, have come a hostile tribe to slip stealthily down the rocks, and surprise their enemies in the camp below. They come, silent as the night itself, helping each other through the cleft, and suddenly, with appalling yells, swoop down through the trees and, swiftly killing, return hotfoot, hustling each other up the trail, and leaving gory smudges on the rocks from the dangling scalps just won below.

That was over one hundred years ago. Now, where they roamed stands Hamilton, pastures extend to the mountain's base. On its sides still grow the trees and along the top, while below in spring and autumn only flows the stream meandering lower down through peaceful fields and golf links. Never more will an Indian "hit" this trail of his father's making, no more laden families shall toil up the steep incline, war parties will never again assemble at its top, and gloat their eyes on the sleeping shacks below.

Occasionally a weary city man may climb the hill and pause exhausted at the bottom of the brow, probably a look will be sufficient, but if he essay the pass he must not pause half way, looking back. Directly below flows the stream, and the prospect of a tumble is not pleasant—a wild roll through the trees for a hundred feet, then a sickening plunge to the jagged rocks in the valley's bed.

In the night no sane white man would try the climb, yet in bygone days, by day or night, indifferently toiled up the aborginies, until one day when civilization from the East had pushed them slowly back, the last family went up and through and over, and the patriarch of the tribe, perhaps, with bowed back, blear eyes, and faltering step, the last climbed through the trees, forced himself up through the cleft in the rock, and pausing on the top this second Adam took one last look at the Eden where his father's father camped, then turned his face to the happy hunting grounds, whose trail all men must tread—and thus he passed, the last of his race at the head of the Old Iroquois Trail.

Pouring Into the West.

The influx of settlers to the Canadian West is simply wonderful. At Medicine Hat we are in a position to size up the great incoming, especially of Americans, as we see here daily train load after train load of would-be settlers, bringing with them carloads of miscellaneous effects—horses, cattle, implements, household stuff. The exodus, this time from the States into Canada, shows that the undeveloped riches of Western Canada are becoming known, and Canada is coming into her own. The rush of settlers is unprecedented, and is taxing the railways to the limit to handle the business in connection with their trade.—Medicine Hat News.

Downing Street.

Downing street, London, perpetuates the name of a clever man from Massachusetts. Those were the days before the Fourth of July had any significance in American annals, and George Downing, the first scholar in the first public school in Massachusetts and the first graduate sent out by Harvard college, came to England and became a chaplain in Cromwell's army.

By a remarkable stroke of fortune he was sent to represent England at The Hague when Europe was trembling before Oliver, and during three distinct eras in England's history he held the office of British embassador at the Dutch court. He was as popular or as clever under the Merry Monarch as under the protector and the commonwealth, and it came to pass, in the reign of Charles II., that the man from Massachusetts was granted a great tract of land at Westminster, where he built huge mansions and laid out Downing street.

To this day Downing's street is Downing street still, and, though George Downing in Augustus, there is no name in the British empire which is more familiar to us than his.

Guests Pass With Glaciers.

Hotel keepers in the Alps have a new trouble and are complaining of the loss of patrons, who are moving away from the glaciers. Yes, the attractive glaciers are actually passing from the landscape, and as they recede the hotels along their borders find that their registers are shortening.

These glaciers are not running away by any means, but they are deteriorating slowly with a persistency that means their final annihilation. Hotels that a few years ago stood very near to a great river of slowly moving ice now find themselves a considerable distance away, and the attractiveness of the site is lessened.

The famous glaciers of the Rhone have shrunk 1,000 feet in the last twenty years, or about 110 feet a year. A number of the well known glaciers approximate this diminution, and the scientific fact is established that these reminders of the great glacial period are surely disappearing.

Finding Himself.

One day a drill sergeant in the British army had a number of recruits to drill and wanted the married men separated from the single ones, so he formed them in a line and gave the word of command, "Single men advance and married men fall back in the rear!"

All took their positions except one, an Irishman, who stood still. The sergeant asked the reason why he had not moved, but no answer came from Pat.

"Come, my man, are you married?"

"No," replied Pat.

"Then you are single?"

"No."

"Then what are you?"

"I am courtin' Biddy," was the reply.

A Question of Dismay Time.

A cardinal who commanded the troops of Pope Boniface IX. in the march of Acona, finding himself on one occasion in a position in which he must conquer or die, promised his soldiers that if they secured the victory those who fell should dine that very day with the angels. They marched to the combat with alacrity, but finding that the cardinal was careful not to expose himself, "How is it," said one of them, "that you show so anxiety for the celestial banquet to which you have invited us so warmly?" "Because it is not yet my dinner time, and I am not hungry."

Catgut From Silkworms.

Probably but a small percentage of the fishermen who use flies strong with fine translucent catgut are aware that the almost unbreakable substance that holds the hooks against the fiercest struggles of the struck fish comes from silkworms. The principal center of the manufacture of this kind of catgut is the island of Procida, in the bay of Naples, but most of the silkworms employed are raised near Torre Annunziata, at the foot of Vesuvius. The caterpillars are killed just as they are about to begin the spinning of cocoons, the silk glands are removed and subjected to a process of pickling, which is a secret of the trade, and afterward the threads are carefully drawn out by skilled workers, mostly women. The length of the thread varies from a foot to nearly twenty inches.

Turcoman Brides.

When a Turcoman belle is to be settled in life, the whole tribe turns out, and the young lady, being allowed the choice of horses, gallops away from her suitors. She avoids those she dislikes and seeks to throw herself in the way of the object of her affections. The moment she is caught she becomes the wife of her captor, who, dispensing with further ceremony, takes her to his tent.

The bride race is also an established custom among the Kalmucks, and the girls are such excellent horsewomen that, we are told, it would be impossible to catch one against her will.

Boss Your Boss.

Boss your boss just as soon as you can. Try it on early. There is nothing he will like so well if he is the right kind of boss. If he is not, he is not the man for you to remain with. Leave him whenever you can, even at a present sacrifice, and find one capable of discerning genius. Our young partners to Carnegie Bros. won their spurs by showing that we did not know half as well what was wanted as they did.—Carnegie's "Empire of Business."

Astronomical Solutions.

Though 300 years have elapsed since the death of Tycho Brahe, it appears that we are in many lines almost as far from the ultimate goal as when he began the great work of exploring the skies before the days of Kepler, when all Europe was slumbering in intellectual darkness. The science of the stars indeed has been refined and perfected in an unparalleled degree and infinitely extended in all directions, but with the bounds of darkness pushed back step by step the goal is not and never will be in sight. An infinity of objects and causes and an endless variety of phenomena are yet to be explored, and the work of the mind is rather a process of development to the perfect understanding of the universe than the solution of a simple mathematical problem.

STONE AND ROCKEFELLER.

Their Stocky Clash in Standard oil and Its Results.

In the early days of the Standard Oil company one of the heaviest stockholders was the late Amasa Stone of Cleveland, whose daughter Clara is now Mrs. John Hay. Mr. Stone was at that time reputed to be the wealthiest man in northern Ohio, figuring in the directorate boards not only of the Standard Oil company, but of banks and railroads and rolling mills, and in everything having the name of being a very "substantial" man. It was due to this last trait in the capitalist's character that he left the best "money maker" with which he was ever associated, the oil company, whose president, John D. Rockefeller, was in those days scarcely known outside of a narrow circle of Cleveland friends.

As the story is now told, the cause of Mr. Stone's departure from the board was the quiet refusal of the young president to be ruled by the older man's opinions. Several times there had been differences between the two, all of which, however, had been smoothed over without any breaking off of business relations. But at last at a board meeting held during an evening in the private office of one of the directors came an open break. While Mr. Stone was laying down the law on some mooted point Mr. Rockefeller interrupted him with:

"Just a moment, Mr. Stone, I want you to know before this discussion goes any farther that you can run your rolling mills and banks as you please, but you can't run Standard Oil."

There was a moment's silence, and then Mr. Stone said, "I presume you stand ready to buy my stock, Mr. President?"

To Mr. Rockefeller's "Certainly" Mr. Stone merely said, "I'll take $100,000, and my offer holds good from 10 o'clock tomorrow morning until a quarter after." Then he picked up his hat and walked from the room.

At 10 the next day a friend of Mr. Rockefeller's was at Mr. Stone's office, and the sale was consummated. It was this which gave the present president of the great company his first extensive holding of the Standard Oil stock.

TWO LETTERS

They Prove the Permanency of Cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Over six Years Have Gone by, and This Cure Still Stands—Only one of Many Such Cases.

St Mary's Ferry, N. B., May 25, (Special)—Mr. Thomas Harrison of this place has addressed two significant letters to The Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto.

The First one.

St, Mary's Ferry, Dec. 18,1895.

Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to you and to the public at large to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me.

About one year ago I began to suffer with severe pains over the region of my kidneys, followed by a very lethargic feeling.

When I lay down it was torture to get up again.

This state continued for some time, and all the while I was still getting weaker and losing flesh rapidly.

My appetite was very much impaired, and at last I was obliged to call in a physician.

He gave my sufferings a very learned name, and doctored me for some time, but I got no better.

I called in several other physicians, but it was all no use; my sufferings got worse all the time until I began to despair of life.

A friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I was very skeptical but was prevailed on to commence a treatment; the first box made me feel some better.

I passed a stone that had formed in the bladder.

I continued the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills until I had used three boxes, and now believe that I have a radical and complete cure, as it is six months since I used any of the pills, and have had no symptoms or return of the malady.

I know that my cure is due to Dodd's Kidney Pills, as I used no other medicines after commencing their use.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HARRISON.

The Second one.

St. Mary's Ferry, N.B., Mar. 24,1902.

Gentlemen,—What I said in 1895 I can at this moment most emphatically substantiate.

I have never had the slightest symptom of a return of my old trouble.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HARRISON.

Leprosy.

In recent years the belief has gained ground that leprosy is not contagious. At a recent conference of the mission to lepers at Wardha, Central Provinces, India, it was, however, resolved that leprosy should be considered contagious. These resolutions are the result of wide experience, for the operations of the society extend over forty-eight centers. It has twenty-seven asylums and fourteen houses for untainted children. But perhaps mosquitoes are responsible for the spread of leprosy, as they are of malaria and yellow fever.

THE BULLET FROM AFAR.

How Modern War Methods Try the Soldiers' Nerves.

Today a man may die as much as the enemy's guns, hidden away in the distant, cloud topped mountains seven miles away, begin to talk. And after that seven miles he must walk with caution, with a wide interval between him and his pals on either hand. He must lie down at every short halt and scratch the ground hurriedly with his little spade at every long one, for the great shells are sailing toward him, and he sees by his officer's eye and hears by his commands that it is considered that he may perish at any moment and that precautions are necessary to preserve him. He sees, moreover, how futile those precautions must be if one of those monsters bowling overhead should land as near to him as the last one did to that blasted tree, for instance, with its scorched, dangling limbs and the huge chiffed square in its stout trunk, or as the one before did to the team of mules in the ambulance wagon, now a screaming, struggling jumble of harness and bloody flesh.

All this is dispiriting and appears unnecessary. The country on all sides is as peaceful as his native dale, not a sign of an enemy. Even the great blue hill ahead, on which he is told the enemy's long guns are posted, looks as quiet as the mountain on a Christmas card. Yet for two miles he walks through death, thinking only of it because there is nothing else to think of, and then, as twilight falls bivouacs in extended line, sees his friends run for their tea between the fall of the shells, notices one of them time his run back badly and meet a projectile in full career, to part from it an awful and disgusting offense, and then lies down in the darkness with shaking nerves and the thought that five worse miles still intervene between him and the guns he knows he is intended to take.

Next morning he is awakened by a shell, is marched with infinite caution for two more miles, shelled the whole way, is shelled even in his bivouac by the light of the moon, and as he watches the projectiles bursting like waterspouts of fire along his hillside is glad when he is told that tomorrow will be the battle, after which, if he wins and if he lives he may be able to walk and sleep in peace for a space.

A Sacred Chinese Coin.

One of the coins of the Chinese Emperor Kanghi is very much sought after by the Chinese, who use it in making rings for the finger. It is slightly different from the other cash issued under the same emperor in the form of one of the characters that indicate the regnal period. The Chinese call it "Lo-han cash," the word Lo-han being a transcript in Chinese characters of the Sanskrit word Arhan, "venerable," the name applied to the eighteen attendants of Buddha, who are frequently seen ranged along the two sides of the principal halls in Buddhist temples.

This tradition is that while the emperor was intimately associated with European missionaries he became imbued with a feeling of contempt for Buddhism and illustrated this phase of his faith by having a set of eighteen brass Lo-han images melted down and cast into cash. This brass is said to contain a considerable portion of gold; hence the demand for the cash.

She Had to Diet.

Doctors sometimes give their directions for taking drugs or other treatment in language beyond the comprehension of the patient. Occasionally tragic, but more often amusing, mistakes occur thereby. Judge tells one of the amusing kind, although it might have been uncomfortable at least.

A small colored girl went to a drug-store and said to the clerk, "Ma mammy wants some of de handsomest dye ye got."

"The handsomest?" repeated the clerk. "Well, I don't know. What does she want it for?"

"She done got de misery in her stummick, and de doctor say she must dye it, and she say if she hab got ter dye it she want it a handsome color."

The Force of Example.

When we read the life stories of men and women, we ourselves participate to some extent in their own experiences. Insensibly we place ourselves in the situations in which they found themselves, and the problems which confronted them seek their solution in our own brains. Their difficulties, their stumblings, their triumphs, become personal lessons by which we may get a wider experience of life than comes to us in our ordinary avocations, so that when the time comes when we are called upon for some momentous decision or to pursue some special line of conduct we have a precedent to guide us to the right course.

How a Spaniard Smokes.

The Spaniards are the most expert smokers in the world. A Spaniard, according to an observer who has traveled through Spain and South America, takes a heavy pull at his cigarette, inhales it, takes up a wine skin or wine bottle, pours a half pint down his throat, holding the vessel a foot from his mouth and not spilling a drop, and then with a sigh of satisfaction closes his eyes and exhales the smoke from his nose and mouth in clouds. He will also inhale the smoke, converse for a few minutes in a natural manner and then blow out the smoke.

Doing as He Was Told.

"What on earth," said a gentleman to his son, "are you doing up there, Johnny, sitting on the horse's back, when you ought to be at school?"

"Teacher said I was to write a composition on a horse," said the boy, "and I'm trying to, but it's awful difficult, 'cos he will keep moving so. I s'pose that's why teacher gave it to us to do, ain't it?"

One Wife's Cautious Claim.

"Is your wife one of those women who look at their husbands and say, 'I made a man of him?'" asked the impertinent friend.

"No," answered Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta is very unassuming. She merely says she has done her best."

ECONOMICAL DRESS.

Will Succeed in Appearing Well and a Small Income.

Never was fashion prettier. While some of the evening gowns are gorgeous, many of the best day gowns are intensely simple. Nowadays a woman of any individuality or style can hardly pass for well dressed though her means are small, for most inexpensive materials are now being utilized. The way they are made up is everything.

The art of dressing well on a small income consists in avoiding costly fabrics and putting as much money as possible into the cut. Fashion changes so often that frocks quickly go out of style.

If a woman can only afford one good frock, it is better for her to put the bulk of her expenditure into cut and fit rather than into a material which it is expensive to buy on account of its long wearing properties.

A dainty bride's dress is shown in the illustration. It is made of white chiffon trimmed with delicate white lace. The waist has no high collar, but instead a deep sailor effect of lace. The short elbow sleeves are made entirely of the lace and are finished with accordion plaited ruffles of the chiffon. The rest of the waist is accordion plaited, with a corselet effect of the lace extending on the waist and upper part of the skirt, thereby giving a princess effect. The fullness of the skirt is gathered in pin tucks on the hips. There is a graduated tucked flounce set on invisibly under bands of lace. The long train which falls from the shoulders is of lace and the veil of delicate tulle.

ACCESSORIES OF DRESS.

Mannish Vests Are Worn as Well as Soft Fronts.

Strappings have by no means disappeared, but are wider, and a very popular plan is to insert a narrow bias strap of velvet silk or fancy material between two strappings of the coat material. Braid and cord are also used to border strappings, and tucks in groups are highly fashionable.

The vests for spring wear are largely tailor made and consist of variations of the Newmarket shape. There are double breasted shapes almost high and fitted with lapels and others cut in quite a low V shape with the edges simply strapped or stitched. The single breasted tailor fashioned vest has very small neat lapels which leave the tiniest opening at the neck for the collar and tie, and the Louis vests for smart coats are of brocaded or embroidered satin bordered with fine silk or tinsel cord.

Soft fronts of accordion plaited chiffon and fine lace are being worn with the open front silk coats.

Blue linen is the material of the gown illustrated. The skirt has a toothed yoke and a toothed flounce connected by lines of perpendicular strapping. The waist has a deep yoke of ecru batiste and a double collar of the batiste edged with lace. The undersleeves are also of the batiste. This dress is made entirely without lining and is very cool and comfortable for summer wear.

NILE RIVER MUD.

The Salvation of the Country Is That Rainless District.

There is nothing to make one realize the importance of mud indeed like a journey up the Nile when the inundation is just over. You lounge on the deck of your dahabieh and drink in geography almost without knowing it. The voyage forms a perfect introduction to the study of mudology and suggests to the observant mind (meaning you and me) the real nature of mud as nothing else on earth that I know of can suggest it, for in Egypt you get your phenomenon isolated, as it were, from all disturbing elements.

You have no rainfall to bother you, no local streams, no complex denudation. The Nile does it all, and the Nile does everything. On either hand stretches away the bare desert, rising up in gray, rocky hills. Down the midst runs the one long line of alluvial soil—in other words, Nile mud—which alone allows cultivation and life in that rainless district. The country bases itself absolutely on mud. The crops are raised on it, the houses and villages are built of it, the land is manured with it, the very air is full of it. The crude brick buildings that disfigure in dust are Nile mud solidified, the red pottery of Assiout is Nile mud baked hard, the village mosques and minarets are Nile mud whitewashed. I have even seen a ship's bulwarks neatly repaired with mud. It pervades the whole land, when wet, as mud undisguised; when dry, as duststorm.

Disciplining Convicts.

When a convict commits an infraction of the camp rules, says R. J. Blackburn in writing of the Georgia convict camps in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, he is punished with a leather strap on the bare body bent over a barrel. This strap is about two inches wide and eighteen inches long, made of belting. The punishment is from one to twenty-five lashes. About 20 per cent of the crowd require punishing each month, and fifteen lashes to the subject is a rather full estimate. The offenses covered by such punishments are gambling, swearing, fighting, insubordination and fighting.

His proneness to gamble is as great as it is to petty theft whether in imprisonment or enjoying freedom, and I doubt the justice of punishment for such infraction. There are some amusing incidents of gambling in the camps, craps and skin games being the rule. But a negro will bet on anything, from which toe a fly will light on first to who will be the first to catch an insect in another's woolly head. They get their money for extra work, done at will, for which they are paid on free labor basis.

Kipling on Paragraphing.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling is said to have a caustic tongue as well as pen, and The Week End puts on record a snub which he administered not so long ago to one of the younger of London's dailies. The editor had arranged with "the poet of the cuss word and the swear" for a series of war sketches, and in due time proofs were sent to the author. Now, one of the editorial standing orders of the paper in question is, "Paragraph all matter freely," which, translated freely, means make as many paragraphs as possible even if sense or appropriateness has to be disregarded. In accordance with this instruction the fair symmetry of Kipling's paragraphs was so ruthlessly 'broken up" as to draw from him when returning the proof slips this stic comment: "I congratulate you the paragraphing of these slips. It rthy of a nursegirl's noveletta.—R. K."

For Old Negatives.

"Old negatives have become quite a source of income in this business," said a photographer. "It used to be that we didn't know how to get rid of them, but now I can sell them by the hundred to amateur artists for glazing purposes, and I have one man, a maker of photograph frames, who buys them to use in his business. The plates are very serviceable as they are clear and free from glass being used in them. This man cleans the film from the plates and fits them to his frames. People who dabble in horticulture find the negatives of convenient size for glazing cold frames and can buy them much cheaper than they could buy glass in the regular way. I get a dollar a hundred for good sized negatives."

She Got a Thrifty Husband.

Mrs. Smith—I reckon our Jane has got a first rate husband.

Mrs. Brown—Well, you ought to be thankful.

Mrs. Smith—I hope I am, Gusty. Of course he isn't much to look at, and he ain't overasmart, but there's one thing, and that is he's saving. Why, the very first day after the marriage he told Jane she'd better let him take the engagement ring back and get the money returned. He said there was no longer any use for her to wear it now that she was married.

Out of Place.

Grocer—What have you been doing in the cellar so long?

Grocer's Apprentice—I have been cleaning out the sirup measure. It was so choked up that it didn't hold more'n half a quart.

Grocer—Oh, that's what you've been doing? Well, you take your hat and go home and tell your father to put you into the tract distributing business. You ain't fitted for the grocery trade.

The Appropriate Vehicle.

"She seems to be a stickler for doing everything appropriately."

"I should say so. She always does her marketing in a basket phaeton."

LINCOLN'S DISPATCHES.

Why Many of Them Were Dated From the War Department.

Surprise is often expressed by very intelligent people that so large a proportion of President Lincoln's most important telegrams and some of his letters are dated from the war department instead of the executive mansion and none of them from the navy, treasury or other administrative bureaus. This is generally deemed a very singular fact, and from it writers have plausibly drawn the conclusion that Lincoln personally liked the secretary of war better than any of the other cabinet officers. While this indeed appears to have been true, it does not necessarily so follow. He certainly held Mr. Seward in high regard, yet he seldom went to the state department.

In the circumstances it was not at all singular. The explanation is easy. War was the business of that time, and Lincoln's eyes were always bent to the army, especially when great military events were impending. He habitually haunted the adjacent war department and army headquarters, where abode General Halleck, his military adviser, fer news and views. Head and heart were strenuously concentrated on the fight, wherever it might be. His fertile brain saw, too, the critical points in the game oftentimes far more clearly than some of his so called "ablest generals." He not only wished to know what was going on in the field, but performed his own part nobly. In the heat of action or at crucial moments his orders, suggestions and inquiries were fired off spontaneously from wherever he might be at the moment, and at such periods he was generally "over at the war department" with Mr. Stanton. That is the chief reason why so many of his dispatches are dated at that department and not because he perhaps held Stanton in higher esteem than the secretary of the navy or state or treasury.

Recommending Coal.

A promoter of a recently discovered coal mine in Rhode Island sent a quantity of the material to Professor —— of New York university. Afterward he asked for a certificate of its quality, whereupon the professor wrote:

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I have tried this coal in my fireplaces, grates and stoves for several weeks, and, having done so, I can confidently recommend to all my friends that they hurry into the state of Rhode Island on the day of judgment, being well satisfied that it will be last portion of the earth to burn.

The Useful Men.

Encourage the useful men in the community. Don't start foolish and untruthful stories about them and discourage the work they are doing. If you can not do anything for the public good yourself, don't discourage those who are willing to give their time and money toward developing the community in which you live.

She Did.

"Auntie, Charles Gass proposed to me last night."

"The impudent fellow! Somebody ought to sit down on him."

"Why, auntie, I rather think somebody did."

Some people seem to think they have to prove they have a mind by speaking it.

He Was a Financier.

Two members of the Chicago Stock Exchange went to a restaurant for luncheon, and after a hasty glance at the bill of fare each announced what he would have.

"I'm for a fried bass," said one.

"Ditto," said the other. "Waitress, two fried bass, please."

In a few minutes the two bass on a platter and two plates were placed on the table. One bass was larger than the other, and the financier before whom the platter had been placed calmly passed the smaller bass to his companion.

"Now I call that a downright mean trick!" said the man who received the smaller bass.

"What is a mean trick?"

"Why, to give me the smaller bass and keep the big one for yourself."

"What would you have done if you had been serving the fish?"

"I should certainly have given you the larger one."

"Well, in that case I should have had the larger one. I've got it now. What more do you want?"

The argument did not seem convincing, but at the moment the other man was unable to find a satisfactory answer to it.

THE ELECTION AND LOCAL INTERESTS.

The Town of Peterborough as the distributing point of one of the richest and most important agricultural districts in the Province, as a railway centre from which several lines radiate in various directions, and as the seat of numerous flourishing industries, is vitally interested in having both in the Dominion Parliament and the Ontario Legislature, the best available representatives.

It is obvious that a community possessing so many varied interests, and affected in some way or other by nearly every measure of general legislation presented to the House needs to be much more careful in the choice of a member than ridings which are almost wholly agricultural in their character.

West Peterborough should obviously be represented by a member who by virtue of his experience, knowledge of affairs, influence, and business connections is most likely to be able to secure for the constituency every reasonable consideration and adequately voice and best give effect to local opinion on all matters affecting local interests.

Questions are continually arising which closely affect a busy, thriving and enterprising town like Peterborough, the satisfactory adjustment of which demands an acquaintance, on the part of a representative, with business and financial methods, and an influential standing in the world of commerce.

Our representative, to ensure his usefulness, should not only have the qualities which go to bring success in business, but he should have such position in the estimation of the public as to be able to bring his efforts to bear effectually and make his influence felt.

Peterborough has not suffered in the past from having as its representative a member of the government who has industriously used his influence, and given his best efforts to build up and advance the interests of Peterborough. He has always been at the front when the interests of the town and county were at issue, and it only just to say that, in more than one case, legislation, vitally concerning our industrial expansion, has been due to his persistent efforts to secure support for, and neutralize opposition to, its adoption. Every citizen interested in the growth and progress of the town, will admit that a change of representatives will not, by any means, tend to promote its growth and progress.

The Liberal government will, it is safe to assert, be returned with a strengthened following. Every man who will put prejudice aside and study the situation impartially, admits the fact. The Opposition themselves realize it.

If the electors should ignore the services which Mr. Stratton has been able to render the town and the county in the past, if they should think it advisable to change their representative, the constituency would soon find itself occupying, in relation to the promotion of its interests, a less favourable position. Instead of being represented by a member who would be able to make its demands respected in the councils of the dominant party, it would have as the exponent of its great and growing requirements, an opponent of the government.

Such a representative with even the best will, would self-evidently be in a position to do little for either the town or country. Rival towns and cities, whose voters had recognized more forcibly the advantage of having a representative a supporter, and perhaps a member of the Government would have the advantage of us. We could not expect a private member in Opposition to exercise the same influence with the Government and his fellow legislators, or secure for his constituents the same advantages as could a Cabinet minister.

Had Mr. Stratton been in any way remiss in attending to the needs of his constituency—had he allowed his onerous and responsible duties as Provincial Secretary to so engross him that he neglected the interests of Peterborough—town and county—the case would be different. But there has been no cause for complaint on that score. He has always shown himself alert and loyal to local interests in all matters in which a representative should be required to interest himself.

He has been most assiduous in looking after local concerns, in forwarding all measures affecting the welfare and prosperity of Peterborough, and in promoting the views

WORDS OF CHEER.

The most encouraging reports, says the Globe, come from Liberals all over the country as to the likelihood of a sweeping Liberal victory on the 29th. It is admitted on all hands that the Liberal prospects have greatly improved during the last few weeks and that the Conservative campaigners have proportionately lost heart and hope. The speeches of Mr. Ross have profoundly affected the country. The Liberal policy has been squarely and admirably presented by Liberal speakers in all the constituencies, and all the more serious charges of the Opposition have been met squarely and refuted. An unfortunate feature of the campaign in its closing days is the very many wild statements made from Conservative platforms, and the free circulation of charges which will not stand a moment's investigation. Liberals everywhere should beware of these eleventh hour charges, and rest in absolute confidence that no charge that would bear investigation would be withheld until the closing days of the campaign. The important work of the next few days is to complete the preparations for getting out the vote. If a full favourable vote can be polled there is no doubt of the success of the Ross Government. This is now the first and paramount duty, and in every constituency the most adequate measures should be taken to poll the full Government strength.

WHO IS TIRED OF PROSPERITY?

The present time is a critical juncture in the history of Ontario. It is of special importance to the industrial and business interests of the province, that the forward policy inaugurated by Hon. G. W. Ross should be maintained in its integrity. It is only just beginning to tell upon our prosperity. We have only as yet touched the fringe, the outer margin of the vast resources of New Ontario. The impetus has been greatly felt, but it is only in its inception. Expenditures have been made, plans adopted, agreements entered into, which will eventually enormously develop trade, increase the sum total of our wealth, and enhance our standing among communities. But their success very largely depends upon the administration of our affairs remaining in the hands of the Liberal Government. It is the worst time that could possibly be selected for a change.

Had the Government been apathetic and indifferent to the responsibilities attaching to the possession of New Ontario, had they done nothing but plod along in the old rut, and contented themselves with the ordinary work of administering departmental affairs, the prospect of a change would have a less serious aspect. An alteration in the personnel of our administrators in such a case would make comparatively little difference. It would not, as at present, be fraught with peril to the solid business interests of the country. It would not threaten to paralyze and depress our industries. It would not be ominous to our future. It might be harmful to some extent but there would not be a tenth part as much at stake as there is to-day.

A change of Government must imply material changes in policy — just what or how serious it is impossible to gather from any utterances of the Opposition. In any event, it means committing the most important movement for the development of the province, which has been witnessed since Confederation, to new and inexperienced hands. It may undo all that has been done. It may render useless, or nearly so, the expenditures and the efforts which the Ross Government has made to increase production and stimulate industry.

Even if the consequences were not quite so serious the uncertainty of the situation would have a tendency to destroy public confidence. All the business interests connected with the development policy would suffer severely for a time. Progress would be checked. The investment of capital would be discouraged. It would take a long period of judicious and prudent administration along the same lines as are now being followed so successfully, to restore confidence and place us in as good a position as at present.

No man can tell what would be the policy of Mr. Whitney and his friends in regard to New Ontario. His utterances have been so uncertain, general and contradictory, and the opinions of his followers, so much divided that it is impossible to predict what his course would be or how far it might reverse or antagonize the methods already adopted. The electors realize that the fruits of the Government policy have been beneficial to a degree that they did not anticipate. The prosperity of the Province, much of which is directly traceable to the opening up of New Ontario, and the increased trade from that source, as well as to the efforts made in other directions to encourage agriculture, and open up new markets, is an argument which appeals to all. It needs no emphasizing and cannot be answered by any amount of theorizing. The people do not readily tire of prosperity. They are satisfied with a Government whose energy, sagacity and good management has borne such fruits.

It will be time for a change when the forward movement has been fairly tried and proved a failure. It will be time for a change when closed factories, bankrupt merchants, workmen out of employment and deserted farms tell a story of disaster and ruin. It will be time for a change when in place of prosperity, contentment and busy times we have general stagnation, falling markets and untilled fields. But no one wants a change from good times and plenty to uncertainty, reaction and depression.

A vote for Mr. Stratton is a vote for the Ross Government, for assured prosperity and against taking a gambling chance on the continuance of provincial progress and development.

Vote for Stratton and Ross and build up Ontario.

ONE TESTED; THE OTHER UNTRIED.

The Bobcaygeon Independent in contrasting the claims of Messrs. Ross and Whitney to the confidence of the people, says: "In the case of Mr. Ross we have tried him for some years. As manager of the Ontario Province he has conducted the business most successfully. Ontario owes no national debt; has money in hand; is very lightly taxed, and is enjoying a greater degree of freedom and prosperity than any other country either in this or the European continent. Everybody in Ontario ought to be very much obliged to Mr. Ross for having managed Ontario's affairs so skillfully and so successfully. As regards Mr. Whitney not much can be said about him either one way or the other. He is an untried man. We don't know whether he would be a good manager or a bad one. Ever since Ontario had a Government or Directory of its own it has adopted the plan of choosing as its Manager one of those who has served some years in the Directorate. This ensures that the Manager will be well acquainted with the business to be transacted. Before Mr. Ross was appointed Manager he had been some years in the Cabinet and knew all about the Provincial business. Mr Whitney has had no such training; he knows nothing of the business; he has it all to learn. Still, Mr. Whitney has lots of good sense and he might in time make just as good a manager as Mr. Ross. . . . However, the fight will terminate next Thursday, and if the Province decides to let well enough alone, to which results the probabilities all point, the present ebullition of evil will soon subside, and neighbours will soon allow their feelings of friendship to return to their normal condition."

TWO OPPONENTS.

Two Conservatives are in the field in North Toronto, and both are in opposition to Mr. Whitney, the Conservative leader. One is Mr. Marter, former leader of the Conservative Opposition, and the other is the coming leader, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt. Mr. Marter is opposed to Mr. Whitney, because Mr. Whitney is opposed to the progress of Ontario. Mr. Marter is accused of leaving the Opposition ranks. That is not the case. Mr. Marter went forward; Mr. Whitney and the Opposition stood still, as they stand still now, therefore they are apart. Dr. Nesbitt is a hot runner-up for the leadership, and in this respect he is opposed to Mr. Whitney.

It is an open secret that loyalty to Mr. Whitney is the loyalty of the moment. If it would not have been disastrous to swap horses at the crossing of the stream, it would have been safe betting that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt would before now have had a fall with Mr. Whitney for the leadership. Mr. Whitney is at present in the saddle, but there are shrewd reports that there are many of his present compulsory (by the force of circumstances) followers, who would not be averse to giving Dr. Nesbitt a leg up. Is it reasonable to conclude that Mr. Whitney, with so uncertain a tenure of the Opposition leadership, is in a position to give a strong leading to the Government of Ontario, if the electors should so far take leave of their good judgment as to elect him. If the fidelity of his party backing were not open to question, then there would remain the handicap of mediocre ability. Besides Mr. Foy and one or two others, Mr. Whitney does not seem to have in his following any men of Cabinet calibre. If both Mr. Whitney and Dr. Beattie Nesbitt should be elected, there will doubtless be a fight for the baton of the leadership.

The Vital Difference between Laxatives and Purgatives cannot be too clearly understood. The former are GENTLE, the latter VIOLENT. A LAXATIVE assists the organs; a PURGATIVE takes the work out of nature's hands.

And every time that nature fails to perform its proper functions it is less disposed to perform them.

Purgatives, therefore, are at best a necessary evil, like an emetic to relieve the Stomach of undigested food.

POLICIES COMPARED.

As the pulp policy of Quebec is being held up as a pattern for Ontario by Mr. Whitney and his friends, it may clear up some misconceptions to state precisely the conditions in each Province.

In Ontario, south of the height, the lands are not spruce-bearing in the proper sense of the word, the spruce being scattered in small bunches along the creeks and in low lying lands, usually good for farming.

In Quebec they have territory well timbered with spruce which they block into limits and put up at auction, all the timber, whether spruce, pine or hardwood, belonging to the purchaser.

Ontario grants permission to cut pulpwood adjacent to certain streams upon condition that pulp or paper mills are established. This right is not exclusive, as the Government may give another company the privilege of cutting spruce on the same territory when there is more wood than the original company requires.

Quebec does not require the erection of mills or the investment of capital. No employment is to be given and no quantity of wood has to be got out. The purchaser of a timber limit may hold it for speculation and tie up the whole territory.

Ontario exacts dues of 40 cents on each cord of pulpwood cut and reserves the right to raise the price from time to time as pulpwood values increase.

Quebec sells her spruce timber to the highest bidder, subject to an annual bonus of $3 per mile and 40 cents per cord. The dues cannot be increased except at long intervals.

Ontario requires that the wood shall be manufactured into pulp or paper in this country.

In Quebec the licensees can export the wood to the United States if they pay 25 cents per cord extra.

In Ontario the lands are open for settlement at any time, and the pulpwood becomes the property of the settler when he locates and clears two acres of his lot.

In Quebec the limits are not opened for settlement until the wood is cut away.

It may be added that the Ontario Government has granted no pulp concessions north of the height of land, where the real spruce territory lies.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Joe. Madill, of Madill Bros., has just returned from Montreal, where he spent a week among the wholesale dry goods houses, buying goods.

Mr. John McClean, of Moose Jaw, is visiting friends in the village. Jack is looking well, and speaks in the highest terms of the west.

Miss Tully, of Toronto, is visiting in the village, the guest of Mrs. H. F. LeFevre.

Miss Katie Trail, of the Montreal General Hospital, is visiting Miss Trail here.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of the Methodist church, is giving an excursion to Stoney Lake on Victoria Day, per Steamer Elert.

On Monday last the Grove School held its annual excursion to the lakes.

Mr. John Holmes is having an extension built to his house at Love Sick Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are already at the lake to spend a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Graham, who have spent the last couple of weeks at Stoney Lake, are back to the village.

Mr. W. J. White, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sherin, in the village.

The Strickland Canoe Co. have just shipped a number of canoes to South Africa. This speaks something for the widespread popularity of the Lakefield canoes.

It is very peculiar that the only way the Temperance orators that visited Lakefield on Tuesday evening could make clear to their small audience that theirs was not a political meeting was by sailing into the Ross Government. They neglected to say anything about Mr. Whitney's views on the temperance question.

Mr. Bravender and Mr. Helberg spent Tuesday last at Lily Lake, boring for blue clay.

STOCK MARKETS.

Dispassionate Market Reasoning.

New York, May 22nd.—In considering the market situation, and current prices, with the view of taking a position upon the market, one should stop long enough to weigh in the balance not only the market status from the present point of view, but to take into consideration the decline up to date, and come to some conclusion as to how much it has discounted the present situation. The drop in the prices for securities since the first of the month runs from 3 to 15 points. It would seem as if this drop had discounted the effects of the strike and the light money period. Each day now takes the market further away from tight money and nearer to easy money. The decline in the coal shares figured in dollars and cents upon their capitalization runs into many millions of dollars far more than any damage accruing to the coal companies. The fact should also be recognized by people fact should also be recognized by people that there exists to-day most strong and powerful reasons for anticipating great appreciation in value of these securities. Take the Granger shares. They are down also, though continuing to make fine earnings. The crop outlook to date is most excellent. Their earnings will swell most prodigiously, should the crops pan out well, while they will not deteriorate very much if crops do not come up to the ordinary standard. It is reasonable to suppose they, as well as South Westerns and Trunk lines, should be good to buy around present prices. The most successful operators do not guage their operations in the Stock Market upon possibilities of only a few days ahead. Pressure against present market is light. Bears are wary, and quickly run. Drives against certain stocks are to be expected from time to time, owing to the existence of the strike, and the consequent rumors that can therefore be circulated. If ever the course of wisdom, however pointed to the picking up of good stocks on such forced declines as it is at the present time. It is a time to get in rather to get out. The forerunner of bad times is not unusually heralded by phenomenal iron production and consumption of large purchases of foreign raw materials to supply American mills, factories and workshops, nor will it come in the shape of railway earnings at top notch, and still climbing. We believe it to be an unusually good time to purchase good stocks.

Drifting Towards Better Prices.

New York, May 26th.—The dogged strength exhibited the past week by the market under the many factors which would certainly have broken it, argues for the future. Considerable effort was put forth with the view to bringing about a lower range of prices. The attempt met with failure the first day of the past week. The principal bearish commitments were made after being thoroughly heralded in the press of the day before. Their hopes met with disappointment. Their was no one to shake out, so they could resecure the stocks they had sold. To do so they were obliged to climb, thereby entailing a loss.

If a market will not go down under adverse circumstances, especially when these conditions have been so thoroughly exploited by the press, its next move of any moment is usually in the opposite direction.

We hear from an authority connected with the coalers that it is more than likely that the strike will be satisfactorily settled by the end of the month. If it is, the market will advance rapidly, if it is not, it will not decline materially, but matters will drift for a time longer, as they have done for the past week.

All indications which have a bearing upon the future favour the bull side. Only immediate existent facts have a bearish tinge, and they look as if they were about over. We are strongly of the opinion that the lowest prices have recorded. Buy stocks now, before everything is assured is to secure them more cheaply than afterwards. In our opinion there is no doubt as to what the finality of it will be really better for all concerned. If it be fought out to a finish. Prosperity has been devouring the coal as fast as it could be furnished. This will account for the absence of any large amounts being in reserve at the mines. — Haight & Freese Company.

Wonderful Home Helpers.

The Ablest Analytical Chemists say They are the Best.

The ablest and best analytical chemists in the world affirm without hesitation that Diamond Dyes are the purest and best dyestuffs for home dying. All the colours are guaranteed fast to light and washing with soap; they colour more goods, package for package, than any other dye in the world.

As there are imitations of the popular Diamond Dyes, ladies should be careful of dealers who attempt to recommend the worthless makes. It should be remembered that these imitation dyes are made up of poisonous and dangerous adulterations, and the hands are often injured by them. Diamond Dyes are so easy to use that even a child can work with them successfully. See that your dealer supplies you with the "Diamond;" refuse all others.

Killed by a Trolley Car.

Toronto, May 26.—Mrs. Alice J. Hosking, 38 St. David street, was knocked down by a Belt Line car at the corner of Queen and Sherbourne streets about 8.30 o'clock Saturday night, and died a few minutes after, while being taken home in the ambulance. The car dragged her along several feet. She was carried into Robinson's drug store.

Mrs. Hosking, with two friends, was about to take a trip around the Belt Line. One of them failed to get on the car, and Mrs. Hosking, in getting off, was knocked down by the trailer.

Mrs. Hosking, who conducted a small grocery business, leaves two small children.

The Falls Claims Another Victim.

Many times has this statement been published. But if Niagara has claimed its thousands, neglected coughs and colds have claimed their tens of thousands. You can't stop the Falls but you can stop the cough or cold in two days by taking a 25c bottle of Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggist.

May Lose His Eyesight.

Toronto, May 26.—Ten-year-old Kenneth Hurd of 83 Portland street was watching some people discharging fire works, when a supposedly-spent cannon cracker fell at his feet. He picked it up, and was fanning the fire, when it suddenly exploded, and he received the full discharge in the face. His face has been badly cut, and it is feared both eyes have been destroyed.

LOST THREE CHILDREN BY CONSUMPTION.

A Mother's Letter and Contribution for the Free Consumptive Hospital.

That "one touch of nature makes the whole world kin" is being shown by the many sympathetic and practically helpful letters that are being received in response to the appeal to furnish quickly the new Free Consumptive Hospital, the first Free Consumptive Hospital in America. A few days since, Sir William R. Meredith, who has kindly consented to receive subscriptions for the hospital, found in his mail a letter from a mother in Hamilton, which reads:—"The enclosed three dollars is a contribution to the Free Consumptive Hospital, being one dollar for each of the three children I have lost by that dread disease."

All over the Dominion families are being broken up by this terrible white plague. Need we wonder that those who have lost loved ones should contribute of their means—much or little—to bring hope and health to others who are suffering in this way, and whose case may become hopeless if help does not come quickly?

Another, signing herself "Let not your left hand know what the right hand doeth," writes Mr. W. J. Gage:—"Enclosed find $1.00 for the Free Hospital for Consumptives. I would like, and if I were able, would give you $100, or make one of ten to give $1,000 each, but I am poor. Though very poor, however, I cannot resist your special appeal, and earnestly desire that you will soon have all the cash you require."

The new buildings are completed, and the trustees are anxious that they should be furnished with the least possible delay, so that response be made to the daily and pressing appeals that are coming to them for admittance. Contributions may be sent to Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Chief Justice, 4 Lamport Ave., Toronto; W. J. Gage, Esq., 54 Front St. West, Toronto; or to The National Trust Co., Limited, Treasurer, 22 King St. East, Toronto.

An Innocent Query.

At a dinner party in England the host introduces to the favorable notice of the company, amid murmurs of admiration, a splendid truffled pheasant.

"Isn't it a beauty?" he says. "Dr. So-and-so gave it to me; killed it himself."

"Ah! What was he treating it for?" says one of the guests.

Life's Disappointments.

"There's a fire!" shouted the boy from the country. "Here come the engines! Let's foller them!"

"'Twon't do no good," said the city cousin disconsolately. "The blamed firemen'll put it out before we can get there."

Rebuffed.

"You have so much address I can hardly be expected to compete with you," said the letter to the envelope.

"Now, don't get excited," replied the envelope, "because you know you can't contain yourself."

Jury Duty as He Found It.

"I hear you were on jury duty all last week."

"Yes."

"Tedious, wasn't it?"

"It certainly was trying."

PRESERVATION OF DEAD.

Embalming Process Which Seems to Solve the Problem.

An interesting demonstration was recently given at the examination hall of the Royal College of Surgeons in London of a wonderful machine invented by a Belgian doctor for preserving the dead against the natural law of decay. His apparatus effects a subtle chemical change in the tissues of the dead body which makes it impervious to decomposition. What the change is even scientists cannot exactly say. They know enough, however, to assert that it delayed almost indefinitely the dissolution into dust and ashes. This is the latest as it will be the most useful development in the ancient art of embalming, says a writer in The London Telegraph.

Its method is more wonderful than any yet discovered, because no impious hand need touch the dead. In the more material sense nothing is done to the body by handiwork; it is simply subjected to air heavily charged with the pungent chemical known as formalin. This air penetrates the whole body and in the course of time makes the tissues insoluble and the stomach and other organs sterile. Thus decay is arrested without visceration.

Breaking Up a Witness.

In no way can barristers better display their acuteness than by seeing at a glance the character of the witnesses they are about to examine and by treating them accordingly. Erskine was famous at this. In a case in which he was engaged a commercial traveler came into the witness box dressed in the height of fashion and wearing a starched white necktie folded in the Brummel fold. In an instant Erskine knew his man, though he had never seen him before, and said to him, with an air of careless amusement, "You were born and bred in Manchester, I perceive." Greatly astonished at this opening remark, the man admitted that he was. "Exactly," observed the great cross examiner in a conversational tone. "I knew it from the absurd tie of your neckcloth."

The roars of laughter, coming from every person in the court, with the single exception of the unfortunate witness, which followed this rejoinder completely effected Erskine's purpose, which was to put the witness in a state of agitation and confusion before touching on the facts concerning which he had come to give evidence.—London News.

The World's Swiftest Electric Car.

The electric car pictured herewith was built in Germany with the expectation that it would speed over terra firma at the rate of 125 miles an hour. It failed to do this, but passengers were whirled along at the rate of 90 miles per hour, which speed has never been equalled or excelled by any other electric car. The car runs over a new electric line connecting Berlin and Hamburg.

A Bicycle Clock.

A clock made of parts of bicycles is the production of an ingenious Frenchman. It is twelve feet high, the framework consisting of one specially made wheel and twelve ordinary ones, all fitted with pneumatic tires. The figures denoting the hours are made of crank rods and are attached to an inner rim. The hands are of the steel piping used for the framework of bicycles. The minute strokes are small nickel spokes, and the top of the clock is a curious arrangement of twelve handle bars. The clock strikes the hours and quarters on bicycle bells.

$1000 Reward.

Merrill, the druggist, of Brantford, makes a standing offer of the above amount to anyone who will discover a better cure for constipation than Merrill's System Tonic. More than 5000 people have been cured of habitual constipation by this wonderful remedy. It is pleasant to take and restores the natural muscular power to the bowels. One 50c bottle cures. Sold by Ormond and Walsh.

EXERCISE AND EATING.

Remember That a Tired Stomach Is a Weak Stomach.

A good dinner at night is necessary for those whose pleasure or work keeps them up very late. But for ordinary folk who dine at 6 or 7 and go to bed about 10:30 only a light wholesome repast should be taken at the end of the day, when muscles and nerves are more or less exhausted.

A "tired stomach is a weak stomach" is a golden rule to remember. Yet how often one hears people say, "I've been rushing about all day and am tired to death; I must have a big meal to make up for it!" You may put the big meal into the stomach, but you cannot make the stomach digest it.

A belief lives strong in the hearts and minds of the majority of mankind, including persons of weak digestions, that a quick, brisk walk taken before a meal gets up an appetite and helps the stomach to digest the food. Now, this is exactly what it doesn't do. Exercise spreads the blood throughout the body. For the proper digestion of food the blood is needed in the stomach. Few realize this important fact.

After a long, exhausting walk, bicycle spin or any severe physical or mental strain take a good half hour's rest in a comfortable armchair or lying on a sofa before you eat a substantial meal.

A Telephone Whistle.

When the earpiece of a telephone receiver is held to the mouthpiece of the transmitter, a more or less shrill tone or whistle is heard in the receiver. This occurs when the apparatus is in good working condition and when the transmitter is on short circuit. This effect is seemingly due to a series of reactions analogous to but much more complex than those which occur in an electric bell when its circuit is closed. A movement of the diaphragm of the receiver toward its magnet tends to weaken the pressure on the carbon of the transmitter, which causes a weakening of the current, allowing the diaphragm to fall away, with the further result that the air column is compressed, increasing the pressure on the carbon again and also increasing current strength, whereby the diaphragm in again attracted, and this action is repeated over and over again.

The Human Mouth.

It has been discovered that the human mouth is slowly but surely and steadily moving toward the left of the face, which will in time bring it somewhere in the neighborhood of the left ear. All the five great races of man have an uncontrollable tendency to eat only with the teeth which grow from the left jaws. This wears out the left teeth more rapidly than those on the right side of the mouth, and this in turn gives the upper and lower jaws an inclination toward the left.

It is the expressed opinion of many scientists who are foremost in the world's roll of professional honor that in the course of time the mouth from causes above mentioned will have completely changed its position and that it will then be situated rather nearer the left ear than to the nose.

Oriental Rugs.

"Oriental rugs," says a New York dealer, "are nearly as standard as gold. When an auctioneer sells you one for $200, you may think you are getting it cheap, but you can get it at about the same price from any reputable dealer. Every rug house has its agents at auctions, who pay mighty close to the market price for the genuine article. When you have had an oriental rug for ten or fifteen years, it is worth more than when you bought it, provided it is in good condition. It is then an antique. When you hear of any one buying secondhand oriental rugs at about one-third or one-quarter of their value, you may safely wager that they have been patched."

Relay Remonstrance.

Johnny and Harry had been left at home with their big sister, mother having gone out.

At bedtime they wanted to "stay up for mother," but their sister relentlessly put them to bed. Harry maintained a stolid indifference, but Johnny cried lustily.

Their sister listened at the foot of the stairs, hoping they would soon be good.

At last Johnny stopped, and the listener heard him say: "You cry a bit, Harry. I'm tired."

Right Arm Most Hurt.

Experience indicates that accidents are far more likely to occur to the right arm and leg than to the left. Further evidence of this fact is supplied by the makers of artificial limbs. They dispose of many more appendages to the right side of the body than to the other.

Statistics show that in fifty-four cases out of a hundred the left leg is stronger than the right.

Domestic Amenities.

"Your papa likes dogs, I see," remarked the visitor.

"Oh, no!" replied the boy.

"Then why does he keep so many about the house?"

"I guess it's 'cause mamma doesn't like 'em."

Cartoonists Abroad.

E. T. Reed, the cartoonist of Punch, in a recent address in London, contrasting the freedom enjoyed by cartoonists in England with the lot of their brethren in foreign countries, said that in Turkey he understood the average life of a cartoonist was one week. In Germany they dare not meddle with a single hair of the kaiser's mustache.

Saved In Installments.

A couple of Scottish ferrymen rowing a somewhat dandified Englishman out to a steamer at one of the Clyde watering places saw to their consternation the man tumble over the gunwale of the boat into the water.

The foremost ferryman dropped his oar and made a grab at the man as he rose to the surface, catching him by the wig, which came away in his hand.

Throwing this into the boat impatiently, he made a second grab, catching the collar of his shirt, when the collar and front came away in his hands.

Casting these away from him in great disgust, he cried, "Man, Donald, come here quick and help's to save as muckle o' this man as ye can, for he's comin' awa' in bits!"

Chinese Women Menders.

In nearly every city in China women are to be found sitting in the streets busily plying their trade as menders of clothing. Their knowledge of needlecraft is generally limited to what is called "running," and therefore they are not much patronized by English or American travelers. They are, however, never without patrons among Chinese tradesmen, who are often natives of other districts and have no one else in the city to mend a rent for them, their wives and children being left at home. For this class of customers the skill of the itinerant sewing woman is sufficient, and to them it is a great convenience to have the necessary repairs rapidly made while they stand by and wait.

Knocked Into a Cocked Hat.

The expression "knocked into a cocked hat" is familiar to every one, but perhaps its origin is not so generally known. Cocked hat was a variety of the game of bowls in which only three pins were used, set up at the angles of a triangle. When, in bowling tenpins, all were knocked down except the three at the corners, the set was said to be "knocked into a cocked hat," whence the popular expression for depriving anything of its main body, character or purpose.

ONE OF NATURE'S LAWS.

Action and Reaction That Produce a Fit of the Blues.

Probably in two cases out of three the blues are caused by one's physical state. If a man has overworked or has been under any unusual strain or excitement or has worried a great deal or has been for a while in a state of joy and elation—all of which require an expenditure of energy—he is very likely to have the blues and to be in low spirits by way of reaction.

The body is a machine which can do a certain amount of work and no more. If it does a great deal today, it must do less tomorrow and thereby make up for today's extravagance. If a man takes one glass of whisky, the slight stimulus that he feels will be followed, as night follows day, by an exactly equivalent sinking of the spirits. If he has been thoroughly and gayly drunk, his recovery will be attended by corresponding melancholia and misery.

When a man has the blues, he ought to consider that he is merely an exponent of one of nature's laws and that he has no right to harass others with complaints. Some men are not pleased unless they communicate their unpleasant moods to all about them. They become sulky and cross with their wives and children, and they throw a gloom over their household. Such conduct is very selfish.

A man in the blues ought to take some pills and a good long walk all alone or with some companion of steadfast cheerfulness. Lucky it is for him if he has a wife who will not be downcast and who can restore him to cheerfulness without spoiling him.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Funny Signs of the Times.

Some persons find as much fun in reading signboards as others do in reading the comic papers. Here are a few oddities reported by observing travelers, the first of which evidently was displayed in front of a butcher's shop:

"I kill myself every Tuesday and Friday."

"Take notis when this board is out of site the river is dangerous."

"Widow with large family wants washing by the week."

"Ladies and gents sold and healed."

"This is the old shop just come from above."

"A large stock of ladies' hose, pure cashmere, to be cleared 25 cents the pair. They won't last long at this price."

"Abominable belts made to order."

"Closed for the day owing to funeral of proprietor's wife and who will carry on as usual tomorrow morning."

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and long-for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

One's Plain Duty.

"There has been an awful lot of talk about 'plain duty.' What does it all mean?"

"That depends upon who uses the phrase. One's 'plain duty,' according to his own idea, is what he wants to do, and, according to the ideas of others, it's what he doesn't want to do."

ABOUT SILK

Sewing should be one of woman's greatest pleasures, but it is too often made drudgery by innocently using a cheap and unsatisfactory silk. Corticelli sewing silk is by far the highest product that can possibly be manufactured although it costs no more than other kinds.

A. H. Stratton & Co.

MR. STRATTON'S NORTH COUNTRY MEETINGS.

Afternoon and Evening Addresses to the Electors.

Mr. Stratton's Services to the North Country—Satisfaction Expressed by Settlers—Benefits of Watchful Representation Appreciated.

On Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, Mr. Stratton and Mr. F. A. Anglin, addressed the electors of Galway and Cavendish at well attended meetings, and incidental to the addresses on general provincial topics, addresses were also given by prominent electors expressive of appreciation of Mr. Stratton's universally satisfactory representation given these and other northern townships.

AT UNION CREEK.

At Union Creek on Friday evening Mr. Charles Coben occupied the chair. In opening the meeting he said that the last time Mr. Stratton had appealed to the electors for support, he had done so as an ordinary member of the House, but it was now their proud privilege to welcome him as a member of the Government charged with administration of one of the most important departments. Galway had always supported Mr. Stratton well because he had been as untiring as he was successful in his efforts to serve his constituency, and there was not a man in the township but fully appreciated the successful efforts he had made to improve the conditions that had existed prior to his becoming the representative for West Peterborough. Fifteen years ago the condition of the settler in that township was not as comfortable as it is to-day. If Mr. Stratton's traducers in Peterborough at the present time had been in this locality fifteen years ago, and had seen the difficulties to be overcome, the immense improvement would be appreciated even by those who are now finding fault. (Applause.) Of course it was not to be expected that everybody would be satisfied. No man could satisfy everybody, but as a whole, Mr. Stratton could not be expected to do more than he has done. Our roads were in excellent condition, and Mr. Miller would find no difficulty in travelling through the township of Galway when he came up here. If he had visited the locality years ago, and had to contend with the difficulties experienced by the settler at that time, he would have a good idea of what had been done. He, however, supposed that Mr. Miller must find fault with something, but whatever he might say in other parts of the riding, he would not find depreciation of Mr. Stratton's services a very profitable subject for discussion where the facts were known. He had heard that Mr. Miller was making charges of corruption with regard to the spending of the money appropriated for the roads. They all knew how false these charges were, as the settlers themselves had done the work, and had done it well. It was an insult to the men who had done the work to say that money had been paid for work that was not properly done. Besides the great benefit to the township from the improved condition of the roads, they were also glad to have the employment on the road work, and it was useless to say that the money had been wrongly expended, as it would be apparent to anyone that they were only acting in their own interests in seeing that the work was properly done. They also appreciated the fact that the burden of taxation was less by fully one half than it would have been if they had not received the assistance in connection with their roads that Mr. Stratton had been the means of securing for them. In this way the settlers were benefitted; they had the employment in connection with the work; they had the improved roads when the work was completed, and if Mr. Stratton had not undertaken to help them, they would not have had the roads that they had to-day. He concluded by urging every man to vote as he believed to be in his own best interests and the interests of the township and riding, and if they did so with this end in view, there was no doubt that Mr. Stratton would have their unanimous support on the 29th of May. (Applause.)

The addresses of Mr. Anglin and Mr. Stratton that followed, and the enthusiastic reception of the latter showed that the electors were heartily in sympathy with his candidature, and deeply earnest in their determination to retain his services.

AT FORD'S SCHOOL HOUSE

in Cavandish on Saturday afternoon, Mr. Austin J. Ford occupied the chair. He stated in his introductory remarks that he had read the report of a speech given by Mr. Miller in the Township of South Monaghan, in which he charged that money had been wrongfully expended on the roads in the north country. He could say that so far as the township of Cavandish was concerned, every dollar appropriated was fairly expended, and if Mr. Miller wanted to drive over the Monck road and up through Cavandish, and from Cavandish through to Swamp Lake, and in fact in any direction he might choose to go, he would find good roads through parts of the country that were unbroken forest when Mr. Stratton first sought election as the representative for the riding. (Applause.) Now the settlers were able to get their products to market with the greatest of ease compared to the tremendous difficulty experienced some years ago. Now they could travel through Cavandish and Galway along roads second to none, in any of the older settled townships. (Applause.) It was a great matter of satisfaction to the people to know that in any direction they wished to travel whether to Gooderham or Peterborough or other places, they drove over excellent roads, and they appreciated the way in which the facilities for travelling had increased since Mr. Stratton became their representative. He knew the people of Galway and Cavandish set a proper value upon the great services Mr. Stratton had rendered to the northern townships in common with all portions of the riding, and would give him their solid support on polling day. They had helped to make him a member of the Government, and they would help to retain him in his position. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Stratton had given important assistance to improve the condition of the schools, and had assisted privately in many ways to improve the condition of many of the settlers, and the only matter for regret was that so many were away at the present time, and that the vote would not be as large as it would have been if the election had come at another season of the year. However, he was certain that the vote polled would be satisfactory to Mr. Stratton on the 29th. (Applause.)

AT SWAMP LAKE,

Cavandish, Mr. M. Mansfield presided at the meeting in the evening. He said that he desired to make a few observations with regard to the statements that were being made by Mr. Miller and his speakers with regard to the expenditure of the road money. It was being said in other parts of the riding that the money that was spent in the back townships was being squandered and that great corruption prevailed. He asked the electors where the corruption that had been charged was committed. They all knew the amount of money that was appropriated, where the work was done, and by whom the money was expended, and it only required a reference to the pay sheets to show that the money had been properly spent and in the best interests of the locality. He was surprised that statements of this kind should be made as everyone present knew that there was no truth whatever in the assertions. The settlers themselves had expended the appropriations and had done the work, the roads that were improved were in Galway and Cavandish and the improved condition of the highways was proof enough that the money had been laid out to good advantage and the work faithfully done. A comparison of the conditions that existed fifteen years with conditions as they were to-day would show the immense improvement that had taken place since Mr. Stratton was first elected. The hills that have been cut down, the bridges that have been built and the roads that have been opened up, all testify to the great efforts that had been put forth for the development of the northern part of the riding, and it ill became anyone to say that there was corruption or misspending of money in that township. It was a reflection on every elector in Galway to say that the money had been wrongly expended. The people had done the work themselves and knew just how the money had been spent and they would resent these reckless charges that had been made with a view to influencing the electors in some other portions of the riding who were not in a position to know the real facts and the extent of the misrepresentation. If Mr. Miller desired to see who expended the money and who obtained it he (the chairman) would be glad to show him duplicate copies of the pay sheets at any time, where he could see the names of the men who did the work and the exact amount expended by each. Such false statements as had been made in regard to these matters would only recoil upon the heads of those who made them when the facts became known. (Applause.)

The whole series of meetings showed by the words of the settlers themselves, that the wild charged of improper expenditure of public money and unsatisfactory value for what was expended, existed only in the minds of those who made them to advance party interests.

ANOTHER ROORBACH.

The Mail and Empire and the Review are making desperate attempts to read Mr. Stratton out of the running. One day they have him disqualified, and rendered ineligible; another day some other roorbach is invented. But these journalistic builders of mares' nests, will find, as the fact is, that they are simply mares' nests, and nothing more, and that their efforts to create prejudice against Mr. Stratton will avail them nothing. These two organs are strong on everything but fair argument — when it comes to wild cat stories and baseless charges they are champions without successful rivals. The cause is weak indeed that needs such propping.

ROUSING RALLY FOR STRATTON.

His Large Committee Rooms Thronged Last Night.

Enthusiastic Gathering of Workers—The Brightest Prospects of Success Both in East and West Peterborough and the Province—Stirring Address by Mr. Stratton.

There was an unprecedentedly large and enthusiastic gathering in the Liberal Committee Rooms last night, when Mr. Stratton was present to meet his supporters who have been doing such splendidly effective work in this campaign. The rooms, large as they are, were crowded to the doors, and standing space was at a premium. The most gratifying reports were presented and everything points to a great victory on May 29th.

Mr. Stratton briefly addressed the assembled workers. He spoke in the most confident terms of the splendid prospects of success for the Government candidates in both East and West Peterborough. And the outlook in the province was declared to indicate in no doubtful way the certainty of the triumphant return of the Ross Government with a strengthened majority. He urged his supporters to continue the good work they had been doing for two days more, to look well after the vote, and see that it was polled early, and there was no doubt that on Thursday night they would be rewarded by a triumphant success. Mr. Stratton also referred briefly to the new mare's nest that had been discovered in regard to his disqualification in connection with the printing of the ballots. Those who urged this claim would find that their new mare's nest, like the numerous roorbachs put in play in the last hours of the fight, had nothing in it.

An effort should be made to get Millbrook up to Peterborough for a practice match.

Lou. Dobbin, formerly of town, played with the Cobourg team in Millbrook on May 24th.

Mr. R. M. Glover intends playing with the Port Hope team this season.

Last night was a little cool for lacrosse practice, although there was a good turn out.

Port Hope opened the season on Saturday by defeating the Toronto Shamrocks by the score of 13 goals to one. Jack McCabe and Ernie Wasson figured on the home division of the Port Hope team.

Orangeville won from the Tecumsehs yesterday by four to three.

Belleville defeated Madoc yesterday by 10—0. Belleville should be invited to Peterborough for a game.

CRICKET.

The Colts Cricket Club played an all day match in Campbellford on Saturday, which resulted in the Colts winning out. Campbellford players left the field at 5 o'clock, claiming that the rain was such that the game could not be continued. Campbellford went first to bat, and were retired for 72 runs, of which Blute got 24 and Platt 17—not out. For Peterborough Boucher's bowling was a feature. He took eight wickets, most of them clean bowled. In their first innings the Peterborough boys made 57, Walkey playing very steadily for eleven and Lundy for 23—not out. Campbellford, in the 2nd innings, scored 62, Boucher again securing most of the wickets. In Peterborough's second innings the boys had hit out well, making 65 runs for eight wickets down, when Campbellford left the field, claiming that it was too wet to continue. Bradburn in this innings made top score, rolling up 17 runs. Peterborough thus claimed the game, though the score stood Campbellford 134, Peterborough 122, Peterborough still wanting 12 runs, but having two wickets to fall.

BASEBALL.

St. John's church choir baseball team drove down to Millbrook on Saturday to play the junior nine of that town. The choir boys were victorious by a score of eleven to nine. The game was umpired by Mr. Walter Parnell, of town, who gave every satisfaction. The boys were accompanied to Millbrook by several olde members of the choir. The teams were as follows;

St. John's—Charlie Ray, r.f.; Allan Campbell, c.f.; Reg. Deacon, l.f.; Earl Weller, 1st b.; George Armstrong, 2nd b.; Alf. Hodgson, 3rd b.; Alex. Mulhern, p. and s.s.; Vernon Morphet, p. and s.s.; Hague Sawers, c.

Millbrook—C. Russell, c.; P. Dawson, p.; P. Cochrane, 1st b.; W. Mitchell, 2nd b.; E. Hogan, 3rd b.; C. Roper, s.s.; R. Cochrane, l.f.; C. Westlick, c.f.; F. Burnham, r.f.

The boys of St. John's choir enjoyed very much their trip to Millbrook on May 24th. Of course, they were successful, as usual. The boys drove to Millbrook in a 'bus very elaborately decorated for the ocassion. The choir boys make quite an impression wherever they go, by reason of their gentlemanly conduct, and their obedience to the older members of the choir, who accompany them on their trips. The pitching of Mulhern was a noticeable feature at Millbrook.

Manager McClellan, of the Coal Heavers, is well satisfied with the showing his team made against the Royal Canadians of Toronto, considering the pratice the locals have had this season. The Coal Heavers will stay together and arrangements are being made to have Cobourg here on Saturday next.

T. A. S. ATHLETICS.

Last night the members of the Athletic Section of St. Peter's T.A.S. held a meeting in the rooms of the society, which was attended by a large number. The lacrosse boys were warmly congratulated on winning the handsome silver cup at Lakefield, and carrying off so many prizes in the list of sports. The cup has been placed in position in the room and is highly prized by the members.

It is the intention of the Athletic Section of the T.A.S. to hold a grand field day of sports on Dominion Day on the Murray street Separate School grounds. A lacrosse match with some outside team will be a feature of the day's programme, and the list of sporting events will be carefully arranged, and several medals offered for competition. The list of prizes will, it is understood, be an excellent one. A committee has been appointed to make all preliminary arrangements for the field day of athletics.

THE EAST RIDING.

Mr. Anderson's Final Meeting at Westwood To-morrow Night.

Mr. William Anderson, the candidate of the Ross Government in East Peterborough, is conducting a vigorous campaign, which will continue until the last vote is polled on Thursday night. On Monday night Mr. Anderson held a meeting in Fife's school house, near Hastings. To-night he will hold a meeting at Villiers, and to-morrow night the last gun will be fired at Westwood. He has been assisted in his meetings by Messrs. Blezard, O'Connell and Roger. Mr. R. F. McWilliams has been doing good work for Mr. Anderson by attending Dr. Ford's meetings. So alarmed has Dr. Ford become at the impression Mr. McWilliams has made that he has allotted him scarcely half an hour at each meeting to refute the extravagant charges made by the Conservative speakers.

A BIG BOLD BLUFF.

Is the Latest and Most Discreditable Tactics of a Hopeless Opposition.

UNDULY INFLUENCING ELECTORS.

Attempt to Unduly Influence Electors to Refrain from Voting.—The Cowardly Game of Desperate Men.

The opponents of Hon. Mr. Stratton are playing the dangerous game of maliciously publishing and circulating an utterly unfounded and baseless slander and libel to the effect that he is disqualified as a candidate at the present election, the alleged reason being that the Examiner Office had a contract with the Returning Officer for the printing of the ballots, and that therefore Mr. Stratton is disqualified.

There is not the slightest atom of truth in the statements made in this connection. The desperate Opposition in this town are playing a dangerous game by attempting to exercise undue and unlawful influence upon the electors to induce them to refrain from voting. This is a much greater and more serious breach of the election law than the alleged offence implied in the charge, which is without the slightest justification, even as a campaign trick.

The honest electors of West Peterborough will resent the unworthy and unwarranted tactics involved in the utterly baseless charge referred to.

Let all of Mr. Stratton's supporters poll their votes early on Thursday, and roll up such a majority as will show that the unscrupulous and cowardly tactics of Mr. Stratton's opponents are justly condemned by the honest electors of West Peterborough. No elector who votes for Mr. Stratton need be afraid that his vote will be lost. It will be counted as a factor in the biggest majority that has ever been rolled up in West Peterborough. Let no elector pay any attention to eleventh hour roorbacks invented by a desperate opposition playing a losing game.

Death of Mrs. Eden.

Her many friends in Lakefield, Peterborough and Ashburnham learned with deep regret of the death of Mrs. Eden, wife of Captain B.M. Eden, which occurred on Sunday, 25th inst, at Vanvouver, B.C. The late Mrs. Eden was the only daughter of the late Edward Beatty, Esq., sometime of St. Sairvoir, in the Island of Jersey, and of Emily J. Beatty, his wife, both of whom died several years ago. Deep sympathy is extended to the bereaved husband and family as well as to the brothers of the deceased lady.

HALL'S GLEN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The debate and social, which was held here in the Orange Hall on Friday evening, under the auspices of Zion Lodge, I.O.G.T., was well attended considering the unfavourable appearance of the weather. Rev. Mr. McQuade was present and occupied the chair. The meeting was opened with singing and prayer. The presiding officer then introduced the debate, "Resolved that prohibition is better for the country, both socially and financially, than license law," after which Miss Mabel Elliott and Mrs. H. A. Moore were chosen as judges by the leaders of the affirmative and negative sides respectively, and they chose Mr. L. Payne as chief judge. Considerable time was spent in the discussion which ensued, and which was both interesting and profitable. It may be said that both leaders did exceptionally well, each presenting his case with the utmost earnestness and enthusiasm. At the close of the debate, the judges, after long consultation and consideration, decided in favour of the affirmative. Refreshments were then distributed of which all partook, after which the gathering dispersed.

HIS LAST BLUFF.

How a Debate on the Value of Two Poker Hands Was Ended.

"In days gone by," said the man with the horseshoe pin, "I never traveled by boat or rail without hunting for a fellow passenger to play poker with me. I was gone on the game. I'd go without food and sleep for it. I'd play for pennies, dollars or brick houses. One night as I left Chicago for St. Louis I fell in with a chap who thought well of himself, and we had a stiff game. I had bad luck for an hour and lost $100, but then the cards began to come my way again. I'd got back half of my losses when a hand was dealt in which we both held up four cards, and I opened the pot on two pairs. The other man might have had the same or be drawing for a flush or straight. I drew my one card and didn't help my hand, but by the grin on his face as he drew his I judged he had something good.

"Well, we began seeing and raising, and in ten minutes there was $100 in the pot. I had just opened my mouth to raise him $20 when the train struck a curve and our car lurched over and went rolling down an embankment fifteen feet high. It was four days later when I came to my senses and discovered that I was in a hospital. On the next cot to my right was my opponent at poker. We had both been badly smashed up. We lay looking at each other for awhile, and then he feebly said:

"'I'll see your $20 and raise you $10.'

"'And I raise you $10 more,' I said.

"'And $10 more.'

"'And $10 more.'

"He closed his eyes and appeared to think for awhile, and as he opened them again I knew that he was game.

"'I'll see your $10 and raise you $40.'

"He was either a bluffer or he had a good hand, but I was bound to see it through and again raised him $10. After two or three minutes the nurse came over and asked what was the matter.

"'I raised him $10 and haven't heard from him,' I explained.

"'And you won't either,' she replied. 'You have raised him out of the game.'

"The poor chap had gone dead," said the man of the horseshoe, "and the pot, wherever it was, was mine. As to whether he was bluffing or had a good hand I can only guess, but as they carried him out I turned over to the wall and made up my mind to return to checkers and stick there. You don't have to bluff a dead man to win that game, you know."

TWO LETTERS

They Prove the Permanency of Cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Over six Years Have Gone by, and This Cure Still Stands Only one of Many Such Cases.

St Mary's Ferry, N. B., May 25, (Special)—Mr. Thomas Harrison of this place has addressed two significant letters to The Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto.

The First one.

St. Mary's Ferry, Dec. 18,1895.

Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to you and to the public at large to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me.

About one year ago I began to suffer with severe pains over the region of my kidneys, followed by a very lethargic feeling.

When I lay down it was torture to get up again.

This state continued for some time, and all the while I was still getting weaker and losing flesh rapidly.

My appetite was very much impaired, and at last I was obliged to call in a physician.

He gave my sufferings a very learned name, and doctored me for some time, but I got no better.

I called in several other physicians, but it was all no use; my sufferings got worse all the time until I began to despair of life.

A friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I was very skeptical but was prevailed on to commence a treatment; the first box made me feel some better.

I passed a stone that had formed in the bladder.

I continued the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills until I had used three boxes, and now believe that I have a radical and complete cure, as it is six months since I used any of the pills, and have had no symptoms or return of the malady.

I know that my cure is due to Dodd's Kidney Pills, as I used no other medicines after commencing their use.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HARRISON.

The Second one.

St. Mary's Ferry, N.B., Mar. 24,1902.

Gentlemen,—What I said in 1895 I can at this moment most emphatically substantiate.

I have never had the slightest symptom of a return of my old trouble.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HARRISON.

Proceeding With Caution.

"Are you sure that your arguments are calculated to impress people with your punctilious principles?"

"I don't want to impress 'em too strongly with my punctiliousness," answered Senator Sorghum. "If anybody is willing to sell out, I don't want him to feel scared about making a proposition."

Another Tyrant Crushed.

First Office Boy—De boss told me I should save at least half what I earned.

Second Office Boy—Wot did you tell him?

First Office Boy—Told him dat would be at least four times me salary!

Among the Elite.

May—I am sure they must have been gentlemen burglars that visited us. They stopped to play the piano.

Mabel—Why, that is nothing. The ones that visited us stopped long enough to play a game of pingpong.

Nothing to Boast Of.

"Yes," said the orator, "I am a self made man."

"In that case," was the reply, "you are a very serious reflection on your own workmanship."

A STORY OF BROWNING.

The Poet Was Just As Well as Generous With His Servant.

On a certain day Browning met one of his servants whose joy it was to wait upon him carrying a rather heavy basket of grapes and other fruit on her arm.

"Oh, Giuseppina," he cried, "let me help you!" and seized the basket suddenly from her hand.

The woman, overwhelmed by such condescension, protested, "Troppo onore, signore."

"Nonsense!" said the poet. "You are always helping me. Won't you allow me for once to help you?"

Still the woman resisted, saying, "It is not for such as you, O signore."

This was more than he could bear.

"We are all made of the same clay, Giuseppina," and, gaining his point—for who could withstand his will?—he held one handle of the basket until they reached the palace door.

This same worthy woman is fond of relating a story of her master which illustrates another side of his character. He had paid her weekly account, and there remained 1 centesimo as change. The woman showed the little coin, saying shyly, "I cannot offer this trifle to the signore."

"Yes, my good Giuseppina," he said, taking it from her hand; "it is one thing to be just and another to be generous. You do right to return it to me."

"And not long after this," continues the woman, "he made me such a grand present!"

It Was a Monkey.

I was invited, along with other Europeans on the bench, to one of the biggest plays that have been seen in Opobo. At the feast all kinds of fish, fowl and soup, cooked after the native fashion, were served. Every one thoroughly enjoyed the feast until, near to the finish, the chaser (dessert) was brought in. This dish they called palm oil chop. While it was being served there rolled out of the vessel what to all appearance was a human skull. Suddenly all the Europeans turned pale, as though suffering from an acute attack of seasickness, and the symptoms they developed were identical, for that dinner would not stay down.

The chief, in alarm, inquired what had made his friends so ill. One of the sufferers, whose eyes protruded from their sockets, and afraid to trust himself to speak, placed his handkerchief to his mouth and jerked his thumb in the direction of the skull.

The chief grasped the situation and with unaffected concern tried to comfort his sick guests by saying: "It be all right. He be no man. He be monkey!"

An Expressive Postscript.

A curious postscript was once added to a letter by General Israel Putnam. A spy named Palmer, sent by Sir Henry Clinton, the British commander, had been detected furtively collecting information of the force and condition of the post at Peekskill and had undergone a military trial. A vessel of war came up the Hudson in all haste and landed a flag of truce at Verplanck's point, by which a message was transmitted to Putnam from Clinton claiming the said Palmer as a lieutenant in the British service. Putnam replied:

Headquarters, Aug. 7, 1777.

Edward Palmer, an officer in the enemy's service, was taken as a spy lurking within our lines. He has been tried as a spy and shall be executed as a spy, and the flag is ordered to depart immediately.

ISRAEL PUTNAM.

P. S.—He has accordingly been executed.

His Wits Were Woolgathering.

The absentminded professor, says the Norwegian Weekly Tyribans, suddenly arose from his rocking chair, pushed his spectacles up on his forehead and went toward his wife with the expression and air of a man who at last had come to a final decision.

"Now, listen to me, wife," he said, "and I do not want you to oppose me, do you hear?"

"Yes, dear. What is it, then?"

"Now, no opposition, mind. I wish the boy to be an engineer."

"But, my dear, what are you talking about? We haven't any boy."

"Oh, yes, that is so. I had forgotten that," said the professor as he resumed his seat in the rocking chair.

A Quick Cure For Bee Stings.

First pull the sting from the flesh, then bruise the fresh leaves of the common weed known as vervain and rub the wound well with them, after which bind to it a plaster of the crushed leaves well moistened. This will prevent swelling and ease the pain. Vervain may be used in its dried state by steeping the leaves in hot water. It is gathered in September by negro nurses in the south and hung up to dry for winter use.—Ladies' Home Journal.

When a Man Weighs Less.

A man weighs less when the barometer is high, notwithstanding the fact that the atmospheric pressure on him is more than when the barometer is low. As the pressure of air on an ordinary sized man is about fifteen tons, the rise of the mercury from twenty-nine to thirty-one inches adds about one ton to the load he has to carry.

Doubtful Praise.

Miss Uppercee—The audience went wild over my singing. I had to repeat my song no less than four times.

Mrs. Oldtimer—Why, that's just the time they used to make over me at school. I've known the time when the teacher made me say my lesson over half a dozen times.

He Had Them.

Dr. Joanes—I say, waiter, I believe you've got palpitation of the heart, haven't you?

Waiter—Yessir, and they're uncommon nice today, sir. Will you try some, sir?

What is Life to You.

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

COLORS AND MATERIALS.

Blue Is Taking the Place of Brown For Tailor Modes.

The iron gray frieses which have been so popular all winter are giving way to new, brighter and lighter tweeds in snowflake designs. The most fashionable are in light pepper and salt, though grays and purples are always worn during this time of the year.

The fancy for brown is giving way to rough blue canvas—in fact, to canvas of every shade, especially where tailor made frocks are concerned. Pipings and braid are much used and are very pretty and smart. There seems no chance that glace as a trimming will disappear.

Moire is being much used both for coats and for bands of trimming. Charming little moire coats are made blouse and Eton fashion and trimmed with ecru lace, steel buttons and tiny pipings of black velvet. The sleeves are cut with large, flaring cuffs filled in with lace, or else they are simply puffed into a narrow band.

One of the newest models in tailor mades is shown in the sketch. The collarless blouse jacket shows a slashed effect in both the waist and sleeves. There is also a wide, heavy lace collar. The skirt has a box plaited flounce and a shaped yoke bordered by embroidery, which also extends in two straight lines on either side of the front gore.

The hat is of coarse yellow straw trimmed with a flat bow of ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Arabian Coffee.

The Arabian coffee maker, having prepared his fire of charcoal and placed near it a huge pot containing water, takes a few handfuls of green coffee berries, carefully culls out all imperfect berries and foreign substances and then places the best of the berries in an iron ladle held over the fire. The berries are permitted to roast until they begin to smoke and are then, while still uncharred, placed in a small mortar and carefully brayed with a pestle closely fitting the cup of the mortar.

The berries are not, however, reduced to a dust. While this process has been going on, a small pot has been half filled with tepid water from the large pot and placed over the fire. When the water in the small pot has begun to boil, the broken coffee berries are thrown in, and the boiling is permitted to go on for a short time, the decoction being stirred with a spoon when it shows signs of boiling over. The coffee is then served in small cups without cream or sugar.

Applying Epithets.

A Virginia statesman in Washington has two boys, about five and six years old respectively, who are not such "angel children" that they do not scrap occasionally. The family health is discussed a good deal by the parents in the presence of the youngsters, and the two evils held to be the very worst that can be feared are microbes and drafts. The other morning the boys got into a wrangle.

"Oh, you're a microbe," hissed the elder in his anger.

That dreadful epithet had never been applied to the other before, and for a moment he was stunned by the insult. He tried to come back at his brother, but at first he was at a loss what to say. "You—you—you're another," he blurted out at last and then caught himself. "No, you ain't, either; you are a draft!" he exclaimed, and the scrap was on.

Capital and Labor.

The trouble between capital and labor is just in proportion to the ignorance of the employer and the ignorance of the employed. The more intelligent the employer the better, and the more intelligent the employed the better. It is never education, it is never knowledge, that produces collision. It is always ignorance on the part of one or the other of the two forces. Speaking from an experience not inconsiderable, I make this statement. Capital is ignorant of the necessities and the just dues of labor, and labor is ignorant of the necessities and dangers of capital. That is the true origin of friction between them.—Carnegie's "Empire of Business."

Rest Before Meals.

The value of a slight rest before meals is, according to a physician, very great. Indigestion more often arises from eating when tired or excited than is understood. In his dietary for a consumptive patient a very well known specialist insists upon a full twenty minutes' rest before all meals except breakfast. Five minutes' complete rest, of mind as well as body, is none too much for the person of average health, and it should be taken regularly.

A VALUABLE TYPEWRITER.

Improvements Make It Worth Much More Than Its Original Cost.

A New York bachelor author who writes on a machine wrote a note recently to a spinster authoress who still works by hand and incidentally called her attention to the fact that if she wished him to do so he would secure a machine for her at $5 per month, guaranteed to write poetry, able articles, fiction, etc. A day or so later he received a reply written in a beautifully clear, round hand to this effect:

My Dear Mr. ——: This is my typewriting machine. Isn't it nice? It is called the Blank typewriter. It is sound, kind, in good repair, warranted to travel well in single harness, and if you do not say it is the nicest machine you ever knew I shall refuse to believe that you were born when knighthood was in flower. It is warranted, like yours, to write able articles, poetry and fiction with equal facility, but, unlike yours, it is not for sale at $5 a month. Its original cost was large, and I have put so many improvements on it since that I cannot dispose of it save at a considerable advance and even then should be unwilling to part with it except to a responsible person warranted to treat it with care.

At present the author is striving strenuously to become a millionaire so that he may secure the services of this inimitable typewriter.

The Life of Circus People.

Circus people are pretty clannish. From generation to generation they are circus people, and the generations do not perish from off the face of the earth nearly so fast as the insurance companies seem to think. There are plenty of good performers that will never see sixty again and some that are seventy-five years old and still as supple as you could wish for a man fifty years younger. More than in any other branch of the amusement business is the family life kept up, for every woman who travels with a circus must have a natural protecter with her. If it isn't a father or a brother, it must be a husband, and as circuses don't carry people around with them just for the pleasure of their company the women marry in the profession and bring up their children to it. The little boy you see riding around so gayly on his daddy's head has to learn his lessons here just the same as if he went to school.—Woman's Home Companion.

When the Sun Will Fail.

The total of the sun's heat is equal to that which would be required to keep up 476,000 millions of millions of millions of horsepower, or about 78,000 horsepower for every square yard, and yet the modern dynamical theory of heat shows that the sun's mass must fall in or contract thirty-five meters per annum to keep up that tremendous energy.

At this rate of contraction the solar radius will be .01 per cent less in 2,000 years from now than it is today. According to these deductions, a time must come when the temperature must fall. This being the case, it is inconceivable that the sun will continue to emit heat sufficient to sustain animal life for more than 10,000,000 years longer.

A Wrong Idea of the Nerves.

The Action of the Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys Dependent on the Nerve Force—Extraordinary Results From the use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There is not a single organ of the human body that can perform its functions without a liberal supply of nerve force—the motive power of the body.

The nervous system should never be thought of as a separate part of the body. Its branches extend from the brain and the spinal column to the tips of the fingers and toes. Just as the blood is carried by the arteries to every nook and corner of the system, so the nerve force, by means of nerve fibres, is distributed, and nerve force is just as important to life as is good, rich blood.

When the nerve cells are wasted, by over-exertion, worry or disease, more rapidly than they are replaced, the action of the heart becomes slower, the lungs begin to weaken, the stomach fails to do its duty, the liver and kidneys falter in their work as filters, and the excretory organs get feeble and inactive. You may be a sufferer from weakness and exhaustion of the nerves, and may have been attributing the trouble to the stomach, kidneys or other organs. Nervous exhaustion is marked by restlessness, disturbed sleep, languid, weary feelings, headache, dyspepsia and bodily pains, inability to concentrate the thoughts, absent-mindedness, weakened memory, twisting of the muscles and eyelids, sudden startings and jerking of the limbs in sleep, dizziness, irritability and gloomy forbodings.

Through the medium of the nervous system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food carries new life and energy to every organ of the body. It strengthens the action of the heart, invigorates the stomach, makes the kidneys, liver and bowels more active, and builds up the entire system.

If you experience any of these symptoms of nervous exhaustion, you can rely absolutely on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to cure you. It does not stimulate, but thoroughly cures, by forming new, red corpuscles in the blood and creating nerve force.

Mr. E. Rosevear, a retired school teacher of 2 Markham-place, Toronto, says:

"I am getting up in years, and, as a natural result of severe study, my health has been undermined, and my system very much run down. I got so weak and nervous, and suffered so much from dizziness, that I found it necessary to begin a treatment of some kind. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been so highly spoken of that I decided to give it a trial, and can now speak of its merits from personal experience. It has built me up wonderfully, and strengthened and restored my nervous system."

Lasts a Lifetime.

That is just what they say of Vapo-Cresolene. The vaporizer is practically indestructible, and the Cresolene is certainly not expensive. This way of treating affections of the throat is most economical, and is also most effective. Our little picture illustrates how it's used. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light lamp beneath, and then breathe in the soothing, healing vapor. For whooping-cough and croup it's a perfect specific. 6

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra bottles of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

WINTER IN JAPAN.

The Natives Make Little Effort to Combat the Trying Conditions.

The Japanese winter is most trying on account of its continual dampness, but the Japanese are content to remain cold. They make almost no effort to overcome it. The old "bushido" (chivalrous) idea of the "samurai" (knights) was that it was effeminate to feel cold, and such is their severe training that they do not really feel it as we do. The wearing of some extra "kimonos" and the use of a "hibachi" or brazier in which are a few tiny sticks of lighted charcoal are the only concessions to winter weather. With the "hibachi" they never pretend to heat more than their finger tips, which they hold over the coals. It is used when the house is entirely open.

The houses, as every one knows, are built of thin, light wood, and the sliding panels which serve for doors and windows have paper panes. They are as apt to be open as closed during the day. The coolies wear thin blue cotton clothes and are always paddling through the mud. The storekeepers sit out in their open booths, and the women go bareheaded about the streets. In the houses of the rich the still cold behind the closed panels is often more intense than that outside in the sunshine, where the air is stirring.

Domesticated Ferns.

The lover of ferns will find it an easy matter to domesticate many of the most attractive varieties if he or she will be content to take young plants. They should be removed from their native haunts with a good amount of soil adhering to their roots. Give them, if possible, a shady place to grow in, and make the soil as light as that in which they originally grew. It is well worth while to get a wagon load or two of soil from the woods for the especial use of these plants. In lifting them wrap each in a deep basket, applying enough water to saturate the soil clinging to the roots. Do not plant them in the border until after sundown. If the next day is sunny, shade them well and shower them frequently. In some instances most of the old fronds will die off, but if care is taken in lifting and planting and the necessary amount of shade and water is given few of the leaves will be lost.—Eben E. Rexford in Lippincott's Magazine.

Man Eating Wild Men.

In the celebrated "Travailes" of Edward Webb (1590) are dozens of stories that would make Munchausen turn green with envy. One of the most celebrated of these is his story of the wild men of Prester John, which is as follows:

"In the court of Prester Iohn there is a wilde man and another in the high street of Constantinople whose allowance is every day a quarter of raw mutton, and when any man dyeth for some notorious offence then they are allowed every day a quarter of man's flesh. These wilde men are chained fast to a post every day, the one in Prester Iohn's courtd, the other in the high street of Constantinople, each of them having a mantell about their shoulders, and all over their bodyes they have wonderful long haire. They are chained by the neck lest they speedily devour all that cometh within their reach."

The Human Voice.

Of all the marvelous and mysterious things about the human body the voice is perhaps the most wonderful. No one has ever seen it, and no one can tell what it is.

The soprano pours from her throat notes of the sweetest melody, reaching chords so high it seems something must surely snap. The basso drops his voice till it goes so low as to make you wonder how he does it. The baby cries. The orator and the actor move people to mirth or sorrow.

By contracting or expanding the muscles of the throat and by inhaling and exhaling air the throat produces the thousands of sounds that we call "voice."

Desperate Partings.

It is no uncommon thing in Suffolk to see on some country platform a girl starting for her first place in service, with the whole family assembled to see her off. There is bitter weeping and much expenditure of kisses, of maternal injunctions and presentation of flowers. If you watch the inexperienced traveler, you will probably find that her destination is no farther than the next station, a distance of perhaps five or ten miles. To go beyond London is considered the world's end.

The Honest Statesman.

Some years ago an Englishman visited Washington and met a statesman belonging to the minority party who gave a most startling account of the corruption existing in the government and the terrible struggle he had had against it.

"Do you mean to say, sir," asked the stranger seriously, "that you are the only honest man in the American government?"

"Well," replied the statesman, stroking his beard meditatively, "I wouldn't go so far as that. There may be four or five more somewhere."

Steel Wire Ropes.

Steel wire ropes should be of crucible steel, having a breaking strength of seventy to seventy-six tons per square inch. Large pulleys are more necessary for wire than for hemp ropes, the smallest diameter permissible being 1,300 to 1,400 times the diameter of the wire in the rope if of iron and 2,000 times if of steel. For mining purposes wire ropes are best made with a hemp core, being more flexible.

Japanese Lacquer.

A piece of genuine Japanese lacquer costs the native artist almost a lifetime to perfect and is produced by hundreds of thin coats of lacquer laid on at considerable intervals of time, the value consisting rather in the labor bestowed than in the quality of the material used. First class lacquer work can scarcely be scratched by a needle.

A Delicious Breakfast Dish for Summer.

Malt Breakfast Food

Popular in City and Country.

As a summer breakfast dish Malt Breakfast Food is unquestionably the leading grain food in city and country. It is free from all the irritating, heating and hard-to-digest qualities peculiar to oatmeal and other grain breakfast foods. A breakfast of Malt Breakfast Food will give more strength, energy and vigour than any other form of food can afford.

A prominent Toronto gentleman writes as follows; "Last summer to avoid the city heat and dust, we secured comfortable quarters in the Muskoka district. Our regular morning meal was Malt Breakfast Food, and quite often we used the delicious food for supper. My children were delighted with it and thoroughly relished it. We use it every morning in our city home, and we will have no other while we can get Malt Breakfast Food." Your grocer can supply you.

Hair and Grass.

There is a major in a certain English regiment who has a great contempt for incapacity of any kind and is somewhat impatient into the bargain. Some time ago he was in charge of a detachment of men, and a sergeant complained that he could get no man to undertake the duty of barber to the company.

"Is there no gardener in the company?" asked the major testily. "I seem to remember one. Send him to me."

The man was duly sent, but on receiving orders to act as barber ventured to expostulate.

"Great heavens!" yelled the major. "If you can cut grass, you can cut hair! Go and do it."

The man went, but what the others said is unprintable.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

They Are Much Trimmed and Fasten Down the Back.

The new shirt waists are very fancy and are distinguished by the softness of their materials. Nothing stiff is allowed to enter into the wardrobe of the smart woman this summer.

The new waists almost invariably fasten down the back with tiny round buttons. This is necessary because the style of trimming demands a front that is not cut up. Wide insertions and bands of embroidery are used in a variety of manners, but the low bust line is always preserved. Many of the dressier waists are entirely covered with buttonhole embroidery.

Tucks, of course, figure largely, and one of the prettiest patterns has a tucked yoke, very low and V shaped, bordered with a wide insertion of lace, which also extends over the tops of the sleeves in the guise of caps.

Plain colors, principally white, black and ecru, will be the smart thing for cotton waists this summer.

The waist in the sketch is of black point d'esprit, black velvet ribbons and black chantilly over white taffeta. The waist is collarless and is cut out in a round shape. The narrow velvet ribbons run after the manner of perpendicular stripes down the waist. They are crossed at the bust line by a wide insertion of black chantilly. The sleeves are treated in a similar manner. They reach to the elbow and terminate in two very full ruffles. At the left of the front there is a full rosette of the black point d'esprit with two long ends.

Diarrhoea Weakens the System.

and if not checked becomes a chronic condition. No remedy compares with Nerviline, which is prepared especially for stomach and bowel troubles. As a radical cure for cramps, colic, gas in the stomach, summer complaint, Nerviline excels everything in the medical line, as an indispensible household staple, and costs 25c. Buy a bottle to-day.

DO NOT NEGLECT THE LITTLE ILLS OF TO-DAY.

The Use of

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Eradicate From the Blood and System the Seeds of Disease.

As grains of sand make our mighty mountains, drops of water the mighty ocean, and as our massive buildings are made of one brick piled upon another; so do the little ills of life contribute to the building up of deadly diseases in the body.

Experienced medical men claim that fully three fourths of our men and women enter the summer season with little ills and symptoms of disease, which must develop into serious and fatal troubles if not banished at once.

We hear our friends complaining daily of rheumatic tendencies, dyspepsia, pains in the side and back, nervousness and sleeplessness; and we see with our own eyes the effects of impure blood in facial blotches, eruptions and sores. The little ills and pains of to-day build up the alarming and fatal diseases that follow days and weeks of neglect.

Wise and intelligent people who have looked into the claims of Paine's Celery Compound and followed its remarkable cures of relatives friends and neighbours, use it themselves with faith and confidence, to banish their symptoms of coming troubles, to cleanse the blood, to re-establish nerve force, energy and strength so that they will be in condition to withstand the enervating effects of the coming hot weather.

In every community where Paine's Celery Compound has been used at this season to banish disease, it is regarded as a godsend. Workers in offices, shops, factories and weary and run-down wives and mothers in their homes, have thanked Heaven for Dr. Phelp's marvellous prescription, because it made them well. Try a bottle or two, ye who are ailing and sick; it will give you what you most stand in need of—health and new life.

Two Gifts to the Orchestra.

On one occasion, when Von Bulow had to conduct an orchestral concert at which a piece written by an aristocratic amateur was to be performed, the composer requested permission to direct a rehearsal and on obtaining it opened a parcel containing seventy pencils, which he handed to the members of the band, asking them to mark his intentions in their parts, as he would give them by word of month.

Hans von Bulow noted this matter of detail and left the hall. Presently he returned, also with a parcel, and on resuming his place at the desk gravely handed out seventy pieces of india rubber, with which the players were to erase the directions which the composer had given them.

Mushroom Tests.

There are two sure ways of telling the difference between wholesome mushrooms and the poisonous fungi which so closely resemble them. If they are to be boiled, put an onion with them, and if the onion remains white there is nothing to fear. If it turns black, throw away the contents of the dish, for poison lurks there. A common test is to sprinkle a little salt on the pink underpart, and if it turns black you have real mushrooms. If the pink changes to yellow, you have a danger signal before. If precautions like these were taken with all mushrooms, fresh or canned, there would be less sickness in the world.

The Cocoa Plantation.

A traveler in South America, where the cocoa tree is largely cultivated, speaks of the great care with which the young plants have to be protected from the sun, which, if very strong, is fatal to them. To secure this protection the planters shield them by banana trees and plantain trees, the broad leaves of which give them the needed shade. And even when they are fully grown they need protection, which is given by trees known as "immortels," or, as the planters call them, "the mother of the cocoa." Thus the whole cocoa plantation has a sort of canopy.

Reporters and Humorists.

Inquiring Boy—What is a reporter?

Father—A reporter is a man who writes up an Irish parade as if he were an Irishman and then turns about and writes up an English celebration as if he were an Englishman.

Boy—What is a humorist?

Father—A humorist is a man who writes up an Irish parade as if he were an Englishman and an English celebration as if he were an Irishman.

Turkey's Sacred Spot.

The Chirkau Scherif, or hall of the Holy Garment, is the most sacred place in Turkey, for it shelters the mantle of the prophet Mohammed, his staff, his saber, his standard and, among other relics, two hairs from his venerable beard, which are inclosed in a casket of gold.

Defined.

Author's Little Boy—Papa, what is a magazine editor?

Author (of some repute)—Why, he is the man in the magazine office who prints the articles he ought to send back and sends back the articles he ought to print.

Not Entirely.

A little investigation shows that the strong taste of pure cod liver oil cannot be entirely removed without entirely removing the oil. You can taste the oil in Scott's Emulsion, but it is not unpleasant.

Singular.

"My entire clerical force went out on strike yesterday," said Bluffman.

"That so?" replied the caustic man. "What was his grievance?"

Water thrown upon ice in the arctic regions will shiver it just as boiling water breaks glass. This is because the ice is so much colder than the water.

A WINNING TRICK.

He Lost All His Bets and Made Money by Doing So.

The captain of one rather old and slow steamer of years ago, finding that he would have to be a long time in China before he received a full cargo of tea and would have probably to return in ballast, began, to every one's astonishment, to say that, owing to the repairs that had been done to his engines, he hoped to make a racing passage back to England. Then, still more to the astonishment of the captains of the fast steamers and the world at large, he commenced to back himself to make the fastest passage home.

In such very considerable sums of money did he wager that people began to think there was something in it, and the merchants sent their tea almost entirely to his ship, arguing that as the captain stood to lose £500 the repairs to his steamer's engines had probably put him in a position to bet almost on a certainty.

Of course the steamer, whose greatest speed was eight knots an hour, arrived in England weeks after the others, and the captain lost £250, but instead of having to lie in China waiting his chance of cargo coming in from the interior, a probable delay of weeks, he had cleared in a few days after his bets became known to the public with a full ship, thus recouping to his owners, who of course paid his betting losses, a considerable number of thousands of pounds profit.

They Use Morphine.

"Snakes of many poisonous varieties can be handled without danger if the handling is done properly," says a dealer in animals. "Most people imagine that snake charmers handle only non-poisonous snakes, or snakes with the poison sacs removed, but such is not always the case. I have seen snake charmers fearlessly handle reptiles of the deadliest variety without apparent danger to themselves, the snakes in fact making no attempt to bite. A snake does not bite unless angered, and snake charmers are careful in their handling to soothe the animal instead of alarming it. They generally begin their manipulation by stroking and avoid all sudden movement in handling the snake. Most snake charmers I have come in contact with were morphine fiends, and by the absorption of this poison they were impervious to the poison of any but the most deadly variety of snakes."

Grow Inside.

Little children should grow not only outwardly, but should develop big strong hearts and lungs and other vital organs to prepare for adult life. Scott's Emulsion is an excellent medicine for growth both outside and inside.

Absentminded.

A woman who has an absentminded husband who will bear watching was startled a few weeks ago on her way down the church aisle to see that the good man, who had preceded her, was still wearing his hat. She transmitted a signal to him to remove the objectionable article, when she was still further horrified by seeing him remove his teeth instead.

Inseparable.

"Now, then, Willie," said Uncle John, "aren't you tired looking at the monkeys?"

"All right," reluctantly replied the boy, who was on his first visit to the zoo. "Now let's go to the place where the organ grinder's cage is."

Cut Out the Red.

It is a good thing for a young man to try to make his mark in the world so long as he uses something besides red paint in doing it.

The man who covets his neighbor's house might change his mind if he could look into the cupboards.

BLOOD DISEASED MEN

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itchiness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—indications of the secondary stage. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over 20 years. No names used without written consent.

Mr. E. A. C. writes: "Your remedies have done me more good than Hot Springs and all the doctors and medicines I had previously tried. I have not felt any of those pains or seen any ulcers or blotches for over seven years and the outward symptoms of the loathsome disease have entirely disappeared. My hair has grown in fully again and I am married and happy."

LOOK FOR Expected NEWS TO-DAY.

Announcement of Terms of Surrender is Expected.

THE NEW TAXES TO STAY.

Rumors of Their Withdrawal Premature—Consols Again Advance.

London, May 27, 6 a.m.—A meeting of the Cabinet is summoned for noon to-day. It is generally expected that Mr. Balfour will be in a position to inform the House of Commons in the afternoon that the terms of the surrender of the Boer forces have been arranged. The Daily Mail, however, does not look for an official announcement before Thursday or Friday.

Justice Girouard of Ottawa is here.

London, May 27, 1 a.m. — The reassembling of Parliament has done little toward clearing the situation in South Africa. A languid House listened to non-committal explanations from Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain, and settled down to a perfunctory debate on supply, after Mr. Gerald Balfour had glibly rattled off the percentages of the tonnage of the White Star and Dominion Lines to the entire British commercial marine. The belief that peace would be definitely arranged in a few days was generally held in the Commons, and was based upon the opinion that the Ministers and the Boer leaders had gone too far to turn back.

There were various versions of a Boer despatch in circulation toward midnight, with a feeling of increased confidence that the war was practically at an end. The rumours that either the extra penny on the income tax or the flour and grain registry tax would be dropped were clearly premature. Even if peace be concluded this week no material reduction of the military forces can be ordered for a long period. The buoyancy of feeling was unmistakable on the Ministerial side. Consols again advanced sharply. Heavy buying orders were reported from America and the continent.

The suggestion that the King is so anxious to have peace before the coronation that he is bringing pressure to bear upon the Ministers to make large concessions to the Boers is scouted in official circles. The King is described as not less patriotic than Queen Victoria was before him, and as equally mindful of the obligations of a constitutional ruler to be guided by the advice of his Ministers. The King can hardly be more anxious for peace than the Ministers or the country.

"A Lancaster bachelor, out of patience with the flies which invaded his room, got two sheets of sticky fly paper which he placed on chairs near a window. Returning late that evening, he forgot the sticky stuff and sat down in one of the chairs. He soon got up and proceeded to pick the paper off his trousers. As it was hard to get at, he took the pants off, and while cleaning them unconsciously sat down in the other chair and then stood up and meditated."

The above item clipped from an exchange would point the moral that it is better to use Wilson's Fly Pads (poison) clean, safe and sure. One 10 cent package will kill more flies than 300 sheets of sticky fly paper.

WOOD FAMINE AT AN END.

The wood famine which has prevailed in town recently, came to an end on the receipt of two scows of hardwood, both green and dry, by J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

THE ELECTION AND LOCAL INTERESTS.

and advancing the business of private citizens having transactions with the various Departments.

No member of the Opposition, however talented or competent, could exercise the same influence or do anything like the work that Mr. Stratton has done and will do in helping forward his constituency.

It is an honour as well as a practical advantage to any community to be represented by a member of the Government.

The practical men of West Peterborough, of all classes, fully realize this. They do not want to make experiments which may jeopardize their position. They will vote for Mr. Stratton, who has done all that a public man could do to deserve their support, to make known the traffic and industrial facilities of Peterborough, to advance its material interests and to maintain its position as the foremost town of the Dominion.

In view of these facts, it is self-evident, that a vote for Mr. Stratton will be in the best interests of the workingman, the manufacturer, the business man, the merchant and the property holder, and of the town in all departments of the varied interests, whose promotion involves the growth and prosperity of this town and the surrounding country.

ST. LUKE'S NOTES.

At St. Luke's church on Sunday night Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector, preached a very appropriate sermon, setting out the duty of every elector as to the exercising of his franchise. In the course of his remarks he reviewed the manner in which the power of governing was transferred from the monarch to the people, how that the ministers of the crown are merely the servants of the people, and how that it remains for the electors to say who shall be elected. Ministers of the Crown cannot monopolize the power of governing any longer than the people will permit. Rev. Mr. Langfeldt went on to show how that it was our duty to take an interest in the political affairs of our country. It is imperative that we should exercise our franchise, and while he was not there to say for which candidate to vote, he hoped that they would vote honestly, according to their conscience, and for honest men.

The following is copied from The Nassau Guardian and Bahama Islands Advocate and shows that Salada is for sale everywhere:

Rusticus presents his compliments and thanks the proprietors of The Model Grocery for their flattering reference to Island Echoes as well as for a package of most delicious Salada Tea. I am largely indebted to Longfellow for the following verses, but I feel pardoned on account of his well-known liking for "The cup that cheers, but not inebriates." As a matter of fact,

"Poem or pun,
There's nothing new
Under the sun,
Said Solomon,
And he said true."

SALADA.

"The shades of night were falling fast,"
As down the street a good wife passed,
And in her hand she bore a charm,
To keep her husband safe from harm,
Salada.

Her "brow was" glad; her loving mate,
She knew would meet her at the gate,
She knew he loved her best, but then,
He loved his "cup" like other men,
Salada.

"In happy homes (she) saw the light"
Of stoves that glowed. And kettles bright
All boiling hard as hard could be,
For why? their inmates all drank tea,
Salada.

"Try not" Oolong, the Grocer said;
"This is the Tea that soothes the head,
E'en Lipton must his "Brands" give up,
Since he has failed to lift the Cup,"
Salada.

"O, stay," her neighbour said, "and take
Just one more sip for friendship sake,"
She thought of home—"My husband's there,
Without his tea he will despair,"
Salada.

"Beware" the stuff, they sell in trade;
Don't buy at all, until you're made
Quite sure it's stamped in letter plain
As guarantee the famous name,
Salada.

"At break of day" when good wives rise,
There is one thing they greatly prize,
And that's a cup of liquid bliss,
And if you want to know, 'tis this,
Salada.

A traveller "from across the pond,"
On afternoons of this was fond,
The good wife told her where to find
A tea that's unexcelled in kind,
Salada.

"There in the twilight" they did part,
And each one pondered in her heart,
The fact that all the finest tea
Was at The Model Grocery,
Salada

HARDENED TO COLD.

Natives of Siberia Don't Mind a Below Zero Temperature.

Frequently, when we could not expose our ears for two minutes without having them frozen, says a traveler in Siberia, the natives would go for an hour at a time with their hoods thrown back from their heads, and when it required constant watchfulness to keep our noses from freezing they did not appear to notice the temperature at all.

One morning in January I stood in perfect amazement at their disregard of the low temperature. They worked for at least half an hour with bare hands packing up the tent and utensils, handling the packages and lashing them together with icy seal thongs without experiencing the least apparent inconvenience, while I partly froze my fingers striking a light for my pipe with a flint and steel, the whole operation taking not more than three minutes.

The night before, happening to go out of the tent after our men had retired, I passed their camp, which was near by. Their fire had burned to a pile of embers, barely affording me light enough to distinguish the sleepers. They were lying coiled up on small deerskins, with their backs to the embers and their fur coats thrown loosely over their naked bodies.

The coat of one of them had slipped almost entirely off his body, leaving his back and shoulders exposed to a temperature of 18 degrees F. below zero, and, though his hair was frosted, he snored as soundly as if in comfortable quarters.

Mr. Gladstone's Catch.

"How many members of this house," asked Mr. Gladstone once in the course of a debate on electoral qualifications, "can divide £1,330 17s. 6d. by £2 13s. 9d.?"

"Six hundred and fifty-eight!" shouted one member.

"The thing cannot be done!" exclaimed another.

A roar of laughter greeted this last remark. But it was true, nevertheless. You cannot multiply or divide money by money. You may repeat a smaller sum of money as many times as it is contained in a larger sum of money, but that is a very different thing. If you repeat 5 shillings as often as there are hairs in a horse's tail, you do not multiply 5 shillings by a horse tail. Perhaps you did not know this before. Never mind; you need not be ashamed of your ignorance, for it was shared, as has been demonstrated, by the entire house of commons (bar one member), including the then chancellor of the exchequer.

How to Form the Reading Habit.

In order to organize odd minutes into fruitful hours one must have a consistent scheme and keep the means of carrying it out within reach. Too many people read the books which come in their way instead of putting themselves in the way of getting the right books. They buy and borrow without thought or plan because they do not understand that reading ought to be a resource as well as a recreation. Decide in advance what books you will read, and do not take up with those which drift in your direction. Do not burden yourself with a scheme so extensive that it discourages you; do not at the start plan courses of reading so vast that you are weighed down with their magnitude. Begin in a quiet and easy way by planning to read consecutively a few books in some field which interests you.—Hamilton W. Mable in Ladies' Home Journal.

No Names Needed.

A western Kansas story shows how to be personal without mentioning names.

It was in a poker game at Colby. The sheriff of Logan county had been steadily losing to the treasurer of Ellis county. The treasurer of Ellis county had the misfortune to be possessed of but one eye, and he was a little clumsy in handling the cards. After a play in which the treasurer took a big pot from the sheriff the sheriff said, "Gentlemen, I ain't a-namin' no names, but if some of you don't quit raisin' cards from the floor he'll get his other eye knocked out!"

Assyrian Seals.

The ancient Assyrians nearly 6,000 years ago put in moist clay their seals, engraved in intaglio upon precious stones, on chests and doors, in order to prevent their being opened. There were no locks or keys in those days. If they wished to send a private letter, they would often seal it with a hippogriff, which fabulous winged horse was regarded as the emblem of secrecy. Centuries later the Greeks and Romans adopted similar devices for the same purpose.

McSwiney's Gun.

Near Horn Head, County Donegal, Ireland, there is a hole in the rocks called McSwiney's gun. It is on the seacoast and is said to have connection with a cavern. When the north wind blows and the sea is at half flood, the wind and the waves enter the cavern and send up jets of water from the "gun" to a height of more than 100 feet. The jets of water are accompanied by explosions which may be heard for miles.

THEY DON'T BELIEVE THEMSELVES.

Absurdity of Mr. Miller's Claim That he is Elected.

His own Action, the Actions of His Friends Show That They Have no Belief im Their Yellow-bill Roorbach.

Mr. Miller, representing the Opposition party, states through his agent, Mr. G. W. Hatton, by means of bilious-coloured bills, that Mr. Stratton is disqualified, and that he (Mr. Miller) is consequently elected.

If this is the case, Conservatives supporting Mr. Miller need not vote; Mr. Miller's supporters need not work; his supporters can stay at home — if he's elected, he's elected, and needs no votes.

If Mr. Miller, and his agent, and his friends, believed for one moment the absurd ghost story that Mr. Miller is practically elected for the reasons stated in the yellow journal roorback, would they be raising heaven and earth, and tearing about town and country, to get votes?

If their claim has any foundation, what is the use of votes?

Every vote Mr. Miller may canvass to-day, every voter his supporters may draw to the polls to-morrow, gives the lie to the claim of Mr. George Walford Hatton that Mr. Stratton is ineligible, and that, therefore, Mr. Miller is elected.

A farmer who knows he has a good deed for his farm, won't go to law to establish a good title. If Mr. Miller, or George Walford Hatton, et al., believed for a second that Mr. Miller has a ghost of a claim to his seat, they would be building bon fires, throwing up their hats, and collecting bets, instead of breaking their necks to get votes, which they say they do not need.

There's nothing in the story that Mr. Miller is elected, and Mr. Stratton ineligible.

The fact is Mr. Stratton is in the field, a qualified candidate, and a thousand times the better qualified candidate, and will be elected to-morrow.

His supporters, and citizens all, believe in fair dealing, and despise trickery, and will rally to his side, and poll their votes for him.

Because in so doing they will show that they appreciate a representative who has done so much in the past, and will continue to do so much in the future for West Peterborough.

Let no supporter of Mr. Stratton be deceived by a story, which the concoctors, by their own actions, declare to be false.

Vote for Stratton.

THE HOUR FOR WORK HAS COME.

To-morrow the electors of West Peterborough will be called upon to decide the momentous question of its representation for the next four years.

You will be called upon to vote for your own best interests, to vote for the town and riding and not for an abstraction.

You will vote for the candidate who will best serve your interests.

You will vote for a candidate of tried business ability, of proven fidelity, of large influence—one who has done much for Peterborough and is in a position to do even better in the future.

Let every elector who desires the progress and prosperity of Peterborough, come out to-morrow and cast a ballot for Stratton.

Let every elector exercise his franchise in the interest of West Peterborough—to-morrow you are voting for West Peterborough—make no mistake in that and you will vote for the candidate who will do the most for West Peterborough.

Come out early and vote, undeterred by the last-minute stories invented and disseminated to take unfair advantage of the electors.

Vote for Stratton.

A LAST WORD.

The campaign is over, so far as argument and the discussion of the issues before the electors are concerned. All that remains to be done is to register the popular verdict. Every phase of the situation has been thoroughly presented. All that can be said for or against the Liberal Government has been iterated and re-iterated through the press and on the platform. The people have made up their minds, and there can be no doubt that the conclusion reached is to sustain in power the party that, though they have served them long, have also served them faithfully and wisely.

The logic of events is more forcible than argument. Accomplished facts appeal more powerfully to the public mind than theories. Dead issues are out of place in a practical busy age. A record is better than a platform. A Government that can point to vast improvement in social and industrial conditions, to a degree of earnest activity and prosperity, which, though great, is merely an earnest of the larger development of the future, as the result of well-conceived legislation, and careful administration of the public resources, occupies an impregnable position. The Government of Hon. G. W. Ross has been, in the best sense of the word, progressive. It has devoted its energies, its experience, and its resources, to practical objects, with the view of advancing the position of the province. It has encouraged every branch of industry, every phase of commercial activity. It has safeguarded the rights and advanced the interests of every class.

The standard of the great staple industry of agriculture has been marvellously improved. Ontario now takes a foremost rank among the provinces, and is second to none of the United States in the excellence of its farm products. The manufacturing and mercantile interests have been fostered; new markets have been created by the opening up of New Ontario, and by the successful efforts made to promote the export trade with Britain. The abuses which had grown up in connection with the industrial system have been remedied by the enactment of labour legislation, unsurpassed for comprehensiveness and efficiency in any country. The stimulus of the beneficent rule of the Liberal ministry, has been felt in every department of productive and business activity in the inauguration of a lengthened period of prosperity, such as we have never before enjoyed.

The people are asked to endanger these fortunate and favourable conditions by entrusting power to untried men, whose criticisms of what has been done, and whose policy in regard to the questions at issue, shows them to be in every respect inferior in calibre, in executive capacity, and in appreciation of the requirements of the province, to those they wish to replace. The electors are asked to make no change, for the sake of change—to dismiss tried and capable administrators, simply because they have been too long in office. They are asked to regard public office, not as merely the means to obtaining the best service and the wisest administration of public affairs, but as a perquisite to serve individual ambitions —as the plaything of opposing interests. It is of no particular consequence to the country whether each party gets its "turn," or receives its share of the loaves and fishes. But it is of great consequence that progress should not be endangered—that confidence should be maintained, and that the business interests of the community should be safeguarded.

The people cannot afford to trifle with the prosperity so long awaited, with the activity and progress so earnestly desired for years, just in order to gratify a caprice or serve the selfish aims of a group of ambitious politicians.

There is no constituency more keenly and vitally interested in the result than West Peterborough. The riding has more at stake than many others in the issue. Represented by a Cabinet Minister, we have had the advantage of the influence of Mr. Stratton who has been untiring in his exertions to forward all reasonable and just claims of his constituents and to see that the locality received fair consideration at the hands of the Government and the Legislature. The liberal appropriations made in the House for colonization roads and the care with which these amounts have been expended in localities where they were needed has done much to improve conditions in the northern section of the county. Other interests have not been overlooked. No man could have been more zealous or untiring as a representative than the Provincial Secretary whose arduous and responsible duties in the larger sphere of provincial administration never caused him to neglect the claims of those he represented.

If it would be a misfortune for the province as a whole to lose the services of the Liberal Government and enter upon a period of doubt and uncertainty under the rule of men of dubious ability and unstable policy, it would be doubly a misfortune for the farmers, the merchants, the manufacturers and the artizans of West Peterborough to lose in addition the advocacy and influence of a public man who has done so much to promote the welfare of the community.

The only possible danger lies in over-confidence. The only fear is that in so one-sided a contest many may be disposed to slacken their energies at the critical moment thinking victory already assured. Many a good cause has been wrecked, many a strong candidate defeated by the feeling of over-security, of contempt for an apparently feeble opponent. It is the worst mistake that can be made in politics. There is no absolute certainty till the last vote is polled. It is a great deal better to have two thousand votes too many than one too few. It is more satisfactory to have an overwhelming victory than to lose by a mere handful of votes, and receive hundreds of assurances next day that ten times the number could have been polled had it been known they were needed.

There will be no such fatal mistake to-morrow. The bigger the vote, the more emphatic will be the triumph of the Government and the stronger its influence for good.

Every voter interested in the prosperity of West Peterborough should work heartily for the return of Mr. Stratton until the polls are closed. There will be plenty of time for shouting afterwards.

Vote for Stratton and Ross; Build up Peterborough and Ontario.

POQUETTE WILL HANG.

The Government Has Decided Not to Interfere in the Case.

Ottawa, May 28.—The Government has decided not to interfere with the sentence imposed upon Joseph Poquette for murder, and he will be hanged at Kamloops, B.C., on June 3. Poquette's victim was a compatriot named Legere. The latter was married to an English woman. Poquette made advances to the woman, who, however, seems to have ignored his attentions. One night, while under the influence of liquor, he called at Legere's house, and, while the man and his wife were engaged in making up a bed for him, he shot the husband dead with a rifle. Mrs. Legere fled from the house, pursued by Poquette, but, turning off on a side road, escaped to a neighbor's farm. Poquette was apprehended, and then he told the police that he had beat Legere, but that it was all for love.

Sudden Death at Woodstock.

Woodstock, May 28.—John B. Sutherland, a carpenter, dropped dead a few feet from his own doorway yesterday afternoon. His dead body was found by a neighbor. Deceased leaves three sons and two daughters. He was 67 years of age.

Extended a Year.

Copenhagen, May 28.—King Christian, after a long conference with the Premier, Dr. Deuntzer, yesterday finally accepted the proposal of the United States to extend for a year the time limit for the ratification of the Danish West Indian treaty.

THE PEOPLE'S RAILWAY.

It may be claimed that the excitement of a general election interferes with the general business of the country, but whatever may be the case in this regard the election excitement does not prevent a business Government like the Ross Government doing business for the country. A few weeks ago the first sod of the Temiscamingue Railway, the first railway on this continent to be built and owned by the province without pledging the credit of the province for the necessary funds, to be built from the proceeds of the wild lands to which the construction, of the line will give ten-fold value. Mr. Latchford, Commissioner of Public Works, turned the first sod of the new railway as a formality, with an underlying significance—that the Government did not intend to let any grass grow under their feet in the matter of pushing the construction of this people's railway.

On Saturday Hon. F. R. Latchford awarded the contract for clearing the first twenty miles of the Government Railway from North Bay to Patrick Furlong, railway contractor, Eganville. There were twelve tenders, but Mr. Furlong's offer of $15 per acre proved to be the lowest. The timber on the land of commercial value is to be manufactured into ties, fenceposts, telegraph poles and cordwood. For this the contractor will be paid at the rate of fifteen cents each for ties, four cents each for fenceposts, 35 cents for telegraph poles and $1 per cord for cordwood. The clearing price per acre provides for the cutting into sawlog lengths of the longer timber, such as pine, which is capable of being manufactured into lumber.

What an important influence the building of this railway in opening up, developing and settling the rich Temiscamingue District will have, may be formed from the results that have attended the Government's policy in this direction under the serious handicap represented by absence of railway facilities.

In the fall of 1900 the Commissioner of Crown Lands personally visited the district, examined the soil, interviewed the few settlers who had been there long enough to grow crops, and returned impressed with the value of this section of new Ontario as a field for agricultural settlement. An active advertising propaganda was begun through the press, at public meetings, and by landseekers' excursions. The co-operation of the C. P. R. was obtained in the way of special rate of fare for landseekers to this district. The result was shown in the report of the Bureau of Colonization for 1901, and by returns of the land office for a portion of this year. In 1901 nine hundred and fifty-seven farms of 160 acres each were sold in the Temiscamingue townships to bona fide settlers, and over three hundred and fifty during 1902 previous to May 15th. These settlers are nearly all from Ontario, and there is no doubt many of them would have gone elsewhere had it not been for the active efforts of the Government in making the advantages of the district known.

Following up and of material assistance to the rapid settlement of the district, the building of the Temiskamingue Railway is a necessity, and that they did not wait for private enterprise to construct the road, which is urgently needed, but decided to build it as a public work, is further evidence of the business judgment of the Government. New Ontario is being built up, and the Ross Government are undoubtedly responsible to a very great extent for the building.

"NO OFFENCE" has been committed in the Ballot Printing. The statement to the contrary is just a desperate bluff. Mark your Ballot for Stratton.

A COMPARISON.

One of the most effective and interesting speeches delivered during the present electoral contest was that of Mr. A. F. Pirie, who spoke recently at a politial meeting in Stratford. Mr. Pirie spoke in favour of Mr. Ross, but the speech was not made up of the usual party phrases: for it gave a brief and practical review of the condition of Ontario. He compared the cost of Government in Ontario with the cost in the Province of Quebec and showed the following figures:

Service	Quebec	Ontario	Excess in Quebec
Civil Government	$285,872	$265,347	$20,525
Legislation	159,563	142,773	16,790
Administration of Jus.	595,742	427,854	167,888

At the same time Ontario was spending $758,466 upon Education whilst Quebec was spending only $439,758. Mr. Pirie also made another strong argument. He said the Provinces of confederation started evenly, but Ontario under Liberal rule had a surplus of $2,500,000, while Quebec had a debt of $22,000,000 under Conservative government.

SURPLUS OF LIBERAL GOVERNMENT.

The Sandfield Macdonald net surplus of $1,328,333, the amount left of his $3,800,000, with the liabilities he committed to his successors, deducted, has been substantially added to by the Liberal Government since 1871, until to-day the very satisfactory condition for 1901, is as follows, based on the plan laid down by the Finance Commission;

Surplus of assets after deducting liabilities presentably payable...	...$6,082,083
LIABILITIES — Present value of all outstanding railway and annuity certificates, extending over thirty years ...	...$3,510,790
Surplus of assets over liabilities	2,571,292

Extract of speech of W. R. Meredith, at London, May 21st, 1894; "I do not want to deceive you gentleman at all. I do not want to deceive you with regard to the financial position of the province of Ontario, and it would be unfair for me to say that there is no money. The assets of the province of Ontario represent a sum of four or five millions of dollars. The amount will not be definitely ascertained until the arbitration between the province of Ontario and the Dominion has been concluded."

There has been an increase of $20,673,000 in the value of farm lands of the province during the past four years. The value of buildings used for farming purposes has increased by over $13,000,000, while farming implements have increased in value over $6,000,000. Would you want to change rulers when such prosperous conditions prevail?

The Montreal Star (Conservative) has the following; "Ontario has the best school system in the world, but, to fully appreciate its worth, one should live in Ontario and then in Quebec. The development of the educational system of Ontario has been one of the chief cares of the Government, and the result is that a man can have his children educated better and cheaper at the public schools than anywhere else."

Two Sailors Drowned at Sea.

New York, May 28.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, which arrived yesterday from Bremen, Southampton and Cherbourg, encountered very stormy weather on the passage. On Friday, May 23 heavy southwest squalls made an exceedingly rough and dangerous sea. While six seamen were on the upper deck trying to close two heavy iron doors, they were caught in an enormous sea, which swept over the deck, and two of them were carried overboard and drowned. The other four managed to slip into a gangway and escaped. The passengers made up a purse of 4,500 marks for the families of the lost men.

W. K. Vanderbilt was a passenger on the steamer.

EVEN TORY TORONTO

Gave Premier Ross a Welcome of the Greatest Warmth.

LAST RALLY A BIG ONE INDEED.

A Thousand Persons Sought and Failed to Obtain Admission to Massey Hall Tuesday Night—A Great Ovation to a Great Premier—Thirty Years of Life to the Welfare of Ontario.

Toronto, May 28.—A truly magnificent welcome was tendered to Hon. Geo. W. Ross by over 5,000 people in Massey Hall last evening. The Premier closed a remarkably vigorous campaign with a meeting which will live long in the memory of those who were fortunate enough to attend it. Fortunate, because nearly a thousand persons sought in vain to obtain admission to the big building. Every seat on the ground floor, in the two galleries and on the platform were occupied, and hundreds stood near the doors throughout the evening. Toronto Liberals, with an admirable devotion and loyalty to their leaders, have held meetings in the past which were a credit to the cause they espoused. But in no particular can last night's gathering be said to take second place to any which have preceded it.

In point of attendance it "went the limit"; it offered sure and certain proof that no hall in the city can accommodate those who desire to hear Premier Ross outline his progressive policy. As for enthusiasm, there has been nothing like the demonstration of appreciation which characterized the gathering of last evening. The order maintained was excellent, and indicated the desire of the intelligent electors to hear a good case plainly put. A few interruptions were heard, but they served only to increase the enthusiasm for the speakers of the evening.

The three candidates in the city constituencies spoke very well, and scored many points in their arguments. They stirred the audience to a marked degree, and when Mr. Ross, who followed them, rose to speak, an ovation was accorded to him.

The Premier was in excellent trim, in spite of his hard work during the past few weeks. Scarcely a minute passed during his address in which he was not interrupted by loud applause. The enthusiasm culminated when he declared that he had given thirty years of his life towards the advancement of Ontario, Canada and the empire, and the scene which followed this statement was one which made every Liberal in the hall prouder of the statesman who is directing the affairs of this Province. Mr. Ross eloquently reviewed the course of his Government, and pointed to the future with a hopefulness and an earnestness which were an inspiration to all his hearers. The Premier's gift of humor was responsible for many an amusing sally, and he made several hits by his references to the attitudes assumed by his opponents.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., made an excellent closing speech. The meeting was in striking contrast to that of the previous evening, when Mr. Whitney and his leading supporters in the city held the floor, for the Conservative leader's words fell on many empty seats, and a large portion of the audience had made its way out long before he concluded. The band of the 48th Highlanders furnished an excellent program of music from 7 until 8, receiving several encores. During the evening solos were sung by Miss Mildred Walker, Miss Mae Dickenson and Mr. H. Ruthven Macdonald, to the evident appreciation of the audience, whose demand for encores was often most vociferous and insistent.

ROYAL SOCIETY MEETING.

Annual Report of the Council Presented —Work of the Society.

Toronto, May 28.—The twentieth meeting of the Royal Society of Canada opened yesterday morning in the main building of Toronto University. President Loudon, President of the society, occupied the chair, and in the absence through illness of the Secretary, Sir John Bourinot, the Treasurer, Dr. James Fletcher, Dominion Entomologist, Ottawa, acted as Secretary. The general meeting was held in the west hall of the university; it was followed by a number of section meetings for organization purposes.

The main work of the morning session was the presentation of the annual report, which was read by Dr. Fletcher. This was a comprehensive statement, dealing with a remarkable variety of subjects, ranging from matters concerning the internal affairs of the society to important scientific investigations in which the society is interested.

In the evening President Loudon delivered his annual address. The address was on "The Universities in Relation to Research."

After the address, Mrs. Loudon tendered a pleasing reception to the Fellows and delegates at her residence, 83 St. George street.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longfor morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Uncalled For Courtesy.

The Vicomte Toussaint was formerly a colonel in the French army and mayor of Toulouse. He was a brave man and a dashing officer. During one of the hottest engagements of the terrible year, noticing that his troops were bending forward under a galling fire to escape the bullets of the enemy while he alone maintained an erect position, he exclaimed, "Since when, I should like to know, has so much politeness been shown to the Prussians?" The sarcasm took instantaneous effect, for the soldiers rushed forward and carried everything before them.

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism
No pay until you know it.

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month, and if it does what I claim, pay your druggist $5.50 for it. If it doesn't, I will pay him myself.

I have no samples. Any medicine that can effect Rheumatism with but a few doses must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs. It is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk. I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of every 40 who get those six bottles pay, and pay gladly. I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. Let me send you an order for the medicine. Take it for a month, for it won't harm you anyway. If it cures, pay $5.50. I leave that entirely to you. I will mail you a book that tells how I do it.

Simply state name of your dealer, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

200 FALL 20 FEET.

One Man Killed and One Hundred Injured in New York.

New York, May 28.—Elvin L. Collidge, circulation manager of the New York Commercial, was almost instantly killed, and about 100 other people were injured, last evening by the breaking down of a temporary sidewalk at Fifth-avenue and 18th-street. Some of those hurt may die. Those who fell were part of the crowd gathered to watch the parade of militia in honor of the visit of the French Rochambeau Commission to this city. Two hundred people were on the sidewalk when it gave way, and they were precipitated 20 feet into an excavation for a new building, and fell on piles of building material.

Jamaica Wants the Refugees.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 28.—The planters here, including the United Fruit Company (an American concern), are warmly supporting the proposal to bring hundreds of the sufferers from the volcanic outbreak on the island of St. Vincent to work on estates here and also to settle them on the Crown lands. The government of Jamaica is asking to make an offer to transport the people from St. Vincent to Jamaica.

Methodist Missionary Drowned.

Calgary, May 28.—Rev. E. W. Wood, Methodist missionary at Carstairs, was drowned while attempting to cross a large creek swollen by recent floods. He sent his horse ahead with a line attached, and attempted to follow. When in midstream the line parted, and Mr. Wood was whirled away and drowned.

Salt Rheum and all eczematous conditions of the skin are cured by the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Sold by all druggists.

20 Survivors of the Camorta.

Naples, May 28.—The German steamer Koenig Albert, bound from Yokohama and Singapore, for Hamburg, yesterday landed at this port 20 survivors of the British steamer Camorta.

A despatch received at London, May 14, from Rangoon, British Burmah, said that it was believed the steamer Camorta foundered in the Bay of Bengal in a cyclone on May 6. Besides 65 passengers, who were Indian natives, she had a crew of 80.

James Ball Dead.

Lethbridge, N.W.T., May 28.—Jas. Ball of the Province of Ontario, a well known ranchman of the MacLeod District, died in the hospital last night. He came here a week ago on business, but caught a severe cold, which developed into pleuro-pneumonia, with fatal results. He was related to the late Hon. Clarke Wallace, and came into this country with the Mounted Police in 1874.

Another Added to the List.

Halifax, May 28.—The Norwegian barque Johanne, which went ashore near Ingonish, C.B., yesterday morning, is leaking badly, and will probably be a total loss. There is a heavy sea running, and she will likely soon go to pieces. The crew reached land in safety.

Was Mine Inspection Lax?

Fernie, B.C., May 28.—It is feared here that the miners may resort to violence because they have got the impression that Mine Inspector Dick did not insist on sufficient stringent discipline in the mines. They consider they were not properly protected. All business and everything else is stagnant till the feeling quiets down.

WAR IN THE BALANCE.

Gen. Dewet so Far Refuses to Accede to the Terms Proposed.

BURGHERS HAVE HIM IN HAND.

Will Endeavor to Persuade Him of the Righteousness of the British Offers, They Think With Much Hope of Success—Cabinet Tuesday Discussed Communications From Pretoria For Two Hours.

London, May 28.—The British Cabinet was in session for two hours yesterday discussing the communications received from Pretoria since the meeting of the Ministers of Friday last. It was understood that the inner committee of the Cabinet would telegraph the result of the deliberations to Pretoria yesterday afternoon. The Boer delegates at the Transvaal Cabinet will then probably return to Vereeniging and report to the burghers, who are still assembled there.

Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government leader, made no statement in the House of Commons yesterday in regard to the peace negotiations; but he announced a postponement of the discussion of the budget, fixed for this week, remarking that it would be very inconvenient to debate the budget "while there were other things in the balance."

Mr. Balfour subsequently explained that it would be impossible, in discussing the budget, to prevent references to the peace negotiations.

Gen. Dewet is the only Boer delegate who still refuses to accept the terms of peace offered by the British. He continues to demand certain concessions, but his position has been made known to the Ministers.

In regard to Gen. Dewet's stand for extra concessions, it was reported yesterday that the other delegates had begun to plead with the soldier, and that they were confident of winning him over.

It is not known with what Gen. Dewet is dissatisfied in the terms offered by the English, but the report is that he believes the Boers should have more privileges in commerce than those suggested. He has always been an enthusiast over the commerce of South Africa, and would never be willing to give up if it should be impaired by the surrender.

A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Pretoria reports that 200 Boers have surrendered at Frankfort, in the Orange River Colony.

CORP. MINCHIN'S WOUNDS.

Bit Several Times, But Is Getting Along Nicely.

Guelph, May 28.—In a letter to his mother here, Corp. Minchin describes the Hart's River engagement in which he was wounded several times. He says: "We lost our Sergt. Perry of Galt. Corp. Sherritt was killed, and poor Huston was killed, next man to me. Evans died in the wagon by my side as we were taken off the field. Poor Jack Wilkinson was our first man, but he lost his arm and eye, and was shot in the back. I got two in the left leg, one above the knee and the other below; one in the right foot went right through the boot, one through the shoulder, one through my four fingers of my left hand and the last and best went right under my nose and raised my moustache." Corp. Minchin says he is recovering, despite his wounds.

Cats In Ancient Wales.

An ancient statute ascribed to Howel the Good, a Welch prince, who ruled in 948, regulated the price of cats. A penny was the price of a kitten before its eyes were open, twopence until it had caught its first mouse, fourpence when it was old enough for combat. He who stole a cat from the royal granaries forfeited either a milk ewe, with its fleece and lamb, or as much wheat as would cover the body of the cat suspended by its tail, with its nose touching the ground. A penny was a coin of great purchasing power in the tenth century.

Not Entirely.

HASTINGS.

The Late Rev. A. L. Adam.

One of the saddest events which has ever taken place in Hastings, was the passing away on Monday, 19th inst., of the beloved pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. A. L. Adam.

His illness was of brief duration, being suddenly attacked about 3 a.m. on Sunday, and "entering into rest" at 12.30 a.m. on Monday.

The news of his death produced a profound sensation and sincere sorrow in the entire community. Although only about one year in Hastings he and his amiable wife have endeared themselves to every member of their congregations, and their many sterling qualities of character have gained for them friends in every congregation in town.

The funeral obsequies were conducted on Wednesday, 21st inst., in the church, which was richly draped for the occasion. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The church could not contain those who had assembled to show their respect for their loved pastor and their sympathy with the sorrowing family. Nearly twenty of his brother ministers were present at the service, which was conducted by Rev. Wm. Johnston, Stirling, chairman of the District.

Touching eulogies from his brethren were expressed, all being deeply affected by the keen loss they felt that they and the church had sustained in the removal from their ranks of one so useful and devoted to the cause of God. Among those who paid tender tribute to the worth of the departed were, Revs. Wilson and Crossley, Peterborough; Rev. Mr. Taylor, Norwood; Rev. F. Johnson, of Ameliasburg; Revs. Greatrix and Peake, Campbellford; Rev. S. McCauley, Warkworth; Rev. J. C. Bell, Havelock; Rev. Mr. Thomson, Presbyterian, Hastings; Rev. Mr. James, Episcopalian, Hastings, and others.

The casket was borne by six of his brother ministers.

Mr. Adam had been in the active ministry for twenty years, and on every circuit his labours have been eminently successful, by his earnest consecrated life and energetic labours every charge to which he has been called has been blessed. He not only possessed rare ability, but a magnetic influence which attracted many to the better life.

A large concourse of sorrowing friends accompanied the remains to the Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough, the last rites being performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, and Rev. D. O. Crossley.

The sorrow stricken wife, who was formerly Miss Isabelle Elliott, sister of Mr. G. E. Elliott, Crown Lands Department, Peterborough, and their only child, G. Douglas, have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—All Saint's choir practice will be on Friday evening instead of to-night.

—A couple of bicyclists were fined in the police court this morning, charged with riding on the pavement.

—St. Andrew's choir rehearsal is postponed on account of the Westminster Abbey Choir concert to-night. A full attendance requested on Friday evening at 8.30 sharp.

—Last night the temperature was very close to the freezing point, and vegetation had a narrow escape. An overcast sky and a strong wind prevented frost. A few flakes of snow were to be seen this morning. This month has been similar in many respects to May of last year — cold and wet.

The contest has swung into the home stretch — and the Miller bunch is stretching even the truth.

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERY.

Rev. Geo. Yule Inducted Into His New Charge—Havelock Loses its Minister.

The Presbytery of Peterborough met yesterday afternoon at two o'clock at Springville. There were present Rev. J. G. Potter, Moderator, and Rev. Messrs. J. W. McIntosh, M.A., South Monaghan; W. M. Kannawin, B.D., Omemee; E. F. Torrance, D.D.; J. A. Wilson, B.A., George Yule, Wm. Bennett, Peterborough; W. L. Atkinson, B.A., Warsaw; Wm. Beattie, Cobourg; Wm. Johnston, Millbrook; S. G. Sinclair, Port Hope; D. A. Hamilton, B.A., Havelock; D. A. Thompson, Hastings; Messrs. W. Fowler, Peterborough, and D. McIntosh, Warsaw, elders.

The call of Rev. D. A. Hamilton, of Havelock, from Horning's Mills, was considered, the Rev. P. W. Anderson, of Shelburne, Ontario, representing the Orangeville Presbytery in its desire to have Mr. Hamilton translated. After consideration, it was decided to grant the translation. The pulpit of Havelock Presbyterian church will be declared vacant on Sunday, June 8th. Rev. A.C. Reeves, B. A., was appointed interim moderator.

The Presbytery then proceeded to ordain and induct Rev. George Yule into the pastoral charge of Springville and Bethany. Divine worship was conducted by Rev. Wm. Beattie, of Cobourg, who preached a very able sermon from the first chapter of Isaiah.

Rev. J. W. McIntosh, who has been guiding the affairs of the congregation during the vacancy, narrated the steps which had been taken in securing a pastor.

The Moderator then put the customary question to Mr. Yule, and with solemn prayer, and the laying on of the hands of the Presbytery, he was ordained to the work of the ministry, and received the right hand of fellowship of each member of the Presbytery. Rev. Mr. Yule was then suitably addressed by Rev. Wm. Johnston, of Millbrook, and the congregation received words of counsel from Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings. The Rev. Messrs. Bennett and Torrance added words of good cheer to people and pastor.

After luncheon provided by the ladies, the choir of Bethany Presbyterian church rendered suitable selections, and all members of Presbytery gave three minute speeches. Rev. Mr. Johnston, Methodist minister at Bethany, and Rev. P. W. Anderson, both visitors, also spoke. Mr. Yule, the newly ordained pastor, then spoke in very helpful and stirring words, and a very successful service was brought to a close.

The Presbytery then proceeded to the examination of Mr. J. A. Wilson, B.A., a graduate of Knox College, Toronto, and assistant at St. Paul's, Peterborough. The customary questions having been answered satisfactorily, Mr. Wilson was licensed to preach.

Every fair-minded Conservative in West Peterborough admits that Mr. Stratton has made a splendid representative—fair to political friend and foe—strictly impartial, knowing neither party nor creed in his relations to his constituents. Vote for Stratton.

YOUNG'S POINT.

DROWNED AT BUCKHORN.

Wm. Smith Meets a Watery Grave on Tuesday.

The body of William Smith, a Dickson Company employee, who was drowned near the head of Mississauga River yesterday, was brought to town last night. The deceased was a son of Mr. John Smith, Stewart street, and was 24 years of age. He was engaged as a river driver by the Dickson Company, and was on a drive that was coming down the Mississagua River, about ten miles above Buckhorn. He slipped from a log when attempting to run the rapids, and was unable, owing to the very swift current, to reach the log again. He sank for the last time when about 25 feet from the shore. His body was recovered in about 20 minutes, but life was extinct.

The late Mr. Smith was well-known in Peterborough, where he was well liked, and bore an excellent character. Many will regret exceedingly his untimely demise.

THE POLICY OF SCANDAL.

It is to be regretted that instead of fighting the Government on questions of principle the Opposition should have descended to the circulation of malicious and scandalous attacks upon the party in power. Hardly a day passes but some new invention of this sort is launched by some of the Opposition speakers and duly exploited through the partizan press in the hope that at this late stage of the contest many who may read the story will not see its contradiction before polling day. The Mail and Empire as usual has been foremost in this discreditable work at which it is always an adept—thought it might be supposed that the uniform failures of its previous attempts to discredit the Liberal leaders by such methods would have imposed some measure of decency upon it, even as a matter of policy. A few weeks ago it excited the disgust and ridicule of every fair-minded and intelligent man by its absurd invention to the effect that the members of the Government had taken $5,000 worth of liquor with them on their New Ontario trip for the purpose of treating the electors. This story was so puerile and ridiculous on the face of it that it hardly needed a refutation, especially in view of the fact that most of the Ministers are total abstainers, and very shortly even its concoctors became ashamed of it. We must do the respectable Conservative element the justice of saying that they never took any stock in it.

A few days ago the Conservative organ eagerly clutched at a mare's nest discovered by one of the campaigners, to the effect that Duncan Bole who was implicated in the West Elgin case had been given employment by Premier Ross. It appears that Mr. Bole has been in the service of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Compnay since 1889, at which time the Premier had no connection with it. Subsequently this company was amalgamated with the Temperance and General Life Insurance Co., Mr. Ross taking the presidency. The facts are not denied by anyone. Yet because the signature of the Premier and that of the aforetime West Elgin campaigner appear on the same documents connected with the company's business the Mail and Empire is charging the Liberal Government with "rewarding" Bole by giving him a position which, as a matter of fact, he obtained when Sir John Macdonald was president of the company. On this flimsy foundation of truth it reared a towering structure of calumny and vituperation and calls upon Lieut.-Gov. Mowat to exercise his prerogative and dismiss his cabinet on the ground that it is "in the hands of the machine." Silliness gone mad is sanity compared to such absurd party tactics.

It is hardly worth while to seriously refute such absolutely silly and preposterous contentions. There are several other scandals which have been set afloat but have been dissipated upon investigation. Among these might be mentioned the story that vagrants were being "colonized" in South Toronto to vote for the Liberal candidate, which was thoroughly disproved when the votes were appealed against and a later yarn to the effect that Hon. John Dryden as President of the Union Stock Yards Company had acted wrongfully in regard to acquiring land for the company's purposes, the fact being that Mr. Dryden is not president of the company and has no financial interest in it. These inventions have not even the merit of plausibility. In former contests there have been scandals originated, which it has cost infinite trouble and some expense to refute. The notable feature about the brood of calumnies which succeed each other so rapidly in the columns of the less reputable Conservative papers, and in mouths of partizan speakers of the reckless and irresponsible type is that that they are so easily contradicted and so ineffective to harm those at who they are directed.

There could be no surer evidence than is afforded by the circulation of these deliberate and malicious lies that the Opposition is getting desperate. They realize that they are fighting a losing battle. They have tried argument and invective in vain. They have assailed the Government policy, but the people have listened to their bombastic appeals with amused indifference. They have offered what they term a policy of their own, but the full and free discussion of the campaign has exposed its manifold inconsistencies and absurdities. They have fallen back on appeals to race and creed prejudice, and to the passions and animosities which have played so discreditable a part in former contests — but the electors have grown wiser and more intelligent than to be led away by false issues and sectional cries. Everything else having failed them, driven ignominiously from every position they have taken, worsted in argument, discredited in tactics, and derided by the electors, they have resorted to slander and calumny of the basest sort as a last desperate measure. No more striking proof of the utter demoralization of the Opposition, and the hollowness of their boasting and vapouring in advance of polling day could well be afforded than the fact that they are now placing all their dependence upon a policy of scandal, hoping to deceive and delude some of the least intelligent of the electors by giving currency to some of the most flagrant falsehoods at the eleventh hour, when there is little chance to contradict them.

The local aspect of these discreditable tactics is well represented by the unscrupulous attempt to influence the electors in West Peterborough by the circulation of the false statement that Mr. Stratton is disqualified and ineligible as a candidate. It is unnecessary to inform the electors that there is nothing in this statement. It is only a bold game of bluff, played in an attempt to influence the electors to refrain from voting. It is asserted on reliable authority that the lawyer who signs the alleged "election notice," the agent of Mr. Miller, the Whitney candidate, has wagered large sums on the result of the elections, and this is one of the means he is taking to assist his chances to win the money he has at stake. No intelligent elector will be deceived. All may poll their votes for Mr. Stratton, absolutely certain that he will be elected to again serve the riding, whose interests he has so well looked after.

From the character of the slanders thus far set afloat the people may easily anticipate the kind of stories that will be circulated just before polling day. There should be no need to caution any well-informed elector, possessing a grain of common-sense, to beware of roorbacks.

JUDGE THE GOVERNMENT BY RESULTS.

This is a practical age. Men nowadays have little use for abstract theories, dead issues, or lines of political demarcation drawn over questions which have long since been settled. Neither do they care much for minor details of policy, or the irrelevant matters which newspapers and speakers, with a genius for trivialities, are always introducing into political campaigns.

The real question, the only one about which the average elector will concern himself is — which of the two parties appealing for his support is likely to manage the affairs of the country best? Which at the end of another Parliamentary term will be able to show the most satisfactory, practical results?

Politics is business. More and more are the public affairs of Canada and Ontario getting down to a practical business basis. We have got rid of "burning questions," of race and religious feuds, of grave and serious differences of opinion with regard to the vital principles of government. There is little scope now for the rhetorician and the demagogue. The men who formerly attained position and prominence by playing upon men's passions and prejudices, are finding their occupation gone.

The twentieth century requires leaders of an altogether different type and habit of thought. To be a successful politician to-day demands much the same class of qualities, the same natural aptitude and trained intelligence as characterize the successful man of business. Oratorical talent and the power of swaying men's convictions he may possess in addition — but these count for much less than executive ability, and a live grasp of business details. In other words, in the politics of the present the people look to what parties and Governments DO rather than to what they SAY. It is results that tell.

This modern tendency in public affairs is the secret of the Liberal Government's thirty years' tenure of office. It is the reason why, in spite of all the assaults upon them, the province has turned a deaf ear to the demand for a change. It has judged the Government by results, and is satisfied. People are tired of meaningless distinctions, and old-time shibboleths. The party in power has stayed in office, and will stay in office for at least another term, not merely because they are labelled "Liberal," but because their administration has been on the whole, wise, honest and progressive — because their policy has done much to ensure the welfare of the province. Had it been otherwise, the party name would not have saved them from deserved defeat.

The province is unmistakably prosperous. Factories and mills are working to their full capacity. Merchants are making money. Trade in all departments is brisk. Labour is well employed, and wages have been increased. Agriculture is thriving, and the market for farm produce was never better. Everywhere men are increasing their investments, launching out into new enterprises, and employing their resources to good advantage. Much of this prosperity is directly traceable to the Liberal and judicious policy of the Ross Government. It has assisted railway construction, promoted in many ways a knowledge of scientific agriculture, encouraged various forms of productive industry, developed New Ontario and provided new markets for our products.

Consequently the people are satisfied as they should be. They realize that conditions are so highly favourable, that any change would probably be greatly for the worse.

There never was a time when the cry of "time for a change" was more unreasonable or less likely to meet with a response. It is about the worst and most ill-advised argument which the Opposition could employ. A change is the last thing anybody wants in a time of general prosperity and comfort.

The people take broad, comprehensive views of the question. Minor details may as well be left out of the discussion. They will not affect the decision of any intelligent man. It is quite possible for an alert critic to present quite a list of things which in his opinion the Government might have done otherwise or should not have done at all, and to advance plausible arguments in support of his views. Somethings that Mr. Whitney alleges may be true. There may possibly be instances in which the Government has acted mistakenly. No human institution is perfect. But, granting all this, there is no getting around the fact that the general result of the forward policy of Mr. Ross has been highly beneficial—that it has stimulated productive activity in every department and largely contributed to the prosperity which now fortunately prevails. All the criticism and fault-finding in the world will not shake the confidence of the people in a Government and a policy from which such good results have already flowed and from which so much more may be expected as soon as its effects are fully experienced.

The electors of West Peterborough will return Hon. J. R. Stratton by, no doubt, a larger majority than before, as a testimony of their emphatic approval of a policy, the beneficial results of which have been felt to fully as great a degree in this riding as in any part of the province.

They realize that this is no time to make rash experiments —to tempt Providence by rejecting administrators who have proved their ability by their achievements in favour of men who have never given any proofs of statesmanship. They are satisfied with good Government. They take the practical, common-sense view that when favourable conditions prevail and all is going well to make a change in the nature of a leap in the dark would be the extreme of folly.

The Liberal Government asks nothing better of the electors than that it should be judged by its fruits.

Vote for Stratton and Ross and build up Peterborough and Ontario.

AN UNSCRUPULOUS POLITICAL TRICK.

A Betting Barrister Wants to Win His Wagers.

A Wild Cat Story With Nothing in It—Scheme of a Beaten Party to Unduly Influence Electors—The Latest and Most Discreditable Tactics of a Hopeless Opposition.

The opponents of Hon. Mr. Stratton are playing the dangerous game of maliciously publishing and circulating an utterly unfounded and baseless slander and libel to the effect that he is disqualified as a candidate at the present election, the alleged reason being that the Examiner Office had a contract with the Returning Officer for the printing of the ballots, and that therefore Mr. Stratton is disqualified.

Mr. George Walford Hatton, who announces himself as "Solicitor and Agent for J. W. Miller," the Opposition candidate, has issued a so-called "Election Notice," falsely asserting that Mr. Stratton is disqualified and ineligible as a candidate. Mr. Hatton has been betting heavily upon the results of the Provincial Elections, and takes this means of endeavouring to restrain electors from voting, and to win the bets he has made.

There is not a grain of truth in the statements that Mr. Stratton is disqualified. The attempt of the Opposition to exercise undue and unlawful influence upon the electors to induce them to refrain from voting is a more serious breach of the election law than the alleged offence implied in the charge made, which is without justification even as a campaign trick.

Liberals and Conservatives alike will resent such tactics, and will show that they are voting in the interests of the town and county, and not to help win election wagers.

Let all Mr. Stratton's supporters poll their votes early on Thursday and roll up such a majority as will show that the unscrupulous and cowardly tactics of his opponents are condemned by the honest electors of West Peterborough. No elector who votes for Mr. Stratton need fear that his vote will be lost. It will be counted as a factor in the biggest majority ever rolled up in this riding. Pay no attention to eleventh-hour yarns, invented by an Opposition playing a losing game.

If Mr. Stratton is disqualified and ineligible, why are they spending so much money to bill the county? What is the use of any Conservative voting at all, if Mr. Miller is already elected, as his agent, Mr. Hatton, claims? Why, if his yarn is true, should Conservatives waste time in voting?

CONSTANT DEAD.

The Passing of the Great French Portrait Painter—His Brilliant Career—List of Fine Portraits.

Paris, May 28.—Jean Joseph Benjamin Constant, the painter, is dead. He was born in Paris in 1845.

The fame of M. Constant's art was world wide. As a portrait painter he was popular in both hemispheres. In France he made his name as an "Orientalist," like Delacroix, Fortuny and Regnault.

His parents had intended to educate him for the church or for the medical profession, but he insisted on first attending the art schools of Toulouse. Here his talent showed itself from the start, and all plans of other vocations were abandoned.

M. Constant in 1865 entered the studio of Cabanel at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris.

The artist's very first picture created a sensation at the salon—"Hamlet and the King"—in 1869. But it was his Morocco subjects that made him famous, as he was at once dramatic and daring in subject, powerful and rich in contour, a past master in drawing and always interesting as well as artistic.

Among the likenesses of men the most interesting are those of M. Chaplain, the great medalist; the painter's two sons, the younger being M. Andre, whose exquisite portrait, acquired by the Government for the Luxembourg, obtained the high honor that was denied to "Justinian;" Lord Dufferin; the Duc d'Aumale; M. Maurel, the distinguished baritone.

Those of women include Mme. Benjamin Constant, the Grand Duchess Paul of Mecklenburg, Mme. Calve, the singer; the Princess Radziwill, and, latest and most remarkable of all, Queen Victoria on her throne in the House of Lords. To this notable gathering of portraits should be added those of Sir Julian Pauncefote and the late Jay Gould, which M. Banjamin Constant executed during one of his professional visits to the United States.

TWO LETTERS

They Prove the Permanency of Cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Over six Years Have Gone by, and This Cure Still Stands Only one of Many Such Cases.

St Mary's Ferry, N. B., May 25, (Special)—Mr. Thomas Harrison of this place has addressed two significant letters to The Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto.

The First one.

St. Mary's Ferry, Dec. 18,1895.

Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to you and to the public at large to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me.

About one year ago I began to suffer with severe pains over the region of my kidneys, followed by a very lethargic feeling.

When I lay down it was torture to get up again.

This state continued for some time, and all the while I was still getting weaker and losing flesh rapidly.

My appetite was very much impaired, and at last I was obliged to call in a physician.

He gave my sufferings a very learned name, and doctored me for some time, but I got no better.

I called in several other physicians, but it was all no use; my sufferings got worse all the time until I began to despair of life.

A friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I was very skeptical but was prevailed on to commence a treatment; the first box made me feel some better.

I passed a stone that had formed in the bladder.

I continued the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills until I had used three boxes, and now believe that I have a radical and complete cure, as it is six months since I used any of the pills, and have had no symptoms or return of the malady.

I know that my cure is due to Dodd's Kidney Pills, as I used no other medicines after commencing their use.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HARRISON.

The Second one.

St. Mary's Ferry, N.B., Mar. 24,1902.

Gentlemen,—What I said in 1895 I can at this moment most emphatically substantiate.

I have never had the slightest symptom of a return of my old trouble.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HARRISON.

MAYBE YOU HAVE

A Wrong Impression About Powley's Liquified Ozone You Should Investigate all our Statements.

"I rejoice," says Mme. Gauthier, who resides at 701 St. Paul street, Montreal, "to be able to state, that after two long years of great suffering from bronchitis, in which I was the victim of a most distressing, choking and smothering sensation, I have been completely cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone, after trying to get cured by drugs time and again. I consider it a truly marvellous discovery and warmly recommend it to all."

MADAME GAUTHIER. MONTREAL.

This is not separate testimony, nor is it a citation of an isolated case. It is a faithful statement from one of our Canadian women, of her condition during her sufferings with bronchitis, and her subsequent cure by the new Ozone Method, Powley's Liquified Ozone. Her case has been duplicated scores of times, and if you haven't been convinced of the merits of Ozone it's the fault of our advertising, not of this valuable preparation. We seek to impress the truth of our claim by the disinterested testimony of others who know its merits by actual experience. We know a great many other concerns also publish testimonials, and we presume we'll have to stand in line with the rest, if you do not feel interested enough to investigate every statement we or any other firm publish. We are doing an honest business and we hope to merit your confidence. We believe it will be worth your while to try Ozone. Powley's Liquified Ozone is for sale at all drug stores. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00.

CANADA ATLANTIC RY.

Messrs MacKenzie and Mann Have Inspected the Property.

NO CONNECTION WITH DR. WEBB

Such a Report Was Set on Foot, But Mr. Mackenzie Has Given It Prompt Denial—Says Their Intentions Will Be Known in a Few Days—The Trip Over the Road.

Ottawa, May 27.—A report is on foot that a number of prominent Canadian capitalists and contractors may join Dr. Seward Webb to take hold of the Canada Atlantic Railway.

Since the Meyer crash in New York, when some associates in stock transactions of Dr. Webb came to grief, there has been doubt of his purchase of the the Canada Atlantic going through. The purchase was to have been practically made by the Rutland Railway Company, which Dr. Webb controls, but two meetings of the shareholders have been held without conclusive action being taken. Since the Meyer trouble, Dr. Webb seems to have hesitated to consummate the matter.

The report now regarding Canadian aid for Dr. Webb arises from the fact that within the past couple of days, a special trip has been made over the Canada Atlantic system by a party under charge of Dr. Webb's solicitor, and on a special train ordered by him. The party included Senator Cox of Toronto, Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, and Z. A. Lash, K.C., of Toronto, solicitor of the Canadian Northern Railway Company.

It is reported also that Mr. Clergue is interested.

The situation is that if the Webb-Clergue-Mackenzie-Mann interests united, there would be now, or soon completed, a through railway route from Boston to Grassett, half way round the north of Lake Superior; and a comparatively easy link would remain to connect this with the Mackenzie and Mann roads in Manitoba and the West.

Not in Co-operation With Dr. Webb.

Ottawa, May 27.—It has been asserted that Dr. Webb is seeking the co-operation of Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann in order to carry out the deal, but this was denied last night by Mr. Mackenzie. That gentleman stated that he and Mr. Mann were in no way connected with Dr. Webb, and the trip over the Canada Atlantic Railway was not inspired by the American capitalist. Mr. Mackenzie would neither confirm or deny the report that something was on foot in connection with the Canada Atlantic Railway. "You will know in a few days," he stated. "And moreover, it is not very probable that anything will come of it."

The Root of the Trouble.

It surprises some proole when you tell them that tthair nervous trouble is caused by a defective liver. Liver trouble causes constipation. Next comes dyspepsia, then impure blood, with heavy strain, and the result is nerve trouble. Marrill's System Tonic is a positive cure for liver trouble and constipation, and in this way removes the cause of other ills. 50 cents per bottle at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

CHASED OUT OF TOWN

Angry Miners at Fernie, B.C.: Discipline a Policeman.

NUMBER OF KILLED REACHES 151

At Midnight Monday 51 Bodies Had Been Recovered—Work of Recovery Goes Steadily On—Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's Directors' Announcement—Will Carry Hope to the Sufferers.

Fernie, B. C., May 27.—Chased by a sober but angry mob of 500 miners and citizens, William Stevens, provincial policeman, lost no time in placing himself outside the town limits Sunday evening.

What incensed the miners against Stevens was the report that he had stated that he wished two hundred and fifty more miners had been killed in the terrible explosion. It is freely stated, now that the intense excitement has subsided, that had it not been Sunday evening and the saloons all closed Stevens' chances for a whole skin would have been exceedingly small. As it was, it was with difficulty that the cooler heads saved him.

Fernie is but recovering from the stupor of mind into which it was thrown by the explosion. Men who were in the vicinity of the tunnels when the calamity occurred state that the top of the tipple and the fan house shot one thousand feet high into the air, while around there fell tons of coal dust and small stones. Careful and conservative checking of information from all sources now leads to the placing of the number of killed at 151, and at midnight but 51 bodies had been recovered. Seventy-two hours after the disaster, the chaotic condition of affairs which obtained at the mine exit immediately after the explosion occurred, has given place to order, and it is expected that many bodies will be recovered during the night.

What the Directors say.

Crow's Nest Coal Company directors authorize the statement that the company will pay all funeral expenses, relieve all immediate want and suffering and provide permanently against destitution.

They state that, so far, the cause of the explosion is unknown, but that the day preceding the accident the mines were inspected by Government Mine Inspector Adolphus Dick, who issued his written certificate that the mines were in excellent condition.

Inaccurate telegrams from the west as to the mines being dangerous, and reporting previous explosions, and assigning various causes for the explosion, should not be believed. This is the first explosion that has taken place at the mines. Men were recently fined by the magistrate at the instance of the company for taking matches into the mines, tobacco being found upon them, and one man who denied having matches about him on being searched, they were found in his hair. The safety lamps can only be opened by magnets.

Very little damage has been done to the mines, and when the work of rescue is completed, operations can be immediately recommenced upon the old scale, so that the miners may resume their occupations at an early date.

Killed by a Train.

Toronto, May 27.—The G.T.R. express from Toronto, due here at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, brought in the body of a section hand who was killed near Bronte. The man's name is A. Hoffstander, whose home is at Petersburg, near Stratford. It appears that Hoffstander and some other men were at work near Bronte when the express came along. They made a rush for their tools and other things. Hoffstander got hold of a levelling board, but before he pulled it from the track the locomotive struck it. It was knocked against his head, and his skull was fractured. The train was stopped and the body taken aboard and brought to the city. Deceased appeared to be about 22 years of age. No inquest will be held.

Charged With Murder.

Ottawa, May 27.—Joseph des Chatelets of Little Ripon, St. Andre Avlin parish, near Papineauville, in Ottawa County, is in Hull jail awaiting trial on the charge of murdering Benjamin Richar, a 15-year-old boy. He is alleged to have thrown the boy into the Little Nation River. Bailiff Hillman of Papineauville brought the prisoner to Hull yesterday afternoon.

Whole Battalion Annihilated.

London, May 27.—A despatch to The Daily Express from Cairo, Egypt, says a report reached there that a whole battalion of Turkish troops has been annihilated by rebels near the seaport of Mocha, in the Turkish vilayet of Yemen, in the southwestern part of Arabia. The governor of Mocha is said to have been carried away by the rebels as a hostage.

Touched Live Wire.

Montreal, May 27.—Wilfred Bourdon, aged 50, was killed last night by a shock from an electric wire, in attempting to disengage a lad named Archambault, who had been caught in the wire. He pulled the wire with both hands and was instantly killed.

FAVORS TRADE WITH CANADA.

New Zealanders Say So, Even If They Have to Pay For It.

Toronto, May 27.—D. E. Theomin of Dunedin, New Zealand, president of the New Zealand Chamber of Commerce, was one of the Mayor's visitors yesterday afternoon. He is accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Theomin, and they are on their way to the coronation.

Mr. Theomin said that Toronto was an ideal city, but there was something to be said in favor of his side of the world, for there they had municipal or government ownership of the public franchises, and that was a great benefit to the people. He had remarked in coming through Canada from Vancouver that there was an abundance of water power. If New Zealand was so well-blessed he was satisfied that his country was sufficiently progressive to lead even Canada in the use of electricity in all its benefits. At present they have government telephones, for which business houses pay £7 a year. In Dunedin the Street Railway is controlled by the city.

"One thing you can say," remarked Mr. Theomin, "is that we in New Zealand are proud of Canada, and that we are a unit for the interests of the Empire. We will favor trade with Canada even if it should cost us a little more."

A Wrong Idea of the Nerves.

The Action of the Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys Dependent on the Nerve Force--Extraordinary Results From the use Of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There is not a single organ of the human body that can perform its functions without a liberal supply of nerve force—the motive power of the body.

The nervous system should never be thought of as a separate part of the body. Its branches extend from the brain and the spinal column to the tips of the fingers and toes. Just as the blood is carried by the arteries to every nook and corner of the system, so the nerve force, by means of nerve fibres, is distributed, and nerve force is just as important to life as is good, rich blood.

When the nerve cells are wasted, by over-exertion, worry or disease, more rapidly than they are replaced, the action of the heart becomes slower, the lungs begin to weaken, the stomach fails to do its duty, the liver and kidneys falter in their work as filters, and the excretory organs get feeble and inactive. You may be a sufferer from weakness and exhaustion of the nerves, and may have been attributing the trouble to the stomach, kidneys or other organs. Nervous exhaustion is marked by restlessness, disturbed sleep, languid, weary feelings, headache, dyspepsia and bodily pains, inability to concentrate the thoughts, absent-mindedness, weakened memory, twisting of the muscles and eyelids, sudden startings and jerking of the limbs in sleep, dizziness, irritability and gloomy forbodings.

Through the medium of the nervous system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food carries new life and energy to every organ of the body. It strengthens the action of the heart, invigorates the stomach, makes the kidneys, liver and bowels more active, and builds up the entire system.

If you experience any of these symptoms of nervous exhaustion, you can rely absolutely on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to cure you. It does not stimulate, but thoroughly cures, by forming new, red corpuscles in the blood and creating nerve force.

Mr. E. Rosevear, a retired school teacher of 2 Markham-place, Toronto, says:

"I am getting up in years, and, as a natural result of severe study, my health has been undermined, and my system very much run down. I got so weak and nervous, and suffered so much from dizziness, that I found it necessary to begin a treatment of some kind. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been so highly spoken of that I decided to give it a trial, and can now speak of its merits from personal experience. It has built me up wonderfully, and strengthened and restored my nervous system."

Unconfirmed Rumor of Hitch in the Peace Negotiations.

DAILY MAIL: "PEACE SURE."

Likely, However, That a Few Hours, or Days at the Most, Will Solve the Mystery of the Vereeniging Conference —An Obstinate Minority—Still Differences Among the Burghers.

London, May 27.—Just before Parliament rose after midnight last night a rumor reached the lobbies that a hitch had occurred in the peace negotiations.

Nothing official concerning this rumor could be ascertained, but the despatch to the Associated Press from Pretoria in which it was said that the prevalence throughout South Africa of the optimistic feeling in regard to the peace negotiations was hardly based upon solid facts may be regarded as an indication that such a hitch has occurred.

Little information from Pretoria has been able recently to pass the censor there. That the Government yesterday fully anticipated a speedy conclusion of peace is believed to be shown by the postponement from yesterday until Friday or later of the budget bill in the committee stage with the view, as was frankly admitted on the Government side of the House, of enabling the budget to be re-cast in the event that peace is secured.

AN OBSTINATE MINORITY.

Anxious to Continue Fighting Although Independence Claim is Abandoned.

Pretoria, May 26.—The prevalence throughout South Africa of the optimistic feeling in regard to the peace negotiations is hardly based upon solid facts. The protraction of the conference at Vereeniging is not necessarily a hopeful sign. The delegates to the conference, although they have abandoned their hopes of securing independence, still have many points of difference with the Government, while an obstinate minority continues to regard the resumption of hostilities as the best outcome of the present situation, and at any moment these points of difference may be accentuated into a refusal to continue the negotiations.

It is most unlikely that those who are in favor of peace will throw up the sponge, so long as a decent minority is desirous of continuing the struggle, and all these dissonant elements must be taken into account before it is possible to give any sort of prediction as to the issue of the present negotiations.

LOOK FOR NEWS.

Announcement of Terms of Boer Surrender Expected Soon.

London, May 27.—Those persons expecting a definite announcement regarding peace in South Africa on the reassembling of Parliament yesterday afternoon were disappointed, for the Government leader in the House of Commons, A. J. Balfour, declined to "make any forecast" as to when the Government would be able to make a statement. Better informed people did not anticipate that the Government would be in a position yesterday to give out anything of importance in this connection; but possibly after to-day's Cabinet meeting Mr. Balfour may be able to communicate the eagerly-awaited news.

Although Mr. Balfour declined to commit himself publicly, there is no doubt whatever in Government circles that a definite proclamation of peace is only a question of hours.

It was reported in the lobbies of the House of Commons yesterday that the proclamation of peace may be followed by an abandonment of the tax on grain.

Peace Is Quite Certain.

The Daily Mail this morning says the Cabinet council to be held to-day will decide upon points of detail, mostly of a financial nature, which have been raised by the Boers in the peace negotiations. Great Britain's decision in the matter will then be communicated to the Vereeniging conference by delegates at Pretoria, says the paper, and, being the best obtainable terms, they will almost certainly be accepted.

The result should be announced officially either Thursday or Friday of this week, probably on Friday, the day upon which King Edward's birth is celebrated. Peace is quite certain, says The Daily Mail, and the delegates at Pretoria are only engaged in endeavoring to gild the pill for the patient Vereeniging conference to swallow. The Daily Mail says further: "Our despatches from Pretoria assert that numerous communications are passing between Lord Kitchener and Milner in South Africa, and London.

Kitchener Has Aged.

"Lord Kitchener, although he is still full of energy, it much aged in appearance as a result of the severe and continuous strain which he has undergone. The concensus of opinion is that the recent negotiations have proved Lord Kitchener to be a great diplomatist, as well as a great soldier. It is difficult to appreciate the magnitude of the difficulties Lord Kitchener has had to contend with; the Boer leaders are all deeply impressed with his personality, and trust him implicitly.

"It is understood that Lord Milner (the British High Commissioner in South Africa) has gracefully admitted that the ultimate credit for the accomplishment of the great task is due to Lord Kitchener."

Boer Reply Refused.

The Hague, May 27.—It is said in Boer circles here that the peace proposals made to the conference at Vereeniging, Transvaal, included this condition that the Boers in the field be allowed to consult with the Boer delegates [illegible] before a decision is attempted. It is declared also upon the same authority that the British Government refused May 23 to accede to this request.

Forty-six Boers Quit.

Pretoria, May 26.—Forty-six Boers, with their wagons and cattle, surrendered at Balmoral, Transvaal, yesterday.

Canadians Still Ill.

WHITNEY TALKED THEM OUT.

Opposition Leader's Rally in Toronto Was Something of a Fizzle—Great Contrast in Leaders.

Toronto, May 27.—But two days' work remains before the opening of the poll. Every hour of these two days and of polling day itself should be devoted to active and energetic work by every one who has at heart the cause of honest and progressive government. There is every reason to believe that the Government which inherits the traditions of Blake, Mowat and Hardy, and which is headed to-day by one of the most gifted, most eloquent and most high-minded of Canadians, will be amply sustained by the voters of Ontario, but it behoves every Liberal to make assurance doubly sure by adding his own personal effort to the loyal and splendid work that has been done by the organizers and canvassers of the party.

Whitney Talked Them Out.

At the Whitney rally in Massey Hall last night, it was nearly 10 o'clock before Mr. Whitney rose to speak, and by that time the subject had been well nigh exhausted. The Conservative leader was given a good hearing, and his address was punctuated with liberal applause. People, however, left the hall in large numbers while he was speaking, and when he concluded at 11.30 only half the audience remained. The assemblage in the top gallery had dwindled to 34 persons, and at the same time there were only 179 people in the balcony.

Premier Ross at Glencoe.

Glencoe, May 27.—A magnificent meeting in the Glencoe Opera House in his own riding of West Middlesex concluded Premier Ross' western Ontario tour last night. The meetings have been one long series of successes, marked by an immense attendance and splendid enthusiasm in each case, and when Mr. Ross lays the matter on Thursday in the hands of the silent voters he may rest well satisfied with the thought of work well done and with every hope of a favorable outcome. He has held old friends and gained new ones everywhere, offended none by his judicial, argumentative addresses, and convinced even his opponents that he sets forth an attractive policy in an alluring manner. This was Mr. Ross' 21st speech in the campaign, in addition to half a dozen brief addresses in new Ontario, but he draws near the end with an excellent voice, with increasing skill in the presentation of his case and with an eloquence that appeals to every one from its broad-minded Canadianism. In addition to dealing with many of the Provincial questions, Mr. Ross referred briefly to the more recent phase of the Bole charges, and, as had been done previously, completely punctured the house of cards that had been worked up with a skill worthy of Sherlock Holmes. Mr. W. S. Calvert, M.P., the popular Dominion member for West Middlesex, was present last night and delievred a bright address.

CANDIDATES ARRESTED.

Robert Roadhouse and Lockhart M. Gordon Taken to Hamilton Cells.

Hamilton, May 27.—The Socialist-Labor party held another meeting on the Gore last night, with the same old result—police interference. Robert Roadhouse and Lockhart M. Gordon, the candidates for West and East Hamilton, respectively, were in a buggy near the Macdonald monument. The former was the speaker, and Gordon acted as driver up to the time the bluecoats arrived. When Roadhouse had spoken about 20 minutes, Major Prentice and a posse of police arrived and arrested the outfit. Two constables jumped into the rig and drove Roadhouse and Gordon to the cells, charging them with obstructing the street. About a thousand persons were present, and a big howl was made at the arrests, as the meeting was a peaceful one. Magistrate Jelfs refused to grant bail for the prisoners.

LEAVING MARTINIQUE.

Inhabitants' One Wish Is to Escape From the Eruptions.

Fort de France, May 27.—Mont Pelee was fairly quiet, although there was a big eruption of ashes yesterday, which covered the extreme north of the island. The new crater is active.

Most of the refuges who have come into Fort de France have deserted the town for points farther south, as terror still possesses all souls, and Fort de France is believed to be doomed. All business is suspended, as the amount of supplies received has killed sales.

Fort de France looks deserted. Nearly 2,000 persons have gone to the Islands of Guadeloupe, Dominica, and St. Lucia, and as many more are trying to get away. The simple object of all minds is to escape from the island.

The scientists are divided in opinion as to whether or not new and more violent outbursts are to be expected. A majority of them think volcanic energy will be displayed for a long time, but that no further loss of life will occur, as there are no large place left to be destroyed, and Fort de France, they say, is absolutely safe from any possible outburst of Mont Pelee.

The Governor of Martinique has been authorized to pay out of the relief funds the expenses of transportation of all who want to leave the island Already 967 persons have been thus assisted

All these buildings are totally destroyed except Stoutt's and Wilcox & Smith's. Half the Methodist Church shed was destroyed.

Messrs. Swartz & Moorehouse were badly burned by the explosion of Mr. Henry's gas machine, and John Harris was hurt by falling bricks, otherwise no fatalities. Mr. Atkin's horses narrowly escaped.

Springfield is an incorporated village in Elgin County, 13 miles from St. Thomas, with a population of about 800. There are three churches, three hotels and about twenty stores.

LACROSSE.

The first game in the local league will be played on Friday evening at 6.45 o'clock on the Nicholls oval, between the Y.M.C.A. and the Athletics. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged, or a ticket for the 12 League games can be procured for one dollar.

CRICKET.

The return match between the T. C.S. team and Mr. Burnham's eleven was played on the Nicholl's oval yesterday afternoon, in rather bad weather. Notwithstanding this, there was quite a number of spectators. Peterborough won the toss and went in. The feature of this innings was the batting of Mr. Myles Hamilton, who made 42 in his old time form. T.C.S. played with great care, and managed to win out after a most exciting finish, by only one run.

With some backing from the wealthy men of the town cricket could be easily made to flourish in Peterborough.

Dorothea's Stolen Cheese.

Little Dorothea is one of those children whose silence when awake is regarded as a certain sign that she is in mischief. One day when she was about two and a half years old her mother gradually became aware of a silence which boded trouble. She was about to look for the baby when Dorothea came in, her rosy lips still bearing the traces of a feast.

"Where have you been, Dorothea? What are you eating?"

"Cheese," said Miss Dorothea.

"Where did you get it, dear?" asked her mother.

"In the mouftrap," answered the delinquent.

"In the mousetrap!" exclaimed the horrified mother.

"Yes."

Then the mother laughed. "But what will the poor mousies do? You will frighten them all away."

"Dey wasn't a bit frightened, mamma. Dey was two mouties in de trap when I eated the cheese."

The Fishes of Japan.

The islands of Japan are remarkable for their richness of animal life. The variety in climatic and other conditions, the nearness to the great continent of Asia and to the chief center of marine life, the East Indian islands; its relation to the warm black current of Kuro Shivo (the gulf stream of the orient) and to the cold current from Bering sea, all tend to give variety to the fauna of its seas. Especially numerous and varied are the fishes of Japan. It has been noted that the fish fauna of Japan bears a striking resemblance to that of the Mediterranean, and Dr. Gunther has suggested that this can be accounted for by supposing that in recent times a continuous coast line and sea passage extended from one region to the other, the isthmus of Sues not existing.

Bank Robbers Arrested.

Montreal, May 28.—George Willard, alias George Henderson, alias George R. Ray, one of the most notorious and dangerous of American bank robbers and sneak thieves, and his companion, who gives his name as Edward Cornell, are behind the bars at the Central Police Station. They were arrested yesterday. The men had not, as far as known, committed any crime in Montreal. When searched Willard had $125 in his pocket, and Cornell had $37. It is altogether likely that Chief Carpenter will see that they get out of town.

Norwich Woman Suicides.

Norwich, May 28.—Miss Mary Gray was found dead in bed yesterday afternoon by her nephew. The surroundings and a letter left by deceased satisfied the coroner that it was a case of suicide. Miss Gray was subject to fits of mental aberration of mind, caused by severe illness.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Cures a Lady's Neuralgia, Banishes Nervous Debility and Builds up her Whole System.

The Wondrous Medicine Gives a new and Happy Life After a Long Term of Terrible Sufferings.

Neuralgic sufferers are liable to profound derangements of the nervous system, such as paralysis, epilepsy, hyochondriasis, softening of the brain and insanity.

Neuralgia is usually seated in the face or head, attacking some important nerve or nerves; it may exist in any part of the body. The pains are violent, sharp and rending.

The constitutional causes of neuralgia are, general impairment of the health, mental or physical depressing influences, sleeplessness, debility and rheumatic tendencies.

If you suffer from neuralgia, your condition is one of extreme danger. Rest assured there is no royal or select road for any man or woman to the goal of security and health. You need the virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, the medicine which has rescued thousands of neuralgic sufferers from danger and death—which is now prescribed by our best and ablest physicians for dangerous neuralgia.

Mrs. M. Young, Jarvis street, Toronto, writes as follows: "I was a terrible sufferer from neuralgia and nervous debility, and was extremely weak and rundown. While in this condition I tried almost all kinds of medicines without a shadow of improvement. My sister finally persuaded me to try your Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle helped me wonderfully, and, after having used six bottles my health is restored and I am now a new woman. I am pleased to say that Paine's Celery Compound is all you represent it to be —a banisher of disease and a health restorer. I thank God and Paine's Celery Compound for my renewed health and strength."

HUNDREDS WON FOR CHRIST.

Evangelist H. D. Kennedy of town, who for the past few years has been engaged in evangelistic work throughout the province, has during the last year had the most successful year of his life. He left Peterborough the first of last July, and has since been constantly at work, chiefly in the Toronto Conference, and upwards of 600 have been converted at his meetings. At present he is at Ahmic Harbour, where he will close shortly. Mr. Kennedy expects to spend a few days then in town and will attend the Toronto Conference in June, and go from there to the Algoma District to hold meetings for three months. He has had a call to California for eight weeks' work in the fall. At Parry Sound during the month of March over one hundred professed Christ.

The following is an extract which appeared in the Parry Sound North Star during Mr. Kennedy's visit to that place; "Evangelist Kennedy's sermons in the Methodist Church are attracting much attention. Throughout the town great interest prevails. True zeal, honest conviction and living sympathy breathe forth from every sermon, and many are being won for Christ. The preacher's style is earnest, pleasing and effective. In delineation of the great historic characters and events of the Jewish race his gifts are notable. Few preachers or religious teachers uncover so much in these ever interesting stories. Every sermon is instructive and helpful."

STOCK MARKETS.

A Sagacious Opinion.

New York, May 1902.—In a masterly article Philip King, in Monday's New York Sun, closes as follows;—"Influences favourable to the immediate market are certainly more favourable than they were. The money situation has cleared. It seems probable at last that the long delayed announcement of peace in South Africa is at hand. Opinions differ as to whether the declaration of peace will incite English buying of our securities, or will eventually accomplish the withdrawal of English money for uses in the English home market, that have long been held in abeyance by the Transvaal contest. The preliminary effect will be very likely in the direction of higher prices here.

The one great substantial legitimate reason for bullishness just now is beyond all peradventure. The very flattering outlook for our country's corn crop, and the improved condition generally of growing grain. The signal and peculiar value of a corn crop in the U. S. this year needs no emphasis. Possibly we may have only a wheat crop of between 500,000,000 and 600 million bushels against 750 million bushels last year. Such a falling off would be wholly inconsiderable if the corn crop turns out as it now promises. An enormous crop acreage, far exceeding any ever before known, has been planted, and weather has been all that could be asked for for the germination of the crop, although it was not wholly favourable at the planting season.

Speculation has already been excited by the rosy prospects for the crop. This is undoubtedly the main reason for present western bullishness upon the western stocks and accounts for their determined stand in their bullish position. Seldom do crops of any nature fail two years in succession. Every indication points now to a bumper crop. The roads this year will be prepared to handle an immense excess over the traffic of last year. If they could show such marvellous increases last year, with a decimated crop, what should they earn this year, provided the crop be a large one, business activity being maintained as it certainly promises to be?

PICKED UP ON THE LAKE.

Four Port Credit Lads Exposed to Wind and Waves For 24 Hours.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, May 28.—The Stewart Brothers, McBruce and Johnson, four boys belonging to Port Credit, who had been afloat on Lake Ontario in a small boat since Monday, were picked up yesterday afternoon by the steamer Chicora of the Niagara River Line.

When the boat was first sighted it was thought she was empty, but upon closer examination the lads were found to be huddled up in one end and were completely exhausted from cold and exposure. They were at once put to bed, and every effort made to revive them. They were taken to Toronto on the 6 o'clock trip, and at 8.15 were met at the Yonge street wharf by the father of the two Stewart boys, who took them to their homes in Port Credit. The boys, Eddie McBride, aged 14, George Johnston, aged 17, Harry Stewart, aged 14, and Bert Stewart, aged 12, put out from Port Credit in a small boat on Monday night. A severe wind was blowing at the time, and the boat was blown out into the lake, where they drifted for nearly 24 hours.

CHICAGO FACES A FAMINE.

Unless Packers Grant Teamsters' Demand, a Crisis Will Ensue.

Chicago, May 28.—Chicago's beef supply from the Stock Yards has been almost entirely cut off, and unless the concessions demanded by the striking teamsters are granted within the next day or two the city will be face to face with a famine. The situation is growing more alarming with the passing of each day.

Not only have the big packers failed in every attempt to smuggle meat out of the yards, but the wholesale and retail butchers, who usually drive their own wagons into the yards and take out loads of provisions, have been forbidden to do so in the future.

As a result, there is a movement on foot among the 1,200 or more butchers of Chicago to close their shops for a week or two, or as long as may be necessary to defeat the packers in their fight against the teamsters.

A LIMITED AMNESTY.

All the Rebels Will Get Under the Peace Settlement.

WAR TO TERMINATE THIS WEEK

No Time Set For Self-Government—London Chronicle Says That Little Has Been Yielded—Confirmatory Telegram—The New York Herald Endorses a Private Despatch About Peace.

London, May 29.—The Daily Chronicle this morning declares that the negotiations, which will be practically concluded in the course of the present week, will witness the termination of the war in South Africa.

The paper says it understands that the Government has declined to grant the rebels unqualified amnesty, or to fix a date for the establishment of self government, and that English will probably be the official language in the two colonies.

Against this idea of a speedy announcement of peace, is the decision reached in Parliament yesterday to debate the Education Bill next Monday and to postpone further debate on the Budget, which seems to show that affairs in South Africa may require a greater period of time for settlement.

It is now regarded as certain that the Chamberlain party will be victorious, and that the Government has decided to retain the tax on grain. Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, is again indisposed, and some people believe his indisposition to be diplomatic.

Terms of Peace Agreed Upon.

New York, May 29.—In its late editions yesterday, The Evening Telegram announced that a telegram, received in New York yesterday, from a source in London, which The Herald has ascertained to be of unquestionable authority, stated that the war in South Africa was at an end.

A complete settlement of the terms of peace, it was added, had been reached, and an official announcement to this effect was expected at any moment.

Boers Again Defeated.

Middleburg, Transvaal, May 28.—Major Collett, with a detachment of the mounted troops of this district, encountered a force of Boers on the Repon-road May 27. The engagemens which followed lasted for a long time, the enemy finally drew off, however, leaving behind them on the field Commandant Malon, who was mortally wounded.

An armored train engaged the same party of Boers the evening of May 27, but no details of the latter engagement have been received.

Lord Kitchener's Last Post.

London, May 29.—A statement was issued by a news agency yesterday morning that Lord Kitchener will become adjutant-general to the forces instead of being in command of the Indian army, as previously reported.

Machine Not Responsible.

Fernie, B.C., May 29.—Provincial Mineralogist Robertson yesterday morning made a public statement, which directly contradicts all statements as to the origin of Thursday's disaster, put forward by Blakemore, Wilson and other experts on the scene. These are agreed that the explosion must have occurred through the use of a machine in the workings and the injudicious practice of firing shots.

Robertson declares that a machine has been found in No. 2, and that while holes had been drilled, they had not been charged when the explosion occurred, and, consequently, could be held in no way responsible.

There were 76 bodies brought up to the town yesterday.

Drowned in the Humber.

Toronto, May 29.—Charles Mann, son of James T. Mann, chief clerk of the Department of Asylums, Parliament Buildings, was drowned yesterday afternoon at the second bend in the Humber River. The body was recovered and taken to the late home of the deceased at 161 St. Patrick street. Charles Mann, was 26 years of age, and is survived by his parents, two brothers—Harry, with George J. Foy & Co., and Stanley with Aemilius Jarvis & Co. He also leaves a married sister. Coroner J. H. McConnell investigated the sad circumstances surrounding the drowning and deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Young Man Killed.

Hamista, Man., May 29.—Cecil, second son of William Pedlow, a prominent farmer, was killed Tuesday evening by being thrown from a wagon. The team was running away, and the tongue broke, the boy being thrown from the wagon. His skull was badly fractured, death being instantaneous.

40,000 Workers to Quit.

Chicago, May 29.—If the great packing concerns at the Union Stock Yards shall not concede to the demands of the striking teamsters within a short time, it may result in a general stoppage of 40,000 employes at the yards. Already, several hundred persons have quit.

Drilling Their Men.

Hazelton, Pa., May 29.—In anticipation of an effective strike of the only class of men remaining at work, the coal companies in this district are daily drilling their trusted hands, who have been selected to take the places of the strikers.

MR. KENNAN AND PARTY SAFE

Prof. Hill Took Many Photographs, But Acknowledges That He Was Terrified by Nature's Awful Revelation in Martinique—The Terrified People in Flight With Their Cattle and Other Effects.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 29.—5 p.m.—A tremendous explosion of very black smoke from Mont Pelee at a quarter before nine o'clock this morning accentuated the fear entertained for the safety of George Kennan, the American author who, with a land party, has been examining the northern part of the island, and the Governor of Martinique, M. L. L'Huerre, who was at once seen in the matter of arranging for a rescue party to proceed by land, in connection with the voyage along the coast of the island on the United States cruiser Cincinnati, should such steps be necessary. At about 11 o'clock this morning Fequin-Clerc, a wealthy landed proprietor of Martinique, arrived here and announced that Mr. Kennan and his party were safe on a plantation at the north end of the island.

Prof. Robert T. Hill, United States Government geologist and head of the expedition sent to Martinique by the National Geographical Society, who left Fort de France Monday on horseback for the volcano, returned here this morning. He was completely worn out by his trip. Prof. Hill recites an interesting story of his examination of the district through which he passed.

Speaking personally of his expedition to Mont Pelee, Prof. Hill said: "My attempt to examine the crater of Mont Pelee has been futile. I succeeded, however, in getting very close to Morne Rouge. At 7 o'clock Monday night I witnessed from a point near the ruins of St. Pierre, a frightful explosion of Mont Pelee, and noted the accompanying phenomena. While the eruptions continue, no sane man should attempt an ascent to the crater of the volcano.

"I took many photographs, but don't hesitate to acknowledge that I was terrified. But I was not the only person to be frightened; two newspaper correspondents, who were close to Morne Rouge, some hours before me, became scared, ran three miles down the mountain, and hastened into Fort de France.

"The people on the north end of the island are terrified, and are fleeing with their cattle and effects. I spent Tuesday night in a house at Dolly Creek with a crowd of two hundred frightened refugees.

A Queen's Contribution.

The Hague, May 29.—Queen Wilhelmina (who had previously subscribed 2,000 florins ($800) towards the Martinique fund) has contributed 1,000 florins ($400) to the fund, being raised for the relief of the sufferers from the volcanic outbreak in the British Island of St. Vincent.

TWENTY-NINE DROWNED.

Sealing Schooner Hatzic With All on Board Believed to Be Lost.

Victoria, May 29.—It is feared that the sailing schooner, Hatzic, the only vessel of the coast fleet, has not returned to port, has been lost. She has never been seen since starting on her spring cruise on Feb. 15. Hope was not abandoned until yesterday, when the coast steamer returned without any news of her. She is believed to have been lost in the big storm of Feb. 24.

The Hatzic is commanded by Captain Daley, an old sealer, and besides him there are on board Capt. Farley, Mate P. Dooley, A. Medina, S. Christian, a Chinese cook and 24 Indians from Kyuquout, on the west of the island. Captain Daley leaves a widow and family.

Henry Arnoldt Acquitted.

Berlin, May 29.—Henry Arnoldt, who on Tuesday, was arrested in Toronto by Detective Burrows on a charge of stealing a carload of scrap iron from John Lewis here, was brought before Police Magistrate Weir yesterday morning, and was committed for trial. His trial commenced before Judge Chisholm at 2 o'clock p.m.. W. H. Bowlby, K. C., appeared for the Crown, and Nicholas Murphy, K.C., of Toronto, for the defence. Arnoldt testified on his own behalf, and said the carload was worth $150. He produced vouchers to support his contention that it was bought with his own money, and that Lewis had no interest in the goods whatever. After hearing his story, Judge Chisholm ordered Arnoldt's discharge and the handing over to him of his bill of lading.

C.P.R. Leads in Wall Street.

Toronto, May 29.—Canadian Pacific continues to occupy the position of leader in the Wall Street market. Yesterday more business was done in it than in any other stock in the list. Owing to the delay in announcing peace in South Africa and the position of the coal strike, it opened lower at 138 to 137½. In the afternoon, however, the general market eased off again on coal strike news, and Canadian Pacific was drawn back to 136½. At the close nearly 137 was bid.

Eric Sharp Bailed.

THE ROYAL SOCIETY

Capt. Bernier's North Pole Project Again Endorsed.

MANY SUBJECTS OF INTEREST.

Appreciation of the Good Work Done by the Dominion Government For the Benefit of Navigation Through the Tidal Survey Department—List of New Fellows Elected—Canadian Poet's Night.

Toronto, May 29.—The Royal Society reaffirmed their approval of Capt. Bernier's project to discover the North Pole yesterday. Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, and Dean Bovey, Montreal, championed a resolution in that connection.

Resolutions were also passed, expressing appreciation of the work done by the Dominion Government for the benefit of navigation, through the Tidal Survey Department; and of the great scientific and economic value of the work at present conducted at the Marine Biological Station of Canada.

President Loudon, Sir Sandford Fleming, Prof. McLeod, T. C. Keefer, Capt. Deville and Dr. T. H. Bovey were assigned to ascertain from the Government what steps were taken to extend the triangulation system of the United States coast, and the geodetic survey in this country.

On recommendation of section No. 3, Prof. Barnes and Dr. J. C. Glashan were elected fellows. On recommendation of section No. 1 (Litterature Francaise, etc.), Abbe G. Bourassa, Laval University, Montreal; Hon. Thomas Chapais, M.C.L., Quebec; T. M. Ernest Gagnon, Secretary of the Department of Public Works, Quebec, and M. R. Bellemare, ex-Inspector Inland Revenue, Montreal, were elected members of that section.

Section No. 1, that devoted to French literature, met and elected officers as follows: President, Senator Poirier; vice-president, A. Poisson; secretary, Dr. Dionne, Librarian Quebec Legislature; delegates to Congress of Americanists, J. E. Roy, F. R.S. C., Levis; E. Gerin, F. R. S. C. Ottawa.

Senator Poirier read a paper on "Louisburg in 1902," in which he described the present condition of the old fortress, and urged the acquisition of the site by the Government, and the placing of the place in a suitable state of repair. Mr. J. Edmond Roy read a paper on "The Duel in Canada." N. E. Dionne gave a sketch of the history of the Library of the Quebec Legislature from 1792 to 1902.

In section No. 3, that devoted to mathematic, physical and chemical sciences, Prof. B. J. Harrington read an exceedingly interesting paper on "A Modification of Victor Meyer's Vapor Density Apparatus." Some new apparatus was shown. Dr. J. C. McLennan read a paper by W. R. Cherry on "The Potential Difference required to Produce Discharges in Air and Other Gases." The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides. Three papers were read on radio activity; one, "Radio activity induced in salts by cathode rays and by the discharge rays from an electric spark," written by W. R. Carr; another on "Radio activity induced in substances exposed to the action of atmospheric air," by R. M. Stewart, read by Dr. J. C. McLennan; and "Excited radio activity from the atmosphere," by S. J. Allan.

In Section No. 4, devoted to geological and biological sciences, Dr. Adams presided. Dr. Bell reported with regard to the movement set on foot by the Royal Society for the attainment of a uniform system of geological nomenclature over the continent. A committee, consisting of Sir James Grant, Dr. Burgess and Prof. D. P. Penhallow, was appointed to act with section No. 2 in regard to ethnological work in Canada. Prof. Prince of the Marine Biological Laboratory was recommended for election as a fellow.

Prof. G. U. Hay read a paper on "Botanical Work in New Brunswick." Dr. Wesley Mills read an exceedingly interesting paper on "The Behavior of Blind Animals." A paper by the same author, on "Certain Methods for the Investigation of the Nervous System," was taken as read. A series of bibliographies for 1901 was presented: On "Canadian Entomology," by Rev. Dr. C. J. S. Bethune; on "Canadian Zoology," by Prof. Whiteaves; on "Canadian Geology," by Dr. Ami; on "Canadian Botany," by Dr. Mackay.

In the English Literature Section, Rev. Dr. Bryce delivered a lecture on "Picturesque Fort Garry," illustrated by limelight views.

The hall was crowded with an intelligent audience in the evening, who listened attentively to a number of very creditable productions of poetry. President Loudon occupied the chair. Rev. F. George Scott was particularly happy in the reading of several of his productions. In each instance, he won enthusiastic applause. W. W. Campbell read some of his writings, including three, entitled "Britain," "Wind" and "The Vanguard." Prof. Horning read selections from the writings of Charles D. G. Roberts, and Duncan C. Scott delighted the gathering with the reading of his productions, "The Way the Wind Blows," "Twin Flowers on the Portays" and "On Lake Nepigon." George Murray of Montreal read a few touching verses.

At the conclusion the president and faculty gave a most pleasing reception in the Faculty Union.

Owing to more business than expected remaining to be transacted, the Society will convene in general assembly this morning at 9.30 o'clock.

THE LAST WORDS.

Premier Ross at Ottawa Confident of Victory and With Reason—Mr. Whitney at Kingston Said "They Say."

Ottawa, May 29.—Two thousand persons heard Premier Ross utter the closing words of the campaign of the Ontario Government in the Dominion capital last night. Another thousand, or very nearly that number, lined the street outside, unable to obtain admission. Had it been so desired an overflow meeting of almost the same size as the main gathering could have been held. Every seat in the Russell Theatre from floor to ceiling was occupied, and even the wings on the stage had their quota of listeners.

Worthy of the Premier.

It was an assemblage worthy of the Premier, and Mr. Ross' address was worthy of the occasion. On the platform were many leading citizens, and in the auditorium were persons of every calling from the wealthy merchant to the man who toils daily with the pick and the shovel. All enthusiastically welcomed the Premier and all acclaimed his utterances. The ladies of the capital were represented in large numbers, and several members of the Dominion Government were present, viz., Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Wm. Paterson, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. R. W. Scott, Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick and Hon. William Templeman. Two of the Ministers, Hon. Wm. Paterson and Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, warmly endorsed the claims of the Provincial Government to popular support in eloquent and convincing speeches.

Confident of Victory.

In his concluding remarks the Premier said: "The prospects of the Liberal party in the Province are very encouraging. I believe we are going to carry the Province. (Cheers) People say, 'Never prophesy unless you know.' Well, I do not; but I believe that prognostication will come true. I believe we will carry the country, because our record is a good one. We have done our best to build up Ontario, its schools, its agriculture and its industries, by everything that tends to good government and to happiness in the home. And, with your assistance, we shall make Ontario still stronger in its business relations and in everything which tends to usefulness and prosperity." (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Mr. Whitney at Kingston.

Kingston, May 29.—The meeting addressed by Mr. Whitney last night was exceptionally large and enthusiastic. The City Hall was packed, the aisles, window sills and lobby being crowded. The ladies present were many. Mr. Whitney was given an ovation. During his remarks, he said that if 40 per cent. of the information that he had received was true, the Conservative party would be in power at Toronto after to-day.

Mr. Whitney was very hoarse, and wanted to stop talking, but the audience insisted on him continuing till 11 o'clock. The meeting was one of the largest ever held in Kingston.

SENATOR CLEMOW DEAD.

Passed Away Wednesday Morning at Ottawa—Educated in Toronto.

Ottawa, May 29.—Senator Clemow died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks. He was a son of Captain John Clemow of His Majesty's 41st Regiment and was born in May, 1821. He received his education at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and in 1840 settled in this city. He married in 1847 Margaret, daughter of the late Colonel Powell, 101st Regiment. The deceased was identified with the Conservative party and on Feb. 8, 1885, was called to the Senate. In 1892 he was chairman of the Committee of the Whole in the Senate, engaged in codifying the criminal laws of Canada. The late Senator was a director of the Ottawa Electric Co. and the Ottawa Gas Co., and sat in the City Council for two years. He was a prominent member of the Orange Order.

THE STOMACH

A Very Important and Often Neglected Organ.

Few People Recognise the Importance of Keeping the Stomach and Organs of Digestion in a Perfect and Healthy Condition.

Most of us forget that we have a Stomach, and that it deserves some care and consideration until it rebels against this daily neglect, and Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Biliousness, Headache or Heart Trouble, notify us most peremptorily that it must be immediately attended to, or we will be punished.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets furnish the surest and quickest relief, and the most complete and permanent cure for all Stomach Troubles.

If your Stomach has given you warning, by the slightest symptom, that it is tired and requires an opportunity for rest and restoration, you should heed this warning at once.

Do not put off a treatment until the pain becomes unbearable.

Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets right away.

Probably one box will be all that your case will need at its present stage, whereas if you defer the treatment until the derangement has become greater, it will probably take a half dozen boxes or more.

But no matter at what stage of Indigestion you find yourself, you may be sure that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will instantly relieve you, and permanently cure you.

Take one or two immediately after each meal.

These dainty tablets digest the food, animal and vegetable, every bit of it, with little or no assistance from the Stomach, thus enabling this organ to rest and regain its lost vigour, and at the same time furnish the body with the necessary strength and nourishment.

Gradually as the Stomach gains strength to do its own work again, the dose may be lessened, until finally health becoming completely restored the treatment may be discontinued.

BIG COMBINE EXPECTED.

Successful Work of a Prominent Broker in the Pacific Province.

Toronto, May 29.—Aemilius Jarvis has just returned from British Columbia, where he was successful in getting 45 of the big canning institutions of that province to combine, thus practically consolidating the salmon canning industry of the west.

In the course of an interview in The Vancouver Province, Mr. Jarvis says:

"From the outset this Canadian company will more than rival the big San Francisco concern. The latter is said to have started with some twenty-six canneries, to which a few have since been added, and $600,000 in cash, with its capital at $3,120,000. The Canadian company commences with forty-five canneries, and $1,250,000 in cold cash to carry on and develop the industry.

"In addition to the savings expected to be effected by combining, most important economies will be realized in the expenditure for plant, tinplate, and supplies, as also in the shipping, and, in fact, almost at every step that punctuates the sockeye's course between the cannery staging and the mechanic's or miner's lunch basket in the North of England. In London there will be a salaried salesman, who will handle the United Kingdom shipments, while the corporation will also be in a position to maintain representatives in India, China, Japan, Australia and many other points, whose duty it will be to exploit markets and effect sales. In this way the business of the industry can be pushed as no single cannery owner could hope in reason.

"The fact that an industry in which the capital invested in plant, etc., lies idle for ten months out of the twelve, could pay a dividend, has, Mr. Jarvis states, excited a good deal of attention amongst the men with whom he is associated in arranging the amalgamation. And at present there is a good deal of consideration being given to all the possible ways in which the canneries can be utilized when the sockeye and the cohoe runs are over. Of these the chief is the packing of cheaper grades of fish for the Oriental market, a branch of the industry which is now to be much more systematically developed. Actual experiments are to be inaugurated in the putting up of other food products such as crabs, clams, and possibly sardines.

BOOT AND SHOE COMBINE.

Montreal, May 29.—C. R. Johnson of Toronto and New York has been in Montreal for some days, and the result of his visit is expected to be a combine of all the leading boot and shoe manufacturers in Canada.

The meeting at the Place Viger yesterday lasted for several hours. Messrs. C. F. Smith of the James McCready Company and Mr. C. O. Holden of the Ames, Holden Company left the meeting before its conclusion. The other persons present were Messrs. J. D. King and C. R. Johnson of Toronto; Messrs. W. A. Marsh and John Ritchie of Quebec, and a representative of the J. & T. Bell Company. After the meeting Messrs. Marsh and Ritchie left for Quebec, while the other gentlemen left the hotel. The meeting adjourned without finally settling matters, but another meeting will be held possibly within a day or two.

NOTHING LIKE

Malt Breakfast Food

FOR HEALTH RESULTS.

A breakfast grain food that fails to give health and strength to young and old is dear at any price. While this is true it is wonderful how habit and custom have so long led and deceived many worthy people.

The ordinary breakfast food used by many, such as oatmeal, cracked wheat, cornmeal and hominy, no doubt appease the pangs of hunger; their usefulness ends there. These foods, instead of benefitting health, retard and impair digestion; they impair the blood and lower vitality.

Malt Breakfast Food is a scientific health food; it is a concentrated nourishment, adapted for the building up of old and young. Its delicious nutty flavour, its soothing effect on the stomach of the strong and weak, its energising producing virtues, all combine to make it a food of extraordinary value. Malt Breakfast Food sustains life for the sick when all other forms of nourishment are rejected. It chases away indigestion and stomach troubles and creates a healthy appetite. Ask your grocer for it.

"A Liar and a Cur."

Victoria, B.C., May 29.—In the Provincial Legislature, there was some lively cross-fighting Tuesday night. Tatlow of Vancouver accused Premier Dunsmuir of trying to steal $2,000,000 in connection with the Canadian Northern Railway scheme. The Premier, in return, called Tatlow a liar and a cur. There was an uproar.

Evidence Against Mueller.

Winnipeg, Man., May 29.—At the Mueller murder trial yesterday morning, a Canadian Pacific Railroad nightwatchman swore he saw Mueller near the track where the body of Mrs. Mueller was found, on the opposite side of a train, as it passed. This evidence is the strongest yet produced against the accused.

Canon Johnson Dead.

Windsor, May 29.—Rev. Canon C. C. Johnson, one of the oldest and best known clergymen in the Episcopal Church in Canada, passed away at his home here yesterday afternoon at the age of 73 years. He was a graduate of Old Upper Canada and Trinity Colleges, and had been in the ministry over fifty years.

The Reporter's Revenge.

"Do you see that man?"

And I observed a rather lonesome person wandering aimlessly about the capitol. Regret was stamped upon his face, and his whole attitude was that of a man who had tried and failed and who had no intention of every trying again.

"Well, that is a former representative who called the correspondent of the leading paper in his district a liar. The correspondent did not pursue the ordinary method of retaliation by attacking him in his articles whenever opportunity offered. He simply refused for two years to mention his name in his correspondence. The people at home began to wonder what they sent a man to congress for anyway and finally came to the conclusion that a representative who could not get his name in the paper could not be of much account in Washington. It took 1,900 ballots to beat him when he came up for renomination, but they did it all right."—Washington Cor. New York Herald.

Cheap Living in Mexico.

"Mexican laboring men," says a man who has been visiting in Mexico, "work for 12 cents a day. This may seem incredible, but it is a fact. You see more copper cents in that country and more are used, perhaps, than in any country on the globe. It is not uncommon to see a Mexican woman go to market and buy a cent's worth of wood, a cent's worth of corn or coffee and a stalk of cane. She will make a fire in the center of her adobe house and prepare a meal for the family. They eat cane as we would an apple. The ox cart and wooden plow are still in use. The ox teams are harnessed so the pressure of the load comes upon the head, just in front of the horns, instead of the shoulder and neck."

Captured Big Game.

In one of the St. Louis Sunday schools the classrooms are separated by glass partitions. A St. Louis paper says that during a session of the school one of the teachers was much annoyed by loud talking in an adjoining room.

At last, unable to bear it any longer, he mounted a chair and looked over the partition. Seeing that one boy who was a little taller than the others was talking a great deal, he leaned over, hoisted him over the partition and banged him into a chair in his room, saying, "Now be quiet!"

A quarter of an hour later a small head appeared round the door, and a meek, scared little voice said:

"Please, sir, you've got our teacher."

OFF TO THE CORONATION.

The Representatives of C Squadron, 3rd P. of W. Dragoons.

The boys who will represent "C" Squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons at the Coronation, will be Sergt.-Major Cleghorn and Sergt. J. J. Duffis, two non-commissioned officers, who will no doubt be a credit to the town and regiment to which they belong. Sergt.-Major Cleghorn has been a member of the regiment for a number of years, and has taken a course in the Military School. He will be sure to be one of the right men in the right place. Sergt. Duffus is a younger member of the Dragoons, having enlisted at the age of nineteen, five years ago. He is also a graduate of the Royal Military College at Tororto, and holds a first class military certificate. As Sergt. Duffus is a fine sample of a Canadian soldier, no mistake has been made in selecting him to do honour to the King and country.

It is expected that the boys will leave on the C.P.R. midnight to-morrow night, and they will carry with them the good wishes of their many friends.

WESTMINISTER ABBEY CHOIR.

Gives Two Hours Musical Delight to a Delighted Two Thousand.

George Street Methodist Church Crowded in Every Part—A Magnificent Musical Programme—Rich Clear Voices Heard in the Perfection of Concerted Singing.

The reputation of the Westminster Abbey Choir, now touring in Canada, attracted, without doubt, the largest and most representative audience ever assembled in one place at one time in Peterborough, in the spacious auditorium of the George street Methodist church, last night. And this largest audience, which came with the highest expectations, was not disappointed, or rather, perhaps, pleasantly disappointed, for expectation often does not merge into realization, as it did last night — for no musical organization that ever visited the town ever presented a programme so faultlessly and to such universal popular delight as the programme presented last night.

The party consists of half-a-dozen clear, fresh-voiced boys—sopranos—two superb male altos—an uncommon thing in this country, but frequently to be met in England—four splendid tenors, two rich bassos, and a concert contralto, Madam Marie Hooten.

The programme presented was too lengthy for detailed reference. It may, however, be generally premised that every number was purely English in composition, beginning with quaint Christopher Tye, tempore Queen Elizabeth, and progressing to the stirring Coronation Anthem used at the crowning of Queen Victoria. These were entirely sacred compositions. The very first number gave delight, and every progressive number seemed to be better than the preceding. The beauty of the singing, though the solo numbers were passing excellent, was the perfection of the concerted performance. The chorus was splendidly balanced, the harmony exquisite, and attack, shading and effect were worthy of the most liberal praise.

The numbers that seemed to meet with most popular approval included "Rejoice in the Lord"—Purcell — the "Bell" anthem—in which the tones of the bells were admirably reproduced by the beautiful blending of voices; the anthem, "Seek Ye the Lord," had the tenor solo taken by Mr. Edward Branscombe, with his clear resonant voice admirably employed. The ease of his method, and the delicious clarity of tone, were a fitting prelude to the charming chorus with its charming surprises, the voices of the boy sopranos coming in here and there with delicious suddenness, like the intrusive warble of birds. "In the Sight of the Unwise"—Ousley—was another excellently performed number, as was the anthem, "In Thee, O Lord." The concluding effects in this were magnificent, the closing diminuendo, dying away into silence, like the tremulous throb in the expiring tones of a bell. The "Coronation Anthem" — Attwood — Psalm cxxii, was stirringly magnificent, and it was a surprise that so limited a number could roll out such a splendid volume of harmonious sound. The solo by Mr. Percy Coward, a male alto, with a voice of peculiar beauty, was one of the most delightful numbers. His voice is in a class by itself, and beautiful in tone; at times like a flute, clarionet or oboe, and it was heard in the choral numbers at times with quaint and pleasing effect, like the distant phrases of a reed instrument. The audience was highly pleased with Mr. Harry Dearth's singing of "Lead, Kindly Light," and Mr. Edward Hilton was recalled for his fine performance of "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," which came in the supplementary programme, which included the rollicking old English glee, "When Allan a-Dale Went a Hunting," a quartette "Haste Ye, Soft Gales," and the song by Madame Marie Hooten of "Loch Lomond" in so excellent a manner as to produce a recall. "The Lark Now Leaves," was well sung by Master Phillips, but his voice gave evident signs of fatigue from the work in the preceding choruses. The excellent programme concluded with a fine rendering of "The Bells of St. Michael's Tower," in which the mimetic effects were delightfully brought out.

On the whole the concert of the Abbey Choir was a most pronounced success. Musical critics might suggest improvements in some of the performances of the choir, but the popular voice pronounced the whole affair a most unqualified success in every way, and there is no doubt that no musical organization of the kind that has visited Peterborough has presented a more satisfying programme. The local management has reason to be thoroughly gratified at the financial as well as musical success of their undertaking.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anæmia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

CORONATION CONSEQUENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—It is a matter of surprise to many that a man who is not a Canadian by birth should have been chosen to represent the local battalion at the Coronation. I refer to Sergt.-Major Brittain. He is I believe in every other way a most excellent choice, but as one of two going from Peterborough it seems to me that a more fitting selection might have been made, unless, of course, we have none of the home-grown article up to the mark. It will be understood that those of us who think as I do, give utterance to their opinions with some hesitation since it is impossible to suppose that the choice has been made without consulting the feelings of the regiment. In response to a request, however, I am voicing the opinions of a large number, who think that if we cannot send a Canadian native, we ought not to send one at all.

Yours truly,

THE RESULT.

Before these words reach the eye of the reader the result of the provincial general elections for the selection of the tenth parliament, will have become an accomplished fact. Prophecy is generally a profitless employment, and it would be idle to dogmatically forecast the result of the battle of the ballots to-day. But one thing is certain. If the electorate measures, or has measured up to the standard of statesmanship to the demands of the progressive spirit of the province, there is no doubt of the Ross Government having been given another opportunity to advance this great province to even a greater lead than it now holds in the provincial sisterhood. Three years of leadership have brought the abilities of Hon. G. W. Ross into full play, and if the electors appreciate ability, steadfastness of high purpose, and a sympathy with progress, advance, and prevailing prosperity, the return of the Ross Government to power is the result of to-day's election.

THE MERCIFUL SHALL OBTAIN MERCY.

This was a bright, clear, cool, beautiful day for the polling day finish of an election contest; and this fact suggests congratulations to the poor horses, which have to-day done their share in saving the country. That every available beast in town was in political harness to-day, is certain, and that they were driven to the limit of necessity which enthusiasts considered advisable, is certain, and every one with a human feeling rejoices that the condition of the streets and the weather entailed the least possible suffering upon the faithful brutes, which serve men so faithfully, and set such a bright example of duty to their human, but not always humane, masters. With a full conception of the duty that confronts us, we superior mortals often need considerable spurring to bring us into the line of duty, but the faithful horse, with no idea of why he should rush about town and country, at the height of his speed, and to the full extent of his powers, enters gamely into the work to which he is put. In the heat of an election contest it would doubtless have been a waste of words to urge drivers of horses to be considerate and careful of the animals they had charge of. But it is not perhaps amiss to say a word or two in defence of the horse in general. We need not go beyond Peterborough to see examples of cruelty to horses. Boys driving meat vans are the most frequent, but by no means the worst, offenders. Their beasts are recklessly and cruelly driven. They are lashed with the whip, and when they spring forward at the impact of the stinging blow, they are cruelly jerked to their heels by a savage tug on the reins, and then the whip is again plied, and the process repeated till the best tempered horse would be justified in kicking the boy, the vehicle and the whole outfit into splinters. A horse that is properly fed well do on immense amount of hard driving, properly done and be none the worse of it; but with a horse that is starved and fed on provender with little taste or nourishment and then overdriven, and abused to boot, cruelty is no name for such treatment. Painful scenes of this kind and quite too frequent, and it is a wonder that in a town with its numerous organizations for good purposes and for purposes of questionable utility, there is not a branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. We have a Childrens Aid Society to rescue children from vicious surroundings and cruel treatment. It is doing a good work; and we need no greater warrant than the teaching of the Divine Master for the establishment of a branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He that justified emplying even the sacred hours of the Sabbath day to the relief of the ox in trouble and suffering, would not fail to smile approval upon any effort to lead to kinder treatment of dumb animals. He that notes the fall of the sparrow would approve of any effort to provide kind and considerate handling and to prevent cruel treatment of the noblest beast, that gives service to man. The merciful man is merciful to his beast.

The roorback died a hard death in West Peterborough to-day.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

On Friday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, the members of the Mission Band will hold an exhibition of articles made by the children for the missionary cause. In connection with this a sale of work will be held and a programme of songs and dialogues will be given. Refreshments will be served. Admission, 10 cents. The proceeds will go to the missionary funds. As the children have undertaken to clothe a girl in one of the Indian homes this entertainment deserves the support of all friends of the missionary cause.

Sunday school and Bible class will be held during the summer season in the morning at 10 o'clock.

SPRING FASHIONS.

Velvet Trimmings Are Much Used. Skirt Sack Coats.

Tiny sack coats quaintly plaited and made in time will appear in warmer weather, and many have stole ends and a frill or plaiting at the neck to suggest the fashionable ruffle. The habit coat is to be worn and has already been adopted by the ladies' tailor, but it has been curtailed to fit in with the fancy for short coats.

Velvet is being used lavishly on smart gowns, and some novel and effective applications of both piece and velvet ribbon were shown in a recent creation by a prominent modiste. The costume, which was of fine pale blue cloth, was cut at intervals on each side to admit of a strip of dark brown velvet ribbon being darned through after the effective fashion introduced last year. At the bottom was a wide band of brown velvet, over which the edges of the cloth were scalloped. The blouse coat also had the velvet darned through the wide collar, which was enriched with applications of lace.

Irregular figures of black velvet are very smart when appliqued on lace and chiffon gowns.

The picture shows a simple evening gown. It is made of pale blue crepe de chine striped gauzy fabric. The waist has a wide folded belt of pale blue silk, and the decolletage is outlined with a wide frill of lace, which falls over the wide belt like a bolero. The skirt has two plaited ruffles headed by four shirrings; the train is very long and flaring. The sleeves are mere puffs of the thin blue material, and directly in front a bunch of shaded artificial flowers adds to the artistic effect.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FRILLS OF FASHION.

Dainty Touches Seen on Smart Gowns.

Blouse fronts are being replaced by genuine sleeveless waistcoats made just like those for masculine wear. They are copied exactly from those worn in the eighteenth century, and the idea is to reproduce by needlework the old fancy stuffs. For instance, a cream cloth will be dotted with black chenille points or when a striped red or blue satin and velvet is used the black dots are carried all down the satin stripes. More elaborate specimens have borders of iris in natural colors on a cream ground, or on cloth of gold edelweiss blossoms are worked in white or neutral tinted chenille.

satin ribbon. This makes an admirable trimming for a black silk or cloth gown.

The dress in the illustration is of white mousseline de soie over liberty satin. The waist is trimmed with a loosely hanging and irregularly shaped collar made of the mousseline embroidered in silver. The upper halves of the sleeves are also made of this embroidery, and the lower halves consist of huge tulle puffs. At the left of the corsage in front is a bunch of violets. The skirt is slightly fulled into the belt, and it has a full flounce headed by three rows of triple shirrings.

Cooking Fish.

Boil haddock and codfish six minutes for every pound; bass, salmon and halibut ten to fifteen minutes. A lobster, as a rule, requires half an hour to forty minutes. Large fishes should bake about one hour and small ones twenty to thirty minutes. Broiling requires a quarter to half an hour, according to the size of the fish, very small specimens being finished in five to ten minutes.

No Women Admitted.

Is Not This Stealing?

Are not Imitators who Live on the Reputation of the Article They Imitate Thieves?

In Spite of at Least Half a Dozen Imitators, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has More Than Three Times the Sale of any Remedy Recommended for Throat and Lung Troubles.

Have you ever been imposed upon when asking for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by being offered an imitation? Many have been and we know of some who have changed their druggist as a result. It is not safe to deal with a druggist who offers imitations and substitutes. An honest druggist will not offend his customers by such questionable methods.

The use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has become so universal that on all sides are springing up preparations of turpentine and seed put up in packages similar to Dr. Chase's, with the object of making sales on the reputation of this famous remedy. Is not this dishonourable? Is it not stealing, or even worse? For beside the injury done to the proprietors of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the people are being deceived. In some cases no doubt, even life is lost as a result.

Are you being deceived? Have you asked for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and been given an imitation or substitute? There is no doubt about the virtue of this great throat and lung remedy. It is too well known as a thorough cure for bronchitis, coughs and colds, to need further words of commendation. What we want to do is to warn you against imitations. To be certain that you are getting the genuine be sure that Dr. Chase's portrait and signature are on the wrapper.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has reached phenomenal sales, because it cures when other remedies fail. It is far-reaching in its effects, curing the cold as well as the cough, and uprooting the most serious forms of bronchitis, asthma, and similar throat and lung diseases. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. 2

To the Lungs.

Do you go to Chicago to reach Quebec? No. There's a better and more direct way. Then why try to reach your lungs by way of your stomach? Don't. Better go straight to the lungs at once. Just light the vaporizer and breathe in the healing, soothing vapors of Cresolene. The medicine goes exactly to the right place. Your lungs quickly heal and your cough disappears. For whooping-cough it's simply perfect.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene sufficient to stop ordinary coughs, 25 cents; children's size, 50 cents; also supplies of Cresolene on sale and 100 choicely illustrated booklets containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

A CITY OF SURPRISES.

The Mixture of Barbaric Splendor and Squalor in Bombay.

Bombay is a city of surprises, with palaces particolored and covered with tracery as delicate as lace work, caves and dark hovels close by rows of open gold cutter's art, side by side with the little shops, the choicest specimens of the betel nut and common grain merchants, a stubbornly fanatical race who literally and in tens of thousands die the most awful of all deaths rather than allow the "unclean" feringee to touch his dying body or his corpse. That is the "crux" of the plague complaint. The sufferers cannot be made to believe that their religious rites will be respected.

Three and four years ago 2,000 cases occurred daily in Bombay alone. The hotels were empty, the shops shut, the people who could had fled, no one was seen in the silent streets, but here and there a prostrate body, silently and in the darkness removed. What an unequal fight it has been and not over even now. There is the same mad resistance to all restoratives when administered by "infidel hands."

The great Parsee Towers of Silence were taxed to their greatest extent. Carried to the gates of the grille or sloping gridiron, the bodies were hurriedly rolled on to it, the attendants fled for their lives and instantaneously closed the gates. The bodies of vultures did their ghastly work, and in three minutes not a vestige of skin, flesh or muscles remains on the gleaming bones, which drop and drop into the bottomless pit below. Not infrequently small bones drop from the monstrous carrions' claws into passing carriages. The Brahmins and Hindoos are burned and the Mohammedans are buried. So, truly, Bombay is hemmed in by a great city of the dead.

He Keeps Paintings In Order.

There lives in Oakford street a German whose business is rather odd and at the same time from a financial viewpoint rather dangerous. It consists in the care of paintings, and the man goes from house to house among the galleries of the fifteen or twenty Philadelphia millionaires who collect pictures, having the canvases up, varnishing them, cleaning their frames and polishing their glasses.

The work is dangerous because the paintings are often hung high and are often heavy, and nothing would be easier than to make holes or tears in them that would pretty nearly break their owners' hearts. These mishaps, however, the careful German has avoided all his life. Hence his employers have confidence in him, and without any terror or faintness they can see him take down from a wall a one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollar Botticelli, a thirty-five thousand dollar Corot or a seventeen thousand five hundred dollar Meissonnier.

Hunting With Trained Wolves.

Bert Decker, a young sportsman of Tuscola, Ill., has succeeded in taming two wolves, and they are very valuable as hunters. He captured them when young, raised them as "kittens," and now, though as large as shepherd dogs, they are quite tame and playful. Decker says the wolves can outrun dogs on the hunt and are very long winded. The wolf's favorite way of catching a rabbit is to run alongside of him, put its nose underneath Mr. Cottontail and throw him ten or twelve feet in the air, catching him in its mouth as he falls. The wolves always return to their master when called. Decker's success has caused other sportsmen to undertake the training of wolves to supplant dogs in hunting, and it is probable that wolves will find a place in future kennels.

Frost as a Mechanical Power.

A somewhat remarkable quarrying feat was accomplished at Aberdeen, Scotland, the past winter. A large stone had been drilled ready for splitting, when the thought struck the foreman that nature might aid in the object to be attained, the idea being suggested by the severe frost which prevailed. Water was poured into each of the drill holes, and, it being Saturday afternoon, work was suspended until Monday morning, when it was found that the block of granite had completely burst open. An idea of the immense power of the frost will be gathered when it is stated that the stone thus detached measured 12 feet by 5 feet and had a weight of about six tons.

The Life Saving Stations.

Since the organization of the service in 1871 $146,000,000 worth of property has been saved, 93,792 people rescued and 15,900 succored and 12,633 vessels reached and aided. The service was organized by General Sumner J. Kimball, its present chief, who from the first made fitness and merit his rule in appointing men. This accounts for the superb personnel of the service today. The only qualifications are American citizenship, ability to read and write, skill in swimming and handling boats. Most of the men are fishermen—strong and hardy from boyhood.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longfor morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Lack of Clothing In Uganda.

A lack of clothing was and probably still is the most salient characteristic of the Wa-Kavirondo. "I am afraid you will find them very naked!" said a missionary to me on the borders of their country, and so we did; nothing could have been nakeder. From their walled villages they issued in swarms and crowded round the tents to gaze upon us, monsieur, madame and bebe, without a rag to their names nor a clout between them, unless indeed a bead necklace or a hippopotamus tooth stuck behind the ear could be accounted clothing. An airy, buoyant folk, verily, and to missionary eyes a sad contrast to the semicivilized Waganda, with their greasy draperies of bark cloth.—Cornhill.

Madagascar's Two Climates.

The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarious, and the natives are darker than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and the natives smaller and lighter in color than on the coast. But in the interior they are more intelligent, and they rule the island.

The Root of the Trouble.

It surprises some people when you tell them that tthair nervous trouble is caused by a defective liver. Liver trouble causes constipation. Next comes dyspepsia, then impure blood, with heavy strain, and the result is nerve trouble. Merrill's System Tonic is a positive cure for liver trouble and constipation, and in this way removes the cause of other ills. 50 cents per bottle at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

THAT CHAPTER.

A Chapter on Scott's Emulsion often holds a prominent position in the histories of weak children.

The gist of that chapter usually reads like this:

"Child weak and thin—began with small doses of Scott's Emulsion three times a day—after a week appetite improved—soon a little stronger—child more lively—weighs more".

And so it goes till the child is reported well and strong.

EDUCATION OF THE PARROT.

To teach a parrot to talk it is never necessary to place the poor bird in a darkened room or to starve him. Common sense would suggest that he should be made as happy as possible in his surroundings. Give him good food—hemp, maize, oats, biscuit. As a slice of fruit is always beneficial, a bit of apple, of pear, of banana or of carrot will do very well. Also see that your pet has pure drinking water, a large cage, some soft wood to gnaw, with plenty of coarse grit on the floor of the cage, for he needs the small stones to aid his digestion. A parrot in those comfortable circumstances may then be left alone in a room while his teacher conceals himself in another. The teacher, who should be heard, but not seen, should repeat, with infinite patience, over and over again the word or words he wishes his pet to learn. The female parrots do not talk—the female of the song birds, it should be remembered, is not a singer—so that efforts of education in that line are quite thrown away.

Cicero.

Cardinal Newman was a master in the art of writing English. In one of his published letters he expressed the following opinion:

"As to patterns for imitation, the only master of style I ever had is Cicero. I think I owe a great deal to him and, so far as I know, to no one else."

Bishop Wordsworth of St. Andrews, another masterly writer of English, says in his autobiography:

"So far as I have derived benefit from any one in the matter of composition it has been from Cicero. I do not underrate the advantage of a combined study of authors such as Addison, Swift, Bolingbroke, Johnson, Burke, Hume, Gibbon, Macaulay and, I may add, Horace Walpole, but I must repeat that I believe I got more good, not only in writing Latin, but for writing English, from reading Cicero and learning him by heart than from any other source."

Long Flight of the Humming Bird.

That it may have the entire field to itself and escape the keen competition of hosts of tropical relatives for the nectar and minute insects in the deep tubed brilliant flowers that please him best that jeweled atom, the ruby throated humming bird, sole representative of his family east of the Mississippi, travels from Central America or beyond to Labrador and back again every summer of its incessantly active little life. Think what the journey from Yucatan even to New England must mean for a creature so tiny that its outstretched wings measure barely two inches across! It is the smallest bird we have. Wherein lodges the force that propels it through the sky at a speed and a height which take it instantly beyond the range of human vision?—Ladies' Home Journal.

His Mission.

First Tourist—Um—er—did you come to Florida for your health?

Second Same—Naw, I fetched that with me. I came down here to shoot a nallygator.

Keeping down expenses and keeping up her faith in her husband are what make a married woman lead a strenuous life.

The Flaws in the Rose.

When a garden first becomes a (not) possibility, most people turn at once to the thought of roses. Now, roses have no place in landscape gardening. As a rule they do not belong in the front yard. This may sound shocking and heretical, but it is true at least so far as the common double flowered roses are concerned. The place for roses is in the flower garden, and the place for the flower garden is in the rear or off at one side by itself. Roses have too many fiscet enemies. Their foliage is always being destroyed. For the ordinary person it is not worth while to spray them.

Probably half the plants of all kinds sold in America by nurserymen are roses. Everybody loves roses, but in practice no one takes good care of them except the rose specialist. Personally I prefer peonies to roses for my garden. They have larger flowers which last longer than roses. They make a more compact and shapely bush, have an abundance of rich, dark green foliage, come into bearing earlier, are hardier and longer lived than most roses, and they are remarkably free from insects and disease. All they lack is poetry, perfume, thorns and buds.

But I shall not quarrel with any one who prefers roses. If you really want roses, you would better have them even if you fail.

What is Life to You.

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

A Troublesome Trio.

"The most troublesome member of my flock," said the parson, "is a young woman who wants a husband."

"My most troublesome client," said the lawyer "is a middle aged woman who wants a divorce."

"The most troublesome patient I have," said the physician, "is a spinster of uncertain age who doesn't know what she wants."

The Part He Played.

Mr. Stalate—So your sister keeps you well supplied with pocket money, does she?

Tommy—Yes.

Stalate—I presume you have to render some little equivalent?

Tommy (yawning)—Oh, yes; I have to come in and yawn when visitors are staying too late.

Useless Expense.

Drug Clerk—We don't happen to have the drugs named in this prescription, but we have others just as good.

Customer—I suppose that's all right; but what a fool I was to pay the doctor $2 for that prescription! That's what bothers me.

The Reason Why.

"The baby at your house is awfully small for its age."

"Yes, but my mistress insists on bringing it up on condensed milk."—Meggendorfers Blatter.

THE STORY OF MEYERS' CAVE.

Peterborough People Were Vitally Interested at One Time.

AN OLD INDIAN LEGEND.

Untold Wealth Supposed to Exist in This Mythical Cave—Rivals King Solomon's Mines.

Mr. E. B. Fraleck, judge of the County Court of the County of Hastings, is not only well versed in the law and the duties of a judge, but he is also an accomplished woodsman and hunter. His duties have taken him for several years into the deepest of the woods of Hastings and the adjoining counties, and while on those trips he made many interesting observations which he chronicled in a series of articles written to Forest and Stream, of New York. One of them is printed below, and is an interesting story of a mythical treasure cave, the legend of which is known to many in Ontario and Quebec, and in which a great many Peterborough people were vitally interested a short decade ago.

THE HIDDEN CAVE.

Leaving Toronto by morning C.P.R. train east you will arrive at Kaladar Station, a few miles beyond Tweed, about 3 o'clock p.m., and thence thirteen miles by stage to Cloyne, in early evening. This place is noted more from what it is not than for what it is or might be. Its negative qualities predominate. Unlike most villages, it has no past and, in prospect, no future prosperity. A tavern, two or three stores and a blacksmith shop, with a few dwelling houses without paint scattered along about a mile of sandy, dusty road, comprise the place. On the east side is the County of Frontenac, and on the west the County of Addington.

The soil is a coarse, barren sand, and plants and crops look pinched and starved, even in a year of exuberant growth in other localities, and farmers do not prosper. It is, however, the entrepot to the great lumber region beyond, being only three miles from the depot of a large lumber company at the foot of the Great Massinau. It is the centre of a lacustrine district swarming with lake and brook trout, and in the fall of the year is the starting point of numerous hunting parties for the forests beyond. The Perry road runs northerly along the Massinau Lake. Deserted homes here and there denote the failure of some settler who, after years of toil in clearing the pine lands and rearing substantial buildings, has left in disgust for a more genial locality and a more generous soil. About seven miles from Cloyne the traveller obtains a fair view of the Massinau, a fine sheet of water ten miles long, running in a southwesterly direction. Here he stands upon the height of land. The waters of this lake flow to the south and east. Over and behind the big rock lie Dyer Lake and Buck Lake. To the south of them, Little Buck Lake, Marble Lake, Massinogon and Long Lake (Massinogon seven miles and Long Lake twenty miles long.) To the east there is Campbell Lake and McClintoc Lake, and to the north of McClintoc the Brule Lakes, which empty into the Madawaska. To the south and west the waters of Loon Lake find their way to the Bay of Quinte, while to the north and west the West-la-ma-coon runs to York River, a tributary of the Madawaska. This is a land of forest, lake and stream—a sportsman's paradise. Here the scenery is worthy of our artist's pencil. From Tapping Mountain, which rises about 900 feet from the waters of the lake, looking westward, the illimitable green rises billow upon billow clear across the Counties of Addington and Hastings, a distance of about fifty miles, while to the north and east the mountains around the Brule Lakes and the Madawaska break the horizon, or upon a clear day over the waters of the lake in the upper regions of the air the empyreal realm of the eagle, that majestic bird, perhaps, may be seen extending its immense wings and wheeling slowly and majestically to and fro, seemingly without exerting a muscle or fluttering a feather, but moving by mere volition and sailing on the bosom of the air as a ship upon the ocean. Directly in front of you to the east rises the famous rock of the Massinau. This rock is apparently the half of a high mountain split in two by some terrestrial convulsion ages ago, the west half having disappeared, leaving the east half a sheer precipice, rising perpendicularly from the waters of the lake hundreds of feet and extending north and south about a mile and a half. In the clear atmosphere objects at a distance seem surprisingly near. When on the lake you imagine you are only a half-mile or so from the rock, and are disgusted when told you have to row two or three miles to get to it.

INDIANS REVERED IT.

Whether from its echoes or from its gruesome appearance while passing underneath in a boat, this rock inspired the Indians with reverential awe. Forty or fifty years ago paintings could be seen—Indian hieroglyphics—but are now obliterated by the action of the water and frosts. A curious legend is connected with this rock, and one which invested it with more than local interest. Like the buried treasures of Captain Kidd and similar chestnuts which used to interest the past generation, it was currently believed that a cave surpassingly rich in native silver existed within its adamantine bosom. Wondrous stories were told, and currently believed, how the walls were studded with pure silver. Stalactites of the solid metal hung from the roof, while all around was scattered wealth equal to a king's ransom. Here was a veritable "King Solomon's Mines," without the [illegible] to close the stone door upon the intruder. Like all other such fables, the truth of its existence lay in the impossibility of finding it. Its locality was known to the chief medicine man of the tribe, and the secret had been handed down from generation to generation and sacredly kept. The Indians said it was the abode of the Great Spirit, and no one (but the medicine man) dare enter, for he could not come out alive. The breath (poisonous gases) of the Great Spirit would cause him to die.

AN EARLY SETTLER.

The name of Meyers is so closely connected with this cave that its history would not be complete without a word or two about those people.

Settled in early times on the shores of the Bay of Quinte near Trenton, the Meyerses were a hardy and numerous family with an inclination to hunt as thoroughly ingrained as that propensity was possessed by an Indian.

A Meyers was as adept as an Indian in following a trail or tracking a deer or a bear, and as expert at trapping and all manner of woodcraft. Without a compass, no tract was too lonely for him to explore, no forest jungle too dense or too vast for him to penetrate. The management of the camp was second nature to him, and the trackless forest was as plain and open as the alleys and streets to the dwellers in the cities. He loved the forest and its associations. To him the singing of the pines was sweet music, trees and rocks his companions. He was a true son of nature and in touch with her ever-changing mood.

A rifle—flintlock of course — powder horn, a few patches and bullets with hatchet and knife, composed his hunting outfit, while a blanket, pannikin, a few pounds of pork and flour, a little salt and tea, by way of luxury, and the ever-present flint, steel and tinder box, completed his kit. Thus equipped for the woods, he would start out. No matter wherever night overtook him, with a wigwam of evergreens and a bed of the same material on top of the snow, and a fire at the root of a large tree, rock or log, which would retain the heat, and refract it back into his snug quarters, he would enjoy his night's rest with the ease of a commercial traveller in a palace hotel, and with a sound and refreshing sleep which downy pillows and spring mattresses fail to bring. While deer roamed around his own fields and fallow, his favourite hunting grounds were on the streams tributary to the Moira, about twenty miles north of where Tweed is now situated. Here deer were as plentiful as sheep in a farm yard, and still continue to be very numerous to this day.

At the earliest snow the Meyerses repaired to this favourite hunting ground, where they built a rude cabin as a sort of depot for their hunting excursions and remained until about the latter end of January. Some of their sons, now old, gray-headed men, still tell of accompanying their father in their annual hunt, and of the sleigh loads of deer and the bales of furs garnered in during their sylvan harvest. These were the happy days of muzzle loaders and of plenteous game, with no statute to limit the season or prescribe the number. From this place proceeding a short distance to the north and east through what is now known as the Township of Anglesea, they would find themselves near the large waters of Loon Lake, which lie only a mile and a half from those of the Massinau.

By placing a canoe in the waters at Corbyville, four miles from the mouth of the Moira, Loon Lake may be easily reached, there being only one short portage to be overcome. These waters being of easy access to the voyageur, the Meyerses and their friends became acquainted with them long before any settlement was dreamed of and years before the lumberman's axe resounded throughout the woods.

LEAVE SECRET TO FRIEND.

About eighty years ago John Meyers, the veritable Nimrod of the family, hunted in the locality. Every fall he repaired to this locality and hunted weeks and months with the Indians. Whether by joining or becoming one of the tribe, and going through the initiation prescribed for becoming a medicine man, or by influence over the chief, he gained access to the cave, and from his description it surpassed in richness everything said or imagined about it. But like all other stories of this kind, something happens to keep them on foot. Meyers on his journey back was overtaken by a storm on the lake, his canoe was upset and he lost his gun and effects, and the specimens of silver went along with the rest. Not long after his return home he was taken sick and never recovered. Before he died, however, he left as a legacy the important secret of the cave, and to a trusty friend gave directions, which were written down on paper, as to the locality. Whether from the bungling or careless manner in which the precious information was written down, or from the feeble and clouded state of Meyers' mind, weakened by disease, the description was as ambiguous as the answers of the Delphic oracle.

The story of Meyers' discovery was soon widely circulated. Many were the searchers after the hidden treasure and among the rest were Meyers' confidantes, who, to the pleasures of expectation added the exultation of absolute certainty. But all their explorations were in vain, the Great Spirit was not generous; they might as well have searched for the amphitheatre in the Kaats-kills, where Rip Van Winkle played nine pins with the crew of Hendrik Hudson. As the search began to become fruitless those who possessed the precious document became generous and its contents were imparted to others. The writing stated that the cave was situated about half a mile from the "mouth" of the lake. Learned arguments took place as to what was the mouth of the lake. Some held that the mouth was where the waters of the lake flowed into the Mississippi, while others contended that it was where the waters received those of the river at its head. The story of Meyers' cave gradually died away into fable, to be revived from time to time as the fluctuations of mining interests increased or waned from time to time in that locality.

LIBERALS WIN ONTARIO AGAIN.

Mr. Ross' Government Sustained by a Working Majority.

LIBERALS 51—CONSERVATIVES 46

Manitoulin Is Still to Hear From—All the Ministers Returned by Handsome Majorities—Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and London All Elected Conservatives—Returns From New Ontario Incomplete.

Toronto, May 30.—Although complete returns were not in last night from every constituency, and in one case, Manitoulin, no figures at all came in, there seems no reason to doubt that the Government has been sustained by a slightly reduced majority. It went to the country with a majority of eleven, and the new Legislature, according to the figures at hand at the time of writing, will contain 51 Liberals and 46 Conservatives. This leaves Manitoulin out. If that supports the Government the majority of the Government will be six, a reduction of four from that with which it went to the country. Should Manitoulin go Conservative the Government's majority in the new Legislature will be four.

The Conservatives gained fourteen seats and the Liberals gained eleven. This includes the new constituencies in new Ontario. Of these the Government carried four and the Opposition two, Manitoulin not yet being heard from. These figures are, of course, subject to revision when the complete returns are received.

HON. G. W. ROSS.

Of the Liberals defeated the most prominent are the Liberal Whips, Mr. W. J. McKee, who went down in North Essex, and Dr. McKay, who was defeated in South Oxford. The loss of South Oxford came certainly as a surprise, it being the first time this constituency has gone Conservative since confederation. The loss of the seat in Ottawa was not unexpected, and Mr. Lumsden's disappearance from the House for the present is much to be regretted. Lieut.-Col. Leys' defeat in London was due doubtless to the three-cornered contest consequent on Mr. Daly, the Prohibitionist, taking part, the bulk of his 800 votes being probably drawn from the Liberal party. A similar cause probably contributed to Lieut.-Col. Mutrie's defeat in South Wellington. Mr. Pardee's defeat in West Lambton is a matter of regret.

A very satisfactory feature of the election is the return of all the Ministers by substantial majorities, that of the Premier in West Middlesex being the largest in his long career.

Among the notable wins by the Liberals were East Middlesex, Centre Simcoe, East Simcoe and North Wentworth.

Among the new Conservative members who will figure in the next Legislature are two old members, Dr. Willoughby, who wins back East Northumberland, for which he sat for several years before the last Legislature, and Mr. St. John, who also sat previously for West York.

Mayor Hendrie, Hamilton, will also no doubt take a promiaent place among the members of his party

The Conservative candidates were elected in South, North and West Toronto by the usual large majorities, but in East Toronto Mr. McBrady's vigorous run reduced the overwhelming normal Conservative majority by 50 per cent. Mr. Marter, the Independent candidate, made a good run in North Toronto, but Dr. Nesbitt secured an ample majority. It is noticeable that Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and London, the four largest cities in the Province, all went Conservative.

SIR JAMES GRANT PRESIDENT.

Election of Officers of the Royal Society of Canada.

Toronto, May 30.—Fellows and delegates of the Royal Society met in the Chemical Building of the University last evening to listen to Dr. Jeffrey of the University speak upon the forest trees of Canada.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected during the day. Sir James Grant was elected president, Col. Geo. Denison, vice-president: Sir John Bourinot and Prof. John Fletcher, re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Chancellor Burwash of Victoria University, with W. D. Lighthall of Montreal, were received as fellows.

Dr. Saunders, director of the Experimental Farms, gave an illustrated talk on the satisfactory results obtained in the west by crossing a hardy Siberian apple with Canadian apples. The satisfactory results obtained by crossing gooseberries and currants and plums with sand cherries were also noticed.

A reception was given to the members at Government House in the afternoon.

To-day they will leave on an excursion to Niagara Falls, returning on Monday.

THE NEW NORTH.

Up in Northern Ontario, in the country that will be tapped by the Temiskaming Railway, there are 16,000,000 acres of land, equal to the best in the old-settled parts of the Province.

The full significance of this has not yet been fully grasped by the people. There are but 13,000,000 acres of land that have ever been touched by a plow in the whole Province up to the present time, so that there are 3,000,000 more acres of the fine agricultural land in that newly-explored north than there are under actual cultivation in Old Ontario.

The old idea that we were hemmed in on the north by a wilderness of little use to man has been dispelled. There is a second kingdom there awaiting those who shall enter into possession of it.

If Uncle Sam should unexpectedly find himself the possessor of so vast and good an agricultural reserve, he would get up on the roof of the world and make such a noise about it that people would come on the run from all parts of both hemispheres to take homesteads there.

We cannot and do not quite want to boom things in that way, but to produce a slower and surer growth. This country's long-waited-for innings has arrived, and Ontario's back-country is ready for early occupation.

When the immense possibilities of that northern country are considered it will be conceded that there is no railway more necessary than the one to Temiskaming, and no road that could be built and owned by the Government to so much public advantage. If the Intercolonial ties the Maritime Provinces to Canada and the C.P.R. unites British Columbia with the East so the Temiskaming Railway will unite Northern and Southern Ontario. That road starts out to open up a country that invites and can support a population of millions.—Toronto Star.

MADE IN CANADA.

Talk is cheap, but it is by performance that men are judged. The city authorities of Toronto, have not, says the Star, stipulated that Canadian cement, and other home-produced materials shall be used in constructing the new buildings for the Industrial Exhibition, as the Ontario Government has fixed the conditions of aid to Railways.

These are not only public buildings, but they are erected for exhibition purposes, and should be in themselves an exhibit.

In the specifications for the new School of Science now in course of construction, the Ontario Government has not neglected this matter. It is stipulated that the cement and other materials shall be Canadian products. The Ross Government looks after such details with care, because the building up of the country is the steadfast purpose the Premier has in mind.

Canada is a cement making country and the home-made article should be used in our Exhibition buildings.—Toronto Star.

CARNEGIE AT CLOSE RANGE.

A little smiling, white-haired man, unaffected in manner, with nothing whatever imposing in his bearing, without what is commonly called a "presence," or, in expressive slang, a "front"—a man so diminutive that he was conspicuous in contrast with the other men and the women surrounding him—was strolling about in the new laboratory of engineering of the Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, N. J., examining some very novel decorations that had been contrived in his honour.

This small, unassuming man was Andrew Carnegie, whose career has been one of the most striking in the century, the occasion was the formal transfer of this building from Mr. Carnegie, who built it, to the college which he thus endowed. And now that Mr. Carnegie is off again for his Scottish castle, announcing the distribution of another million for the cause of education, this occasion is recalled, because on that evening Mr. Carnegie was "himself;" he was thoroughly relaxed, talking and acting in an entirely informal way. He did not seem to feel that he was "on parade," and this furnished an opportunity to observe the "master of iron" in surroundings that were of the personal and intimate. The very first impression which unavoidably came at once to my mind was that the mere matter of physique, of personal appearance, has very little to do with a man's getting ahead in the world.

There stood the Andrew Carnegie, who during last year gave fifty million dollars to education and who still remains one of the world's wealthiest men, a man who has gone to the very front in his walk in life. In his appearance was nothing to suggest that by the mere force of his physical personality he would sweep obstructions before him. On the contrary, it was apparent that there must be other attributes of the man that have resulted in his rise—attributes that did not appear on the surface. The occasion, of course, did not call for the exhibition of any of the sterner, stronger qualities. There was nothing to do there, but return the advances of his friends in the spirit of politeness in which they were made.

But he seemed so small, so gentle and modest, that you looked in vain in his conduct at that time for some of the forceful personal traits which he possesses—traits which he has exercised to thrust himself ahead of those who were in the race with him.

HOW TO MAKE SPRING CHEESE.

Mr. Hugh Howey, Cheese Instructor Writes on a Topic of Much Interest to People in This Section.

Sir,—It is my idea that May cheese should be manufactured so as to reach the consumer sooner this season than on some former occasions. Can all cheese makers manufacture the desired article? No, some may not have the ability, but I can assure you that a very large number have not the same facilities. Where some have a nicely equipped plant, where others have a poor old dilapitated building, where the temperature will fluctuate with the temperature outside. To manufacture a first-class cheese it is quite necessary that the maker should be supplied with nice, pure, sweet milk. To make cheese of this character, heat the milk to 86 degrees, stir the milk while being heated. As soon as the temperature of 86 degrees has been reached, make a rennett test and be sure to be very accurate, for I consider this point to be one of the most particular parts of the process, have a sufficient acidity in the milk, so that the time of 2 1-2 hours would be reached from the time of adding the rennett to the draining of the whey. Use sufficient rennett to coagulate the milk, fit for cutting in about 20 to 25 minutes. Cutting should commence as soon as the curd will break clean over the finger. Cutting the curd is a very important point. I must say some cheese makers are very careless in this particular stage of the work, for I can assure you if improperly done it means a great loss to the patrons. Cut the curd so the cubes will be uniform in size. After cutting stir with the hands or agitator from 5 to 10 minutes. Before turning on steam have the curd freed from bottom and sides of vat. Heat the curd from 96 to 98 degrees, according to the fat contained in the milk. If the milk is rich in fat 98 degrees will be the proper temperature. As soon as the desired temperature is reached make a hot iron test for acid, and if discernable remove part of the whey then stir the curd sufficiently to bring about the right firmness, so when the curd has the proper acidity it will be nice and firm and will spring apart when pressed in the hand. I think the proper acid should be governed according to the weather; if cows are on grass and the pasture is very watery, 1-8 inch of acid will be sufficient, but if the latter part of May is droughty you may use a little more acid, remove balance of whey, and the hot iron should show about 1-8 inch acid. Great skill should be exercised at this particular time to the stirring and draining of the curd; when properly drained it should be allowed to lie and when properly matted out into strips about 8 inches wide and turned over in about 10 or 15 minutes; turn again, and pile two deep, repiling the curd till about one to one and a half inches acid shows on the hot iron, when it will be fit for milling. Be sure and keep the temperature at this stage about 95 degrees. As soon as the milling is completed, stir and let lie, and occasionally stir till you have brought about that nice desirable flavour resembling fresh made butter. You may now salt from 2 to 2 1-2 lbs. salt to 1,000 lbs. milk; as soon as the salt is dissolved and the curd has become mellow it will be ready for the press. Be sure to weigh the curd so you will have your cheese uniform. After hooping press about 30 to 40 minutes, after pressing take them out of hoops and bandage nicely, and use plenty of pure clean warm water for this purpose. Skirts or raps are a nice thing to ensure a nice rind. Attend well to the pressing for a couple of days, and allow no cheese to enter the curing room without having a nicely finished appearance.

After being placed in the curing room see that they are turned every day and kept at the proper temperature, 60 to 65 degrees, till properly cured for shipping.

BULLER'S CAMPAIGN.

Testimony of one who Went Through it.

An interesting addition has been made to the records of the South African campaign just published by Mr. R. Brimley Johnston, entitled "Buller's Campaign with the Natal Field Force of 1900." The author is Mr. E. Blake Knox, a Lieutenant of the Royal Army Medical Corps, who was present at nearly every important engagement under General Buller, and therefore had exceptional opportunities of noting the incidents of the various actions. The author says General Buller, be deciding to relieve Ladysmith from within Natal, instead of from the Orange River, saved the Empire from great disaster. He confines himself almost entirely to a narrative of events, and even when dealing with the operations at Spion Kop, avoids comment or criticism. He shows, however, that our troops when in possession of the twin peaks were, notwithstanding their critical position, very near to victory. The Boers considered their own position extremely dangerous, and General Botha even pronounced it hopeless. The author was told by the Boers, who took him prisoner, that had the British held on longer and been reinforced, the Boer cause would have been hopeless, for while the British were retiring down one side the Boers were retreating down the other; and he has since learned they were completely exhausted, and almost incapable of further fighting. The twin peaks were the key to Ladysmith, and to save the situation — encouraged by reports that General Woodgate was dead, and that through lack of water the British could not hold their ground — General Botha withdrew every available man from Acton Homes to enable him to make the final dash. With regard to General Buller, the author says that never was a general more confidently looked up to through adversity than he was. Crippled as he was for want of maps, having for months to face a position impregnable to his force, he never flinched at a check, but returned for returned for a fresh attack. Critics have said that the progress of the Natal army was slow, but if they visited the ground, considered its nature as well as our material, and the responsibility for loss of life in forcing these positions, opinions might change.

THE STOMACH

A Very Important and Often Neglected Organ.

Few People Recognize the Importance of Keeping the Stomach and Organs of Digestion in a Perfect and Healthy Condition.

Most of us forget that we have a Stomach, and that it deserves some care and consideration until it rebels against this daily neglect, and Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Biliousness, Headache or Heart Trouble, notify us most peremptorily that it must be immediately attended to, or we will be punished.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets furnish the surest and quickest relief, and the most complete and permanent cure for all Stomach Troubles.

If your Stomach has given you warning, by the slightest symptom, that it is tired and requires an opportunity for rest and restoration, you should heed this warning at once.

Do not put off a treatment until the pain becomes unbearable.

Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets right away.

Probably one box will be all that your case will need at its present stage, whereas if you defer the treatment until the derangement has become greater, it will probably take a half dozen boxes or more.

But no matter at what stage of Indigestion you find yourself, you may be sure that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will instantly relieve you, and permanently cure you.

Take one or two immediately after each meal.

These dainty tablets digest the food, animal and vegetable, every bit of it, with little or no assistance from the Stomach, thus enabling this organ to rest and regain its lost vigour, and at the same time furnish the body with the necessary strength and nourishment.

Gradually as the Stomach gains strength to do its own work again, the dose may be lessened, until finally health becoming completely restored the treatment may be discontinued.

PREMIER ROSS' APPRECIATION.

The Results of the Election on the Whole Very Gratifying.

REGRETS LOSSES—GLAD OF GAINS

One Completely Satisfactory Feature Is That Not a Single Minister Was Defeated—His Own Majority Larger Than Any He Ever Had Three Times Over—Thanks to All His Supporters.

Toronto, May 30.—Premier Ross received the returns of the election in his office in the Parliament buildings. He was surrounded by Hon. J. M. Gibson, the only other Minister in the city; by the members of his family and a few personal friends. Naturally, the result was the source of great satisfaction to him, and when seen about 11 o'clock last night he expressed himself in this manner:—"Although some of the returns were disappointing, the results on the whole are very gratifying. We chiefly regret the loss of such men as Mr. Lumsden, Dr. McKay, Mr. Carpenter, Mr. McKee, Mr. Hill, Mr. Pardee, Mr. Breithaupt, Mr. Mutrie, and possibly one or two others whose elections are in doubt. We are, however, to be reinforced by somenew men, whose attainments will maintain, I trust, the standing of the Legislature. One very satisfactory feature is that not a Minister was defeated. My own return by a majority three times as great as the largest majority I ever had from the constituency I have now contested for the tenth time, and held for thirty years, may be accepted as a gratifying evidence of confidence from those who know me best.

"Although the majority is not very large, still, after thirty years' tenure of office, it is unprecedented in the history of governments, under our constitution, that a Government would have a majority at all. I am not able to say just now what circumstances weighed most with the electors in casting their votes. I can simply thank my supporters all over the Province, and the candidates elected, as well as those defeated, for the splendid fight they put up against misrepresentation by the Conservative party and by their organ. In this respect the campaign was unique, and will, I hope, for all time to come be so considered. Where local prejudices could not not be appealed to the Government was systematically misrepresented. This may have cost us a few seats. It is delightful to think that the Province, on the whole, has endorsed the policy of building up Ontario. No one could be more gratified than I am that the electors did not fail to Remember Ross, and, as far as in me lies, I shall not forget to remember their best interests."

THE VOTE IN 1898.

Table of the Members Elected Four Years Ago, With Their Majorities, For the Purposes of Comparison.

For the purpose of comparison the returns from the last provincial election are given below. Algoma and Nipissing have been divided, and the returns from these constituencies in 1898 will be of little value. In several ridings bye-elections have taken place since 1898, but the majorities in such cases are not given, for the general elections invariably give a better indication of party strength.

Women in the Home.

Incessant Work, Worriec and Cares Tell Severely on the Nervous System.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Woman's System Builder and Health Giver.

Incessant work, worry and household cares, will in time, weaken and wreck the nervous system of the strongest woman.

Perhaps the commonest sympton and warning of disease with women is headache with sharp and piercing pains; in some cases the pain may be dull and heavy. Recurring headachesfrequently arise from loss of sleep, fatigue, disordered digestion, sluggish blood, irritability or despondency. Frequently a sluggish liver and inactive kidneys will produce agonizing headaches.

Paine's Celery Compound should be used without delay to fortify the weakened and inflamed nerves, to free the system from morbid waste materials.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound will quickly purify the blood, induce refreshing sleep, good digestion and mental activity. Besides all this, Paine's Celery Compound will restore life and sparkle to the eyes, it will clear the complexion and give to weak and sick women that full health which makes them happy and lovable.

THE FINAL TOUCHES.

Mr. A. J. Balfour Expects to make Peace Statement on Monday.

BOERS ARE TO KEEP THEIR ARMS

Their Contention That Wild Beasts and Natives Were a Menace to Outlying Farms Was Held to Be Well Grounded—One Irreconcilable Finished—Situation at Present in Cape Colony.

London, May 30.—The British Cabinet, which was specially summoned was in session yesterday for about an hour. It is generally accepted that the session sufficed to put the final touches on the agreement which will terminate the war. Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain, who has been indisposed, attended.

The Government leader, A. J. Balfour, announced in the House of Commons yesterday that he hoped to be able on Monday to announce the result of the peace negotiations in South Africa.

Mr. Balfour added: "I cannot, however, be absolutely certain of being in a position to do so, so that until the statement can be made I do not think it expedient to take up the budget."

The Government leader also said: "A recent phrase, 'hung in the balance,' has been absurdly misinterpreted as referring to divisions in the Cabinet on the subject of the budget. That is not a fact, and the only point is whether the House can properly be asked to discuss the budget until they know precisely where they stand in regard to the negotiations."

Boers to Keep Their Arms.

Pretoria, May 29.—Lord Milner, the British Commissioner, left Pretoria for Johannesburg this morning.

The Boer delegates have also left this city and have returned to Vereeniging (Transvaal), the scene of the peace conference between the Boer delegations. The question of the retention of arms has been settled in a manner favorable to the Boers, whose contention that the occupants of outlying farms would be exposed to danger from attacks on the part of natives or wild beasts was held to be well grounded.

One Irreconcilable Finished.

London, May 30.—The capture of Commandant Malan, announced from Middelburg, Cape Colony, Wednesday night, demonstrates the activity of the rebellion in Cape Colony. Commandant Malan took the late Commandant Scheeper's command when the latter was captured by the British, and became chief Boer commandant in Cape Colony after Commandant Kritzinger's capture. Malan (who was mortally wounded when captured, on the Repon road, May 27, by Major Collett's mounted troops), was among the irreconcilables who refused to send delegates to the peace conference at Vereeniging, Transvaal.

According to the latest uncensored correspondence from Cape Town, the Boers are still in constant occupation of at least 22 different localities in Cape Colony, having more than a score of bands of raiders, mounted and armed, and of sufficient mobility to deny successful pursuit, although the British have often swept and "cleared" every mile of the Colony's territory. A correspondent reports that "invasion is more actively aggressive than ever, and rebellion is more rampant."

The campaign against the roving Boer commandoes in Cape Colony, which has been in active progress for sixteen months, has achieved nothing beyond keeping them moving. "Any occasional success," the correspondent adds, "obtained by the seventeen British columns operating in Cape Colony, is more the result of luck than of their tactics, and these unpalatable facts will continue so long as so few columns co-operate in the hustling. The inadequacy of the supply of troops is at the root of the unsatisfactory operations."

Entertaining the Boers.

Pretoria, May 29.—The camp at Vereeniging, Transvaal, where the final decision in regard to peace will be reached, has been elaborately prepared by the British authorities, with a view to the comfort and convenience of the delegates to the convention now being held there. The camp has been laid out in a square, two miles from the Vereeniging station. On the Transvaal side of the Vaal River there are 60 bell tents and 20 marquees. A plentiful supply of water has been piped to the camp, electric lights have been installed, and a staff of British medical officers is in attendance there. Generous cooking and catering arrangements have also been made.

The delegates are amusing themselves with various out-door games, the delegates from the Orange Free State being victorious at the football games over the delegates from the Transvaal. A company of the Scots Guards acted as a guard of honor at the game.

Serious Differences Arise.

Cape Town, May 29.—Serious differences have arisen in the Cabinet on the question of suspension of the alteration of the constitution. Dr. J. W. Smart, the Commissioner of Public Works, who is in favor of a temporary suspension of the constitution, has resigned his portfolio, in order to lay his views before the Governor of Cape Colony, Sir Walter H. Hely-Hutchinson, and his resignation has been accepted. Several other Ministers oppose the suspension of the constitution. In an article representing Mr. Smart's point of view, The Cape Times contends that neither the leader of the Afrikander bund nor the Dutch Ministers have lifted a finger to bring about peace, and that it would be dangerous to the interests of conciliation to restore a representative Government. With contested elections and passionate debates fomenting continual antagonisms, says The Cape Times, the interests of both Cape Colony and the Empire demand a temporary sacrifice of parliamentary government.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the Electors of West Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Permit me to most cordially thank you for the united support given me in the election contest of the 29th of May, which has resulted in honouring me with the largest majority ever given a candidate in West Peterborough. When all has done so well I cannot particularize. I might, however, specially thank the working supporters who have in my frequent and necessary absence from the riding so faithfully and effectively promoted the interests of my candidature. I heartily appreciate their efforts. Indeed, every class of the electors, the the working man, the business man, the farmer, and all classes, deserve, and have, my hearty thanks for the splendid support they have given me.

You all know me. You all know my record, and I feel that your faith in my efforts to serve the riding, and to advance all its interests, will not be strengthened by any promises I may make. I may, however, assure you that in the future, as in the past, I shall do everything in my power to practically recognise that the interests of the town and county, and West Peterborough, have the first call upon my best efforts. Thanking you again in the most hearty way possible for your deeply appreciated support and confidence, I remain,

Very gratefully and faithfully yours

J. R. STRATTON.

Peterborough, May 30th, 1902.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the Electors of East Peteborough;

Gentlemen.—I desire to take the earliest opportunity to thank you for the grand majority your support has contributed in giving me in East Peterborough.

I have to thank those who actively assisted me upon the platform, in the committee rooms, or otherwise, and in fine to thank all of the electors who in any way helped my success. I assure you all that I am deeply gratified and it shall be my earnest and honest endeavour to merit to the fullest extent the flattering confidence that has been reposed in me. All the reward I can give is to faithfully serve East Peterborough—the villages as well as the rural sections—to the very best of my ability, and advance their interests every way in my power.

Again thanking you all, I remain, gentlemen,

Yours gratefully,

THE RESULT IN THE PETERBOROUGHS.

It is with a sense of solid satisfaction and congratulation, and not of vain-glorious elation, that the Examiner regards the results of yesterday's election contest in East and West Peterborough. The Government candidates have been successful to a most gratifying degree, and their success is all the more notable when one considers the peculiar tactics that were employed by the Opposition to divide the electorate on lines foreign to legitimate political issues — petty questions of local scandal, and personal detraction were thrust in to supplement the larger issues on which an intelligent and patriotic electorate should be divided. Trickery, and pettifogging policies were adopted, but the electors refused to join issue with the culminators and detractors, and voted according to their judgment for the candidates whose services they considered would best promote the material and other interests of the town and county of Peterborough. The friends of the Liberal candidates in both ridings, with absolute faith in the justice of their cause, worked energetically to give that cause the prominence and support it deserved, and the glorious result is a great reward for their labours. Considering the nature of the campaign forced upon the Liberal workers, the policy of dividing the electorate upon a question that should not be made a part question, considering the appeals to prejudice, to the less noble passions of the electorate, the triumph in both East and West Peterborough is a proud one. It shows that the heads of the electors are level, that the good judgment of the farmers of East Peterborough, can be trusted to select a representative who is best fitted by personal qualifications, and by virtue of the Government he supports, to serve their interests. It shows that the heads of the electors of west Peterborough are level, that they can be trusted to select a representative whom they know from past experience is the best qualified to advance the material interests and to help the prosperity of every citizen in Peterborough, from the humblest toiler to the most extensive manufacturer, and most extensive commercial citizen and business man. In a word the result shows that the solid good sense of the electors, when it steadies down to the crucial test of the ballot box, will rise superior to petty and pettifogging trivialities, and mark its ballot in its own interest and in the interests of the county and province. Regarding the defeated candidates, the Examiner has not one word of disparagement. They are both estimable citizens, and the Examiner has the reflection, after the battle, that it has nothing in the shape of personal abuse to regret—that it has only treated the beaten candidates in relation to their political affiliations. That they did not succeed, is not due to their personal merits, but to the political and other associations that surrounded them. Mr. Miller has fought against tremendous odds. He had opposed to him a candidate, whose strength, consisted in a record of splendid services to his constituents, whose ability to serve the riding better, perhaps, than any other man in the riding, had been amply demonstrated, and was widely believed in by even those whose party bitterness led them to offer a futile opposition, for the mere sake of opposition. His failure is not to be set so much against his personal merits, as against the questionable party friendship that embroiled him in a contest conducted upon lines that would kill the strongest candidate in the eyes of honest and self-respecting electors.

ONTARIO REMEMBERS ROSS.

Ontario has remembered Ross, but though the majority is not great, yet it is a substantial working majority. Like Mercutio's wound, it is "not as deep as a well nor as wide as a church door, but it will serve." The result was not unexpected, and the reduced majority is due to a variety of causes. The Opposition confused the minds of the electorate with issues not of paramount relevance, and many electors whose judgments were not active and well-balanced had their minds diverted from the main issues—the effictive development and government of the Province. Then the third candidates introduced into many ridings, the most of them calculated to withdraw support most largely from Liberal candidates, contributed to losses of some seats, safe as a church, if fought out on fair public issues. Then the whole strength of the Conservative party in the Dominion arena, supplied moral and no doubt material and incidentally immoral support to Mr. Whitney, the object being to retain Ontario in Conservative line in order to be used as a lever in displacing the Laurier Government. Then the senseless cry that it was time for a change no doubt appealed to some fickle minds given to view change in the abstract, a desirable thing without reference to the disastrous consequences likely to result from replacing an efficient Government with a strong progressive policy for a party without any other policy than getting office for the sake of office. It is gratifying that against all these adverse influences the record and policy and capabilities for public usefulness of the Government prevailed with the majority of the thinking electorate. We are therefore assured of another four years of efficient service at the hands of the Ross Government for they return to power with substantially as strong a support as the Government had after the election of 1898. At any rate the country is saved.

Hon. Mr. Stratton has the largest majority of any of the Cabinet Ministers and the largest majority of any candidate outside of Toronto.

IT'S A GLORIOUS DOUBLE VICTORY.

Stratton Triumphs in the West, Anderson Scores High in the East.

SOLID WEST GREETS SOLID EAST

Stratton's Majority Piled Higher—Anderson Does Himself Proud—The West Appreciates a Good Representative—The Sturdy East Recognizes Solid Merit—The Returns for the East and West—Stratton Piles up a Majority of 1208—Anderson Stacks up a Score of 454—A Big Majority Whichever Way You Read the Digits.

Every friend of the progress and prosperity of East and West Peterborough, will rejoice at the significant and satisfactory results of the local elections, which results in the return of Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. William Anderson, for West and East Peterborough respectively, by splendid majorities. That Mr. Stratton's majority would be large, was anticipated, but it was hardly hoped that it would attain the magnificent proportions of 1200. The election of Mr. Anderson was confidently expected, but it was hardly hoped that it would assume the splendid figures piled up in favour of the Liberal candidate. The East will have a continuation of the excellent representation it has had in the Legislature the past twenty-five years.

The beautiful weather, cool, clear and bracing, seemed to brace the workers of Mr. Stratton to energetic application of the excellent organization that existed throughout the riding, and the clear, crisp breeze blowing, seemed to clear away the cobwebs of petty prejudices engendered by the whole tenor, and, especially, the closing phases of the Opposition campaign. The consequence was that Mr. Stratton's majority was substantially increased, but the evidences of the day, the feeling in the air that things were going his way, somewhat discounted the result, which was expected as an expected event, and did not excite the enthusiasm that would follow so signal a victory emerging from a less certain or more problematical position.

The first return came in from Green's shop and the increased majority from 15 to 65 was a fair indication of the gains which were made all over the town, the total majority being 475 or 232 in excess of that given Mr. Stratton four years ago. A big crowd assembled in front of the Examiner office, kindly cheering as each fresh gain was bulletined in the windows. Ennismore's great showing being particularly appreciated as was Ashburnham's majority for Mr. Anderson. By seven o'clock the returns began to come in from other constitutencies and were announced from Mr. Stratton's Committee rooms. These became congested before long and an adjournment was made to the opera house which was packed to the doors by eight o'clock. The 57th band kindly volunteered its services and rendered a number of selections during the evening. The chair was occupied by Mr. Adam Hall.

Mr. Stratton, on coming forward, was greeted with volley after volley of cheers. When the applause had subsided, he thanked the immense audience for the enthusiastic welcome which they had given him, to whose cause they had themselves so splendidly contributed. He said he need not tell them, if he could find words to express the gratitude he felt for the splendid support that had been given him that day, and his thanks covered not only the Town of Peterborough, but the whole riding. From South Monaghan to Cavendish every polling sub-division, but one, had given him a majority. (Applause.) He would be less than human if he did not feel proud of the expression of confidence in him, and the endorsation of his past course, this splendid vote involved. He did not claim the fine majority he had received as a Liberal triumph. There was a large number of independent-minded Conservatives who had honoured him with their support, (applause) and he gave them his most cordial thanks. They had had regard to the promotion of the best interests of the town and riding, and voted conscientiously for the candidate they honestly believed would be best able and willing — to serve the riding and advance its prosperity which, Mr. Stratton said, implied a confidence that it would be his greatest care to abundantly justify. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton said he had also to thank from the bottom of his heart the Liberals for the splendid fight that they had put up during his absence. (Applause.) It had been charged that he (Mr. Stratton) had brought many speakers into the riding, but it was necessary that the electors should be addressed, as his duties called him to other parts of the province. But while he was away his Liberal friends did not neglect his interests, and he desired to thank them again for the grand majority they had rolled up — 200 more than the large majority he had been honoured with in 1898. (Applause.) He believed that the electors felt that he would be able and willing to give the riding the best service, and had voted accordingly. (Applause.) Referring to the vote in the townships, he was proud of the

in rolling up a majority a hundred more than in the last election, (applause,) and included in his thanks Lakefield, and Smith and North and South Monaghan. He had not yet heard from the back townships, but he was sure that they would do the right thing. (Applause.) But above all he valued the splendid support that had been given him by his fellow citizens of the Town of Peterborough. (Applause.) He valued this more than he could express. He thought the character of the Opposition newspaper's campaign against him had materially assisted in adding to his large majority. (Applause.) The result would perhaps teach campaign workers, newspaper and otherwise, that it will pay best to conduct a fair, decent campaign, and not to abuse the best citizens of Peterborough. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton said his whole past course had been directed to promoting and serving the best interests of Peterborough, and he was, perhaps, entitled to decent treatment and to a fair discussion of his political relations, to which he did not object. He should not be called upon to defend matters which reflected upon a local company in respect to certain public works, in which they benefitted temporarily, but which would be shown to be eventually in the public interests, and in the interests of the settlers, when the district in question was opened to settlement. These were small matters, that had been used in a small way. Mr. Miller's contradictory attitude on prohibition, was another factor. Mr. Miller said he would vote for prohibition, and declared himself the hard and fast follower of a leader opposed to prohibition, while he (Mr. Stratton) was a supporter of a Government that had given a prohibitory measure for the people's approval. The only difference between Mr. Miller and himself was the question of the submission of the matter to the masters of all parties and governments—the people. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton said his thanks for his success were especially due to the working men of Peterborough. (Applause.) He didn't join a Labour Union for the sake of gaining votes, but the working men of Peterborough knew that in him they had a representative that would work for their interests. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton had to thank the heads of nearly all the chief, large manufactories for their hearty support—they in getting business for them. Mr. Stratton went on to speak of his earnest desire that Ontario should be made the manufacturing centre for the Dominion. He wanted the Canadian General Electric Company to furnish the electric supplies required in the development of New Ontario; he wanted the William Hamilton Company to supply water wheels and machinery for the same purpose; he wanted Ackerman to supply harness, the Peter Hamilton Company the agricultural implements for the farmers of New Ontario. He wanted the Cereal Works to be purchasers of old Ontario grains and furnish food products for New Ontario and he wanted the Stanly Piano Company to furnish the music. (Applause.) He wanted and would work for the development of the water powers on the river so that Peterborough would become a great manufacturing centre, grow in population and require new buildings which would give employment to builders, mechanics and labourers. (Applause.) He would use all the influence he possessed to bring about conditions that would benefit the manufacturing interests of Lakefield, Peterborough and all the riding. (Applause.) Referring to his opponent, Mr. Stratton said he would not say an unkind word of Mr. Miller. He was a good citizen and all that he (Mr. Stratton) had done was to provide against any interference with Mr. Miller's opportunities of discharging as creditably as he had done all the past the duties of a good citizen. (Applause.) He esteemed Mr. Miller and would do all he could for his benefit as one of the good citizens of the good town of Peterborough. (Applause.) He had tried, Mr. Stratton said, to conduct the campaign so that after it was over there would be no friction. He believed in party government as a necessity, but he believed in an independent electorate that would vote for the best interests of the state and only use party as a means to serve and promote public interests. (Applause.) He repeated his thanks to all that had in any way promoted his election and he would strive to serve West Peterborough to the best of his ability. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton concluded by heartily congratulate Mr. Anderson on his great victory over a good candidate which made his success all the more creditable. (Applause.) Mr. Stratton concluded his address amidst a hurricane of applause.

Mr. William Anderson, the successful candidate in East Peterborough, was received with acclaim. He was sure that the Provincial Secretary must be much gratified at the grand majority which had been rolled up for him. For himself, he wished to thank particularly the electors of Ashburnham, for giving a Liberal majority for the first time in its history. The whole constituency had in fact done grandly for him. He could not forget Douro, or the way Otonabee had stood by him, and he wanted to thank the speakers from the West who had given him such noble assistance. Mr. Blezard and Mr. Lang had been very kind also. Mr. Anderson closed with the remark that although he might not claim to be much of a speaker, he could claim to be a worker, and what he lacked in speaking in the House he would make up in work. (Cheers.)

In response to repeated calls Mr. J. H. McClelland addressed the audience, reminding those present that four years ago when he spoke from the same platform it was plain J. R. Stratton whom they were honouring, but he had predicted that it would be "Hon. J. R." before the next election. All knew the correctness of his guess and he would now make another which would be that they would yet see Mr. Stratton go still higher. He hoped that the lesson which had been taught the opponents of Mr. Stratton in this election by his big majority would be taken to heart and that hereafter he would be returned by acclamation. He was much delighted with the manner in which the East had come to the front.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams received a very hearty reception. He congratulated Mr. Stratton on his magnificent victory. In speaking of the East, where he has been campaigning, he stated that the Conservatives were sure that when Mr. Blezard dropped out they could redeem the riding, but this statement only had the effect of making the Reformers get down to work and doubling Mr. Blezard's majority for Mr. Anderson. Otonabee had given him a majority of 285, the corner of that township in which he lived giving him 85. Douro had rolled up 200 majority for him, Dr. Ford only getting seven votes in one division. The satisfaction over the victory was increased by the fact that the fight was against the strongest man the Conservatives could bring out.

Mr. William Yelland briefly expressed his pleasure over the victory. He had been waited upon by some parties during the campaign who appeared to think that he was mystified in regard to the issues, but he was satisfied that if there was a mote in his eye there was a beam in their's which was worse.

Mr. G. M. Roger in the course of a few remarks pointed out that while the opponents of Mr. Stratton never had an idea of winning, yet they were bent on cutting down his majority. The result showed that the mind of the constituency differed from this. The broad-minded class amongst the Conservatives had agreed that the election should have gone by acclamation and many of them had voted for him. The methods adopted against Mr. Stratton had in reality aided him. The campaign surpassed anything the speaker had ever witnessed in the way of slander and misrepresentation and it was a source of great satisfaction to see that the electors refused to be misled by such statements. All realized that Mr. Stratton had done well in the past and he would do still better in the future.

Mr. G. W. Powell spoke as representing the East Riding. He had been a temperance man all his life and was proud to be able to say that the East was represented by a temperance man. He knew that the electors could not go back on a Government

Parasol handles afford a panorama of kaleidoscopic beauty, so great and constantly changing is their array. The latest gayly colored silk parasols in

FASHIONABLE SUNSHADES.

Dolly Varden, French and oriental effects have handles in harmony. One of the prettiest in these is T shaped.

Very charming handles for white and lace covered parasols are in soft pink rock quartz or in clear crystal.

Natural wood handles are less expensive, but afford some very pretty effects in the simpler parasols.

The Dolly Varden is one of the most popular of the medium priced sunshades.

Useful, but also smart, is the Parisian "en tout cas," which is designed for either rain or shine and comes in rich dark colors, with a heavy wood handle.

There is no doubt about the popularity of the bolera. Even in the finest of summer materials it will continue to hold its own, incrusted with guipure, enhanced with finely run "baby" ribbon, forming roses and motifs a la Louis XVI. There is no limit to its possibilities as one of the most elegant of accessories to the wardrobe.

But for evenings the bolero has a rival in the Louis XVI. "habit" coats, which, in soft old world silks of delicate colors, are bewitchingly becoming and with the dainty additions of lace ruffles and mousseline de soie under blouses are likely to play an important part in the fashions for small dinners or theater wear. The sleeves are generally worn to the elbow, turned back with a deep cuff, and to be en regle plaited ruffles of muslin and lace should finish the undersleeve. A great many, however, have the undersleeve carried to the wrist in a full bouffant, finished there with ruffles, escaping from a band of black velvet or taffeta.

Shirt waists in soft taffeta are made simply for morning wear. Very dainty cravats are in vogue already of cambric or taffeta to match the waist, incrusted with fine lace motifs and finished with a narrow plaiting.

The stylish collar shown in the cut is of white lawn strapped with colored batiste, with stitchings in the same shade and medallions of ecru embroidery.

Young girls wear the stiff linen collar with morning blouses, and nothing is more becoming to a young, fresh face. The usual model is the deep turndown on a high linen band. With this is worn a smartly tied soft silk cravat. Deep lace collars are much worn for afternoon at home.

LOST OPPORTUNITIES.

Don't Waste Your Youth; Use It In Getting an Education.

How the handicapped millionaire envies boys in school or college and would give half his wealth for the chance to lay a foundation which they are thinking of spurning! How many an embarrassed man in public life longs to relive boyhood that he may correct the mistakes of his youth! How much more he could make of his life, of his position, if he had cultivated his mind when young! He does everything at a disadvantage. His grasp of documents, speeches and books is weak because he does not know how to study. He must employ a literary secretary to save himself from blunders of grammar, errors in history and biography or in political economy. He is forced to petty expedients to hide his ignorance.

Oh, what a pity it is to see splendid ability made to do the work of mediocrity! A man of magnificent parts, feeling that he is by nature intended to shine as a leader, is pitiable when compelled to do the work of an inferior and plod along in hopeless obscurity.

The eager unrest of youth that chafes at restraining school walls and longs to rush to action makes havoc with countless careers. In after days the old proverb will ring mockingly in memory:

He that will not when he may
When he would he shall have nay.

What are investments in bonds and stocks, in houses and lands, compared with investment in an education, in a broad, deep culture which will enrich the life and be a perpetual blessing to one's friends?

To rob oneself of the means of enjoyment which education and culture give has no compensation in mere money wealth. No material prosperity can compare with a rich mind. It is a perpetual wellspring of satisfaction, of enjoyment. It enables one to bear up under misfortune, to be cheerful under discouragements, trials and tribulations which overwhelm a shallow mind and an empty heart.

A Little Misunderstanding.

Soon after the convening of a new session of congress announcement was made of the approaching marriage of Anson G. McCook, who was then secretary of the senate. A subscription was immediately started among the senators for the purchase of a wedding present. Two or three prominent senators volunteered to collect the money. Senator X., one of the richest men in the senate at that time, was one of these.

Seeing a new senator who had not yet been approached on the subject, Senator X. went to him and said, "Senator Blank, I want you to give me $25."

"What for?" demanded the new member.

"For McCook's wedding present," explained Senator X.

"I'll see you about it tomorrow," answered Blank, with a scowl.

"All right," said Senator X. as he walked away, "but don't forget it."

Senator Blank watched him until he was out of hearing, and then, turning to his colleague, remarked with warmth:

"Well, I've heard of cheeky things in my life, but that man beats all! What do you think? He just asked me to give him $25 to buy a wedding present for his cook!"

Too Previous.

The Subject (after the sitting)—I hadn't sat for a picture before in ten years, don't you know, and I'm deuced glad the worst is over.

The Photographer (innocently)—But you haven't seen the negative yet.

One Effect of It.

"She seems to be growing lopsided."

"Yes. She's been a good deal in the company of a fellow who doesn't know any better than to grab her by the arm and try to help her along by hoisting one shoulder out of plumb."

London a hundred years ago had a population of 888,196, when the first official census was taken.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Fowls will not thrive with close penning or crowding.

About one foot of space on the roost should be allowed for each adult fowl.

A handsome appearance is worth 1 or 2 cents a pound on poultry in selling.

Calcareous matter for shells and gravel to aid trituration in the gizzard are indispensable.

Ground or crushed bone is so valuable for their health that it should always be kept before them.

The morning meal may be made more palatable and stimulating by adding cut onions with salt and pepper.

Carelessness in the little details necessary to good management will soon show in the condition of the fowls.

Clean, pleasant and suitable quarters, with wholesome, nutritious food, have much to do in determining the flavor and quality of both the eggs and the flesh of fowls.

A good way to tell a fresh egg is by the air bubble in the large end. The smaller the air bubble the fresher the egg. A fresh egg must be examined closely to see the air bubble.

The Barometer Trees of Chileo.

One of the most remarkable productions of the isles of Chileo is the celebrated "barometer tree," which grows in great profusion in all of the salt marshes. It belongs to the natural order euphorbiaceæ, and is believed to be a near relative of Siphonia elastica, the india rubber tree of Brazil. The wonderful traits of this tree were first made known to white men in 1884, the natives informing the De Young company that both the leaves and the bark of the trees were never failing weather prognosticators. In dry weather the bark of this natural barometer is as smooth and white as that of a sycamore, but with the near approach of storms these characteristics vanish like magic.

Twenty-four hours before a storm breaks over the little island the trunk of every tree of the species turns as black as ebony, save a few scattered patches of carmine, these latter markings being supposed to foretell great electrical disturbance. The leaves, too, which in their normal state hang laterally (as they do on all American trees), drop edgewise and tremble like things endowed with animal life and reason.

A Queer Animal of Madagascar.

One of the most peculiar members of the great family of the mammals is the aye-aye of Madagascar. In form it much resembles a squirrel, in size it is equal to a large cat, and it is so shy, stealthy and ghostlike in its movements that the natives think it is a kind of spirit and regard it with superstitious dread. It is related to the lemurs, but it differs from them in many points. Its most remarkable peculiarity consists in the middle finger of its hands, which, instead of resembling the others, is, as Mr. Richard Lydekker says, "extremely thin and spiderlike." Living in the silent forests, the aye-aye possesses extraordinary acuteness of hearing and apparently can locate by the sounds it makes in the trunks of trees the wood boring larvæ on which it feeds. Chiseling away the wood with its teeth, the aye-aye inserts its remarkable middle finger to fork out its victims.

Is Not This Stealing?

Are not Imitators who Live on the Reputation of the Article They Imitate Thieves?

In Spite of at Least Half a Dozen Imitators, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has More Than Three Times the Sale of any Remedy Recommended for Throat and Lung Troubles.

Have you ever been imposed upon when asking for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by being offered an imitation? Many have been and we know of some who have changed their druggist as a result. It is not safe to deal with a druggist who offers imitations and substitutes. An honest druggist will not offend his customers by such questionable methods.

The use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has become so universal that on all sides are springing up preparations of turpentine and seed put up in packages similar to Dr. Chase's, with the object of making sales on the reputation of this famous remedy. Is not this dishonourable? Is it not stealing, or even worse? For beside the injury done to the proprietors of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the people are being deceived. In some cases no doubt, even life is lost as a result.

Are you being deceived? Have you asked for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and been given an imitation or substitute? There is no doubt about the virtue of this great throat and lung remedy. It is too well known as a thorough cure for bronchitis, coughs and colds, to need further words of commendation. What we want to do is to warn you against imitations. To be certain that you are getting the genuine be sure that Dr. Chase's portrait and signature are on the wrapper.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has reached phenomenal sales, because it cures when other remedies fail. It is far-reaching in its effects, curing the cold as well as the cough, and uprooting the most serious forms of bronchitis, asthma, and similar throat and lung diseases. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. 2

To the Lungs.

Do you go to Chicago to reach Quebec? No. There's a better and more direct way. Then why try to reach your lungs by way of your stomach? Don't. Better go straight to the lungs at once. Just light the vaporizer and breathe-in the healing, soothing vapors of Cresolene. The medicine goes exactly to the right place. Your lungs quickly heal and your cough disappears. For whooping-cough it's simply perfect. 7

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE CO., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

THE LETTER "P"

By J. J. O'BRIEN

Copyright 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

Young Mr. Carlisle Partridge possessed an ample income and an extraordinary talent for the piano. His ambition to be a celebrated performer occupied much of his thought and time. Unfortunately, just as he reached the point where he felt warranted in appearing as a professor his health began to show signs of failing. His physician advised change of air and less arduous practice.

Partridge sought out a beautiful country town whose air was invigorating. He engaged a large front room and the use of a rear one, which was a sort of country back parlor. In the former he had a grand piano installed and restricted his use of it to three hours a day, practicing only the numbers for his programme.

The small community was much impressed by this exhibition of opulence and energy. So was the daughter of his landlady, a girl of eighteen. Hetty Humphreys was a bright and exceedingly pretty girl, who had already made her mark in the little village world by her standing at the academy. Her mother planned for her a higher flight at Holyoke college.

After a few days the girl's interest in the handsome young musician deepened. She would spend nearly all of the evening hour for practice in the bay window, which looked out on the large garden. A honeysuckle vine clambered thickly around this window, whose ledge was only a few feet from the ground. Off a little at one side was a vine-clad arbor.

"Do you mind if I sit in the window of the back parlor and hear you play?" she asked. "You do play so beautifully, and of course we get so little music of any kind here that it's a real treat and an education for me. I'm too busy the rest of the day to give it attention."

Mr. Partridge had assented, with the proviso that she should not speak to him until the hour was over. Hetty promised, and when the thing was tried he found that she was as good as her word. In fact, when he had made some remark to her the first night she had not replied. He was so nearsighted that he could not see well into the dark opening of the window. It was not until he had closed the piano and made another remark that he received any response.

"Tired? No, indeed, but it makes me feel so dreamy I don't want to say a word."

This was as good as could be. So the rehearsals went on through the lovely summer evenings, the musician feeling a sort of stimulus from his unwearying but silent auditor. Then came a ripple in the placid current of his rustic experience. One morning after he had finished his practice Mrs. Humphreys requested a moment of speech with him. He assented, wondering what she could want. She was the incarnation of prose and country respectability of the narrow but insistent sort.

EVERY EVENING SHE SAT IN THE BACK PARLOR WHILE HE PLAYED.

"I've got to say something to you, Mr. Partridge. It isn't very nice to have to mention it. But, though Hetty is smart, she's only a girl and only used to country ways. She used to like to visit with friends nights, but now she don't show no disposition to do so. It may be the music, and that's all. But she's changed since you came. She's moody at times and then again kind of giddy and excited. I've watched you, and I can see that you don't take more than ordinary notice of Het. But when I found this in her room yesterday it made me do some thinking, and I made up my mind it was time to speak to you. Look at that!"

She unfolded a white cloth and showed a square of deep yellow silk with several bars of music embroidered in each corner. In the middle a large "P" was outlined in the same black silk.

Mr. Partridge took the square, examined the musical bars and nodded his head. Then he looked at Mrs. Humphreys with a mildly inquisitive air.

"You seem to know them musical figures," said she severely. "Have they got any meaning?"

"Why, yes. This is from a Scotch ballad, 'Could you come back to me, Douglas, Douglas?'" He sang the words softly. "This is from 'Carmen.'" He sang again "Si tu m'aimes. Escamillo." "Then this is from 'The Bedouin's Love Song.' The last is a passage from 'A Pastoral Symphony' I practice."

The ingenuous young man reddened under the sustained gaze of Hetty's mother.

"It's not just fancy in me," she declared. "That poor child's in love."

"Well, that isn't such a dreadful thing, Mrs. Humphreys, is it? Miss Hetty is about eighteen or nineteen, and girls usually do fall in love about that time."

"I'm not blaming you. But you don't mean to say that you have any serious feelings for my daughter, do you, Mr. Partridge?" She spoke with a red face, but fierce determination.

"Good heavens, no!" exclaimed the musician, with an explosive emphasis that carried conviction. "What—what have I to do with it?"

She put her forefinger on the large funereal "P." "P stands for Partridge, don't it?"

He flushed with annoyance, but there was no gainsaying that it did.

"It must all be a mistake," he protested. "I never see her alone except when she is around when I play evenings, and I don't see her then. She likes to listen quietly and then go away. I am perfectly innocent."

Her expression had softened, though she still looked worried. "I don't blame you, Mr. Partridge, but you can see that it must be stopped."

He did some quick thinking. "I can go away. I meant to stay two weeks longer, but I can get out in a day or two."

Three days later Hetty drove him to the station. Her mother could not oppose this last devotion. She saw him on the train. "I am ever so much obliged for those lovely evenings of music," she said cheerfully, and he could not but admire her bravery.

He hesitated a moment and then said, "I would really like to have the sofa pillow, Miss Hetty."

She looked at him open eyed, then asked quickly, "How did you know anything about it?"

"Oh, I saw it one day," he replied evasively. "I know all the airs, of course, but I shouldn't have guessed it was for me only for the 'P.'"

She burst into a merry fit of laughter. "Did mother show that to you? Upon my word, that wasn't for you!" And she laughed again.

"Oh, pardon me"— But the train pulled up, and he was off.

It had not disappeared when a young fellow came out of the waiting room, and the two drove briskly away.

"George," she said, "that Princeton pillow I made for you mother and Mr. Partridge thought I had made for him."

"Well, there's no harm in that," he laughed back. "If he had only known what a good blind his playing was for those evenings in the arbor, he wouldn't have any suspicions like that. But we've got to hurry to get to the other station. The minister is expecting us in New Haven."

"Oh, George, mother will be surprised! Do you suppose your father will forgive us?"

"If he doesn't, I can stand it, Hetty, dear."

Roman Beggars.

Everybody who visits Rome must expect to be swindled and disappointed. There are many illusions, and you will be greatly disappointed when you approach them and they fade away. You will be swindled by shopkeepers, hackmen, peddlers and everybody that you have anything to do with, and the beggars will annoy you with their persistence like the fakirs and flower girls that follow you upon the street, but all this is a part of the experience of everybody who comes here, only such annoyances are greater in Rome than in most other places.

Begging is a profession, as in every other Italian city, and the profits are much larger, because there are more strangers to appeal to. None but inexperienced beggars ever approach a native Roman, because they know it is useless, but they save all their energy and pathos for strangers, particularly Americans and English, whom they follow with the greatest persistence.

Simple Transaction.

"I like de 'pearance o' dat turkey mighty well," said Mr. Johnson after a long and wistful study of the bird. The dusky marketman seemed strangely deaf.

"How could I—what arrangements could a pusson make dat wanted to buy dat turkey?" Mr. Johnson asked after a pause.

"Easy terms 'nough," said the marketman briskly. "You get him by means ob a note o' hand."

"A note o' hand," repeated Mr. Johnson, brightening up at once. "Do you mean I writes it out and pays some time when"— But his hope in this glorious prospect was rudely shattered by the marketman.

"A note o' hand means in dis case," he said, with disheartening clearness, "dat you hands me a two dollar note, Mr. Johnson, and I hands you de turkey in response to dat note."

Not Quite Strong Enough.

While Mr. Hawtrey and his company were playing "The Gray Mare" to crowded houses in Edinburgh some years ago the care of the thunderstorm, the noise of the rain being made by the vigorous rattling of a few peas in a tin box, was intrusted to an old Scotsman known as Mac, who had been employed about the Theater Royal for many years and was no longer as energetic as he used to be.

On the first night the peas were not rattled with sufficient energy to please Mr. Hawtrey, who, rushing over to the astonished Mac, rattled him, box and peas together, exclaiming:

"Louder, man; louder! It's a storm we want, not a Scotch mist!"

Solid Food For Scot's Intellect.

The librarian of the Aberdeen Public library shows in his annual report what books readers call for. In one case a laborer's last thirty books from the library consisted of two books in science, one in philology, two in sociology, three poetry, three philosophy, eleven theology and eight fiction. Another remarkable case is that of an upholsterer, whose reading in a period of about two years consisted of one book in science, one in useful arts, two in history, five in biography and twenty-six books of travel.

What is Life to You.

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

An Odd Simile.

Among the unconsciously grotesque tributes paid to Queen Victoria at the time of her death by the Indian press was this unique expression from a Hindoo scribe: "Her majesty loved her subjects with the strong, maternal affection which a cow feels for her offspring."

The simile would only be pleasing to the Englishman who remembered the honorable position of the cow and calf in the Hindoo religion.

Tart Repartee.

Of Sir William Harcourt Disraeli once said in his affectedly cynical way, "He has the three essential qualifications of success in politics—a fine person, a loud voice and no principles."

To this when it was repeated to him Harcourt rejoined, "Leaving out the first two qualifications, it might almost be applied to 'Dizzy' himself."

Wife Not Bluffed.

Mrs. Subbubs—I see your husband goes out behind the stable to smoke. Don't you allow him to smoke in the house any more?

Mrs. Baklots—Oh, he can smoke anywhere he likes, but just now he is putting up a bluff that he has sworn off.

The Root of the Trouble.

It surprises some people when you tell them that tthair nervous trouble is caused by a defective liver. Liver trouble causes constipation. Next comes dyspepsia, then impure blood, with heavy strain, and the result is nerve trouble. Merrill's System Tonic is a positive cure for liver trouble and constipation, and in this way removes the cause of other ills. 50 cents per bottle at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

which had done as much for the country as the Liberals. Mr. Stratton's tremendous majority went to show that a campaign of slander did not pay in Peterborough.

Dr. Mober very happily tendered his congratulations to Mr. Stratton expressing himself as being glad to see that the electors had formed so correct an estimate of the Provincial Secretary's abilities as to roll up such a vote for him. The victory in the East was also a subject for congratulation and he was proud to claim such a good Liberal stronghold as Douro as his birthplace.

Mr. R. R. Hall spoke of the town's recent great advance in manufacturing industries and recalled the opposition by the Review to the introduction of cheap power from Dam No. 5. That newspaper had conducted a campaign of which it could not feel very proud. Forgivanness, however, could be extended as Mr. Stratton had won the day and had apparently been assisted by the Review's malicous attacks upon him.

Mr. Halpany then delighted the audience with a couple of his popular recitations. He was followed by Mr. J. M. Donovan in an original song relating to Mr. Stratton's victorious campaign. The happy hits which were made were hughly enjoyed.

THE EAST RIDING.

The majority of 454 which Mr. Anderson rolled up in East Peterborough, was a magnificent victory, and only shows the telling results of a vigorous campaign, and a splendid organization with which a progressive policy was backed up. Mr. Anderson, the member-elect, from the day in which he accepted the nomination in succession to the faithful and well-tried member, Mr. Thomas Blezard, entered upon his campaign with a feeling of determination and confidence. He spoke at no fewer than 28 meetings, and was supported throughout the campaign by Mr. Blezard, Mr. John Long, M. P., Messrs. R. F. McWilliams, F. D. Kerr, D. O'Connell, E. B. Stone and George Powell. The outside speakers were Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. C. D. Fraser, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. R. C. Clute, K. C., Toronto. Mr. Blezard spoke at 13 meetings, and Mr. R. F. McWilliams attended 22. The latter gentleman travelled throughout the riding, attending Opposition meetings and met the Conservative speakers on their own platform not less than on eight occasions.

Ashburnham, which has never before given a Liberal majority, yesterday gave Mr. Anderson 24 in one polling place, and Dr. Ford only 15 in the other, leaving a majority for the former of nine. The Town Hall, Douro, was also a great surprise to many, resulting in a vote of 100 to 7 in favour of Mr. Anderson. The majorities in the various sub-divisions were as follows;

IRON AND STEEL.

There appears to be no waning of activity in the iron and steel trades and the prospects are that the high pressure will continue for a year to come at any rate. It is estimated that 24,000,000 tons of iron ore will be mined in the United States this year, and that nearly all the producing iron and steel concerns in the country could in the next twelve months sell 30 per cent. more iron and steel than they can produce in that time. It is stated that all the pig iron in sight in the United States has been bought up ahead, and that the United States Steel Corporation is negotiating for the purchase of 100,000 tons of Bessemer pig iron, to be delivered during the second quarter of 1903.

These are encouraging figures, and it is to be hoped that the incipient Canadian iron and steel concerns will shortly attain their full production, so that they may enjoy the tide of prosperity. The opening up of South Africa under British control should materially widen the market for Canadian ore and iron and steel products.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

The Cobourg baseball team will visit Peterborough to-morrow afternoon, when they will meet the local nine. The game will take place on the Nicholls oval at 2.30 o'clock, and there should be a good attendance. Manager McClelland states that his team is in splendid condition, and he hopes to win out to-morrow. Busses will leave the central portion of the town during the afternoon, and 25c will admit one to a conveyance to the grounds and to the match.

The Separate School Stars defeated the South Centrals in a game of baseball yesterday afternoon by a score of 14 —9. Both teams played an excellent ball until the fifth innings, when the South Centrals lost their heads, and the Stars secured a substantial lead. Both teams have some promising players in their ranks. Mr. Vin Kearns graced the occasion with his presence.

THE BOWLERS SONG.

In the merry month of June, when the bowlers gather roun
On the summer's sward that's blooming fresh and green
For a trial of their skill they play with right good will
At the pleasant game of bowling on the green.

Chorus—Bowling on the green,
Bowling on the green,
We're always gay and happy when we're bowling on the green
And thus we pass the day in a pleasant, happy way;
The joy of joys in summer time is bowling on the green.

The curlers on the ice think their game is very nice
When frosty winds are blowing snell and keen.
Though they curl to the tee they're not so blessed as we
When we play up to the jack upon the green.

Chorus—Bowling on the green, etc.

The game is now begun, full of mirth and joy and fun.
While the summer sun is shining on the scene;
Every player does his best when you put him to the test,
For his aim is to be victor on the green.

Chorus—Bowling on the green, etc.

In the balance victory swings ,the Scots think they're the kings
Till the Lightbournes rattle in some shots between,
Neither side so far has led, but the game goes still ahead
As they fight their battle over on the green.

Chorus—Bowling on the green, etc.

But victory comes at last, Tom and Andrew playing fast.
They have gained the winning shots by playing keen.
Then goes up the wild Hurrah and the cry is "Scots wha' hae."
For they have won the championship upon the green.

Chorus—Bowling on the green, etc.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Dr. Gibson spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Campbellford with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kilbourn, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart, are back to Canada after an extended European trip. They spent Saturday and Sunday in Lakefield before leaving for their home in Owen Sound.

Mr. J. H. Sherin has just arrived home from Toronto, having spent a most enjoyable holiday in the city.

Miss Lillicrap of Toronto, spent Victoria Day in Lakefield with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lillicrap.

The picnic held under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Church of Lakefield, on the 24th, was an unqualified success. The lacrosse game between the T.A.S. and the Y.M.C.A. proved to be a most interesting contest. The match resulted in a victory for the T.A.S. by 5 to 3.

The sad intelligence of the death of one of Lakefield's former residents in the person of Mrs. B. Eden, came as a shock to her many friends in Lakefield. Mr. Eden has the sympathy of the entire community in his sad bereavement.

Miss Rutherford spent Victoria Day visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. Heiburg, who has been with the Cement Company for the past couple of months, is leaving on Friday for the United States, where he will be engaged with the Hudson Cement Company, who have recently erected a large cement plant on the Hudson River.

The excursion held on the 24th under the auspices of the Mimtomery Society of the Methodist Church, was very largely attended, and although occasional rain fell during the day, a most enjoyable time was spent.

COAL HAS WINGS.

It Soars Again in Price.

Up goes coal again in price in New York, which means that it will go up in price everywhere else. The coal strike ought to be a big object lesson to the public as to the desirability of better public control over great public services, such as the railways. Railway control of the coal fields has produced the conditions which produce the strike.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY 4.

Manitoulin Joins the Rank of the Opposition.

NO OTHER CHANGE REPORTED.

Liberals Have 51 Seats, Conservatives 47—Complete Figures From Many Ridings—The Premier Satisfied—What the Hon. John Dryden and Hon. J. R. Stratton Say—Interesting Election Details.

Toronto, May 31.—Later figures produced no change in the list of members announced as elected, nor in the standing of the parties, save in the case of Manitoulin, which did not report until yesterday. This constituency went with the Opposition. The new House, therefore stands 51 Liberals and 47 Conservatives, giving the Government a majority of four. There were various rumors during the day of seats lost and won, but investigation proved them to be groundless. More accurate figures as to the majorities came to hand from many of the constituencies, and in some of the more femote and scattered ridings the complete returns are not yet in the hands of the returning officers.

The Premier Congratulated.

Premier Ross was early at his office yesterday morning, where he received the congratulations of many friends both by personal call and by telegram. A sheaf of telegraph messages were received during the day. Congratulations were received from Mr. C. A. McCool, M.P., on behalf of new Ontario; Mr. D. F. Burk, on behalf of Port Arthur; Hon. Robert Watson and Hon. J. W. Sifton, on behalf of Winnipeg; Mr. R. G. McPherson, President Vancouver Liberal Association, for the Pacific Province; Mr. M. J. Butler, Charlottetown, P.E.I., Hon. P. Macdonald, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons; Hon. G. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia; Hon. S. N. Parent, Premier of Quebec; Hon. Arthur Peters, Premier of Prince Edward Island; Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance; T. B. Flint, M.P., leader of the Prohibition party of Nova Scotia; Mr. Chester Massey of Toronto, at Clifton Springs, N.Y.; Senator Fiset, of Rimouski; W. S. Calvert, M.P.; ex-Speaker Evanturel; Mr. J. Stirton of Prince Albert, N. W.T. Numerous telegrams from successful and defeated candidates and others from all parts of the Province were also received.

Will Go to the Coronation.

So well satisfied is Premier Ross with the result of the election that he yesterday announced his early departure for the coronation, in accordance with the invitation received some months ago. He will sail from New York on June 14 by the steamship Etruria, which will land him in London in good time for the celebration. The ocean voyage, in addition, will afford a pleasant rest after the exacting and tiring work of the recent campaign.

The Minister of Agriculture.

Hon. John Dryden reached his office yesterday morning cheery, but somewhat tired after the past few weeks' arduous campaigning. "So far as my own campaign was concerned," he said, "it was one of abuse and misrepresentation on the part of the Opposition. I don't know that I have any reason to complain, as it turned out in my favor. The unpleasant incident at Columbus on Saturday evening, when William Smith attacked Mayor Fowke, was the outcome of more or less of that sort of thing, but it did injury to their own cause, by bringing several votes to my side. The intelligent, thinking people were evidently with us in that campaign, but there were influences brought to bear which could not very well be met, which reduced the majority somewhat. I regret very much the loss of several members of the last Legislature, including such men as Pardee, McKee, McKay, Carpenter, Hill and others. The majority is not as large as might be desirable, but as usually happens in such cases, it will probably be larger as the weeks roll by."

The Members-elect.

The members-elect of the new House, with the majorities, so far as yet received, by which they were elected, are as follows:

ELECTION NOTES.

We are seven: Pense, Graham, Pattullo, Preston, Stratton, Auld and Pettypiece, Liberal journalists, all survive the shock of the election battle.

4 French-Canadian Members.

There are in all four French-Canadian members in the new House, instead of two, as in the last Legislature—three of Liberals and one Conservative. The two who sat in the last Legislature and re-elected are Hon. F. E. Evanturel and O. Guibord, Liberals; and the two newly-returned are Joseph Michaud, who defeated Frank Cochrane in the new riding of West Nipissing, and Dr. J. O. Reaume, Conservative, who defeated W. J. McKee, the Government candidate for North Essex, and Liberal whip.

Joseph Michaud is a member of the trading firm of Michaud & Levesque, in West Nipissing. He has been long known as a staunch Liberal.

O. Guibord, elected in Russell, is a merchant in that constituency. His opponent was Dr. Rochon. The great majority of the voters in this constituency are French speaking.

Dr. J. O. Reaume, who defeated W. J. McKee, the Liberal, in North Essex, comes to the Legislature with pronounced Conservative views. His popularity in North Essex and the desire of the people there to see Mr. Whitney elected to power is attested by the fact of his defeating Mr. McKee, who is so well known throughout that riding.

Mr. Stratton Not Disqualified.

Toronto, May 31.—The Hon. Mr. Stratton returned to the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning from Peterboro, and was congratulated by the officers of his department upon his splendid majority. When asked with regard to his alleged disqualification in connection with the printing of the ballots he stated that there was nothing in it, that when spoken to by the sheriff, who was returning officer, upon the subject, he had given him distinct instructions to have all the printing done at The Times office. He said that he had been in Peterboro but very little during the campaign, and The Examiner had no contract of any kind with the returning officer in connection with the Provincial election.

The general result of the elections reminded him greatly of the position of matters four years ago. The first returns were of an exceedingly discouraging character to the Liberal party, but fuller details and the result of recounts and bye-elections showed that they possessed a substantial majority. A most cheering feature of the situation was that the attacks on the Ministers in their own constituencies had all failed. It was very seldom that a Ministry which came back intact from the polls was defeated by the general result, and the present case was not going to prove an exception.

Aeronaut Killed.

Kingston, N. J., May 31.—Harry Hicks, an aeronaut, was killed at Kinguton Point, a summer resort yesterday. He had been engaged to make daily balloon ascensions, and yesterday afternoon was booked for his first exhibition. When the balloon had reached an altitude of about 2,000 feet, Hicks commenced the descent by means of a parachute, coming down slowly to about 800 feet above the Hudson River. For some reason Hicks lost his hold and fell, striking head first on a sand bar in the river.

TURBULENT ST. JOHN FALLS.

Fred Dodge, a 15-Year-Old, Went Through Them and Lived.

Fred Dodge, a fifteen-year-old son of F. T. Dodge, of Albert street, Carleton, N.B., will never be nearer death and live to tell of it than he was on the afternoon of May 18, 1902, when he earned the unique distinction of being one of the very few who have been swept through the fearful turmoil of the St. John Falls and survived.

About four o'clock, with a companion, Roy Ring, of Carleton, he was out on the point of land that juts from the Carleton side under the cantilever bridge. He was standing close to the edge of the cliff when the ground beneath him gave way. Springing out as he fell he managed to clear the rocks at the base and plunged into the rushing water twenty feet below.

It was about a half-hour after slack water and the falls, though not exhibiting the violence that shows later in the ebb, where in a condition that no boat would dare grapple with. Around the point where the boy fell the tide rushes with especial violence, and before he emerged from his icy plunge he was away below and many feet out in the stream in the grasp of which he was as powerless as a leaf. Fortunately he was a good swimmer, and had magnificent pluck. He struggled at first to near the shore, but finding it useless, as the current was whirling him toward the centre of the race, he gave it up and devoted all his energies to keep himself afloat.

Though only a few seconds had elapsed Ring had already given the alarm, and a crowd of helpless spectators were gazing with horrible anxiousness at the boy's gallant and apparently hopeless fight for his life. As he swept farther down toward the suspension bridge the waters, angry at the unexpected resistance, grew fiercer. Waves smote him under and he fought his way up again for breath. Whirlpools seized him and dragged him down for what seemed minutes to the strained watchers. But he broke their grip and emerged again and again. He was under water more times than he was on the surface. Time and again the witnesses thought he was gone, but lower down a hand would appear followed by a face gasping for air, as the game youngster continued the fight. Part of the time he turned on his back and attempted to float.

All the time the swift current was carrying him down. He passed under the suspension bridge nearly in the middle of the stream, but not far below a merciful eddy caught him and shot him toward the stiller waters of the cove. His companion, who had given the alarm, had fortunately met J. Fred Belyea, the oarsman from Old Fort, and the two, obtaining a boat from William Daley, who lives near the shore of the falls, put out to the rescue. By the time they neared the boy he had drifted to the lower part of the cove near the old watertank, and was about forty feet from shore. He was nearly unconscious, half drowned, and benumbed by the bitter cold of the water. Before they could reach him he sank, but came up again a little further down, where he was seized and drawn into the boat unconscious.

Young Dodge was in the river about twenty minutes, and swam about 500 yards in as wild water as ever a man lived through.

Struggle Is Almost Ended.

Montreal, May 31.—The plumbers' strike is practically at an end, through the energetic efforts of the Conference Committees. Messrs. W. J. JOYFUL MATERNITY.

Hopeful Words to Childless Women. Two Grateful Women Tell How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How shall a mother who is weak and sick with some female trouble bear healthy children?

How anxious women ought to be to give their children the blessing of a good constitution!

Many women long for a child to bless their home, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs, they are barren.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the parts, curing all displacements and inflammation.

Actual sterility in women is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all expectant or would-be mothers.

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuiness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the following testimonials are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission.—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., Lynn, Mass.

The Story of Mrs. De Bett and Her Baby Girl.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before I took your medicine I suffered for years. Life to me was a torture. I often wished I were dead. I had no children, and the doctor said I never could have. Menstruation was very painful, also suffered with severe pains in left ovary, had pains in my back and heart, terrible headaches, and weakness of the kidneys. I tried everything, had womb dilated twice but that did no good. I got discouraged and concluded to let the doctors go and try your medicine. After writing to you explaining my case, I followed your advice carefully and with the result that I never felt so well in all my life. I am indeed a new woman and have a loving little baby girl which is the happiness of my home. I feel that I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine, and feel very proud to recommend it to others. I hope that many others will follow my example and that homes may be brightened as mine has."—MRS. LUCY DE BETT, 80½ S. Halstead St., Chicago, Ill. (March 1, 1901.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. Before taking your medicine I was unable to carry a babe to maturity, having lost two—one at six months and one at seven. The doctor said next time I would die, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I did not die, but am the proud mother of a six months old girl baby. She weighs nineteen pounds and has never seen a sick day in her life. She is the delight of our home."—MRS. A. D. JARRET, Belmont, Ohio.

SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1902.

HONOUR TO ROSS.

It is a good thing to win; it is a better thing to fight such a battle that, win or lose, the memory will be honourable. Premier Ross has done both. From first to last he has made his appeal to the intelligent, sound-hearted and progressive people of the Province. His speeches have helped to advance the interests of New Ontario; and long after this contest is over they will be remembered with pride and gratitude by the inhabitants of that land of promise. By his breadth and foresight he has shown that Provincial politics need not be parish politics. He has given an example for all time to come of rational, educative discussion of public affairs. His addresses have been full of energy and spirit, and yet free from all that is mean, shabby or offensive. They have been exhibitions of all that is best in party spirit, its courage, its loyalty to comrades and to principles, without the narrowness and spite that party spirit awakens in smaller men.

The grand fight that he has made is a memorable epoch in a long and honourable career. In that career it will be well to remember that he has served his country not only as a Minister and a legislator, but as a teacher and inspector in our public schools. A builder he has been always, whether in office or in opposition. More than half his life has now been spent in the Dominion Parliament or the Ontario Legislature. He entered the Dominion Parliament in the second Parliament after confederation, and he forged his way to the front in an assembly which contained such men as Mackenzie, Blake and Cartwright, Macdonald, Tupper and Tilley. His reputation for eloquence has somewhat obscured his reputation for another quality, which is even more highly esteemed by trained statesman—tireless and faithful industry.

The hardest work, the toughest fighting, has always fallen to the lot of Geo. W. Ross. He left Ottawa to take the post of Minister of Education, around which for many years were fought the battles not only of differing views and theories of secular education, but of the relation of education to religion. The strongest passions, the most deep-seated prejudices, have been appealed to by the assailants of the Government. The cares of the department would have furnished plenty of work without the cares of politics, and Mr. Ross took his full share of both. He assumed the Premiership at a time when the Ministerial majority was small, and he has had nearly three years of the hardest kind of fighting. He is now enjoying such vigour as to give promise of many more years of useful public service, and for the country's sake, as well as his own, we hope this promise will be fulfilled.—Globe.

AN EMPIRE BUILDER.

The Acadian Recorder in an article on "Six Empire Builders," has the following to say of Sir Wilfred Laurier, whom it includes in its list: "Sir Wilfrid Laurier, our own Canadian Premier, has a right to be placed in a list of those who, by their acts have done much to promote the growth of an Imperialistic spirit. His greatest gift to the Canadian nationality has been the making one of all creeds and races in this fair land. At his entry into office a troublesome religious difficulty claimed attention. This has been settled and we have peace with unity. His aim is to make one nation out of the different races in this Dominion. Since being Premier, preferential trade has been inaugurated and penny postage established between constituent parts of the Empire. Just as Premier Barton has united different states under one government, Premier Laurier's aim is also in the direction of the unity of different peoples and races in one broad Dominion. To this work his strong personality has largely contributed, especially in leading those from his own province."

EDITORIAL NOTES

A miss is as good as a mile.

Possession is nine points of the law.

It's a mere matter of majority, anyway.

A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

A bad return is the return that re-returns wrong.

There's a great deal of political whistling to keep the courage up.

In a recnet speech, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain foreshadowed the policy of the Imperial Government in favour of closer commercial, involving necessarily closer political relations with the colonies. The time for a reciprocration of British and Colontial trade preference may come when the conditions are ripe — when the evidence becomes strong enough to show that the Empire can furnish an independent food supply within itself. Whether or not this will ever come, there is no doubt that the British sentiment for closer relations with the colonies, is growing. In Mr. Chamberlain's latest speech, he says in ference to foreign attacks;

"At the present time the Empire is being attacked on all side, and in our isolation we must look to ourselves. (Cheers.) If by adherence to economic pedantry, to old shibboleths, we are to lose opportunities for closer union which are offered us by our colonies, if we are to put aside occasions now within our grasp, if we do not take every chance in our power to keep British trade in British hands, I am certain that we shall deserve the disasters which will infallibly come upon us. (Cheers.

RACE PROBLEM IN THE SOUTH.

An organization of negroes called the International Immigration and Commercial Association has held a session in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and, as a result of its deliberations, a petition has been presented to Congress, asking a grant of $500,000,000 for the deportation of the negroes of of the United States to West Africa. The chief movers in the matter are Bishop Turner and Mr. Herd, ex-Minister to Liberia. From the time when the first slave ships brought the negroes from their native country to the American colonies, down down to the latest lynchings and burnings, the blacks can make out a strong indictment against the dominant race. There is a race problem in the south, which does not seem to be approaching a solution, and some of the most thoughtful men in the republic regard it with serious uneasiness. The negroes are as a race apathetic and submissive, but they are capable of developing good fighting qualities, though perhaps lacking in tenacity. There have been threatenings of a negro uprising, and a savage revenge has been hinted at by some of the most intelligent and advanced of their race in the United States.

Their growing restlessness and readiness to resort to violence in resenting aggression is anything but assuring. A plan of deportation is not new, but there is no reason to believe that either the blacks or whites would favour it. The desire for cheap labour, the universal quest that is manifested in many forms, first led to the bringing of the negro from his home, and it is the same desire that prompts the whites in the United States to retain him. The white people know that the cost of labour, of human service, would be greatly increased by the loss of the negro, and they would be reluctant to aid any extensive plan of deploration. On the other hand, the negro is far better satisfied even under existing conditions than he would be in beginning life anew in Liberia or any other land that is now unknown to him. This problem does not appear amenable to any such simple solution.

PROGRESS OF AUSTRALASIA.

The inaugural celebration of the Australian Commonwealth took place on January 1st, 1901, at Sydney, and drew the eyes of the whole world to that great and growing possession of the British Empire in the Southern Seas. It was a consummation of hopes long held in abeyance, of plans, slow in their working out, of projects fraught with empire-making significance. The provinces joined together to form the confederation are New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia and Tasmania. On May 9, 1901, the first parliament of United Australia was formally opened by the Prince of Wales at Melbourne. From then forward Australia officially began a new epoch in its history whereof no one can see the end.

The development of Australia has been rapid. In 1788 the population of the colony was 1,030; in 1900 it amounted to almost 4,000,000, a wonderful increase for a little over a century. No characteristic of Australian development has been more marked than the concentration of population in the cities. Melbourne is the largest Australian city and has a population of 470,000; Sydney has about 427,000; Adelaide has 175,000; Brisbane, 110,000, and at least two other cities have populations ranging around 50,000. The tonnage of shipping entered from and cleared for Great Britain and other outside ports has increased very rapidly. In 1841 the tonnage was 307,000; in 1898 it had increased to 8,057,435. Equally rapid has been the increase in the intercolonial shipping. In 1841 the tonnage was 230,000, and in 1898 12,233,694. The value of exports increased from £4,072,000 to £72,119,925 in 1898.

These few figures will give a partial idea of the growth and importance of the great island Commonwealth, and point in eloquent terms to the great future that lies before. Not only has Australia advanced with tremendous strides along commercial and material lines, but has made steady progress in its intellectual and social conditions. Its system of government is fully abreast of the times and its labour laws are as nearly perfect as can be found in any country.

A splendid review of Australasia is found in volume XI of the Nineteenth Century Series being issued by the Linscott Publishing Company. The authors are T. A. Coghlan, statistician of New South Wales, and T. T. Ewing, a member of the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales.

THE STOMACH

A Very Important and Often Neglected Organ.

Few People Recognize the Importance of Keeping the Stomach and Organs of Digestion in a Perfect and Healthy Condition.

Most of us forget that we have a Stomach, and that it deserves some care and consideration until it rebels against this daily neglect, and Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Biliousness, Headache or Heart Trouble, notify us most peremptorily that it must be immediately attended to, or we will be punished.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets furnish the surest and quickest relief, and the most complete and permanent cure for all Stomach Troubles.

If your Stomach has given you warning, by the slightest symptom, that it is tired and requires an opportunity for rest and restoration, you should heed this warning at once.

Do not put off a treatment until the pain becomes unbearable.

Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets right away.

Probably one box will be all that your case will need at its present stage, whereas if you defer the treatment until the derangement has become greater, it will probably take a half dozen boxes or more.

But no matter at what stage of Indigestion you find yourself, you may be sure that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will instantly relieve you, and permanently cure you.

Take one or two immediately after each meal.

These dainty tablets digest the food, animal and vegetable, every bit of it, with little or no assistance from the Stomach, thus enabling this organ to rest and regain its lost vigour, and at the same time furnish the body with the necessary strength and nourishment.

Gradually as the Stomach gains strength to do its own work again, the dose may be lessened, until finally health becoming completely restored the treatment may be discontinued.

SOME QUESTIONS

That Were Asked in the British House of Commons—The Answers.

The following clipping from an English paper may prove interesting;

In the House of Commons on Monday, Mr. Norman asked the Secretary for War whether he would now lay upon the table the despatches of Lord Roberts and Sir Redvers Buller concerning the operations of Spion Kop.

Mr. Broderick: In view of the statements which have been made public from a responsible source with respect to these despatches, and the misapprehension which appears to exist, I propose to lay on the table all the papers accompanying Lord Roberts' despatch relating to Spion Kop, which were forwarded to the War Office.

Mr. Lambert asked whether the right hon. gentleman would withdraw his order prohibiting General Buller from publishing certain documents. (Opposition cheers.)

Mr Broderick: Certainly not.

Mr. Bowles: Will the right hon. gentleman include in the despatches published any despatch not hitherto published, relating to Sir Charles Warren's operations?

Mr. Broderick: I do not know exactly what is meant by "despatch." Such papers as were forwarded to Lord Roberts, and by him forwarded to the War Office, in connection with Spion Kop and by whomsoever they were sent, will be published—(hear, hear.)

On Tuesday evening there were more questions in the House on the subject.

Mr. MacNeill asked the Secretary for War whether, having regard to the dismissal of Sir Redvers Buller from the Aldershot command owing to his reference to the heliograms and telegraphic correspondence which passed between him and Sir G. White during the seige of Ladysmith, and having regard to General Buller's repeated requests that such heliograms and telegraphic correspondence be published by the War-office, General Buller would in his own vindication be permitted to publish the copies of the correspondence which was now in his possession, and had been with-held from publication by him by the order of the War-office.

Mr. Brodick: No, sir. The question of the hon. member is not accurate. In respect of the statements mentioned as if they were facts, I am not aware of any repeated requests by Sir Redvers Buller that the heliograms or telegraphic correspondence should be published by the War-office, nor, so far as I am aware, has the hon. member any title to represent Sir R. Buller in the matter—(Ministerial cheers.) No correspondence will be published except by the authority of H. M. Government.

Mr. MacNeill: May I ask if Sir Redvers Buller asked the War-office to be permitted to tell the truth?—(Nationalist cheers.)

Mr. Brodrick: I have already answered the question.

It is stated that the Spion Kop despatches will be published in about a week's time. The delay is due to the fact that the despatches are very bulky, and have taken up much time in the course of preparation for publication.

'TIS A PITY

TO SAY "NO."

ANY SICK ONE WRONGS HIMSELF WHEN HE FAILS TO GET MY BOOK.

NO MONEY IS WANTED.

Tell me the name of a sick one and I will mail the book that is needed.

That is all I ask—just a postal card.

I have spent a lifetime in learning how to cure chronic troubles, and you should know what I have learned.

Then, if you think me right, I will let you take the treatment at my risk.

I will even do this:—

I will send with the book an order on your druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He will let you take it for a month; then, if it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself

I will leave the decision to you.

You cannot afford to say "No" to that offer.

A remedy so sure that it can stand a test like that must have remarkable merit.

Don't be incredulous, nor let prejudice deter you. Remember that your health is at stake, and all I ask is a postal card. Find out what I know.

My Restorative strengthens the inside nerves, which no other remedy reaches. My book explains why.

I don't doctor the symptoms, nor the organs themselves. But I bring back the nerve power which alone makes all vital organs act.

If an engine was weak, you would give it more steam. That is what I do with weak organs. I give them more power; more nerve power. They do their duty then.

That is why I succeed where other treatments fail.

Sometimes I fail, but not often. Only when a cause, like cancer, makes a cure impossible.

In the past five years I have furnished my treatment to over 800,000 sick people on terms like these. My records show that 39 in each 40 paid for it.

There are 39 chances in 40 that I can cure you. If I succeed you are permanently well. If I fail, I alone am the loser.

Those who need help, and who don't get my book, do themselves an injustice and a wrong.

Simply state which book you want, and address to Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Weak and Helpless.

The Condition of Mrs. Wm. Westcott, of Seaforth.

Suffered From Headaches and Dizziness—Could not Stand the Least Exertion.

(From the Sun, Seaforth, Ont.)

Mrs. Wm. Wescott is well known to nearly all the residents of Seaforth. It is also well known to her neighbours and friends that she passed through a trying illness, but is now happily, in robust health. To the editor of the Sun, Mrs. Westcott recently gave the particulars of her case for publication, merely in the hope that her experience might be of some benefit to some other sufferer. She said:—"For some time past my health was in a bad state, my whole system being badly run down. I was troubled with headaches, much dizziness, my appetite was poor and I could not stand the least exertion. I consulted different physicians, but their treatment did not seem to benefit me, and I gradually became so bad that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I then tried several advertised medicines, but without any beneficial results, and I began to despair of getting better. One of my neighbours strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and somewhat reluctantly I consented to do so. After I had taken the second box I began to note a great improvement in my condition, and by the time I had used five boxes, I was fully restored to my former good health, much to the surprise of my neighbours and relations. I do not suffer the least now from those headaches and dizzy spells; my appetite is good and I can attend to my household duties with the greatest ease. In fact I feel like a different woman, and all this I can say is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. All who suffer from a run-down constitution should give these pills a trial."

When the vitality is low; when the blood needs to be replenished, enriched and purified; when the nerves are weak and require strengthening, there is no other medicine can take the place of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is because of their direct specific action on the blood and nerves that these pills cure such troubles as anaemia, nervous headache, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, rheumatism, sciatica, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, kidney and liver ailments and the functional troubles that make the lives of so many women a source of almost constant misery. Do not take any but the genuine, which have the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers, or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TELEGRAPHERS ARE SATISFIED.

However, the Full Increase Demanded Was Not Accorded.

Montreal, May 31.—The General Committee of the Canadian Pacific Telegraphers had another lengthy conference with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, D. McNicoll and Thomas Tate yesterday. In the afternoon it was officially announced that the matter had been amicably adjusted. The details of the settlement were not given by the company beyond the fact that the full increase demanded by the men, viz., a minimum of $53 instead of $43, had not been accorded. However, the advance granted had been satisfactory to all parties. The small matters of details, regarding holidays, Sundays and extra work, it is understood, have all been granted.

"We would like to get all we asked for," said one of the men yesterday, "but we did not want to appear unreasonable, and as we have had very material advantages over our present minimum rate, I think we should feel satisfied."

Chicago Meat Strike.

Chicago, May 31.—Chicago began to realize yesterday that a meat famine is imminent. Butchers who have bought of the packers fighting the striking stock yards teamsters lost their ice supply. Restaurants were in straits to procure choice meats. The commodity rose in price, and many shops shut down in different parts of the city. Holiday crowds blocked wagons and cheered the strikers. President Albert Young of the teamsters National Union declared that the strike would be backed by union labor and won if it took five years. Butchers have practically abandoned the hauling of meat from the yards. Meat is now delivered to hotels and restaurants by armed drivers. This is one of the results of attacks made Thursday on teamsters in the employ of Irwin Brothers. This firm has equipped its drivers with revolvers.

Smuggler Admits His Guilt.

Montreal, May 31.—The case of Mr. Louis Henry, the gentleman who is accused of smuggling about $10,000 worth of diamonds and precious stones into this country from France, came up in the Police Court yesterday morning, and was adjourned till Friday next.

Mr. Henry has made a written confession, acknowledgifig that all but a watch chain and a few other trinkets from among the articles seized were brought into this country by him without observing the usual custom formalities.

Child Burned to Death.

Toronto, May 31.—Four-year-old Hilda Webster, daughter of H. C. Webster, paying teller of the Bank of Montreal, was burned to death at her home, 188 Jarvis street, on Thursday night. Dr. Graham, who was in attendance on Mrs. Webster, sent the child to the kitchen. A moment later he heard screams and saw the child rush out on the lawn in flames. Before the doctor could extinguish the flames, the little girl was terribly burned, and death resulted instantly.

To Succeed Pauncefote.

London, May 31.—The Hon. Michael Henry Herbert, who is nominally secretary to the British Embassy at Paris will probably be the next British Ambassador to the United States in succession to the late Lord Pauncefote. Mr. Herbert's appointment to this post will probably not be announced until the remains of Lord Pauncefote arrive in England. The only question in regard to Mr. Herbert's selection for the Washington post is the approval of King Edward.

Macdonald's wife, it is said, left him for reasons and went to live with her father. Macdonald then went down to Aurora and attacked Flintoff, breaking some of his ribs.

SERGEANT DISMISSED.

What a Member of 21st, Essex, Regiment Wrote to Col. Peters.

Windsor, May 31.—As a result of his anxiety to become a member of the coronation contingent, Sergt. James E. Robinson, of the Twenty-First Essex Regiment, has been dishonorably discharged from the regiment. It appears that Robinson wrote to Col. Peters, the district officer, commanding at London, and it is alleged that after making a request to be placed on the strength of the contingent, he added a note to his epistle telling Col. Peters that if he would use his influence to get him the appointment, he (Robinson) would make it all right with him. Col. Peters forwarded Robinson's letter to the Militia Department, with the result that Col. Guillot received instructions to discharge Robinson dishonorably for conduct unbecoming a non-commissioned officer.

HAS A SPECIFIC USE.

Mrs. Octave Larose Often had Fainting Spells and for six Years Suffered With Severe Inward Trouble—Cured by the New Ozone Method Without the Use of Drugs.

Having been a sufferer from extreme weakness and a generally run-down system for fourteen years back, I feel impelled to place before the public a knowledge of what has finally proved effectual in restoring my health—Powley's Liquified Ozone.

MRS. OCTAVE LAROSE, MONTREAL.

I used to suffer constantly with overpowering headaches, and was subject to fainting spells, often four or five times a day, while for six years past I suffered much from inward trouble, and altogether my condition seemed past help, as all medical skill had failed to bring the desired relief.

I commenced using Ozone about July, 1900, and after using four bottles I feel well and hearty and enjoy life as much as ever. Trusting this statement may benefit some other sufferer, I am, (Signed) Mrs. Octave Larose, 288 St. Timothee street, Montreal, P.Q.

Powley's Liquozone has its specific use and that is to feed the blood oxygen, its essential nourishment. It is not a "cure-all," but it does cure disorders that find their cause in a lack of vitality, in an enervated system, an impure blood stream, in fact under those conditions that are favourable to the attack of disease germs. You may say that these diseases are many, yet the cause is common to all. If you have any systemic disorder, we would earnestly advise you to find out about this Ozone Treatment from some one you know has taken it. We know that if you'll get at the truth about it, and you can from good Canadian citizens, you'll be impressed with the fact that it's a scientific discovery and that it will do you a great deal of good. Powley's Liquified Ozone is on sale at your druggists; 2 sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.

KING'S BIRTHDAY.

Military Display at Official Celebration Took Place Friday.

London, May 31.—The birthday of King Edward, who was born Nov. 9, 1841, was officially celebrated yesterday, it having been decided, as announced in The Official Gazette, April 15, that His Majesty's natal day was to be celebrated in London, and on the home stations May 30 as being the most suitable time for a military display. On the other hand, foreign stations will celebrate in Nov. 9, the actual anniversary of His Majesty's birth.

General interest in the celebration was apparently not seriously diminished by the expectations of the greatef of the series of events surrounding the coronation. The towns throughout the kingdom were gaily decorated and beflagged yesterday, and the shipping at the various ports made the gayest displays of bunting. The day was observed at all the home military and naval headquarters with parades and salutes. The chief celebration of the day was the ceremony of "trooping the colors," on the Horse Guards' parade here, and the presentation of colors to the new Irish Guards. The King, during the afternoon, presented colors to the King's Company of the Grenadier Guards.

A Healthy and Sound Body Will Enable us to Battle Against the Wrongs and Injuries of our Enemies.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Banishes Disease, Establishes Health and Gives us Physical Strength to Maintain our Place in Life's Conflict.

Many of us find life hard and full of pain. While we cannot well avoid the sufferings that result from injuries and wrongs, we can keep ourselves from the pains and ravages of bodily ailments and diseases, and maintain that full measure of health that will enable us to meet the wrongs that assail us from day to day.

If you are run-down, fretful, despondent, irritable, sleepless, be assured you are becoming physically impaired and weakened. If the relaxed and sluggish action of the excretory organs has loaded the blood and poison, producing headache, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver troubles; then disease is encircling you in its chains.

Prompt use of Paine's Celery Compound will save the weakened parts of the body from yielding to disease. The great medicine saves weak and enfeebled nerves from prostration, and removes every feeling of exhaustion and despondency. It cures and saves those who are bound by disease and suffering and gives them a new lease of life. Mrs. J. H. Pierce, King street, St. John, N.B., writes thus;

"I suffered terribly from constipation, weakness, nervousness, kidney and liver troubles; I was also subject to those tired weary feelings, and had a slight touch of skin disease. The first dose of Paine's Celery Compound relieved me; and now, after having taken three bottles, I feel much better. I am not constipated. I have no weak feelings, and I can eat and sleep well. It is a grand remedy, and I hope all that read this may benefit by my recommendation."

ON A FAMILY FOOTING

Basis Upon which Trade of the Empire Should be Built.

VIEWS OF LORD STRATHCONA.

Opposed to Representation of the Colonies in the Imperial Parliament—At Least, Until a Truly Imperial Parliament Is Established For the Purpose of Dealing With Imperial Affairs.

Montreal, May 31.—A London cable to The Star says that Lord Strathcona, writing in The Empire Review for June, opposes the representation of the colonies in the Imperial Parliament, at any rate until a truly Imperial Parliament is established for the purpose of dealing with Imperial affairs. He says the colonies will seriously consider any authoritative proposal to contribute to the cost of the army and navy. No such proposal has yet been made, but he warns Englishmen that the proposition affects the whole problem of Imperial unity and representation in the British Parliament. He further says that the Empire must pay greater attention to the developemnt of Imperial trade, and sees no internal reason against regarding the domestic trade of the Empire more favorably than foreign trade. The commercial relations of the Empire should be put on a family footing.

Work on the Canadian coronation arch at Whitehall is proceeding rapidly.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and long for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Arbitration Conference.

Mohawk Lake, N.Y., May 31.—The session of the Conference on International Arbitration were opened yesterday with an address by John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, on the history and work of the Pan-American Congress in Mexico last winter, of which he was a member. Judge C. C. Nott of the Court of Claims at Washington followed with a narration of the operations of that tribunal.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener.

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large bottles 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

C.N.R. Strike.

The matter has been referred to Hon. William Mulock, who is in Toronto. The strikers number fifty, and they seek recognition of the union.

St. Johns, Nfld., May 30.—The Premier, Sir Robert Bond, left here last evening, via Quebec, for London where he will participate in the functions attendant upon the coronation of King Edward.

FEDERAL LABOUR UNION.

An Interesting Meeting—The Members Buckling Down to Practical Work.

The regular meeting of Peterborough Federal Labour Union, No. 9240, was held on Friday evening in the Labour Hall on Water street.

The president, Mr. William Henry, occupied the chair for the first time since his recent severe illness. He expressed his regrets that he had been laid aside by sickness just at a time when the Union was in the midst of so much important business. He asked for a continuance of their support for the chair which the members had always given while he occupied it.

Mr. John McCann was unanimously elected secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Redfern, who had removed to Toronto.

A discussion took place regarding a Labour Day Demonstration. The Trades and Labour Council requested their delegates to ask the Federal Union for their support in celebrating Labour Day. The matter was left over for further consideration at the next meeting.

One or two other important questions were brought up for discussion, but of a private nature.

On motion of Mr. McNamara, it was unanimously decided to hold a social tea and entertainment for the members of the Union on Monday evening, June 9th, in the Labour Hall. The following committee was appointed to carry out the wishes of the Union; Messrs. A. Browne, W. Taylor, M. McNamara, W. Menzies, J. Murphy, A. Kingscote and J. Gibson. At a subsequent meeting of the committee, sub-committees were appointed to look after the different details. The members are very enthusiastic over this event, and a big, pleasant and enthusiastic labour night is promised. The ladies are to be invited.

ST. LUKE'S MISSION BAND.

A Most Interesting Programme Given Last Evening at St. Lukes.

A large attendance made the Mission Band Entertainment and Sale held yesterday, a great success, both financially and otherwise. The tables on which useful articles, fancy work, souvenirs, candy, etc., were displayed, enjoyed a good patronage, and before 8 o'clock some tables had already sold out. The clothing, which was made by the members of the Mission Band, was much admired.

At nine o'clock, a short programme was given. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was in the chair;

Instrumental duet ... ... Misses Clara Adams and Janet Quinn
Recitation... ... .Miss Lulu Greenwood
Song... ... ...Miss Edith Scott
Song... ... ...Miss Maude Curtis
Recitation .... Miss Lula Greenwood
Song... ... ... Miss Kathleen Long
Dialogue, "When the cat's away the mice can play"...8 girls and 7 boys

After the programme, the Rector on behalf of the Mission Band, thanked the friends for their interest and support. The National Anthem was sung, after which refreshments were served. The net proceed amounted to $36. St. Luke's once more upheld its reputation as giving a profitable and pleasant social.

The Bible class to-morrow will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Turner, who has been confined to his house on account of sickness, expects to be able to take his class again. The Sunday school also meets at 10 o'clock.

To-morrow morning the Rector will preach on "Are your minds set upon righteousness, oh, ye congregation?" The subject in the evening will be, "An open Door."

PIANO RECITAL

Given Last Night by the Pupils of the Misses Hurley—The Programme.

The pupils of the Misses Hurley gave a very enjoyable recital last night, which was attended by the parents of the young artists, and a number of especially invited friends.

Those who took part in the programme performed their respective numbers in a manner that reflected no small degree of credit, not only upon themselves, but upon the Misses Hurley, who have so ably instructed the young artists. It would indeed be difficult to particularize as the selections were most creditably rendered, and were heartily appreciated by those whose privilege it was to be present. The Misses Hurley were warmly congratulated upon the excellence of the entertainment afforded by their pupils, and the little ones may feel satisfied with the progress they are making, if last nigh is any criterion of their ability in the art of music.

The programme was as follows;

MOST SUCCESSFUL.

St. John's Mission Band Concert Proved Most Enjoyable Last Evening.

The entertainment last night was one of the most successful ever given by St. John's Mission Band, and congratulations were showered upon the workers at the close.

The children in their "Daisy Drill" fairly brought down the house, and great praise is due to Miss Hazel Dean, who spared no trouble in training them on very short notice. The drill by request was partly repeated at the close of the programme.

"Brightly Gleams Our Banner," by the Band, was a very bright number, and the new banner was hung in a conspicuous place.

Mr. Wesley sang two solos, which were much appreciated, as also a song by Master Reg. Deacon. Master Jim Dennistoun recited "Strathcona's Horse," and Master Jack Dennistoun "Bugler Bill."

Miss Alice Nesbitt played a piano-solo, Miss Marguerite Burnet a violin solo, and Madame Allo, who has recently come to town, very kindly contributed a piano solo, which was very much appreciated.

The twin sisters, Lizzie and Sadie Miller, sang with great effect "I Won't Play in Your Yard."

A number of very effective tableaux were put on the stage. "The Three Graces," "Children in Prayer," "Soldiers of the Cross," "First Prayer," "Grandmamma's Tea," "Children, Keep Your Hats On," being the different ones. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun made a very acceptable chairman.

Refreshments were served at the close, bringing to an end a most enjoyable evening. The ladies wish to thank all who contributed in any way to the success of the entertainment, and especially mention Turnbull & Company, who so kindly loaned all the curtains for the decorations, China Hall, the dishes, and A.W.Cressman the banner stands.

Store will be closed Saturday, 24th. H. LeBrun & Co.

THE PROVINCIAL SITUATION.

The standing of parties in the Provincial Parliament elected on Thursday last is such that it gives the Ross Government a clear majority of four. The result is not as satisfactory as it might have been,and should, and, would, have been under conditions that permitted a fair test of electoral sympathy in relation to the respective claims of the Government and Opposition, and it was due to several causes apart from popular estimate of the Government's claim to support. There were in many constituencies a complication of candidates, of such a character as tended to withdraw support from Government candidates, and prevent their success, without advancing the cause for which the candidates in question assumed to stand. Then the concentrated efforts and influence of the Conservative party in the Dominion House, were exercised in the hope of converting Ontario into a factor in bringing back the party to power in the Federal arena, and this, no doubt, tended largely to deprive purely provincial issues, which should have alone entered into the contest, of their full share of influencing the action of the electors. The majority of the Government seems to be a narrow one, but with the close results of the General Elections of 1898 in memory, the Government having met the House with a majority of nine or ten at the opening of the first regular session, it seems certain that the Ross Government is assured of another four years' opportunity of carrying out its policy of building up Ontario.

Mr. J. W. Munro, member-elect for North Renfrew, did not long enjoy his honour. His lamentably sudden death creates a vacancy which will probably call for the first bye-election. There is no doubt of a supporter of the Ross Government being again returned for North Renfrew. The late member's majority was 465.

CORONATION CONTINGENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the 29th inst. there appears a letter written by one Hampden Burnham; making a most unjust, unneccessary, unfair and ungentlemanly attack upon the management of the 57th Regiment and Sergt. Major Brittain.

Mr. Burnham regrets that Sergt. Major Brittain is being sent to the Coronation as a representative of the 57th Regiment, because he (Brittain) has the misfortune of being English. Why raise the race cry? What does it matter where we are born, so long as we are all true British subjects. Mr. Burnham says if we cannot send a Canadian native, we ought not to send one at all. What a dog in the manger! Mr. Burnham does noes not know what he is talking about. It is not so much Canadians, English, Irish or Scotch who are to be sent, but Canadian Trained Soldiers, and sir, I think when you read the following brillaint record of Sergt. Major Brittain, you will agree with me that the choice of the 57th is a good one, and worthy of the confidence placed in him by the Regiment of which Peterborough is so justly proud—The Peterborough Rangers.

Sergt. Major Brittain's Record.

He was 17 years of age when he came to Canada. He is now 33.

The Canadian Militia List shows that he has had 15 years and ten months continuous service in the active Militia of Canada.

He was never in any regiment nor was he drilled before coming to Canada.

All his service has been in the following Canadian Regiments — Royal Grenadiers, Royal Canadian Regiment, and the 57th Regiment.

He has obtained the following certificates—2nd Class Short Course, B, three months; 1st Class Short Course, B, three months; 1st Class, Long Course, B six months; Maxim Gun Certificate; 1st Class Instructor R.C.R.; Regiment orders, Sept. 30th, 1899. His Staff Service—Brigade Sergt.-Major, Kingston, 1900, 5th Regiment; Brigade Sergt.-Major, Kingston, 1901, 5th Regiment; Brigade Sergt.-Major, Toronto, Royal Review, 1901, 3rd Brigade; Orderly Sergeant to Gov. General, April, 1899; Orderly Sergt. to Minister of Militia, 1899.

He has also the rank of Warrant Officer, and is 3rd Senior Non.-Com. in the Active Militia of Canada, page 40 of Canadian Militia List, April, 1901.

This is evidence enough to show that Brittain is a Canadian soldier.

Perhaps Mr. Burnham's feelings are hurt that Col. Edwards did not consult him upon the choice of names submitted to the District Officer Commanding at Kingston. This officer at Kingston had no right to forget that Mr. Burnham lived in Peterborough, when the ratification of Col. Edwards' choice was made. And the Minister of Militia had better prepare himself for squalls when Mr. Burnham, by his own energies, attains the honourable position of Govenor General of Canada. Mr. Burnham says he hesitated before he gave his opinion. He should have hesitated a little longer, until he made some enquiries, and not try to damage Brittain's military reputation, merely because he had the misfortune to be English.

Mr. Burnham's modesty is to be admired, but his impertinent interference with the management of the 57th Regiment is beyond comprehension. Col. Edwards and his officers have been and are at all times able to look after the interests of their Regiment, without the interference of a young man with so limited a knowledge of military affairs as Mr. Burnham has, in spite of the fact that he is the author of "Canadians in the Imperial Service."

He had better confine himself to novels and golf. He no doubt has his satelites who seek his valuable advice upon putting and driving, but I cannot believe his statement that "by request" he is voicing the opinions of a large number. I don't think Mr. Burnham raised any objection to Englishmen going to fight shoulder to shoulder with Canadians in South Africa with the Canadian Contingent, although he held very strong pro-Boer opinions, no doubt. This man has read somewhere, or has been informed at some time by some one, that "The pen is mightier than the sword." It may be, but not in the hand of the author of "Adeline Grey."

I have the honour to be, sir,

Yours, Etc.,

T. W. H. YOUNG,

Surgeon-Major 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons.

THEY HELD A SPECIAL MEETING.

The Board of Trade on Imperial Questions.

PRESENT TRADE RELATIONS.

Mr. J. Hughes-Charles and J. H. Burnham Spoke on This Subject—As to Our Defence—Other Subjects.

A meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade was held in the Town Council Chamber last night, when a number of matters of National importance were discussed by some of Peterborough's leading citizens.

The chair was occupied by Mr. D. W. Dumble, the President of the Board, and there were present Messrs. J. Alex. Culverwell, E. B. Edwards, A. P. Poussette, W. H. Meldrum, J. Hughes-Charles, J. H. Burnham, J. W. Garvin, D. O'Connell and others.

The president explained the object of the meeting which was for the purpose of discussing the advisability of sending a representative to Toronto, upon the invitation of the Toronto Board of Trade. A like invitation had been sent out to all the Boards of Trade of Canada and the conference would be held early in June. The object was to discuss matters of National importance and to pass resolutions which might be beneficial to Sir Wilfred Laurier in his visit to England, where such matters would be discussed by all the Colonial delegates.

Mr. Dumble proposed resolutions upon these lines:

TRANSPORTATION.

Resolved,—That the carriage of the productions of the country to the seaboard or market should not be subject to the greed of carriers. Corporations which receive charters from Government giving them great benefits and bonuses should not be allowed to stock their concerns beyond cost that by pretence of paying fair dividends they may levy too heavy a toll on the producer. The Government should hold control over the stocking and the rates of carriage and so secure for labour its fair return.

That the law of Government control should be flexible, encouraging enterprise but saving from exactions that work injustice. That no bonuses should be given, but that when aid is given it should be by way of stock subscription, thus giving a better leverage to the Government and a share in the concern.

That Government control and regulation of railways should be through a Railway Commission, which should be a standing institution to maintain the rights of the people as against railway companies.

TRADE RELATIONS.

Resolved,—That to strengthen the natural conviction that blood is thicker than water, and make the greater Britain of one family, Intercolonial trade and trade with the Mother Country should be encouraged and developed, so far as sound trade principles will justify it.

This will make a natural market and freedom from dependence upon foreign countries, and by building up the members the great body of the Empire will be established in independence and power.

The first matter taken up was that of trade relations within the Empire, which was introduced by Mr. J. H. Burnham. The desire to discuss trade relations was apparently a step towards the unification of the Empire. In fact the drawing together of the various points of the Empire, will only be brought about by the adjustment of our trade relations. He thought that actions on the part of Canada have been towards this, but there had been no action on the part of England as to trade that tended towards the unification of the Empire. Canada has gone so far that she has given a preference to England, but England has given Canada no preference in return. There is nothing whatever in the trade policy of the British Government to show that she was tending towards the solidity of the Empire.

At the present time it is a sentimental Empire, with diverse trade relations and diverse policies. However, the Canadian Government is prepared to sacrifice our interests for the unification of the Empire, and was doing this on a sentimental basis. The lesson of British Government is that one flag, one government and one feeling of loyalty is desirable.

Mr. Hughes-Charles thought that sentiment had a great deal to do with matters up to a certain point. However, sentiment cannot keep afloat on an empty stomach. He thought that the conference in London to discuss these matters was a very wise move. England is afraid to throw down the gauntlet to the United States, fearing results. He thought that England did not show confidence in herself in this regard. We in this country can supply ten times more than is needed by the British nation, if we were only given time, and unless something is done to place the colonies in a better position than outsiders are in, the British Nation will soon fall to pieces. The speaker said that England had not faith in herself or her colonies. She does not do what she should for her colonies. Had she wanted to find out what we have in Canada, she could have done so, but we were left to tussle along as best we could. The time for this is gone. There is no reason for us to talk of free trade within the Empire. He thought that the general opinion of the people of England was that Canada and the other colonies should be given a preference. He did not think that we should give a preference of one-third towards England, when that country gave us nothing in return. Sentiment will not hold us together forever.

Mr. Hughes-Charles seconded Mr. Burnham's resolution which was as follows:

Resolved,—That in view of the use and development of the British Empire, it is necessary that every possible measure be taken tending to the development of the trade relations of the various members of the Empire, of harmony between those members and their ultimate permanent unification be deemed desirable, and this Board considers that it is desirable.—Adopted.

Mr. O'Connel was the next speaker and in the course of his remarks he contended that the unification of the Empire could not be brought about by a preferential trade tariff owing to the varied condutions of the Colonies. He felt that it would be better for the people of the Dominion to leave sentiment aside and take into consideration to a greater extent our own commercial interests. He was not altogether favourable to the 33 1-3 per cent. preferential tariff that Canada gave the Motherland without receiving something in return, of a substantial nature at least. Mr. O'Connell felt that there were better prospects for Canada in the cultivation of the trade relations to the South than to the cultivation of trade relations towards England.

Mr. J. W. Garvin took exception to Mr. O'Connell's expressions of preference to the United States. He was very much disappointed to read that England when recently adopting that small tariff had not given a preference to the Colonies, which preference he maintained would lead to the highest development of those Colonies. He believed Canada and her sister Colonies must have protection in the interest of their manufacturers.

Mr. Dumble reviewed the discussion briefly. He gave it as his opinion that the preferental tariff given to England by Canada without demanding a preferental tariff from that country in return, was a wise move on the part of Canada and would be productive of good results.

TRANSPORTATION.

The subject of transportation was introduced by Mr. A. P. Poussette and amongst those who spoke on it were Mr. C. Fessenden and Mr. W. H. Meldrum. Mr. Pousette moved, seconded by Mr. Fessenden, that it is resolved:—

That trade relations within the Empire can be adequately encouraged only by the utmost facility of transportation, and therefore it is expedient that the Government's of Great Britain and the Colonies should by means of subsidies subject to proper control, encourage the formation of independent navigation companies which would be required to carry at the lowest possible rates.

Mr. Fessenden in speaking to the resolution referred to the great advantage Canada possessed in the River St. Lawerence with its magnificent transportation facilities for trade across the Atlantic. The trade which is yet only partly developed in that direction consists not only of our own products but the products of the United States as well. He thought that North America was much in advance of Europe in the matter of freight rates and overland transportation. He held that the establishment of a fast Atlantic Line from a Canadian port to England would assist trade in the Dominion, increase our export trade and add to the volume of traffic in general through the Canadian channels.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum expressed the belief that transportation by land or water always found its level under all circumstances. He made a plea for the development of the canals of our country. Mr. Meldrum spoke in strong terms of the Dominion Government for not opening up the remaining un-navigable sections of the Trent Valley Canal. Speaking as to the matter of a preferential tariff the speaker did not think the day would ever come when Canada would be given a preference in the English market, for the English people would never submit to a tax on her food supplies. Every effort should be made by the people of Canada towards building up her own industries.

Mr. Dumble submitted that the people should be protected from excessive freight tolls on the part of railway companies, and favoured the appointment of a Railway Commission to regulate freight rates, the excessiveness of which in a great measure is due to an unwarrantable watering of railway stocks.

DEFENCE.

Mr. E. B. Edwards considered the subject of "Defence." Canada, with other countries, he said, would soon have to face the question of defence. She had come to the position of more of a partner than a daughter of the Empire, and aspiring as she is to a place almost of equality with other nations, she might now very well claim that her time had come to take part in the defence of the Empire. Wars may come, and Canada must then assume her part in defence. Therefore, it was now her place to say, "We will take up this question of defence." It was but right that any statesman at the conference should be prepared to fully discuss this question, and without consulting herself as to the nature or degree of defence, Canada should be prepared to say she will bear her just share. Col. Edwards introduced the following resolution; "That Canada, having attained such a growth, and such a standing as to warrant her in aspiring to hold a position as a nation amongst the nations of the earth, and being determined to maintain the position which she already holds as the premier colony of the British Empire, it is incumbent on the Government and the people of this country, to assume their fair share of the burden of defence, which her position calls for regard being had to her resources as well in money as in men."

Mr. J. W. Garvin seconded the resolution. Canada, he said, had already done her part in the defence of the Empire, and it was his opinion that she should do more.

Objection was taken to the resolution as implying that Canada should be under the expense of maintaining the defence of the Empire in general rather than of Canada alone.

Col. Edwards explained that the resolution had reference only to Canada, which was a portion of the Empire. The defence of one part, it followed, had reference to the whole.

Some discussion ensued with reference to the generally understood meaning of the resolution. Messrs. Burnham, Meldrum, O'Connell and Dumble holding the opinion that it in reality implied the broader question of the defence of the Empire in general, and was making the unpopular suggestion that Canada should be burdened by having to pay part of the cost thereof.

It was pointed out and held on the other hand by Messrs. Edwards, Garvin and Poussette that the resolution was sufficiently expressive to indicate the simple fact that Canada was willing to pay her share for her own defence.

A tie vote was the result of the question.

Messrs. Dumble, Burnham, Poussette, Edwards, Garvin and O'Connell were appointed a committee to crystalize the various resolutions into one to be submitted to the Conference at Toronto.

On motion of Mr. Garvin, seconded by Mr. Burnham, the minutes of the previous meeting were taken as read.

Messrs. Dumble and Meldrum will be the delegates to the conference.

The Board then adjourned.

The Athletics and Y. M. C. A. Played a Tie Last Night.

The "Bloomer" Baseball Team Will Visit Peterborough Next Month —Other Notes.

LACROSSE.

The Athletics and Y.M.C.A. played their first league game on the Oval last night before a good crowd, and the score at the end was three all. It was too dark to play off the tie and the game will be played off later on this season.

Mr. Joseph Begley was referee and made the two teams play lacrosse. He would not stand for any rough play and a couple of the players were ruled off for five minute) rests during the game for minor offences.

The match was a fairly good exhibition of the National game and both teams played hard. The checking was close and at times, by good combination, the ball was played from one end of the field to the other. The Athletics were minus the services of Jack McCabe and Rolly Glover, and were somewhat weakened. The ball was faced off at seven o'clock and was soon at the goal of the Athletics but their defence soon had it away again and to their home, who gradually worked it in on the Y.M.C.A. goal and scored. The Y.M.C.A. got the next after ten minutes play, on some pretty combination work. The Athletics scored again and the Y.M.C.A. team tallied another making the score at half time 2—2. Just at the close of the first half Parnell was ruled off and the referee made the Athletics go on with eleven men.

After ten minutes of hard playing the Athletics tallied their third goal. The next was the hardest of the match and a short time before the end of the half the Y.M.C.A. team scored their third goal. There were only a few minutes left to play and though both teams worked hard neither managed to score before time was called. The Y.M.C.A. defence played a good game and the work of the Athletics' defence was fine. They made no mistakes. The home divisions were evenly matched.

The league management will have to see that the spectators are kept off the field and do not interfere with the players. Last night they crowded out on the field and made it bad for the players getting the ball on the sides.

The next game will be on Wednesday evening between the T.A.S. and Y.M.C.A. teams.

The teams were as follows:

Y.M.C.A.—Goal, Armour; point, Trollope; cover point, Smith; defence, Whatley, G. Galley, Brown; centre, Pennick; home, Foreman, Robinson, Dumble; outside, Angleayc; inside, Best.

Athletics—Goal, W. Galley; point, Dillon; cover point, Morgan; defence, T. Glover, Mein, Dusty; centre, Dunford; home, Macpherson, Parnell, Whiteroft; outside, Graham; inside, Wasson.

T. A. S. ATHLETICS.

A meeting of the Athletic Section of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held last evening when the members discussed the proposed field day of sports on Dominion Day. It was decided to bring the Cobourg lacrosse team here for a game on that day, and the secretary was instructed to communicate with Cobourg with that end in view. A splendid list of athletic events — some thirteen in all was drawn up during the evening and a committee was appointed to procure handsome medals for each event. The field day of sports will be held on the afternoon of July 1st, in the Separate School grounds, and the affair gives promise of being a huge success, as the committee is determined to make the events well worth competing for.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team will accompany the 57th Regimental Band and firemen on their excursion to Orillia on June 18th, and will cross sticks with the Orillias on the Oval in the northern town.

BASEBALL.

One of the most exciting and interesting games of the season will take place in this town on June 9th, between the Ladies' Champion Baseball Club of Boston, Mass., and Peterborough Club. The Boston Bloomers is the usual title given this famous Ladies' Baseball Club. They are justly entitled to the same, as they always appear upon the field, to battle for supremacy, dressed in the twentieth century garb—the bloomers. This organization of female ball players is the only ladies' ball club in America. The team was first originated in 1893. This is their tenth annual tour. The club is under the management of Mr. W. P. Needman, and they travel in their own palace car. During the past nine years this organization of female ball players have travelled extensively and visited all the large cities in America and both provinces of Canada. The club has been strengthened from year to year, each member selected for her ability to execute and fill her particular position in a manner satisfactorily and becoming a member of this, the Champion Ladies' Base Ball Club of the World. Don't fail to see them.

Rice is Guilty of Murder.

Toronto, May 30.—That Fred Lee Rice had been fairly tried and that the verdict of the jury was justified by the evidence was the decision of the Court of Appeal, given this morning, the court unanimously deciding in every particular against points raised by Mr. T. C. Robinette, the counsel for the prisoner. Rice will now have to undergo sentence for the murder of Constable William Boyd on the evening of June 2 last, when he, with Frank Rutledge and Frank Jones, the Chicago bank burglars, attempted to escape from the custody of their guards while being driven from the Court House to the jail.

BACK PAINED SO BAD COULDN'T TURN IN BED

Mr. Thos. Douglas, a Well-Known Citizen of Trenton, Ont., Suffered Agony With His Back and Kidneys.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Quickly Gave Him Ease and Completely Cured Him.

His Statements Confirmed by His Wife and Mr. Jas. Shurie, the Trenton Druggist.

MR. THOS. DOUGLAS.

A short time ago we published an account of the case of Mrs. W. H. Alexander, of Trenton, whose marvelous recovery, after suffering from serious kidney trouble for several years, was the talk of Trenton and surrounding country.

We now present to you the history of the case of Mr. Thos. Douglas, of the same town, whose occupation is that of carter for the Gillman Co, an avocation which involves heavy lifts and frequent exposure to wet and cold—all hard on the kidneys. That Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets could so quickly cure a case so severe as that of Mr. Douglas, is a splendid tribute to their rapid-acting, thorough-going curative qualities.

Mr. Douglas Tells His Story.

"I had been a very healthy man until a few months ago, when I was taken with a very severe pain across the small of the back. As I had a slight cold, I attributed the pain to that, and commenced using liniments, which I found gave me no relief.

"Seeing the testimonial of Mr. Kobold, a Trenton gentleman, who had used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, I made up my mind to try them. I had used very few Tablets before I found relief, and I can tell you I was very thankful for this, as I had been so bad that I had to lay off work for days and at nights I could not turn in bed. Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have made a perfect and thorough cure in my case. I am at work every day before seven a.m., and work hard all day, and I can assure you that my work is not easy, as I have a great deal of heavy lifting to do, and the constant stooping is a great strain on the back, but I am thankful to say that I have never had a twinge of pain, nor has my back bothered me since Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets cured me. (Signed) THOS. DOUGLAS."

Mrs. Douglas Confirms It.

"I gladly endorse all my husband says of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They acted splendidly in his case, and have inspired me with such confidence of their efficacy that I am using them now myself.

"I have been troubled for some time with sick headache, weak spells, tired feelings, and generally run down. I have used the Tablets for only a short time, but feel so much better already that I feel like giving a testimonial myself, and you may be sure as soon as I have taken another bottle or two of the Tablets, and am completely cured, you will hear from me.

"I tell all my friends that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have done splendidly for us, and both Mr. Douglas and myself have no hesitation in allowing you to use our names in endorsation of such a reliable remedy. (Signed) "MRS. THOS. DOUGLAS."

So Does Mr. Shurie, the Druggist.

"I am well acquainted with Mr. Thomas Douglas, of this town, who is a teamster in the employ of the Gillman Company.

"He is a hard-working and respectable citizen, and I have no hesitation in endorsing the statement he gives of his cure by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, as it was from my store the Tablets were purchased, and I know the condition he was in prior to taking them, and that he is now, to the best of my knowledge, working hard every day without any trace of his former trouble. (Signed) "JAMES SHURIE."

After reading the above statements should you longer delay taking Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets? This splendid formula of the eminent Kidney Specialist, Dr. Zina Pitcher, is curing more severe cases of kidney, bladder, and urinary trouble than any other medicine. The Tablets are chocolate-coated, small in size, and easy to take. One Tablet a dose—fifty Tablets in a bottle. Price, 50 cents, or 3 bottles for $1.25, at all druggists or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Baby Sick?

Then probably it's a cold. Babies catch cold so easily and recover so slowly. Not slowly, however, when you use Vapo-Cresolene. Then a single night is all that is necessary for a cure. You just put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and place near the crib. While baby sleeps he breathes in the healing vapor. Cold loosens, inflamed membranes heal, and all trouble ceases. It's a perfect specific for whooping-cough and croup.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizing Lamp, which should last a life time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Is Not This Stealing?

Are not Imitators who Live on the Reputation of the Article They Imitate Thieves?

In Spite of at Least Half a Dozen Imitators, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has More Than Three Times the Sale of any Remedy Recommended for Throat and Lung Troubles.

Have you ever been imposed upon when asking for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by being offered an imitation? Many have been and we know of some who have changed their druggist as a result. It is not safe to deal with a druggist who offers imitations and substitutes. An honest druggist will not offend his customers by such questionable methods.

The... SPELLING SCHOOL

By C. B. Lewis

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

When the school board of district No. 5, which included the hamlet of Bebee's Corners, announced that they had engaged a schoolma'am for the winter term instead of a schoolmaster, there was much wondering among the farmhouses as to how she would manage things. For three successive winters the schoolmaster had been thrashed by a gang of bad boys, led by hulking Joe Whitman, and folks predicted that the new teacher would be picked up, carried out and dropped into a snowdrift the first day.

Seth Thomas, a young farmer, drove over to the railroad station to meet Miss Baker when her school was ready to open, and his surprise was reflected on all sides. She was a slip of a girl, less than twenty years old and shy, and this was her first school. She had taken it because her mother was an invalid and her father had failed in business, but that came out afterward. That a good looking, refined young woman like Miss Baker should take a country school at $25 a month instead of getting married was a mystery no one could solve.

Seth Thomas was twenty-three years old, and he also was shy. During the three mile drive the pair did not exchange a hundred words. Seth was awed and scared by the girl's good looks, and she was frightened at coming among strangers. She was driven to the Carsons', where she was to board, and she saw no more of Seth for a fortnight. Her only remembrance of him was that he had a plain, good natured face and a pleasant voice.

During this fortnight Bob Graham walked home with her from school on several occasions, Jim Taylor made two calls at the Carsons', Tom Lane drove her to school one stormy morning, and Charley Saunders, acknowledged the most stylish young farmer for five miles around, escorted her to evening church services and home again. Her school had started off bravely, and she had no idea that it was all owing to the bashful Seth. He had been afraid to call on her, but he wasn't afraid to meet Joe Whitman and his crowd the day before school opened and to say to them:

"Look here, now. You boys have got to behave yourselves this winter.

HE HAD JUST STARTED FOR THE DOOR WITH HER IN HIS ARMS.

If you give that little schoolma'am one bit of trouble, I'll thrash every one of you till you can't crawl home!"

There was a difference of opinion until Seth had picked each up separately, shaken most of the devilry out of him and then driven him head first into a snowdrift. That settled the question of mutiny. Later on, when he had worked up the courage to call on the new teacher, she was lying down with a headache and asked to be excused. Two weeks later, when he called again, she happened to be out. Seth did not try again. He got the idea that she didn't care to see him, and, though willing to acknowledge to himself that he was homely, angular and awkward, it hurt him that she should think so. She must think so, of course, as she was always "at home" to other young men, and they lost no opportunity of boasting of how flatteringly they were received.

Six weeks after school opened Seth was driving past the schoolhouse one day when the sounds of a disturbance reached his ears. Joe Whitman had forgotten his shaking up and decided to break loose. That meant carrying Miss Baker outdoors and ducking her in a snowdrift, but there was a loose wheel in the programme. He had just started for the door with her in his arms when Seth Thomas walked in. Presto, it was Joe who found the snowdrift!

The schoolma'am would have taken Seth by the hand and thanked him, but when he had concluded the performance he drove away without a look toward the schoolhouse. Then the girl's intuition told her that the awkward Seth was an admirer who felt himself snubbed, and for the next four weeks she hoped he might call on her or that they might meet elsewhere and have an explanation. He avoided her, however, though, if he had but known it, she gave more thought to him than to all the others.

There was always a midwinter spelling school at the Corners. Teacher and pupils of other schools were invited, and the victor of the contest was regarded as the smartest thing on earth. At the spelling school the year before the championship had been wrested from No. 5 by No. 6, and the schoolmaster of the latter district had his salary raised $3 per month. This fact invested the coming contest with more than usual excitement.

A day or two before the contest Miss Baker learned that Seth lived just over the line in district No. 6. He would therefore be an opponent, and, no matter how deficient he was in other branches, he was accounted a prodigy in orthography.

"He feels that I have snubbed him, and he is now going to have revenge on me. I wish he only knew how sorry I am."

The schoolhouse was jammed with teachers, pupils and parents, and all recognized the fact that it was No. 5 versus No. 6. The teacher of No. 6 was a young man, but he was there to win if he could, and so were his best spellers. Queerly enough, it came about that Miss Baker and Seth Thomas headed the opposition lists, and they were opposite each other as Squire Jameson took the spelling book and gave out the first word. Things went easy at first, but when he came to the four syllable words the ranks began to thin. Fifteen minutes later there were only five on a side. Ten minutes more and only six in all were standing, four of whom were No. 6's. Then the word "separate" knocked down two of the latter, and the contest went on for a few minutes with two on a side. Then came the word "impecuniosity," and Miss Baker and Seth Thomas were alone on the floor. There were yelling and cheering, followed by silence, as the squire looked for the hardest words.

"I shall be beaten," sighed the schoolma'am, "and the whole district will be humiliated. If it were anybody but Seth, who thinks I meant to snub him, I wouldn't care so much. I wish—I wish"—

"We will now resume," interrupted the squire, and with solemn deliberation he gave out a score of big words in succession. In time he must reach the word "epidemiological." Miss Baker knew it was there, and she knew she always blundered over it, and if it came to her the championship was gone. It came to Seth, however, and for the first time he raised his eyes from the floor and looked into hers. She did not read revenge there, but self sacrifice. An instant later, with the audience holding its breath, he began on the word and at the fifth division of it put in an "a" for the "o" with such emphasis as to give her the cue, and as he sat down she spelled the word right, at which the champions of No. 5 almost lifted the roof with their yells. An hour later as he walked up the road to the Carsons beside her she asked:

"But why did you do it? I am sure you misspelled the word on purpose."

"I—I guess it was for love," replied Seth as he turned his head away and stubbed his toes into the snow.

Neither Fear Nor Favor.

A tactful refusal is sometimes hard to compass; yet a "no" may contain a spicier savor than many an assent. There is a story of Archbishop Whately, who was walking in a London city park one day with a curate and Charles Lever, the novelist.

The archbishop was greatly interested in mushrooms, and he picked one and ate a piece of it, at the same time handing a bit to the curate.

"What do you think of that, Mr. A.?" he asked.

The curate did not especially like it, and moreover he was not sure whether it could be safely eaten. Nevertheless, this was his superior in office, a man who must not be offended.

"I think, my lord," said he, obsequiously, "if it had a little pepper and salt it would be delicious."

"Here, Lever," said the archbishop, "you taste it and see what you think of it."

"Many thanks, your grace," said Lever, calmly, "but I am not a clergyman. It is true that I have a brother in holy orders, but he is not in your grace's diocese."

The archbishop laughed, better pleased with this cleverness of evasion than by a dull acquiescence, and ate the mushroom himself.

A Theory About Man's Beard.

There is a theory favored by the disciples of Darwin that the beard is merely the survival of a primitive decoration. Man, according to this view, was originally as hairy as the opossum itself, but as he rolled down the ages he wore the hair off in patches by sleeping on his sides and sitting against a tree. Of course the hair of the dog is not worn off in this way, but a great theory is not to be set aside by an objection so trifling. By and by our ancestors "awoke to the consciousness that they were patchy and spotty," and resolving to "live down" all hair that was not ornamental they with remarkable unanimity seem to have fixed on the eyebrows, the mustache and—unfortunately, as the self scrapers mostly think—the beard as being all that was worth preserving of the primitive covering.—English Magazine.

What is Life to You.

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

The Tall Gentleman.

A Frenchman visiting a fashionable concert garden in St. Petersburg some years ago stopped a passing Russian officer and asked for a light for his cigar, which had gone out. The officer, after a moment's hesitation, handed his own cigar to the Frenchman and looked on with a smile of resignation at the latter's frantic efforts to get a light.

"You are French, I believe?" said the officer.

"Not only French, but from Toulouse!"

"Is this your first visit to Russia?"

"Yes."

"Ah, now I understand why you did not salute the tall gentleman in uniform who was with me when you asked me for a light."

"The tall gentleman? I did not notice him. Who is he?"

"The emperor," replied the officer, at last regaining possession of his cigar.

"Are you sure?"

"Perfectly. He happens to be my father."

Pleasant Cure for Weak Lungs.

The best remedy for sore, weak lungs, is the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and passage of the breathing organs. It treats remote parts that cough mixtures and sprays can't approach, and kills thousands of germs at every breath. Catarrozone drives away pain, congestion and inflammation; it makes breathing easy and regular, and exerts a marvelous influence on Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Deafness, and Lung Trouble. Catarrhozone cures at once, is delightful to inhale, and simple to use. Price $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure constipation.

Looking Forward.

Old Bullion (on his deathbed)—All my property is willed to you, but I'm afraid my children by my first wife will make a contest, and then the lawyers will get it.

Young Wife—Don't worry, my love. I can easily fix that. I'll marry one of the lawyers.

Man's Conscience Awry.

"The average man's conscience," said the Tobacconist to the Wooden Indian, "is that still small voice within his breast which tells him he wouldn't be as mean as his wife's relatives are even if he knew how."

The Root of the Trouble.

It surprises some people when you tell them that tthier nervous trouble is caused by a defective liver. Liver trouble causes constipation. Next comes dyspepsia, then impure blood, with heavy strain, and the result is nerve trouble. Merrill's System Tonic is a positive cure for liver trouble and constipation, and in this way removes the cause of other ills. 50 cents per bottle at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

An Anecdote of Renan.

Renan while traveling alighted at Naples. One morning a servant of the hotel came to him and said that as she had heard the preacher at the cathedral make use of his name many times she would be thankful if he would choose for her a number in the lottery about to be drawn. "If you are a saint," said she, "the number is sure to be a good one; if you are a devil, it will be still better." Renan smiled and chose a number, but he never knew if the servant was lucky.

Value of the Shilling In 1600.

We know that in Shakespeare's day, say A. D. 1600, sixpence a day was a fortune for any workingman, say the equivalent of £10 per annum. A century earlier, before the access to America was open to English explorers, one of the Ardens of Warwickshire left an annuity of 40 shillings per annum to a younger son, probably the poet's great-granduncle. Then if sixpence a day would now be the equivalent of 20 shillings a week then 40 shillings per annum would equate to £120 of present values.—Notes and Queries.

MAMMOTH PRIZE COMPETITION TO BE HELD IN CONNECTION WITH GOLD SOAP $2,500.00
IN PRIZES.

In order to get thousands of people in all parts of the country to see how pure and economical GOLD SOAP is for all manner of washing and cleaning, the manufacturers have decided to hold a Mammoth Prize Competition, to start May 15th, 1902, and end November 15th, 1902. The prizes will be awarded to the persons sending in the greatest number of Gold Soap Wrappers before November 15th, 1902. A full list of prizes will be found below, and all those who do not win a prize will receive a regular Gold Soap premium in return for their wrappers—varying in value according to the number of wrappers sent in. The manufacturers of Gold Soap could not afford to offer such an astounding inducement to the public, were it not for the fact that they feel sure that once Gold Soap is tried it will be used constantly, as no good housekeeper would think of going back to one of the common, impure soaps, after using the soap that is "worth its weight in gold." GOLD Soap is the purest, handiest, and most economical soap that it is possible to make, and if used constantly will keep down expense, make the washing more quickly and easily done, and will bring the clothes out beautifully white. In the following list

THERE ARE 5,213 PRIZES.

If you start now to save your Gold Soap wrappers, you will have quite a lot by November, and you will then share in the big Gold Soap competition. Do not be afraid to send in your wrappers, no matter how many you may have, because you are certain to receive a prize or a regular Gold Soap premium.

Please note that you are not asked to send any money or do any work of any kind—simply use the best Soap in the world, save the wrappers, and we send you a prize or a premium. This is the greatest offer ever made to the public, and will make GOLD SOAP known from ocean to ocean—and wherever it is known it is liked and recommended.

Of course, if you prefer to have one of the regular Gold Soap premiums that are described on the backs of the wrappers, you may send in your Gold Soap wrappers at any time, with a note telling which premium you wish. All Gold Soap premiums are guaranteed, so you don't take the slightest risk.

DIRECTIONS—Save your Gold Soap Wrappers and send them into Gold Soap, Toronto, marked, "Competition," before November 15th, 1902, with your own name and address enclosed. The prizes will be sent out on November 24th, with a full list of the winners. You may send your wrappers in at any time, so long as your name and address come along with each lot. Do not send in the whole wrapper, but just the centre part, with the words "Gold Soap, Good as Gold."

1st PRIZE—(For the largest number of Gold Soap Centres received) $100.00 in Cash.
2nd PRIZE—(For the second greatest number) $50.00 in Cash.

All wrappers sent in must have contained soap; we have a secret process for decting bogus wrappers. Consumers should be careful never to buy Gold Soap unless it is wrapped in the regular black and orange wrappers. All wrappers (or centres) must be plainly marked "competition," and must contain the name and address of the sender, and be mailed to Gold Soap, Toronto, on or before November 15th, 1902. Corticelli SPOOL SILK

For dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes, which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk. If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk, it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for Corticelli—the Dressmakers' Favourite Spool Silk.

OF INTEREST TO NURSES.

Relations of Training Schools to Hospital Administration.

An Interesting Article by Miss Mary M. Riddle, Assistant Superintendent of Nursing, City Hospital, Boston.

Amongst the many interesting items that appear from time to time in the American Journal of Nursing is that on the subject of The Relation of Training-Schools to Hospital Administration. The article is by Miss Mary M. Riddle, assistant superintendent of nursing, City Hospital, Boston. It is as follows :—

As the interests of any hospital and its training-school are closely interwoven, no argument is needed to confirm the statement that they are mutually despondent. That which militates for the advantage of one reacts for the good of the other, and, vice versa, that which is to the detriment of the one is also an evil to the other.

Since they are so closely allied and participate so nearly equally in the the results accruing from their collaboration, the proper adjustment of their relationship seems a simple matter. But many systems are in vogue, and it is only by careful consideration of circumstances and, the needs of the time, together with a just estimate of the value of each to the other, that a satisfactory solution is possible.

It is a self-evident fact that in every hospital some form of government is necessary, and if it be that which provides for the efficient management and preservation of the common interests, promotes the general welfare, and establishes a permanent happy state, it accomplishes its purpose, and no individual or class of individuals is at liberty to interfere with its administration, lest it be weakened and the end to be attained frustrated. Organized training-schools for nurses are of comparatively recent date, and their modes of growth have been that of evolution from the simpler and less complex organizations of the beginning, on and on to the present, when we find their managers contemplating university education for the pupil nurse.

When these schools were in the simplicity of the beginning it was no uncommon thing to find them managed by boards in no way connected with the hospital. This was especially true of those hospitals which employed religious orders to care for their sick. Such nursing bodies did efficient work, and paved the way for their more scientific, though possibly less devoted, followers. They were, from the highest religious motives, most devoted to the relief of human suffering, and were responsible only to the head of their order, regarding the hospital as the means whereby they were allowed to fulfil their vows and to exercise those functions and attributes which made them indeed "Sisters of Charity."

Other schools there are governed by superintendents who have no voice in the executive affairs of the hospital, but whose interest is concentrated in furnishing to the school clinical advantages for study and observation. This relationship of school and hospital may have items in its favour, but there are evident disadvantages, prominent among which is the effect upon the nurses themselves. It is possible, and altogether probable, that by a training thus given nurses may be produced who fail to consider that the welfare and comfort of the patient is of primary importance. His welfare may receive due consideration, but his comfort and happiness are of secondary value. He is the means to the end that they may be educated, and they unconsciously drift into the belief that all patients were created for their benefit, whereas the reverse is the fact,—viz., that nurses were created for patients.

Again, the training-school may be governed by a superintendent who with the school is employed by the hospital to do the nursing therein. Hospitals and training-schools thus associated have been known to flourish and go on to success, and to send out graduates who take and maintain positions in the front ranks of the profession. Furthermore, this association of school and hospital has been one method of solving the problem of political control, or, rather, of keeping the school free from political influence when the hospital is under its domination. It has also been a method of securing greater freedom for the school, in that it allows the accomplishment for the hospital of what is reasonable rather than the exaction of what is desirable, with the result that the possibilities for the preservation of the health and strength of the nursing body are greatly increased.

Another form of relationship between training-school and hospital is exemplified when both are under one administration. Then do we have a form of government which may more nearly meet the necessity for any government,—viz., to promote the general welfare—but there are some apparent disadvantages to the school arising from this form of relationship; first, the ability of the Board of Trustees to at any time abolish the training-school and conclude to leave the nursing service performed in some other way; second, it seldom calls for a "Ladies' Board," unless it may be that such a body constitutes part of an advisory board.

That training-school which has no Ladies' Board doubtless loses many of the influences which tend to stimulate it in the search for high ideals and correct motives. Personal contact with women of a wider and more varied life cannot fail to make strong impressions upon nurses, and when the spoken words convey the knowledge of experience they carry with them a conviction that supplements the teaching of the school.

The superintendent of the hospital is the nominal head of the training-school under authority of a Board of Trustees. He, in turn, delegates his authority to a superintendent of nurses, superintendent of training-school, principal of training-school, or a directress of nurses; one title implies the same meaning, suggests the same routine of duty and the same burden of responsibility as another, and is at the same time representative of some distinctive idea when given. Great power is gained by this combination of offices.

The superintendent of the hospital, whether he belong to the medical fraternity or to the laity, wields a farther-extended influence than the average superintendent of nurses, for by reason of his professional and business relations he comes in more immediate contact with men of affairs, and is constantly informed of the public pulse.

In matters of discipline he is the court of appeals, and from his position as head of the training-school on the outside of the actual work he should be able to form unbiased opinions and render judgment without prejudice.

If he is the power to whom appeal may be made for direction and discipline, the Training-School Committee of the Board of Trustees is the final tribunal, or supreme court.

He is an adviser not only in matters of discipline, but is to be consulted on those that are educational or that otherwise pertain to the progress of the nursing work. The superintendent of nurses, from her more intimate knowledge of the requirements of the training-school gained by her experience while in training and her contact while superintending, should formulate and carry into execution plans for the advancement and betterment of the nursing service within the hospital as well as the elevation and maintenance of standards among pupils who must soon represent the training-school in the great world outside, where they will be judged by the efficiency and spirit which characterize their work. In all this the superintendent will advise and consult, and he will doubtless eventually place his seal upon the results; but if he is wise and unselfish, he will permit the superintendent of nurses to proceed within limitations that are not narrowed and restricted by his conceptions of expediency, but by those which after full and free consultation they together conclude will most surely promote the general welfare.

Another element of power in this combination of offices, subject to one authority, is found when the relationship between the training-school and other departments is scrutinized. It is impossible for a matron or housekeeper who is an untrained nurse to duly appreciate the necessities of the hospital from the stand-point of the nursing service, and therefore the progress of the work is frequently impeded by friction which is the outgrowth of ignorance. But when all departments are subject to the one control, there can be no division of interests and consequently no friction to overcome.

MEATS VS. GRAINS.

The high price of meats has had the effect of causing many families to reduce the quantity of flesh foods entering into the staple diet. The experiment will do good. Most families err in over-much meat eating rather than in the opposite direction, and with a result the reverse of beneficial to health. Once a spell of vegetarian diet—or a deprivation of excessive flesh diet—has been tried and found to be cheaper and at the same time to contribute to sounder bodies, clearer brains and a general freshening of the physical health the flesh food bills may remain smaller.

Prof. Wiley of the United States Department of Agriculture, has given the food subject much study, and he contends that cereals are better bone, flesh and blood-makers than meats. "It so happens," he says, "that the cereals contain all the elements necessary to the nutrition of the body, having in themselves the types of food which are represented by the fats, the nitrogenous or proprotein bodies and the carbohydrates. In addition to these they contain those mineral elements of which the bone structure of the body is composed, viz., lime and phosphoric acid." He gives a table showing the comparative food values of cereals, vegetables and meats, as follows;

Articles.	Per ct. of Nutrients.
Oatmeal	92.4
Peas	87.7
Rice	87.6
Wheat flour	87.5
Beans	87.4
Graham flour	86.9
Rye flour	86.9
Buckwheat flour	85.4
Cornmeal	85.0
Wheat bread	67.7
Smoked ham	58.5
Beef rib	51.9
Mutton loin	50.7
Corned beef flank	50.2
Pork shoulder	49.7
Beef side	45.2
Beef sirloin	40.0
Mutton leg	38.2
Bologna sausage	37.6
Beef shoulder	36.1
Turkey	33.8
Beef round	31.8
Shad	29.4
Chicken	27.8
Eggs	26.2
White potatoes	21.1
Milk	13.0
Oysters	12.9
Onions	12.4
Cabbage	8.1
Tomatoes	4.0

These figures are based upon the edible portions of the various foods named. There is more or less waste to nearly all food products; in meats, especially, the consumer pays for bone and gristle at the present high prices, as well as for meat, which can be eaten. There is no such cheat or deceptiveness, though, in wholesome wheat flour, good corn meal, of which far too little is used in the household, beans, rice and numbers of other vegetables, supplies of which, generally speaking, are abundant.

"No Interference."

There is one thing anarchists will not consent to, one thing they rebel against (at least in thought, and sometimes in act), and that is anybody's assumption to rule another, whether it be czar, king, nobility or a democrat majority, says William M. Salter in The Atlantic. They are disagreed about many things. There are individualist anarchists and socialist (or communist) anarchists, believers in private property and believers in common property, but all alike believe in self rule, and they are as much opposed to democratic state socialism as to state socialism of any kind. They believe that power intoxicates the best of men and are not willing to allow it in any form. "No master, high or low," they say, after William Morris. "Let life shape itself." "Mind your own business," "No interference"—such is their demand.

The Great Value of Saving Time.

Thrift of time is as necessary as thrift of money, and he who knows how to save time has learned the secret of accumulating educational opportunity. Men who regard it as sinful to waste money waste time with a prodigal's lavishness because they do not understand the value of short periods of time. Society is full of people who might enrich themselves a hundredfold and make their lives immensely more interesting if they learned this commonplace truth.

A CURE FOR DEAFNESS IN OLD AGE.

In the reports of the Drouet Institute, issued during the first quarter of 1902, will be found a surprising number of Cures of Deafness in old age. For the benefit of those interested we find space for a brief account of complete recovery of hearing after years of Deafness at a very advanced age. This remarkable result is shown in the case of Mrs. Mary Muat, 78 years old, of Dundas. Here the serious defect in hearing was produced by dry catarrh, or sclerosis of the middle ear. A long persisting chronic catarrhal inflammation had produced a deposit of fibrous tissue in the lining membrane of the cavity of middle ear. In fact, Mrs. Muat's case was of that stubborn character that fails to yield to the ordinary methods employed by aurists, and the Cure of her Deafness by the Drouet treatment (especially in view of her age, 78,) shows that the methods advocated at the Drouet Institute are so successful as to give the greatest hope to those whose defective hearing have been pronounced incurable.

The satisfaction the patient experienced in having recovered the hearing after a very long period of deafness is expressed in follows :—

21, Strawberry-bank, Dundee, Scotland.
Jan. 17th, 1902.

Dear Sir,—Being in perfect health, and my hearing so much improved that I can hear distinctly anyone speaking from a platform, I feel in need of no further treatment.—Thanking you, I am, sincerely yours,

MRS. MUAT.

Those who desire to obtain further information regarding the Drouet Treatment will find a complete copy of the latest issue of this publication and of the "Supplement," which contains a monthly report of the cured cases, can be obtained by post on application to the Secretary, 72, Regent's Park-road, N. W., London, England.

Each "Journal" is accompanied by a Patient's Report Form, which enables applicants suffering from deafness, or any disease of the ears, nose, or throat, to receive full information of the treatment necessary to effect a cure. Any advice by correspondence is absolutely free, as are also consultations by means of the Report Form.

PERPETUAL MOTION.

One Inventor Has Accomplished It by Harnessing a Cyclone.

It was during the portion of his career when he lived in the valley of the south fork of the Big Sunflower river that Henry Plymshaw, the inventor, made his most notable invention. This invention had to do with cyclones.

One afternoon Inventor Plymshaw saw a splendid specimen of a funnel cyclone coming over the prairie, and he called to me and said he would go out and study it, since it was evident that it was going to one side. The instant the cyclone sighted us it came straight in our direction. We weren't prepared for this exactly, so all we could do was to run. We were just on the point of giving up when a most extraordinary thing happened. Curious thing. Sort of natural too. And there it was. Only one leg, and that down a fifty foot well in the middle of a sheep pasture. If it had had two legs, no doubt it could have scrambled out, but it couldn't make it with one. Couldn't do anything except revolve. And it did do that. I never saw a cyclone revolve like that one. Mad apparently because it had missed Plymshaw and me and got caught. So it just buzzed around like a top. Nothing in the world to stop it.

Most men—mere men of action—would have been satisfied at getting away and not having to revolve with the houses and lots, but not Plymshaw. No. He got to thinking, and what was the result? Put a belt around the stem of that cyclone just at the top of the well, set up a dynamo, strung wire and ran all the machinery and electric lights in that part of the country. Regular Niagara for power. Going yet. Nothing to stop it, you see. Wonderful what a thing mind is!—H. V. Marr in Harper's Magazine.

BRIGHT BABIES

Are a Joy to Mothers and a Treasure in the Home.

All babies should be bright, good natured and well. If you have a child that is sickly, fretful, nervous, restless at night, or suffers from stomach or bowel troubles of any sort, give it Baby's Own Tablets and it will soon be well. There is no other medicine in the world will so safely and speedily cure indigestion, sour stomach, colic, constipation, diarrhoea and teething troubles. Thousands of grateful mothers speak of this medicine in words of warmest praise. Mrs. Fred Power, 18 Scollard street, Toronto, says; "My baby suffered greatly from indigestion. She was pale and very thin, and would cry with pain in the stomach, and sometimes would not sleep either day or night. I got a bottle of Baby's Own Tablets, and they have made a great change in my little one. She now digests her food readily; is not troubled with the pain in the stomach, and has grown quite plump. I do not know of any medicine that can equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones."

This medicine is guaranteed to contain neither opiate nor other harmful drugs. Children take the Tablets as readily as candy and crushed to a powder they can be given to the smallest, weakest baby. Sold at all drug stores, or sent post paid at 25c a box by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

Didn't Know Her.

"What has become of Miss Blank, who was always such a favorite in your set?"

"Her father failed some weeks ago, and all they had was sold at auction."

"Poor thing!"

"And now they have to live in a little house in the suburbs."

"What a change! How she must feel it!"

"Yes. She is so much changed that even her best friends would not recognize her. I met her in the street today and did not know her at all, poor thing."

Matched Puzzlers.

"Papa," said the inquisitive youngster, "why is it that people rescued from drowning are always saved just as they are going down for the third time?"

"Why is it," returned the father, "that a small boy always picks out unanswerable questions to ask?"

Not One of His Traits.

"A Darwinian, are you?" said Slopay argumentatively. "Then you don't believe we were made of dust."

"I don't believe you were," replied his tailor. "Dust settles occasionally, you know."

THE FORESTERS AT CHURCH.

Sermon Delivered by Rev. Dr. Torrance Last Night.

Annual Church Parade Took Place—A Large Turn-out—An Interesting Discourse.

The annual church parade of the Canadian Order of Foresters, of Peterborough, took place last night to St. Paul's church, when an interesting sermon was preached to them by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Torrance. The members of the Order to the number of over one hundred, marched in a body to St. Paul's and occupied the centre pews in the front.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, before proceeding with his discourse, read a despatch from London, England, stating that peace had been declared in South Africa. This announcement was followed by the singing of God Save the King by the congregation.

The reverend gentleman then took for his text, "One soweth and another reapeth." After reciting the circumstances under which our Lord made use of these words to His disciples, the preacher went on to explain the difference in the principle involved in another passage of Scripture, which says, "Whatsoever one soweth that shall he also reap. In the former instance the fact is asserted that the members of the human family are so related to one another that it is necessary that some should reap that which is sown by others. This fact is apparent from our consideration of the generations past. We are the reapers for the generations that have gone before, and we are the sowers to the generations that will come after us. This is a necessary result of the progress of the human race. In reciting the many practical illustrations of this theory, Rev. Dr. Torrance went on to show how that it was so in this regard as to scientific discoveries. We are more advanced to-day in the matter of scientific discoveries than the generation preceding us, not, however, that our powers are greater, but, merely that we have reaped the good results of that which the preceding generation has sowed. This principle is involved in political and moral reform. In the latter instance the "blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church," and the church of today is richer than it was in any preceding age. The fact of sowing and reaping has a lesson as to our duty to the future. Our duty to the present is to devote our great heritage to the best advantage by adopting what we have received from the past to the needs of the present. To-day unionism is in the air, and as far as the church is concerned, it is far better that it should be united, than attempt to work by divisions. How can we individually, do something for the generations to come? We can do something in this regard by kind, noble actions in everyday life — we should all be able to do good, kind, and unselfish actions, and then join in the joy of the great harvest home.

Rev. Dr. Torrence then directed his attention to the good news that had been received of peace having been restored in South Africa. He thought that the war had been instrumental in welding together the various parts of the British Empire. Was there ever a time when the hearts of Canadians beat more loyally than now? And in no part of the British dominions are there men who are more loyal than in Canada.

The sermon had a bearing on the Order which was present to-night, the preacher thought. They were sowers as well as reapers and in this regard he read a clause of the Constitution which recited the obligations of the Sick Committee. In this they were carrying out the law of Christ, which says, Bear ye one Anothers Burdens. If the members of the Canadian Order of Foresters lived up to their Constitution they might learn a lesson from them.

RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.

At the close of the impressive services, the Foresters again formed in procession, and marched back to the hall. The District Deputy, Bro Walter Hooper, presided, and after expressing the pleasure it gave him to see so many of the brethren in attendance, he spoke of the great privilege they had all enjoyed in listening to so able a sermon from Rev. Dr. Torrance.

Short addresses were made by Bros. W. H. Gordon, R. Jones, F. J. Jameson, W. Hartley and J. J. Hartley.

The following resolution, moved by Bro. T. Hooper and Bro. Metheral, was carried unanimously; "That the united thanks of the three local Courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters be tendered to Rev. Dr. Torrance, for the impressive sermon delivered to the brethren; to Bro. John Crane and his efficient choir, for the excellent music rendered; and to the officials of St. Paul's church for the use of their commodious edifice."

PEACE CONGRATULATIONS.

Amid unusual enthusiasm, the following resolution was heartily received and unanimously adopted;

Moved by Bro. W. Menzies, seconded by Bro. Thos. Hooper, "That having received the welcome news of the cessation of hostilities, and the proclamation of peace in South Africa, we, the members and representatives of the Canadian Order of Foresters in the Town and County of Peterborough on this Sunday evening, June 1st, desire most heartily to offer our congratulations to King and Empire with the rest of the Anglo-Saxon race throughout the world. That, as members of a Canadian national and fraternal society, from whose ranks many brave defenders have left their native homes to endure the hardships and sufferings of the battlefields, and even to lay down their lives in defence of the Empire—we offer up a prayer of thankfulness to Almighty God for the blessings of peace. That now, as we can rejoice that the King is to come to his coronation hour in the midst of peace throughout the Empire, we earnestly trust that the feelings necessarily engendered by the war, will give place to the earnest co-operation of all His Majesty's subjects in promoting the welfare of their common country."

The National Anthem was then sung, and the brethren were dismissed.

PEACE SIGNED, "KITCHENER."

All the Boer Leaders Sign the Terms of Surrender.

KITCHENER AND MILNER ALSO

Announcement Reaches Canada by Special Cable Message on Sunday Afternoon —Rejoicings in London and Throughout Canada—Particulars to Be Announced in Parliament— The King's Satisfaction.

London, June 1.—An official cablegram from Lord Kitchener dated from Pretoria 11 p.m. last (Saturday) evening states that a document containing terms of surrender was signed there at 10.30 p.m. by all the Boer representatives as well as by Lords Milner and Kitchener,

NOT EXPECTED IN LONDON.

Communicated to King Edward and His Cabinet Before Being Given to Public —Joy Expressed.

London, June 1.—An official cablegram from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, May 31, 11.15 p.m. says: "A document containing terms of surrender was signed here this evening at half past ten o'clock by all the Boer representatives, as well as Lord Milner (the British High Commissioner in South Africa) and myself."

The news of peace in South Africa, contained in the foregoing despatch from Lord Kitchener, was not expected in London. Soon after the receipt of the despatch, however, the news spread to the clubs and hotels, and was received with much enthusiasm. The church bells were rung to acclaim the good news. A crowd gathered at the Mansion House, and the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, announced from a balcony that terms of surrender had been signed in South Africa.

Lord Kitchener's definite announcement of peace was received at the War Office at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was communicated to King Edward and all the members of the Cabinet before it was given out to the public.

Last night the Sunday evening calm of London streets was broken by enthusiastic singing, shouting and horn blowing. The hotels, clubs, the public houses and the streets were not the only places where the people were actively demonstrating their joy; the peace news was announced in the churches yesterday, and by some congregations it was received with applause.

In all the churches of London prayers of thanksgiving were offered and special hymns sung.

THE KING'S MESSAGE.

His Majesty Welcomed News With Infinite Satisfaction and Invites Co-operation of New Subjects.

London, June 2.—Peace has been declared after nearly two years and eight months of war, which tried the British Empire to its uttermost, and which wiped out the Boers from the list of nations. The war has come to an end with Lord Kitchener's announcement from Pretoria that he, Lord Milner and the Boer delegates had signed "terms of surrender."

The King's Message.

The following message from King Edward to his people was issued after midnight:

"The King has received the welcome news of the cessation of hostilities in South Africa with infinite satisfaction and His Majesty trusts that peace may speedily be followed by the restoration of prosperity in his new dominions, and that the feelings necessarily engendered by war will give place to earnest co-operation on the part of His Majesty's South African subjects in promoting the welfare of their common country."

Kruger: "It Is Impossible!"

According to a despatch to The Daily Express from Utrecht, Holland, Mr. Kruger was informed that peace had been declared, shortly after 8 o'clock last night. Mr. Kruger had been asleep. "My God," he said, "It is impossible!" Mr. Kruger and his entourage, the despatch continues hope to be permitted to return to the Transvaal. This, however, is quite unlikely.

REJOICING IN LONDON.

Cheers For King Mingled With Others For Men Who Have Died and "Good Old Kitchener."

London, June 2.—At the Mansion House, amid many cheers, the Lord Mayor made a short speech, in which he expressed his hope that London would show its appreciation of the good news by behaving itself decently and in an orderly manner.

"Let us," said the Lord Mayor, in conclusion, "now pray for a long and happy peace."

At this statement the assembled crowd, which was in no humor for praying, yelled lustily, and at the instance of the Lord Mayor, gave hearty cheers for King Edward, followed by others for men who had died in South Africa since the war commenced.

The demonstrations of the night resulted in a genial and harmless sort of jubilation, which continued

CANADA'S DAY IS HERE.

The launch of the Huronic at Collingwood a few days ago and her successful trial maiden trip forms an epoch in ship building in Canada. The Huronic is the first steel steamer built in Ontario and is only the first of a long line to follow. The new steamer can carry 3,200 tons of freight and will have plenty of work for the trade with the northern country and the Northwest is rapidly growing. The line of which the Huronic is a member is a feeder of the Grand Trunk System and co-operates in the most friendly terms in freight traffic with the C.P.R. and the Canadian Northern in the matter of New Ontario and Northwest freight. Canada is forging ahead and the day is not far distant when this country will, except for climatic limitations of products, be self sustaining — do her own manufacturing and produce all the country requires. We are now building our own steel steamers, making our own steel rails and by our expansion in other lines making a great nation in the northern half of this continent. Canada is beginning to feel her strength, is like a giant refreshed with new wine and begins to rejoice as a strong man that runs a race. Canada's day is coming, has indeed, brightly dawned.

PEACE AT LAST AND STILL WAR.

While to-day all round the world the meteor flag is waving in all the airs of all the climes of earth, in rejoicing over the declaration of peace in South Africa, the star-spangled banner in the Philippines is still at half mast—the war still dragging itself along. Two and a half years the British have been battling against the bravest, most resourceful and most tenacious soldiers of the world, fighting for their homes and what they considered their rights Against these brave people, aided by conditions of country, that made one soldier worth a score, the British have battled with an untiring energy with dogged perseverence and with a resourcefulness that has been the admiration of the world. They have accomplished what no other nation in the world could have accomplished in the same time and under the same circumstances. The Boers were well ready for war, by years of shrewd, patient preparation and a victory over them is something to boast of, something to rejoice over. The object of the British was to maintain the integrity of British dominion and authority, to enfranchise the slave, to bring to a land rich with opportunities for the development of mighty states, blessed with the privileges of British civilization ,and British freedom, and with a capacity for giving homes to millions of free, prosperous people. On the other hand the United States are waging a war of conquest and while professing to be aiming to bring the blessing of Western civilization their campaign, especially in its later days, has been marked with cruelties and cold blooded atrocities, which the oppressers they supplant, the haughty Spanairds, have never perhaps surpassed. They were fighting against a half civilized enemy, armed with the most primitive weapons—spears, clubs and balls at the end of strings, and the Philippines are not conquered yet, though the war has been dragging on for four years. British and Canadian people and journals have not been found rejoicing over the reverses of the United States, while all over the United States—all the journals as a rule—have been chuckling with glee over British mishaps and sneering at Britain's inability to conquer the bravest foes on earth more quickly. The Boer war is over at last and it is to be hoped that the fruitful and beneficent rivalry of the arts of peace will be fought out on the same broad battle field not long since reddened with the life blood of brave men.

OPPRESSED WOMANHOOD.

Renewed attention has been called to "woman's rights" by the nomination of Miss Hails, as the Socialist candidate in North Toronto, in which contest she polled 74 votes. It wouldn't have done Miss Hails any good if she had polled the whole of the 7000 votes recorded, for, by law, a woman is nowhere in politics. She may stand as a candidate, but she has no political standing. A "brute," —from the female point of view — named Hodgins, in a disquisition on the Franchise Act, proves that according to law a woman can neither vote nor be elected at a parliamentary election. He also proves that a woman is not a "person"—the ideal —within the meaning of the Election Act. This "person," Hodgins, goes further. With a cumulative capacity for insulting the sex,he brackets "women, infants, idiots, lunatics, and receivers of alms" together as the classes which are politically incapacitated, and as "so much under the influence of others that they cannot have a will of their own in the choice of candidates." However, the law graciously permits unmarried women and spinsters who are rated for property, to vote at municipal elections, but they lose their right on marriage. Marriage is at law, "a total disqualification," and a married woman cannot vote, "her existence for such a purpose being entirely merged in that of her husband." This "person," Hodgins, rakes up a long list of authorities, even going back to the thirteenth century to show the political disability of women. He quotes one old judicial duffer as declaring that women are excluded from certain tenures, and the insult lies in the reason given — quia guae audit reticere non protest. He was careful to put his reason in Latin. That might have worked in his day, but not in the new-woman period, for any High School girl of to-day can tell him that the brutal English for his brutal Latin is "because a woman cannot keep a secret." This is doubtless the reason why the tyrant man who makes our laws, excludes women from voting—they think that a secret ballot is not safe in the hands of a woman. Another reason urged why the right to vote would be useless to women, is that it would be impossible to get nine out of ten spinsters to acknowledge that they were of voting age. From the woman's point of view there's a good deal for civilization to do yet.

The electors of Sault Ste. Marie have chosen Mr. Miscampbell, an Opposionist, not because he was the best candidate, but because, very naturally, they voted for what they thought their best interests. Their attitude in the election was based on an error in judgment — they had been loaded up with the idea that there would be a change of government, and in that event that they would by electing Mr. Mr. Miscampbell, be represented by a Cabinet Minister, for Mr. Miscampbell was promised a place in Mr. Whitney's cabinet if he should be returned to power. The electors of the "Soo" are both lucky and unlucky — unlucky, in not gaining a Cabinet member as a representative; but lucky in the fact that the Ross Government is still retained to carry out its programme of development, which means so much to the advancement of the "Soo," and all the great north of Ontario. But all the same the "Soo" people will be kicing themselves for not electing a member in touch with the Government.

NORTH RENFREW MEMBER DIES.

J. W. Munro Passes Away From an Attack of Blood-Poisoning.

Pembroke, June 2.—John W. Munro, member-elect for North Renfrew, passed away Saturday morning at 10 o'clock after a few days' illness from blood poisoning and jaundice.

Mr. Munro was one of the best known men in Renfrew County, and, in fact, in the eastern portion of the Province. He was elected to the Legislature in a bye-election on June 17, 1900, owing to the death of the then Conservative member, Andrew J. White. He was about 50 years of age, and was successful in lumbering and in contracting. He was interested in the construction of the Petawawa Pulp Mills. It is said that the primary casue of the illness from which he suffered was an inflamation following the extraction of a tooth. Dr. Roddick and Dr. Armstrong of Montreal were in attendance upon him, but all efforts were unavailing.

Ottawa, June 1.—O. H. Howland, Esq., Mayor, Toronto.—It is not probable that there will be a holiday proclaimed to-morrow, but a salute will be fired at 12 o'clock. (Sgd) Wilfrid Laurier.

The News in Toronto.

Toronto, June 2.—The official telegram announcing the signing of the terms of surrender of the Boers, was received about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and soon became widely known. The Electric Light Company's whistle was about the first to screech out, and several steamboats in the bay took up the refrain. It was easy guessing what was up, and, all over the city, people stopped to listen. "Peace" was the first and only thought, and it was not long till thousands of citizens were on their way down to the newspaper offices. The bulletins were scanned eagerly, and there was no doubting its import. Flags were flown to the breeze all over the city.

When the chimes of St. James' Cathedral rang out at 6.30 o'clock, the National Anthem was played, and never did it sound sweeter. The services in many churches were opened and closed with "God Save the King," and the pastors took occasion to refer to the glorious news emanating from South Africa.

An eveaing paper got out a special edition about 7 o'clock, containing the bulletin, and the boys sold them like hot cakes. Policemen took the names of a few boys, but did not attempt to interfere with the lads.

S. Alfred Jones, chairman of the Public School Board, announced that there will be a half-holiday in the schools to-day in honor of the dawn of peace. The scholars will be dismissed at noon to join in the general jubilation.

A royal salute will be fired at 12 noon. Members of the batteries will parade at the Armouries at 11 o'clock.

Appropriate Sermons.

Toronto Junction, June 2—The declaration of peace was accompanied here by the clanging of bells, the hoisting of the town flag and appropriate sermons in the churches. The services closed with the national anthem.

Toronto Junction waited till after midnight before exulting. Then, there were scenes on the streets, which were a repetition of Pretoria Day. Three large bonfires were lighted.

Cobourg Jubilates.

Cobourg, June 2.—The news of peace being proclaimed in South Africa was received here about 5 o'clock p.m. yesterday. All the bells in town were rung, and whistles blew. At all the churches last evening special services were held. At 9 o'clock p. m. a volunteer force, headed by the town band, paraded the main streets, and, amid fireworks and an abundance of music, the army fired a royal salute.

Hamilton Was Glad.

Hamilton, June 2.—There was great joy here last night, when the news arrived and spread that peace had been declared by the Boers. The fire bells, City Hall bell, and church bells were rung for about an hour. Thousands of persons gathered on the streets. In most of the churches, prayer of thanksgiving were offered up, and the National Anthem was sung.

Mass Meeting in Listowel.

Listowel, June 2.—The tranquillity of the Sabbath was disturbed yesterday afternoon when the bulletin posted at the C.P.R. telegraph office, announcing that the war was over, became generally known. Mayor Watson was notified, and immediately ordered the joyful news to be spread by ringing the bells and blowing all the available steam whistles in town. The populace turned out en masse, with anxious hearts, to learn the cause of the disturbance, and when it became generally known that no catastrophe had occurred, but, on the contrary, peace had been declared, the town was given up to rejoicing. In the meantime, the church bells were calling the worshippers, but there was but little inclination to attend, and they were soon dismissed, with the announcement that there would be a public demonstration of thanksgiving on the Square. The band was quickly marshalled, and the School Cadets were countermarched to the Square, where a dray wagon had been hastily improvised for a platform. Mayor Watson addressed the assemblage, composing almost the entire population of the town, announcing the object of the gathering. He proclaimed to-day a public holiday, to be given up to general rejoicing, and called the clergymen of the different denominations to address the audience. The band played patriotic airs, and the great crowd uncovered while the Doxology was sung by all present, with overflowing hearts, and a great wave of thanksgiving was apparent in every face that the war was over.

Two Thousand in Line.

Halifax, N. S., June 2.—The glad news that peace had been declared in South Africa was received in Halifax yesterday and quickly spread throughout the city. The announcement was made from the pulpits of the city churches last night, where the National Anthem was sung and thanksgiving prayers offered. After the services were over the church and fire bells pealed forth the joyous news. A big celebration will be held to-day. When the news reached Stellarton, the miners, headed by a band, turned out in a body and paraded the streets. The whole population fell in with the procession. Over 2,000 people were in line.

Niagara Celebrated.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 2.—Word of the declaration of peace in South Africa was received here yesterday noon, and immediately after the bells of the various churches and the Town Hall pealed forth the glad tidings. Fireworks were soon gathered up and a celebration began. In the evening, after church was over, a mass meeting was held in the park and addresses on the war were given by the clergy as well as several other speakers. Fully two-thirds of the population of the town were present. The band joined in and played several patriotic airs. At the close of the meeting fireworks were again brought forth, which lasted for about an hour, after which the band played "God Save the King," and the crowd dispersed about 11 p m., feeling that they had done justice to the occasion.

Bonfires at Dundas.

Dundas, June 2.—Immediately the bulletin was received stating peace had been declared in South Africa the Town Hall bell and the bells of the different churches rang out the glad news. A great crowd of people gathered on the market square at 8.30 last evening, and their enthusiasm was such that they soon had a huge bonfire blazing. The Mayor addressed the crowd and stated that after a conference with the manufacturers and merchants it had been decided to declare this afternoon a half-holiday. Arrangements will be completed in the morning for the celebration with bonfires and fireworks. It has been proposed to build an immense bonfire on the mountain north of the town, which will be visible for many miles. The crowd dispersed with cheers for the King and Empire and singing of the National Anthem.

French Gentleman Gracefully Expresses His Own and His Wife's Gratitude.

A Strong Letter Written With the Noble Purpose of Trying to Benefit Someone Else.

St. Hippolyte, Que., June 1. (Special.)—Mr. L. A. Paquin of this village has written for publication the following letter. In it he speaks for both himself and his wife. The letter reads:

"After much suffering I had become unable to work. I had Kidney Trouble which gave me great pain.

"My wife had used a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills for a similar trouble sometime before, and as they had completely restored her to good health I made up my mind to take a treatment myself.

"I was not disappointed, and I can now say that I have tried and proved Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the greatest medicine in the world.

"We are now both quite well, and able to do our work as well as ever.

"We have found Dodd's Kidney Pills to be a remedy, which saves us the pains and trouble which we so often see in others, who are languishing and incapable of attending to their work.

"We keep Dodd's Kidney Pills constantly on hand, and use them occasionally if we feel the slightest indisposition. We have used altogether between us six boxes.

"Perhaps I should explain why I write this letter. It is because I feel there may be many others who have not heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills, or who having heard, have not yet given them a trial, and to such I would say 'Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a fair trial and you will agree with my wife and myself that there is not any other such medicine to be had.'"

What Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for Mr. Paquin and his good wife, they will do for any man or woman who suffers from Kidney Disease in any form.

A satisfactory report was given by the Treasurer showing the amount already secured for the piano fund. It was decided to further augment the same by holding the anniversary of the opening of the new building on June 19th. It will take much the same form as other years, a musicale and refreshments. The following committees were appointed to make arrangements; Programme—Mrs McAllister and Mrs. F. Mason; Refreshments, Mrs. Nugent, Mrs. Frost and Mrs. Shortley.

WEDDED THIS MORNING.

Mr. Edwin Wood of Toronto and Miss Estelle Thornton of Harvey Street.

The residence of Mr. Robert Thornton, No. 67 Harvey street, was the scene of a very interesting event at 9 o'clock this morning, it being the occasion of the marriage of his second daughter, Miss Estelle, to Mr. Edwin Wood, of Toronto.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. D. O. Crossley, of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white organdie, and wore a wedding veil. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel, who was costumed in white organdie over pink. The groom was supported by Mr. Walter Gooding, of Toronto.

At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony the wedding party sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast which was prepared by Mr. Lane, and the newly married couple left on the noon G.T.R. train for their new home in Toronto. They will take up their residance at No. 75 Belleview avenue.

The bride was very popular amongst a wide circle of friends in Peterborough and the many costly and useful presents she received were an evidence of the esteem in which she was held. Amongst the many presents she was the recipient of was a handsome Nordheimer Piano from the groom. Her many friends here will wish her many years of happiness.

ANNUAL CAMP.

The 3rd Dragtons Will go Under Canvas at Niagara.

The announcement is made in the Toronto papers to-day that there will be no camps of instruction this summer for rural regiments of infantry, but that there will very likely be short camps of instruction in the fall, for officers, and non-commissioned officers. It is also stated that the corps of instruction for the cavalry regiments will be held as usual, the point of concentration being Kingston. The 4th Hussars of Kingston, the sister corps of the 3rd Dragoons, will not likely participate in the camp this year, owing to the expense of transporting them from Kingston to Niagara.

THE CHURCH BELLS RANG

When the Good News of Peace was Received.

The 57th Regiment Will Turn out This Evening—A General Demonstration to Take Place.

When the news was received in Peterborough last night that a treaty of peace had been signed by Lord Kitchener, and the Boer leaders, there were expressions of joy on all sides. The church bells rang, and the town bells rang, and flags were hoisted in honour of the event.

At the various churches of the town, the pastors made the announcement, which was invariably followed by the singing of the National Anthem. To-day the school children of the town were given a holiday in honour of the occasion, and to-night, a demonstration that will, it is hoped, eclipse the celebration of the relief of Ladysmith, will take place. Lieut. Col. E. B. Edwards, Commanding Officer of the 57th Regiment, has called out that corps for this evening. The men of all ranks are asked to report at the drill shed at eight o'clock, and accompanied by both bands, a regimental march out will be the order of the proceedings. Then it is hoped that the citizens of the town will join in the proceedings with the usual demonstrations of enthusiasm, and Peterborough will show its joy at the glorious ending of a long-fought struggle.

It is requested that there be a large turn out of the 57th Regiment.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

The Cobourg Men Came out Victorious.

The Boston Bloomers Will be Here for a Game Latest in Lacrosse Circles —Local Games.

BASEBALL.

Peterborough played their first Midland League game on Saturday with the fast Cobourg team, on the Oval and received a beating. For four innings the locals had the team from the lake looking like tailenders, but in their fifth inning the Cobourg boys landed on the ball and the home team tried to see how many errors they could make, and allowed the visitors to score seven. The Cobourg boys had the game well in hand from that time and the home team went out in one, two, three order, in every innings.

The Cobourg team fielded well and hit the ball hard and ran the bases in clever style.

Climo pitched good steady ball. His delivery looked easy enough, and the home team hit the ball hard, but every time it would sail out to the fielders. Brown played well behind the bat and caught several of the local's trying to steal second. McAllister at short and Bulger on third fielded their positions in clever style and stopped many a hard grounder with base hits on them.

The locals hit the ball hard enough to win a game, but where they were really off was in fielding and team work. They had ten errors and numerous mistakes in judging balls. McCabe pitched the first five innings and was touched up for nine hits. He gave three bases on balls and struck out two of the opposing batters. Dan was out for the first time this season and had pretty good speed, but his support was poor. Clark Earls put them over the last four innings and he had the Cobourgs guessing. They secured four hits off him and he struck out one. Clark has a good delivery and if the team had backed him up, the chances of winning out would have been good. Young played a nice game on first, and Parnell fielded very well. Jack Connors had a lot of hard chances on second and made many errors, however, he hit the ball hard getting a two-bagger and two singles. Davidson took fold inside three hits but fielded poorly. The personnel of the home team is nearly the same as when they won the Midland League Championship and if they get together and practice they can make a very strong bid for the honours again this year. Every member is urged to get out and practice hard for the Bowmanville game and the one with the Boston Ladies' team.

Mr. J. Rosevar of Port Hope, umpired the game to the satisfaction of all and made a good impression.

There was a large crowd and a good gate which amounted to the sum of $15.00.

The Executive Committee has chosen the Club teams from the members scores in its possession and the members are placed in the following order. According to the provisions of by-law number eight, any member may challenge the member next above him upon first depositing two golf balls with the secretary along with his challenge. In the case of this challenge rules of match play govern. The members are arranged in the following order: S. Ray, R. M. Hamilton, J. H. Burnham, Dr. Eastwood, C. B. McAllister, H. D. Burnett, R. M. Dennistoun, Chas. MacGill, Robt. Neill, Fred MacGill, J. W. Garvin, W. D. Parker, F. Campbell, C. H. Bradburn, Dr. Neill, Robert Granger, D. Walker, Dr. McFall, A.A. Hollingshead, A. H. The first prize is a dozen golf balls or a $3 club, and the second prize is a $2 club, or its equivalent in golf balls. The first round in this match which is called the Captain's Handicap, will be concluded by Monday evening, June 9th. Mr. Murphy, Conservative, may not Hold the Seat.

HE'S ON A CONTRACT BOND

For Printing for the Ontario Government—An Appeal to the Courts to be Made.

The first election protest to loom in its imminence is one against Mr. Murphy, the new member from Ottawa. It is said that Mr. Murphy's name appears on bonds given by Warwick Bros., and Rutter, to the Ontario Government, and so long as this is the case he is, by the statute, clearly precluded from taking his seat. The Act reads;

No person, whatsoever holding or enjoying, undertaking or executing, directly or indirectly, alone or with any other, by himself, or by the interposition of a trustee or party, any contract or agreement with his Majesty, or with any public officer or department with respect to the public service of Ontario, or under which any public money of Ontario is to be paid for any service or work, matter or thing, shall be eligible as a member of the Legislative Assembly, nor shall he sit or vote in the same.

BIRTH.

DAVIDSON.—At 64 Hunter street, on Saturday, May 31st, 1902, the wife of Rev. J. C. Davidson of a son.

PEACE.

"The war is over; peace is proclaimed." These welcome words fell upon millions of glad ears yesterday, and were nowhere heard with greater rejoicing than in the homes where the vacant chair at the table represents an absent son or brother in the field in far South Africa. Two and a half years ago the Boers began the conflict by invading British territory —Natal. Since then the war has been waged with desperate energy, the wily enemy, brave and resourceful, having the advantage of perfect knowledge of the wonderfully difficult country, with a perfect familiarity with the tactics suited to the conditions, set the British army a heavy task, but the indomitable courage, the iron will, the unfailing purpose of the British, though reverse and disaster came with unwelcome frequency, like the resistless glide forward of a glacier to the sea, pushed back Boer resistance, till at length peace has taken the place of red-handed war. Not columns, but volumes, are needed to tell all the story of two and a half years of ceaseless strife. From the eleventh day of October, in the year 1899, till this glorious first of leafy June, history has been making. That long thirty months has been alternately darkened by reverse and slow progress, and lightened by deeds of valour and heroism that add new lustre to the glory of British arms; and it is a proud thing for a Canadian to recall in this supreme moment, that Canadian soldiers covered themselves with an unfading glory for their share in achieving the triumph which the world-wide British Empire is celebrating to-day.

Canada sent contingent after contingent of soldiers. They came from our cities, towns, villages, hamlets and farmsteads and from the breezy prairies of our vast west. They sailed the seas over, they were brigaded with the vetern soldiers of the line and though in one sense raw levies, they were the first that met the brave Boers on their own ground, fought their own fight, upstanding and open if occasion required, but wary and cunning if need, even as the wiliest Boer. No Canadian ever gave Canada or the Empire cause to blush—for a moment of weakness, for a moment of shrinking. Their nervous fingers pressed the trigger with unerring fatility, but their hands which smashed the spent rifle when the crisis made valour vain, never raised the white flag of surrender. They fought and died—those who fell—with their face to the foe.

The war is over, but at the cost of much precious metal and more precious life. Out of the blood, poured out like water, out of the wasted treasure, out of the desolated homes, has risen a great good. The Great Empire whose world mission is to uplift humanity and advance civilization, has been broadened, expanded and at the time drawn together more closely; the mighty sisterhood of colonies, before hardly more than a mere record in Downing street, are now clasped closely to the great heart of the Imperal Mother. The glorious resources of the world's greatest empire, her unfaltering purpose in holding her own, the lusty loyalty and dutiful alarcity of the greater dominions beyond the seas, have set the Empire on a pinnacle for the world to admire, while in part it hates. British prestage has been tried as with fire and has come out brighter and bigger. The crimson of the flag has painted another 170,000 square miles of the earth Imperial red and 300,000 of the bravest of the fighting Saxon strain have become subjects of the Empire. The war has been long, but the peace that follows will be more enduring, and the new subjects of the Empire will be better for the protracted strife. The longer Boer and Briton fought each other, the better the lesson of mutual respect was learned. When upon the bravery, the rugged manhood and patriotism of the Boer is grafted the British spirit of freedom and progress, the subjects thus created will be of the best. When the Boer settles down to the new conditions he will inhabit the same broad veldt, but a broader freedom and higher civilization, a higher hope will speedily reconcile him to the new order of steady going civilization which will succeed the chaos which the wreckage of war and the debris of strife always creates. Ave! Africa australis, pax vobiscum!

MAY SAVE $250,000.

How. Dr. Webb and Friends May Square Canada Atlantic.

MAY TURN OVER THEIR OPTION.

Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann May Make the Canada Atlantic a Part and Parcel of the Canadian Northern Railway—The Advantage It Would Confer on the C.N.R. Stated—Water Connections Utilized.

Montreal, June 2.—It now seems as if the Canadian Northern Railway Co. would, after all, purchase the Canada Atlantic, and that a very short time will see over 500 miles of railway added to the Mackenzie and Mann System, thus establishing at once tidewater connection for what will, in a few years, be Canada's second trans-continental highway.

A leading banker made the statement on Saturday that to-day would probably decide the question, and that, in all likelihood, the Canada Atlantic would become part of the Canadian Northern. It seems that, although Dr. Webb and his friends have found it impossible to conclude the purchase of the Booth system, they are not disposed to lose the $250,000, which they put up as evidence of good faith in their deal with the owners of the Canada Atlantic. Consequently, they opened negotiations with Mackenzie & Mann for the transfer of their rights, and, if the deal should go through, the $250,000 will be returned to the Webb people, and the Canada Atlantic will become the eastern section of the Canadian Northern.

If the deal is successfully carried through, the Canadian Northern will thus possess a road from Depot Harbor to Ottawa, 268 miles, together with an extension almost to Montreal of 112 miles. The proposed transfer also comprises the Canada Atlantic Transit Co., whose fleet of steamers will connect at Depot Harbor with Chicago and Milwaukee, and with the Canadian Northern's present terminus at Port Arthur, thus giving to Mackenzie & Mann a combined rail and steamship service from the Saskatchewan Valley to Montreal.

Brutal Assault at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Ont., June 2.—A brutal and indecent assault was committed on a young woman on Strachan St., at the Ferguson avenue gully, Saturday night. The victim was going to her home, when two or three ruffians set on her and dragged her along the railway tracks. She was very badly used. The matter was at once reported to the Detective Department, but, on account of the place being dark, the girl could not give a good description of her assailants. The victim resides on Mary street, and her name has been suppressed by the police.

La Soufriere Still Active.

Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, Friday May 30.—La Soufriere volcano is still active. Another eruption occurred at three o'clock this morning. It was accompanied by a tumultuous noise and a shock of earthquake, while volumes of vapor ascended to such a height that they were visible from Kingstown.

HAS A SPECIFIC USE.

Mrs. Octave Larose Often had Fainting Spells and for six Years Suffered With Severe Inward Trouble—Cured by the New Ozone Method Without the Use of Drugs.

Having been a sufferer from extreme weakness and a generally run-down system for fourteen years back, I feel impelled to place before the public a knowledge of what has finally proved effectual in restoring my health—Powley's Liquified Ozone.

MRS. OCTAVE LAROSE, MONTREAL.

I used to suffer constantly with overpowering headaches, and was subject to fainting spells, often four or five times a day, while for six years past I suffered much from inward trouble, and altogether my condition seemed past help, as all medical skill had failed to bring the desired relief.

I commenced using Ozone about July, 1900, and after using four bottles I feel well and hearty and enjoy life as much as ever. Trusting this statement may benefit some other sufferer, I am, (Signed) Mrs. Octave Larose, 288 St. Timothee street, Montreal, P.Q.

Powley's Liquozone has its specific use and that is to feed the blood oxygen, its essential nourishment. It is not a "cure-all," but it does cure disorders that find their cause in a lack of vitality, in an enervated system, an impure blood stream, in fact under those conditions that are favourable to the attack of disease germs. You may say that these diseases are many, yet the cause is common to all. If you have any systemic disorder, we would earnestly advise you to find out about this Ozone Treatment from some one you know has taken it. We know that if you'll get at the truth about it, and you can from good Canadian citizens, you'll be impressed with the fact that it's a scientific discovery and that it will do you a great deal of good. Powley's Liquified Ozone is on sale at your druggists; 2 sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.

SUMMER ENERGY AND ACTIVITY.

If You are Nervous, Despondent, Sleepless, Irritable or Out-of-Sorts in June,

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Will Give You Nerve Force, Fresh Energy, Vigour and New Health.

June should be the banner month of the year for the enjoyment of nature and life. If men and women are not physically capable of enjoying the good things of nature and home so bountifully provided by an All-Wise Creator, the fault is their own in the majority of cases.

Our nervousness, insomnia, despondency, and irritableness are continual and forcible reminders of ill-health and disease. Their continuance in June means unhappiness and misery; their banishment by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, means energy, activity, vigour and full ability to enjoy Heaven's best gifts. Thousands are now acquiring rugged health and buoyant spirits through the use of Paine's Celery Compound. The blessings of health, home and nature will be your portion if you wisely use the great medicine this month. It truly makes people well.

A. DUBOIS KILLED 300 BEARS.

Noted Trapper Was at Last Killed by One Himself Saturday.

Ottawa, June 2.—In a dying condition, A. Dubois, one of the noted trappers of the Gatineau, was brought to the Catholic Hospital here on Saturday night, horribly lacerated from a fight with a bear. Dubois has successfully trapped over 300 bears in his life, but one has finished him at last. He had evidently lain for 24 or 36 hours in an unconscious condition when found, and his recovery is impossible. The hind leg of the bear was found in a trap, but the owner of it was nowhere to be seen. Dubois' method was to kill the bear in the trap with an ax. He evidently went out to finish this one in the same manner, but the brute must have chewed off and freed itself. Dubois' head was terribly lacerated. His nose was chewed off, his left eye torn out, the cheek badly clawed, the right arm broken in three places, and the body badly bruised. He is 70 years of age, and the doctors are amazed that he still lives, considering the quantity of blood he must have lost.

The vacancy will not, however, be officially declared till the House meets again, as the Senate must itself be made aware of the facts.

Fears are entertained of coming disturbances.

A Sufferer From Backache.

Several Years of Kidney Disease—A Prominent Merchant Cured by.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Every day adds scores of names to the long list of persons who have been cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and among those who are now enthusiastic of this great medicine is Mr. W. Gilroy, the well-known merchant of Blenheim, Ont.

Like many others, Mr. Gilroy now wonders why he did not use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the first place, instead of experimenting with new-fangled and untried remedies. There is no doubt about the exceptional virtues of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They act directly on the kidneys, liver, and bowels, and thoroughly cure complicated ailments which cannot be reached by ordinary remedies.

Mr. W. Gilroy, general merchant, Blenheim, Ont., states:—"I am rather enthusiastic in the praise of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and believe I have good reason to be. For several years I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, and had pains in my back almost constantly. I tried a great many remedies, but did not succeed in obtaining more than slight temporary relief.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I did so, with great satisfaction. I had not taken half a box before I began to feel better, and now realize that I have entirely recovered. I often wonder now why people go after new-fangled remedies when this tried and proven medicine is so easily obtained, and so certain to cure."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have the hearty endorsement of good citizens in nearly every city, town, and village in Canada. They are probably the most popular remedy that was ever introduced into this country, and their enormous sales are due to the fact that they radically cure serious and chronic diseases. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 3

MAN OF MANY SIDES

A STUDY OF THE MANNER OF MAN LATE PRINCIPAL GRANT WAS.

Easier Much to Tell What He Was Done—Reasons the Secret of His Distinguishing Eagerness—The Something More That He Was That Lifted Him Above the Common Plane.

It is easier to state what Principal Grant has done than to tell what manner of man he was. Yet an exact catalogue of his achievements is difficult of compilation, for his activities were extraordinarily numerous, says a writer in The Toronto Globe. The head of a university, he was keenly interested in politics; a theologian, he was sensitive to the material development of his country and his province; a clergyman, he held singularly accurate views upon military policy; a scholar, he had extraordinary administrative ability. Innumerable were the channels in which his energy flowed. He has bequeathed to his country a university; he aided in its crucial days the union of Canada; he fostered the sentiment of Imperial organization; he had a share in the welding together of the branches of the Presbyterian Church; he exerted a rare influence upon public opinion as the work of the development of Canada was prosecuted. Behind these activities was a man; how are we to estimate that nature, with its profound human sympathy, its eager activity, its energy singularly tempered with sagacity and tact?

Eagerness is the word which perhaps comes most readily to mind when one recalls the Principal's aspect. Eagerness was the secret of his great physical activity; his long stride, with the body bent forward, was that of a man with something to do the moment he reached his goal. Eagerness was the keynote of his conversation; his voice had nothing of the level intonation affected to-day so largely in the English-speaking world, but rose and fell with Celtic vivacity, and who that has once heard the rising inflection which so often closed his sentences can forget it, or, with it, the absorbed interest with which the Principal flung himself into the subject of every conversation? And eagerness seems the word to apply to the restless energy which found interest in every human activity.

Keenness was the secret of the eagerness; the Principal's mental vision was piercing. A look back over his life recalls how often his perception of the ultimate meaning of events was accurate. The union of the Presbyterian Church has borne abundant fruit, and the young clergyman, although identified with the body least inclined to merge itself in the great church that was to be, committed himself instantly to the cause of union. What has not confederation done for British North America? And the Grant of 1867, a son of the province which had least to gain by it, and nurtured in the party which viewed the change with deepest suspicion, broke the political ties in which he had grown up, to fight for it. We are all thrilled with the consciousness of our Imperial destiny now; Imperial organization was the keynote of his political creed years ago. The same foresight appears in his conduct of the university. A quarter of a century ago, when equipment was meagre and the prospect narrow, he insisted on acquiring grounds which within the last two years have proved useful in the latter-day growth of Queen's. A decade ago the Principal appears to have foreseen the present activity of the Province of Ontario, and the School of Mines rose in Kingston, keeping pace with instead of following after the new development. Rapidity and accuracy of judgment inspired his boundless energy.

Energetic men, men passionately interested in their work, are not always liked by others; more often their impetuous activity is resented by those whom they are seeking to hurry into great schemes. But with Principal Grant, next to his passionate provision, ranked the balance given by his great sagacity. No man in Canada enjoyed higher repute for practical grasp of things as they are; there was none like him in counsel. Allied with the eagerness and the sagacity was one quality more, the suavity, the sensitive adaptation of address to the man before him. The result was a most remarkable influence over the men who knew him. His fiery purpose inspired the ardor, his strong wisdom compelled the respect, his personal charm engaged the liking of the man he talked with.

This most unusual union of qualities was seen in its lightest side in the Principal's consummate cleverness. The deftness with which he managed men was equalled by only one other Canadian publicist, Sir John Macdonald, and the Principal was an infinitely more strenuous man than the Premier, and aroused far fewer antagonisms. His circumstances were most difficult, for he had to extract from a people by no means wealthy, and under the disadvantage of having grown up in a community scantily provided with the facilities for higher learning, the ever increasing means for supporting an ever-growing university. In the task he employed every quality of his nature, and the quick wit, the resourcefulness, the tact, which were his surface qualities, were used as well as the force of his commanding personality. The skill and precision with which he laid his plans, the certainty with which he avoided false moves, his mastery of every motive of the men to whom he appealed, made almost as deep an impression upon the public as his practical grasp of affairs and his high optimism. Yet this cleverness was but a superficial characteristic.

For his influence upon others had its root in his sympathy. Intellectual cleverness has never aroused affection and the Principal had a mastery of men's hearts. That mastery sprang from his love for them. He will rank in Canadian history as a profoundly sympathetic figure. That sympathy showed in every aspect of his public life, for he loved men in the mass. It showed exquisitely in his relations with his former students, for he loved men individually. All who passed through Queen's were members of his family. He took no pains to court undergraduate liking, but it is impossible to number the men who in their battle with the world found the Principal a friend whose affection grew with years. One of his minor qualities was a memory for faces, names, and domestic detail of the sort which is said to be the special gift of royalty. He spent himself for his graduates, whether they had prospered or had not. He was welcome in their homes; he was the friend of their children. He swayed men because he understood them.

That sympathy was the secret of his optimism. Most men on recalling his qualities will enumerate that among the chiefest of them. It was a peculiar charm of this eager, strenuous, busy man, that he was intensely and spontaneously hopeful. Life had been for him in the finest sense a success. He was born a Nova Scotian and a colonist, he died a Canadian and a citizen of the empire. He was born to a land suffering from the inevitable provinciality of pioneer days, he left to his country a centre of vigorous intellectual life. Sorrow came to him as it comes to all, but it dimmed not the delightful cheerfulness of his optimism. High hope was with him the fusing force which brought into unity his profound sympathy and acute intellect. George Munro Grant was indeed a force in our national life, but was more than a force, was an inspiration.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is Large Family.

Patsy Dooley was a very poor arithmetician and was puzzled by a great many questions of numbers which did not enter other people's heads.

One day a new acquaintance remarked in his presence:

"I have eight brothers."

"Ye have eight brothers?" said Patsy. "Then I suppose ivery wan o' thim has eight brothers too?"

"Certainly."

"Arrah, thin," said Patsy, "how many mothers had the sixty-foor o' ye?"

The Reason.

"There is a very intimate nervous connection between the brain and the stomach," said the scientific man.

"That explains it," answered the humble person who is willing to learn.

"What?"

"The reason why nearly every political alliance or financial deal has to be discussed at a banquet."

Joke Was Evident.

"No wonder they say the British are slow in seeing a joke."

"Why so?"

"I told the chap from London that we never ate a rabbit stew without finding a hare in it, and he is going home and write a paper entitled 'Neatness Needed In American Kitchens.'"

A DOMESTIC EXPERIENCE.

The Reason One Woman's Cook Was Dissatisfied With Her Piano.

"This is a queer age we live in," sighed a young housekeeper. "We've just lost a very good cook for a very absurd reason, I think. She came to us about four months ago and was satisfactory in every way—neat, industrious, respectful and last, but foremost, an excellent cook.

"As she was so very quiet I could not tell whether or not she was as well pleased with us as we were with her, but about six weeks ago the trouble began. She asked me suddenly one day why we entertained so seldom.

"'Ella,' I said, 'we don't care to entertain except a few choice friends now and then. It costs more than we can afford, and we really don't care for it.'

"'Your house is just as handsome as anybody's,' she went on. 'Other people that I've lived with entertained all the time, and their houses weren't near as pretty or as nice as yours. You never have anything but a club meeting once in awhile. Why don't you have teas and receptions, Mrs. Blank?'

"I reiterated my two reasons—that we couldn't spend money in that way and that we preferred simple amusements. Ella didn't seem satisfied, but the matter was dropped. Last Monday she asked to spend a week at home with her sick aunt, and, as I couldn't well refuse, she departed. Today I received a postal card from her couched in these words:

"Dear Mrs. Blank—My aunt is better, but I'm not coming back. I've got a more stylish place."

Three Rules For Fishing.

One day as the Rev. Mark Guy Pearse of London was strolling along a river bank he saw an old man fishing for trout and pulling the fish out one after the other briskly. "You manage it cleverly, old friend," he said. "I have passed a good many below who don't seem to be doing anything."

The old man lifted himself up and stuck his rod in the ground. "Well, you see, sir, there be three rules for fishing, and 'tis no good trying it if you don't mind them. The first is, Keep yourself out of sight; the second is, Keep yourself further out of sight, and the third is, Keep yourself further out of sight still. Then you'll do it."

Pleasant Cure for Weak Lungs.

The best remedy for sore, weak lungs, is the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and passage of the breathing organs. It treats remote parts that cough mixtures and sprays can't approach, and kills thousands of germs at every breath. Catarrozone drives away pain, congestion and inflammation; it makes breathing easy and regular, and exerts a marvelous influence on Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Deafness, and Lung Trouble. How He Saved Him.

They were speaking of a certain physician favorably occasionally, but mostly otherwise. Finally one of the party spoke of the good qualities of the absent doctor and said his life had once been saved by the much criticised practitioner.

"How is that?" some one asked. "I did not know he usually treated you."

"No, he does not," said the man, "but one day when my family physician was out of town I was suddenly taken ill and sent for this fellow in the emergency, and he couldn't come."

What is Life to You.

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

The Word Treacle.

The word treacle has undergone an odd modification. At first it was applied to such decoctions of roots or other substances as were deemed beneficial in medical practice; then, as these were frequently sweetened, it came to mean any sweet concoction or confection, and lastly, as molasses was the sweetest of all, this name was exclusively applied to sirup.

The Root of the Trouble.

It surprises some people when you tell them that tthier nervous trouble is caused by a defective liver. Liver trouble causes constipation. Next comes dyspepsia, then impure blood, with heavy strain, and the result is nerve trouble. Merrill's System Tonic is a positive cure for liver trouble and constipation, and in this way removes the cause of other ills. 50 cents per bottle at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

LETTER FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Dr. Blanchard Writes an Interesting Account.

HE IS NOW CONVALESCENT.

Advanced Already to the Rank of Corporal - Some o' his Experiences in Close Quarters With the Enemy.

The appended letter from South Africa has been received by Mr. J. W. Ridpath from Dr. Blanchard, of Peterborough:

Elandsfontein, April 26th, 1902.

I am just going to write you a short letter as I am laid in the hospital at this place with enteric fever, I am now 19 or 20 days sick and am doing well up to date. It is too bad after coming out already with Delarey; it was a hot hole I can tell you. Well, more about that later on. I may as well begin at the beginning as this is my first letter to you. I have written twice to Dr. Duncan Fraser and I suppose you have seen them. As you are aware we left Halifax on Jan. 14th. We had a wet, rough voyage for about a week. I went as mess orderly for the first four days and it was well I did, for out of 16 at my table 10 or 12 went seasick. I never had the least sickness. Someone told the Lieut. Vet. that I was a vet. surgeon and he had me out of that right after dinner. I was read out in orders to go and assist the vet. at the pharmacy and be exempt from all other duties. I had a great snap, nothing to do but mix and dispense medicine. That did not last more than four of five days before it was "tell Blanchard to go and lance No. so and so," and off I would go, taking a couple of shoeing-smiths with me to do the rest. It got so I had to see to every blessed bad case on the boat and finally the men and officers would be calling me to look at this swelling and look at those eyes, and from a good snap I became the hardest worked man on the ship. I would have had it easier as a trooper. You may know what it was like when I tell you we had over 500 horses on board and four fifths of them sick with influenza and strangles. I have lanced as many as six abscesses a day. That made good knife practice, eh? I had no dirty work to do and did not mind the rest as it was all good work for me in my business. We had other cases of colic etc. We broke all records, having only lost eight horses to Durban, and one after we got there. No other boat had such a good percentage during the war. The boat that brought the other half lost 24 or 28 horses so you can see the work we put in on our boat. We had a slow but a splendid boat; she would neither roll nor pitch; she was very steady, and the weather was all that could be desired. We could eat our soup at the tables without having to hold our plates, in fact it was a dandy pleasure trip all the time we were on the boat. We were exactly one month going to Cape Town, and four or five days to Durban, which place we reached in time to wait for the tide next day. Then we went into dock, and the natives soon came around with pineapples, which they sold for 5 or 6 cents each. Bananas were as dear as at home—too late in the season—but the pineapples tasted great. You get the right flavour here, but there was very little difference in the taste of the bananas. We soon began to unload; only had time to go up one street or two to get a couple of drinks of non-alcoholic ale and skip back to the boat, where we took out our rifles, bandoliers, cartridges, etc., all ready for business. We go on the train and off we went, horses and all. D, E, and F, Squadrons all went into separate squads, F last. It was two days and nights before we reached Newcastle, where we were to rest and get our horses into shape. The trip on the cars did them more harm than all the whole voyage. Lord Kitchener came to Newcastle and inspected us, and told us to get ready as soon as possible, which we did. Then we joined the other half and in two days marched to Volksrust, where we stayed for a while waiting orders, then went on to Klerksdorp, having two more days and nights on the cars.

A funny accident happened just as we were entering Klerksdorp. The forward car of horses belonging to another regiment went off the track and turned over on its side, (the cars are all open,) pitched every blessed horse out, and they only sustained a few cuts and bruises. Of course we were running slowly and the shock jarred us only a little. I forgot to tell you the main part about myself at Newcastle. When we left the ship I joined the troop again and would not touch the sick and bruised horses as long as I was doing trooper's duties. The officers came to me as usual to see about their horses, but I would have none of it. I told them that I had worked too hard at it on board the ship. Then the Farrier Sergt. came to me, and I would not go, so at last the Lt. Vet. saw me and I told him I would not touch a horse until I was advanced and put in orders. The outcome was that the Major sent for me and asked me, and I told him the same. He said that he expected I was in orders, so he and the Vet. talked it over and the next day I was read out in orders as Farrier Corporal and to assist the Vet. Surgeon, and be exempt from guard, picket and fatigue. So on to the Vet staff I went again with increased pay from February 1st. That was not so slow—from a private leaving Halifax to a corporal with increased pay from February 1st, in less than six weeks—was it?

Well, to continue my letter. We rested the horses at our headquarters at Klerksdorp. Here we exchanged horses for those that were unfit for duty, and those that had died. Then we were ready for real business, as we were in the enemy's country. On our way from Durban we passed all the places you have previously read about — Colenso, where the Boers captured eight of our guns, and Lord Roberts' son was killed, among others. I saw his monument on the field right close to the station. If you could see the place you would understand the great feat. I also saw Spion Kop at a distance. We marched on three sides of Majuba Hill and camped for dinner right beside it. It is a steep hill, a real natural fortress. We also passed several other places of interest. One notable fact is that the places are all built up again and doing good business. Places that were wiped off the map are up and at it again. I guess I had better get on or I will make a penny sensational out of this instead of a short letter.

After we had rested at Klerksdorp the boys were out scouting every day. I was at my old job, in fact, when the other half joined us my vet., the Lieut., was sent to the detail camp and I have not seen him since, so I was left practically in charge of the whole left wing in the vet. line, as the Vet., Capt. Riddle, never came near me. He told me to go on the way I was going. Once in a while only he would would take a walk around my lot. We got orders to be ready at 5.30 p.m.

March 23rd, Palm Sunday. — We got ready, strapped saddles, and 24 hour rations, hard tack and bully beef. At 6.30 we started on a big drive. Of course we did not know what was up. As soon as we got clear of camp we were ordered to trot. We were part of the column, and there were four other columns. That we did, but the country over which we were going was full of holes like rabbit holes, and great ant hills, about three feet high and three or four ft at the base, so you may know what the ride was like. I was riding a well bred mare that night, sure footed and fast. We had not gone one hundred yards before down went horse and rider right in front of me, my mare jumping over the two, nearly upsetting me. No stop, on we went. There were dozens went down in that ride, horses played out, could go no further, some dropped dead, the pace was too fast for the breed of some of our Canadian horses. Several Boer ponies amongst us (remounts) would not touch a hole, and slide along like and keep right up with our horses. I pulled out of line several times to help some of our boys in our troop and found the horse played-out and his leg fast underneath his horse. Then I would gallop up to my place in the ranks. Of course we had to walk in bad places and go four deep in others, halt for news from the advance scouts, etc., and so the moonlight night went on, and at 2.45 a.m. we were at the place where the extended columns were to commence the drive, (nice Palm Sunday.) We had ridden 45 miles in about 8 hours including everything. We started about 4 or 4.30 a.m. and rode all that day 55 miles or more, never had saddles off nor were out of them all the 24 hours except one hour and had lost my troop and did not get even 15 minutes. When we started Sunday night there were 28 men and officers in our troop. In the morning there were nine and I the only corporal, 1 Sergt., 1 Lieut. and 6 privates. How was that for a ride? That night the stragglers came in, some on foot, horses dead and others shot, and some more taken prisoners. The men were stripped of their clothes, money, rifles, bandoliers and some were allowed their underclothes that had any, and in they came like that, laughable but hard lines. Some had several wounds on them. That ended that hunt. I felt like one of those plaster of paris casts you have seen "a man on horseback." I could scarcely get off, 24 hours in the saddle and over a hundred miles of a ride. Of course we rested and fed for a few days, then we marched again and camped once more near Klerksdorp and on Good Friday I went to the above with the Capt. Vet. and men out of each squad with used up horses (45) to exchange at the remount, then back and divide them up. On Saturday marched again in extended column about five miles in width, camped for noon, stayed all night. Easter Sunday—Marched again 1.30 a.m. to try for Delarey.

Monday March 31st—Off again and camped in the middle of a saucer-shaped place for noon. We got our saddles off and several their nose bags on to feed when a shell came howling over head, then five or six in quick succession. Delarey had caught us just where he wanted us. We made a nice bow to the first few shells that came within a few feet overhead, it was proper as an introduction from so great a General. Of course we did but get our rifles and ammunition as fast as we knew how and get what cover we could which was blamed little, as he came up a little too soon. About eight of us found a place about a foot high for our heads to keep behind and we plugged away, but Delarey had us completely surrounded and we were getting it from both sides, front and behind. The man next to me got hit behind the ear, it did not kill him but he has gone blind since. The third man from me got shot in the hip and another man through the arm in two places, all shots from behind or side. Farrier Sergt. was shot in the left breast and the bullet came out near the backbone. He is doing well. I came out with one little scratch that you could not notice. Bullets were spatting the ground all around me, even threw dirt on my ear, hand and rifle; I came out lucky. We beat him off with big loss. Our contingent lost pretty bad, eleven killed, 32 wounded and a number missing. 125 horses were killed, and I was the only vet. surgeon on the job. Poor Milligan from Peterborough was killed, I think a shell blew the top of his head off, and Murphy from the same place was wounded. I extracted several bullets from horses and ordered others shot and was pretty busy. After the firing ceased, I went and cooked myself a piece of pork, which some of the boys had brought in, and had a good square meal with that, and hot tea I got from the niggers. Then I went back to the trenches they had dug where I had stopped all night, the rain coming down very heavily. The next day Col. Somebody came to our relief, as we were at grub, going light to make a flying column. As soon as relief came, we saddled what was left —(my mare was as safe as I was, not a hair turned)—and off we went in pursuit of the Boers. Night and rain came on, and we had to wait till daylight; some kept watch while others slept on the wet grass, myself included, as we were all dead tired. Off again at daybreak, and rode until noon, when we camped at sort of base, several other regiments being there. We rested there, and as I was next in rank, I had to be Acting Farrier Sergt., as our man had got shot. We stayed there until April 13th. I took the fever on the 6th or 7th, and have been in the Hospital ever since, but if I have good luck I shall be back to my troop in six or eight weeks. I have wrote more than I had intended, and the mail goes to-night. Read this to my friends; it will save me writing to each one.

Yours truly,
W. H. BLANCHARD,
Farrier-Corporal,
No. 667, F Squad, 2nd Troop, 2nd Canadian M. R., S. A.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and long for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in this way, each succeeding night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion and Debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

WOOD FAMINE AT AN END.

The wood famine which has prevailed in town recently, came to an end on the receipt of two scows of hardwood, both green and dry, by J. E. A. Fitzgerald.
